The police and Mr. Fitzpatrick worked the matter up, the result being that on last Friday night thirty of the missing blankets and the tent were found in the barn of Mr. Fenton Carroll, who explains that they were received by him from Wm. Blakely, who was driving one of Mr. Fitzpatrick's teams. He says he would not have received them had he not been "muddled up from over-exertion, want of sleep and pain in his arm." Blakely claims that the articles were taken from his waggon when he was intoxicated. So far no action at law has been taken by

A Fresh Young Man.

"T. H. Cuthbert" surprised a number of the few friends he has made since his recent arrival in Miramichi, by appearing in the World of last Saturday as the knight-errant of the Colonel of the 73rd Battalion. It seems that this young man, whose cocknevisms and charity-school manners have both interested and amused his acquaintances here, delights in seeing his name in print, and acts as if he looked upon any kind of notoriety as better than none at all. Instead, therefore, of conducting himself as any man of good sense placed in his position would, and of minding his own affairs as a clergyman ought to do, he meddles in what concerns others and presumes to make a vulgar attack on the editor of the ADVANCE, at whose hands he has received only courtesy and good treatment.

Referring to our statement concerning the fact of the 73rd being marched in body to the church which their Colonel attended, when many of them understood they were to go to the different churches of their choice, Mr. Cuthbert says: -

"Most gentlemen, when an error pointed out to them, seek to rectify the mistake at the first opportunity. This Mr. Smith has not done. The "gentlemanly" Mr. Cuthbert would, no doubt, have his readers believe that he had pointed out to and convinced Mr. Smith of some error which he had failed to correct. Nothing of the kind CHATHAM LODGE:-The following offi- has been done, however, and the sentence quoted is only a characteristically mean place Mr. Smith in a false position. Mr Cuthbert's recklessness of statement is further developed in the following-"I sent an invitation to the men through Col, McCulley, to attend our church, which was read at the officers' mess. It was communicated to the men and they all expressed their willingness to accept the invitation and attend morning service." There is hardly a boy in any of our primary schools who would commit him self, even in essay-writing, to such a ridiculous statement as that quoted. Its absurdity appears on its face. But this exceedingly young and fresh imported article-like some other cockneys who have come to this country-imagines himself a great fellow whose statements will be accepted as true, simply because he makes them; and when he concludes :-"It's a fearful tax, sir, on one's understanding to believe that some men are more sense and better manners than he brought over with him from cockneydom. So far as the ADVANCE is concerned it is always prepared to stand by its statements of fact, as it now does in reference to the matter which has invited the meddlesome attention of Mr. Cuthbert, who has, voluntarily misrepresented our position and made an unprovoked personal attack upon a gentleman who deserved much better treatment at his hands. Such being the case we do not propose to allow his impertinence to pass, without treating its author as he deserves. Whatever may be Mr. Cuthbert's position here it is evident that he needs a lesson in good manners, and, if we mistake not, he has courted attention in a quarter where he will not only receive the lesson, but as much also of the traditional birch as his thick head and hide will stand, and when he has tired of the job he has so foolishly undertaken he will, in all probability, have also arrived at the concluof the Crown. To Rev. Robert S. Our regret for your departure is somewhat mitigated by the tact that you will be in a position to maintain your connection with our fraternity in your new field of labor and we must felicitate our brethren there on the addition to their members of such an aggressive and indomitable worker in everything calculated to promote the cause of temperance. Permit us to accompany our expressions with this cane as a token of their sincerity and as a memento to keep fresh in your mind the recollection of your friends in Intercolonial Division, and allow us to hope that we may have the p'easure of your presence

Dr. Gayner's Biography.

In a recent work issued by the Rose Publishing Company of Toronto, and entitled a Cyclopaædia of Canadian Biography, there is only one native of Chatham mentioned as our share of the "representative Canadians." The book, however has much to say of him and we reproduce the article, which will, no doubt, interest many of Dr. Gaynor's friends:-Gaynor, John Joseph, M. D., St. John, New Brunswick, was born of Irish parents, at Chatham, New Brunswick, on the 19th of March, 1854. They were educated Irish Catholics, his father being a native of the county Meath, and his mother of the county Clare, Ireland. They might well be classed as Irish-Americans as they were both brought by their respective parents to this country while yet infants. Dr. Gaynor's father, Thomas Gaynor, was educated at the Grammer School, Chatham; and his mother, Catherine Buckley, at a seminary for young ladies, conducted by a Mrs. Murry at Newcastle, New Brunswick. This privihe doubtless imagines he has said a very lege so exceptional for Irish Catholics in smart and creditable thing, and that Mr. | those early days, was doubtless the Smith, at whom the insinuation is direct- reason which determined the doctor's ed, will suffer accordingly. Gavnor, is a member of a large lumbering house in Pennsylvania, and is now in the Redwood district of California, where he has established a branch firm. Dr. Gaynor was educated partly at St. Michael's College, Chatham, and partly at St. Joseph's College, Memramcook. In the former institution he studied mathematics and the exact sciences under the most distinguished teacher of his day in New Brunswick. Thomas Caulfield, M. A., of Trinity College, Dublin. His subsequent studies in logic and mataphysics were pursued at St. Joseph's College, Memramcook. In this institution he taught the higher mathematics. It was here also that in 1877 he began the study of medicine under the preceptorship of Dr. H. E. Boissy, resident physician to St. Joseph's, and leading medical practitioner among the Acadians of New Brunswick. From St. Joseph's Dr. Gaynor went in 1878 to Buffalo, New York. There he attended the lectures in the medical department of Buffalo University. He followed also the different courses of the newly established College of Physicians and Surgeons in the same city. Graduating in 1881, after a four years' course, he carried off the honors of his class, and was immediately offered the chair of chemistry and toxicology in his alma mater. This honorable position he declined at the instance of his friends in New Brunswick, and immediately returned to his native province. Shortly after his return he read by invitation a paper on "Chloroform as an Anæsthetic," before the Medical Society of New Brunswick. Establishing himself at DeBec, Carleton county, he soon ance can accomplish when combined with acquired a lucrative practice. It was skill and commendable spirit of enterprise. here that for the first time in the history of redicine in New Brunswick nitroglycerine was employed, by Dr. Gavnor. for remedial purposes. Finding that his sphere of labor was too circumscribed, and desirous of entering into a larger field, Dr. Gaynor removed, in 1884, to St. John city, where he has since resided. On February 20, 1884, he was united in the bonds of holy wedlock to Nora Costigan, of St. John, a relative of the Hon. John Costigan, Minister of Inland Revenue. By her he has three children-Walter and Frederick, born February 16, 1885, and James, born August 28, 1886. During his vacations, while yet a medical student, Dr. Gaynor travelled extensively through the Northern, Western and Middle states, spending some time in the Oil regions of Pennsylvania, and at the watering places on the Atlantic coast, In politics he is a Liberal-Conservative, with no love, however, for torvism as it exists in the mother country. The descendant of a family that fought and bled for human liberty, he is naturally a liberal in sentiment and aspiration. It is his belief, however, that so far as principles are concerned, there is no essential difference between the Conservative party led by Sir John Macdonald and the Liberal party led by Edward Blake. It i tweedle-dum and tweedle-dee; and in the end the people always rule. Such being his opinion of two great political parties into which the Canadian people are divito the position which his Irish Catholic co-religionists should take in dominion politics. They should, he believes, adopt Parnell's famous motto, Support the party apt to endanger the mill by the difficulty which does the most for you. They would thus as a body be bound to neither political party, and would gravitate from one to the other consistently with the fair | upon by weights, that they subtend a or unfair, just or unjust, treatment they might receive from either party. Outside his native province Dr. Gaynor is best known as a writer on materia medica. He has made a specialty of the study of new drugs; and his articles in the "Investiga. tor"-a medical monthly at Buffalo -on (down an eld house belonging to Bowen this and kindred subjects, have attracted unusual attention from the medical profession in America. He also wrote and the house near the roof, was found the published in the same journal a series of skeleton of an infant wrapped in old cot articles in explanation and defence of the | ton skirts, on which, it is said, marks of Catholic doctrine on craniotomy. St. Louis, 13th July, 1888. The Old Manderson Wirdmill.

MIRAMICHI, January 15, 1828. We have lately had frequent opportuni ies of inspecting Mr. Manderson's Mill, near the Scotch Church, and while we ongratulate the settlement on so valuable an aquisition we must confess that we have seldom, if ever, seen a more gratifying proof of what industry and persever-Our limits will not permit us to give a minute description of the principle upon which this mill is constructed, and as a partial description would not satisfy the curious, we shall therefore merely observe that it is a horizontal wind-mill, but differeing materially, as far as we are able to judge, from those which go by the same name in England. In New York there are two, from one of which Mr. Manderson states he took the hint for his When completed it will have 24 sails, and its power will be equal to 14 horses, and sufficient to drive 2 pair stones and 2 saws, at present it has but one pair of stones. The principal advantages of this mill, we take to be these that it is free from the objections to which all water mills in this country are more or ess subject; as it can be kept at work at seasons, and does not require more than a light breeze of wind, and that it is ccessable to all parts of the river, to Napan, to both branches and to the numrous settlements about the bay, and we nay add round the coast, for there is no other mill within the reach of these places that can be always depended on. But it is deserving of attention in a point of view istinct from the benefits which it promses to our own agriculturists. The scarcity of mills in Pr. Ed. Island, causes a large export of grain annually to Miramichi, principally oats. Yet cheap as oatmeal is as an article of food, it is scarcely ever heard of in Miramichi, simply because we have not had the means of manufacturing it within ourselves-the facilities therefore which the mill will afford for the bringing into market a constant supply of the nutritious food, will no doubt lead to its being extensively used; and consequently to an improve ment in our intercourse with Pr. Ed.
