Miramichi Advance, CHATHAM, N. B., OCTOBER 11, 1888.

Great Frost. The heavy rain-fall of Monday, added to those we had previously, resulted in the greatest freshet seen on the Miramichi since 1833.

The N. & W. Railway at Nelson's Hollow, where there is a piece of crib-work built along the river, is much damaged and there are other washouts at streams crossing the line.

The damage to grain and potato crops on the low-lying lands is very great and will have a bad effect during the coming winter.

The water rose over the mooring posts at Millerton wharf and a good deal of lumber that was lying rafted in that vicinity broke away and much of it went adrift, the river opposite Chatham showing a good many logs running during the whole of Tuesday.

Reports from the Northwest Miramichi indicate as great damage relatively as on the other branch of the river.

Mr. Richard Murphy lost a barn and 12 tons of hay. Mr. Murphy's barn, as it came down-river, tore away two spans of the Johnston bridge and also the north shore span of the Redbank bridge.

A large number of horses and cattle are drowned on the Northwest—seven young cattle being found dead on the Cumard Meadow.

Sam Slick says that "human nature is human nature, wherever the critter's found" and it may be noticed that there is a good deal of human weakness amongst the professors of temperance principles.

careful attention but excited little discussion. It is difficult to get up a lively discussion on Temperance in the Synod because all of one mind.

The Report on Sabbath Schools presented by Rev. T. C. Jack was a very interesting document and indicated the energetic efforts put forth everywhere for the religious education of the young.

plenty of time to escape the patrol. Mire square, the scene of the second murder, is a thoroughfare. Many people pass through the square early on Sunday morning of their way to prepare for market in the notorious Pettie at Lane.

THE MURDERERS EFFECTED BY A SKILLED FLANK. At the inquest on Monday on the Mire square victim, Katherine Eldowes, Dr. Brown, police surgeon, described with great minuteness and at great length everything pertaining to the condition of her body when found and the results of the post-mortem.

THE TOBACCO TRAGEDY. TRAFLET and PHILLIPS BOUDED FOR DORCHESTER. WHAT THEY HAVE TO SAY ABOUT THE SHOOTING—PHILLIPS STATES THAT HIS FEAR WAS NOT A STARVING CONDITION AND THINKS THE PROSECUTION WAS TOO BRUTE.

PROSECUTION WAS UNNECESSARILY BITTER. as Mr. Blair drew on his imagination for a great many things. One of the coroner's jury told me that Mr. Blair went to that jury that they could not bring in a verdict for manslaughter but only for murder.

How it Happened and All About It. It was Tuesday September 11, 1888, always Tuesday, the 29th Grand Monthly drawing of the Louisiana State Lottery occurred under the sole management, as usual, of Genl G. T. Beauregard of La., and Jubel A. Early of Va. The prizes ranged from $100 to $300,000, and were distributed everywhere.

high bank on one side of the river at that place, and I steered for the bluff there made by the moon over the bluff. They followed us about 300 yards, trying to catch us. Then they turned back. We went on down about three-quarters of a mile, and it so soon, and fished all the way home, catching one little salmon about two or three pounds weight.

PIERRED THE FIRST SHOT at the stern of his canoe, about four feet outside the canoe between us and the canoe. I did not notice then who was in the canoe. As soon as his canoe went past my range I lost sight of it. I had just fired one shot at that canoe. Major Howes says there was himself, his wife and two young children besides the Indian who was in the stern. I fired at the other canoe, there were four or five of them, just in the same way as I fired at them. In all I fired six shots. All the while the water was so low, that one I found out afterwards struck the canoe of John Thomas on the water line just below the Indian. I am positive some of my shots struck Mrs. Howes. The river was three feet or five feet deep. We were on a high bank about 30 feet above the water level.

News and Notes. The increase in the price of wheat and flour in the United States threatens to be a serious matter for the poor people of the large cities. In New York the situation is already being viewed with something akin to anxiety by the working classes. The price of bread will not be increased as long as the wheat is so cheap, says the Tribune.

News and Notes. The King of the Netherlands is dying. He has been in a protracted state of convalescence for some time, but his appetite has been so poor that he has lost weight and strength, and a complete break-up of his constitution. He is expected to die in a few days.

frimly bound together with wire. It is to be towed to Boston. The London Times reports that a Russian peasant has just discovered an immense treasure trove in the village of Starobog, near the Government of Tchernigov. The peasant lived upon land forming a part of the estate of Prince Oterkoff, who is an ancestor of the Emperor of Russia, and his ancestors were plain and poor.

News and Notes. The St. Paul, Minn., Pioneer Press prints a carefully tabulated statement giving the actual results of the wheat harvest in 83 counties of Minnesota and Dakota, practically covering the great wheat belt. It shows a net decrease, as compared with 1887, of about 40 per cent of wheat crop, which would make the present wheat crop of Minnesota and Dakota 35,000,000 to 60,000,000 bushels. In the region of northern Dakota, wheat is not half a crop, and the grain is poor in quality, the proportion of No. 1 hard being very small.

News and Notes. Melville W. Fuller was sworn in Chief Justice of the United States, at Washington on Monday. He is the second Democrat chosen for the position, and the seventh Chief Justice sworn in since the foundation of the national government. The other Democrat was Roger B. Taney, who was sworn in in 1836, and held the office until 1864, when he was succeeded by Salmon P. Chase, who, in 1874, was succeeded by the Chief Justice, Morton L. Waite. Mr. Taney's predecessor was John Marshall, of Virginia, who was sworn in on September 24, 1801, to 1835, so that as a matter of fact Chief Justice Marshall and Taney sat for sixty-three years, and there have been only four other Chief Justices in the past eighty-seven years.

News and Notes. A disastrous loss in the Province of Monckton, about 350 miles northwest of Pekin, caused the death of hundreds of people, and the loss of many homes and the destruction of crops, and there are prospects of a general famine for the coming winter.
