AN HONEST MAN .- A few weeks ago | Best Filly, I year old an advertisement of the loss of a pocket book, containing a considerable sum of money, appeared in the Advance and attracted the attention of the finder, Mr. Patrick Whelan, of the Richibucto Road, who restored it to the owner, Mr. James W. Dickson, We understand that there were between thirty and forty dollars in the book. It may be said that Mr. Whelan only did his duty, yet duty is not always done under such circumstances and we, therefore, gladly place his name on the roll of honor as that of a man who can be trusted.

A FINE BUSINESS FOR SALE: - One of the best business chances that has been offered on the Miramichi for a good while is advertised by Mr. Alex. Stewart, proprietor of the Waverly Hotel, Newcastle who wishes to sell that valuable property. The advertisement reached us only yesterday afternoon as we were going to press and we, therefore, do not know what Mr. Stewart's reasons are for purting with what is, manifestly, one of the best hotel properties in the country. We assume however, that he has made money enough out of the business to enable him to retire with a competency and he wishes to give some poorer man a chance.

OBITUARY: - Hon. Wm. Taylor Shippegan died at his home on Tuesday of last week, in the 70th year of his age., He was, for many years, prominent in business and public affairs in Gloucester, being a merchant doing a general business at Shippegan and for some time a representative of the County in the Legislature before confederation, for a part of the time being a member of the government. He was inspector of Shippegan Breakwater when it was constructed, and also held the office of Receiver of Wrecks under the Dominion Government.

More Smuggling:-It is only a short time since the Italian barque Theresa Ollivari was fined by the Customs authorities for smuggling, her mate having sold some new clothing which was brought to port in that vessel. Last week the Norwegian barque Stadt cleared from Newcastle, having some Wine, Gin, etc on board, and from the movements of certain Douglastown parties it was suspected that an attempt would be made to land it. Officer Wheeler, who had the matter in haud, followed it up closely and on boarding the Stadt off Chatham found the liquor missing. Accompanied by some of the Chatham officers he went to Douglastown and found it as anticipated. The vessel having been detained, efforts were made in behalf of the Captain to have the penalty of $400 reduced, but without success, so that amount was paid and the

Stadt allowed to proceed. THE "NORD CAP" CASE:-The suit brought by Mr. J. B. Snowball against the Norwegian barque "Nord Cap," was taken up this morning in the Admiralty Court, Mr. C. A. Palmer appearing for the plainand Mr. W. C., Winslow for defendants. The plaintiff claims $2,000 for salvage services rendered by him to the ship "Nord Cap" on the 23, 24, 25, 26th. of September last at Point Escuminac in Miramichi, Bay. The "Nord Cap" went on a reef or bar near the Point and no pilot being in sight the captain and crew left the vessel. Mr. Snowball sent his tugs St. Andrew, St. Nicholas and St. George, to take the vessel off and by them the vessel was taken off the reef and taken being refused Mr. Snowball brings his suit in the Admiralty Court. The "Nord Cap" was under charter to the New Brunswick Trading Company. After hearing evidence, Judge Watters decided in favor of plaintiff, and for salvage purposes, valued the vessel at $800. fifty per cent, of which he ordered to be paid the salvors, and balance to be applied in payment of the wages of the seamen, the sale of the vessel to be made at public auction next week. -Globe of 6th. Inspector vs Salmon Collector.

It will be seen, by our report of the late meeting of the Presbyterian Synod at Charlottetown, that "the scandal of 'such injunctions as that which restrain-"ed the Inspector in Northumberland County for many months from taking any steps towards the enforcement of "the liquor laws, which injunction was "at last disolved because no one ventured "to appear in support of the contention "on the ground on which the learned "judge had granted it" received some attention. Since the Synod was in session we have had one of 'the temperance people's candidates" abusing the Inspector referred to because he did not disobey the injunction. It is reassuring to find that in temperance quarters, where the responsibility of those interested is a guarantee that their utterances shall be guided by the restraints of their enviroment, we have a somewhat different reason given for the late Inspector's inaction from that advanced on the platforms at Black Brook and Chatham a few days ago by the rival "salmon collector." It will be interesting, also, to learn which wing of the temperance party is to Chatham. The claim for the salvage to assume the direction of Scott Act interests in Chatham after the defeat sustained last Tuesday by that led by the Echoes of the Press Excursion.

Referring to the recent visit of the press party to Chatham th Hants Journal says: About 7 a. m. the party drove out to the railway station, and while there waiting for the train to start over the Chatham Branch Railway, Mr. D. G. Smith of the Chatham Advance, made his appearance. He said he regretted that the press party were so pressed for time as to be able to make this flying visit only, as the journalists on the Miramichi would gladly have given them a sail down their fine river and enabled them to get a hasty glance at what was going on in the matter of industrial enterprises, and gain valuable information as to the resources and trade of the port. He regretted that he was unable to join them, but said they were in good hands, as brother Anslow could give them points as they went along. The editor of the Journal also regrets that the party could not afford the time to remain a day at Chatham and Newcastle, where he spent so many years of his life, and take in the many points | work as any boat of equal power on the of interest to be seen on the river and

It is perhaps unfortunate, in one sense, that Northern New Brunswick has depended so much on lumbering as its staple owners are thoroughly satisfied with her business, At times when the lumber | performances. 1 50 trade was at its best, and when the ruling prices gave a fair compensation to all engaged in the business, everything was booming and things looked well. Some idea of the vast extent of the lumbering trade on the Miramichi alone may be 1 00 gathered from the fact that one season. not many years ago, as many as ninety 1 00 square-rigged vessels have been loading in the port at one time, at Black Brook, Chatham, Douglastown, Newcastle, Chatham Head, and Nelson, a distance of about twelve miles. J. B. Snowball is the "Gibson" of that river. He owns several mills in various sections of the county, the leading one, at Chatham, being well worth the inspection of all who take an interest in such matters. In fact he may justly be classed as the head of the mercantile fraternity in Northumberland, controlling an immense business influence, which gives him considerable power in the political arena. It took a good man to beat Peter Mitch $2 50 ell, the once popular and energetic Minis-1 75 ter of Marine and Fisheries, who seemed at one time to have such a hold upon the people, but Peter finally had to succumb the Snowball which could not be affected by the heat of an election. Strange, passing strange, however, are the leadings of politics, for we now find the Hon. Peter, who, cold-shouldered by Sir John because of his desertion of the party at the time of the so-called "Pacific Railway 1 75 Scandal, ', in turn deserts his party, esoouses the Liberal cause in the hope of uture reward, and is now the M. P.

Snowball, his former opponent. The writer of the above, who ought to 1 50 1 25 be quite familiar with the facts, clearly desires the readers of the Journal to be. lieve that Mr. Mitchell has deserted his party by espousing the Liberal cause. Mr Mitchell claims to have always been a Liberal. He, certainly, was a Liberal at the time of confederation. He went into the first government formed under confederation as a Liberal and remained a Liberal up to the time of the Pacific Scandal. While he defended the acts of that government he always repudiated being a conservative. How, then, can the Journal 1 00 say he has deserted his party? 1 50

The steam-tug, Mascot, owned by Messrs. H. A. & W. Muirhead, is the latest addition to the Miramichi Steam fleet. She was constructed at the Miramichi Foundry and Machine Works, Chatham, and is an additional proof of the efficiency of that well-known indus trial establishment. The Mascot is 68 ft. keel, 18 ft. beam and 8 ft. hold. Her keel is of oak; frame, hacmatac; bottom plank, 3 inch birch and top-sides, 3 inch spruce. The fastenings are copper and galvanized iron and the clamps are screw. bolted to the frame. The hull was constructed under the foremanship of Mr Dudley Walls, who has an excellent re putation as a master-builder. The engines which were designed by Mr. Geo. Dick, the Mechanical Superintendent of the Works, are triple expansion, having cylinders of 10, 14 and 26 inches diameter and 12 inch stroke. They are of the latest improved pattern as built in Great Britain and work admirably. The boiler is of steel and is 8 ft. long, 7 ft. in diameter, has two 28 in. furnaces and re turn tubes, and is allowed by the Government Inspector to carry 160 lbs. of working pressure. It is claimed for the Mascot that she can do the same amount of river, using only one half of the quantity of coal. She has now been running three weeks since making her trial trip and her

A fine Clydesdale mare that has been worked during the summer was taken almost out of harness from Mr. Snowball's Station farm and secured second prize in that important class. A beautiful spring colt of the same breed shown by the same owner, sired by Duke of Wellington, took two first prizes. These animals were in charge of Mr. Dickson and Mr. Wm. Chesman. Mr. Jas. Conway's well-known draft stallion was awarded 2nd prize. Mr. W. H. Baldwin's Clyde Filly, sired by Duke of Wellington, which was in charge of Mr. Andrew Irving at the Show, took third prize. This animal was not specially prepared for the exhibition, but was pronounced a splendid specimen of the breed by competent judges.

Capt. J. McD. Barker's driving horse took second prize in that class and Mr. John Ferguson's horse, which was in charge of Mr. S. Carruthers at the show took third in the same class. We had all sorts of things needed by housekeepers, but the thing that sold right off, and for which we took ever so many orders, was "The After-Dinner Set." It wasn't dishes, but two dish-cloths, a mop, and an iron-chain concern to clean out pots and pans. "The Kitchen Set" sold almost as well, but it was larger, for it contained all the things I have mentioned, and also two scrub cloths; one for the paint and one for floors; and a duster and an iron-holder, and two roller towels. as well as a holder for the stove. Five of these sets were bought for wedding presents. The dusters sold like magic. They were made of pretty cheese cloth, and it was fashionable at the fair for young men to tie them around their necks, and the girls were them on their heads like Mary. Queen of Scots' caps. But we had lovely sweeping caps too, and kitchen aprons, and sewing aprons, and shoe-bags, and bags for clothes-pins, and ironing-cloths, and waste paper, and for soiled clothes, and rag bags, and net ones for cauliflower and squashes and pudding bags, but these weren't net, of course, and bags, and bags, and bags, You never saw so many! And under that:

"EVERY WIFE HAD SEVEN BAGS." And so it happened that the gentleman would say, "Martha," or whatever was his wife's name, "have you bought seven bags?" and if she hadn't, he'd buy then for her. Why, after a while we had to make up botton bags so as to have some cheap ones. And then we put up "money bag" for contributions of pennies for the window; it was pretty heavy before the fair was over.

We had lots of other things, roller towels and pillow slips, and one pair of lovely shams sent to us by Mrs. Kate Pritchard, the wife of Dr. Pritchard's son who lives in Chicago. We had pockets o fasten on closet doors, for shoes, and odds and ends, and string bags with ball of twine in them, and a dear little pair of scissors tied on, and bags for loose string too. Skepticism.

By reason of the state of chronic in credulity in which many men pass their lives they miss half the good of this world. They seem to think that doubt and unbelief are proofs of wisdom, and through fear of being deceived reject much that is true and good. To such minds the statement that Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery is a real and proven cure for all diseases caused by torpid liver, bad blood or scrofulous humors carries with it its own condemnation. They do not believe it, apparently, because we say so; and yet what more, or less, than this can we do? Do Tools Grow Tired?

It is a common complaint among mechanges that their tools do not serve them as well some days as others.

A correspondent of the Iron Industry Gazette says : Tools, like men, grow tired. I have seen a first-class chisel get tired and act as though it was possessed of the King of Sheol. It would not keep its edge, and the more I sharpened it, the sooner it would lose its edge. I called the attention of a shopmate, a grizzled old veteran, to the peculiar behaviour of the chisel. He looked it over and handed it back to me, saying: "The tool is all right, only a little tired. Lay it away and let it rest. It will come out all right again, just like a man who is tired." I did not believe the old fellow, and I really thought he was crazy to talk of a tool getting "ired," but as there was no help for it, the tool was laid away. I do not remember how long it was left to rest, but when it was again sharpened and used it appeared to hold its keenest edge as ples, &c. well as it did before it got tired. Barbers tell me their razors in constant use get tired in the same way, and woodchoppers my their axes sometimes seem to get soft all at once. Possibly constant and hard usage may cause changes in crystalization that would account satisfactorily for the peculiarity alluded to. Locomotive enineers often observe peculiar misbehavior n their machines, which may possibly be the result of continued heating, friction and pounding. When a tool gets "tired," or a machine "balky," give each a rest.

Another Letter From Mr. Ramsay.

DEAR SIR: - Please permit me the use of a small space in your very valuable paper, in which I will condescend to answer the mean contemptible communi-Did I say that through the summer we cation of B. Fairey in the last issue of had gathered lavender, and rose-leaves, The World newspaper. And first of all and French clover, and hops, and even let it be distinctly understood that I am life everlasting (which is horrid and smells a member of the Newcastle Division S. into bass and pillows? They were aw- Members of the Lodge of Good Templars fully pretty, too. The lavender was in and have the honor to be its first W. Clavender-colored cheese cloth, and the T. and that I not only assisted at its or ganization in 1885 but also rendered valuable assistance in its resuscitation in the autumn of 1887 and in the bringing of it to its present prosperous condition. And yet, in the face of all these facts this Temperance ranter, B. Fairey, who is also a member of both orders, asks, If I ran as a Temperance candidate at the Municipal elections, or, If "the boys" of the Liberal party asked me to run as the Temperance Candidate, Now such a silly, unmeaning question, in view of my connection with the Temperance orders of this town, well suits the instincts of the ape, but is un> worthy of the intelligence of a man. I "took" no "rum to Bartibogue" Poll-Chatham, N. B. ing Booth "to get votes there" and I hereby take this opportunity of resenting his insult to the intelligence of the gentlemen residing there, by his daring to insinuate that rum can influence their votes, also to say that I received the support of the free and independent electors without the in fluence of rum. I ran my election strict. ly on Temperance principles.

Then he rants about my playing billiards for "drinks" and violating my pledge in playing for them, but I hurl this insinuation back into his teeth as a base, satanic lie. He complains of my conduct in the rooms of the Division and Lodge. Surely the Lodge and the Division too have ample means of punishing their offending mem. bers without public interference. About his complaint of having to leave the chair on my account, I will here emphatically say, that it a great pity that such a Temperance Iscariot ever got into the chair of the Lodge or the Division either, and I trust that the day is near when all true temperance workers will learn the true character of this professional hypocrite who has hitherto been regarded with some favor by the more credulous members of the temperance societies in this town. But I must here ask B. Fairey a few pertinent questions. Is it true that you have crouched low behind a certain counter in this town and drank lager beer?

Is it true that when you visited a certain gentleman in this town you drank the ale offered to you? Is it true that you installed the officers of the I. O. G. T.'s when under the influence of ale you drank in a certain grocery store in this towu? Is it true that you compelled your colleagues, the Committee of prosecution for violation of the Scott Act, to stay proceedings against a certain saloon-keeper in this town, because he owed you a bill of fifty dollars? Is it true that you thus encouraged the illegal traffic and thus assisted in the sale and all the consequent evils of drunkenness because such sale and such drunken ness were the means of putting money in your miserly pocket; and is it true that Although there are still some persons when your bill was paid you reported the who believe-and perhaps the wish is fa- fact to the committee and then advised
