There were calls for Mr. Davin when Mr. Trow sat down, but the usually talkative member for Assiniboia had nothing to say until later, when he spoke only a few words. After a pause Mr. Trow called attention to the presence of Sir Donald Smith. "My hon. friend," he said, "closed a session once in a very exciting way, and I think he ought to close the present one." This allusion to the stormy close of the session of 1878, when Sir John Macdonald declared, among other things, "That fellow Smith is the biggest liar I ever met," caused a general laugh, but Sir Donald was talking with some other peopl did not notice it. The bills were then assented to after which the speech from the throne was made as follows:-

Honorable Gentlemen of the Senate: Gentlemen of the House of Commons: In terminating the present session of Parliament I desire to record my appreciation of the earnestness and zeal which you have shown in the performance of your public duties.

The measure for the ratification of the Fisheries Treaty agreed upon at the opening of the present year between her Majesty's plenipotentiaries and those of the United States, to which I have given the Queen's assent, will, I believe, be viewed with satisfaction by the people of the whole Dominion as affording a crowning proof of Canada's constant desire to arrive | country." at a just and honorable settlement of all questions arising out of the interpretation of the Convention of 1818. The extension to the people of the Northwest Territories of a larger measure of self-government than they hitherto enjoyed is satisfactory evidence of the rapid developement of that important portion of the Dominion, and will, I trust, be at tended with beneficial results. Arbor day was effectively observed by the school children here, led by the efficient teacher, Miss Fisher, who de serves great praise for the results she has brought about by her well-directed leadership. The pupils cleared up the grounds in the forenoon and made beds for plants of different kinds, as well as trees. Trees were planted, amongst those honored being the Trustees, Rev. Mr. Murray, Rev. Father Crumley, former teachers, our present teacher and Mr. Hawke of the Transcript. Rev. Mr. Murray and J. D. McKay, Esq., encouraged the work by their aid and presence, but it was regretted that likewise, as might be expected of them. After the work was all done the teacher and children openel their baskets and had quite a picnic time.

Citizon Train returns to New York:

The New York World of 23rd inst. has an article nearly a column long on the return to New York, and particularly to Madison Square, of Geo. Francis Train During a visit to the office of that paper Mr. Train was full of tales of his experiences and observations in Canada. "For Which contained the twelve de Kuypers a hundred years," he said, "they have been selling the aged and children at auction. I myself, in Sussex, bought a white man, seventy-two years of age, a British subject, for $80. His name was Old Martin. They would not let me have him, because I told them I was going to take him to Exeter Hall, Londor, to exhibit him as a specimen white slave, bought in the British Dominions. But I showed up the whole thing and burst it. Jay Gould owns Canada. The Dominion swallowed England through its action on free trade; Sir John Macdonald swallowed the Dominion; the Canadian Pacific swallowed Sir John; the syndicate in Wall street swallowed the Canadian Pacific, and Jay Gould swallowed the syndicate.
