THE "PRISON MIRROR" is a very neat weekly paper, edited and published by convicts in the State Prison of Minnesota. Its matter, both original and selected, is very interesting, and we have no doubt, that the beneficial influence of the paper, in the employment it furnishes to those who fill its pages, and the knowledge it imparts to outsiders of the better thoughts and aspirations that exist even within prison walls, will insure its successful maintenance. It seems strange, however. that such an enterprise should exist in a prison, not only because it doesn't strike one as a very promising field in which to look for news, but because it requires printers and editors to produce a newspaper, and the only way we can account for it is that contempt of court convictions must be of occasional occurrence in Min-

THE Advocate is again let loose on the temperance question and labors to make it appear that the editor of the ADVANCE is a very bad man. Endeavoring to reply to our reference to some of the inconsistencies of professing total abstainers it says :- "What does he mean. Is he giving us a page of his own history at the time when he joined the St. John 'Temple of Honor,' and therein took a pledge to abstain for life from the use of intoxicants" As the editor of the ADVANCE much sympathy for him, as he is a never joined the Temple of Honor in St. deserving and industrious young man, John or anywhere else, and never took form of a subscription list bearing the any such pledge as that referred to, the names of his many friends and sympacha acter of the Advocate's statements thisers. may be estimated by this sample. Considering the manner in which the Advocate has come out of its characteristic attacks in the same quarter in former years, it seems that it is incapable of learning, even by experience, that the congenial muck in which it delights to wade is not in the quarter where it would like to find it.

We advise it to try Bathurst or Dalhousie for examples of temperance professors getting drunk on their newspaper tours. As to the $1,200 statement of the Advocate, it knows very well that no such sum has been collected in Northumberland as Scott Act fines. Imposing such fines and collecting them are different things, under the present regime. We have no doubt that the Advocate has all the returns and other particulars, for the business is a congenial one and nosing around after small game exactly to its taste. All have to base our statements upon are the records of the justices who try the cases. What is done by the little courts of ap. peal, presided over by the informers and their friends, and who, we are told, decide who shall pay and who shall not, we have neither the means nor desire to know. Most people who wish to have the administration of law in the hands of the proper authorities, wonder what is come next when they learn the methods that are being resorted to and the class minds sitting in unauthorised judgment just now, in Scott Act matters.

Killed by Electricity. [Halifax Chronicle 30th.] The first fatality in Halifax from elec tricity since the introduction of the elec tric light system here, occurred last evening, resulting in the instantaneous death of Albert Webber, Webber had been in the employ of the electric company about three months as a carboner, but on Sat urday night and last night was acting as roundsman. About 7,30 o'clock he started with Agricola street. The lamp at the corner of Agricola and May streets being out he proceeded thither. On reaching the spot he stood speaking for moment with two young men named Rafter and Murray, who were sitting or Mr. Andrew Downs' doorstep, immediately in front of the lamp, and then climbed the post, the young men watching him. When he reached the top, is customary, he put his leg over pull himself into position to remedy the defect in the light caught, hold of the two iron rods which support the storm cover and lamp, one in each hand. On damp nights, as last evening, the current es capes from the lamps into these supports. and the consequence was that he received such a shock that his death was the immediate result. The electricity held his hands to the rope for an instant, when he fell backwards, but his leg catching in the wires prevented his falling to the ground. An alarm was immediately given, and in a very short time the vicinity was crowded with people, and word was tel ephoned for the current to be turned off the circuit. When this had been done couple of men climbed the pole, and with the aid of ropes lowered the unfortunate young man to the ground. His face and hands were terribly swollen and black. and the electricity was so working his arms and head as to lead to the belief that he was not dead. He was carried to THE first day of May and a first Mr Pickering's across the street, and class old-fashioned snow-storm in full Dr. Campbell summoned. One day, while lifting, I felt something giving away in the region of my left kidney and immediately after I commenced to pass blood in mattery water. Three doctors could not stop the flow of blood, I got "Warner's Safe Cure," and began taking it unknown to the doctors, and about the 10th of December the bleeding began to get less, and in two or three days the dropsy began to set in my legs and feet. By this time I was reduced to a mere skeleton, suffering from cramps in my legs, feet and hands, also the hiccoughs. My flesh became like a piece of white unpolished marble, cold and no signs of any moisture. I here wish to say that I did not take any of "Warner's Safe Cure' from the 20th of December until March following. They tried all they could to check the dropsy, but had to resort to tapping at last, which was done every thirteen or fourteen days until the 23d of March. Then I was given up as hopeless, my spiritual director giving me the last dying rites of my church. I of God and "Warner's Safe Cure" come out all right. I then began taking Warner's Safe Cure" every three hours night and day, and "Warner's Safe Pills" also, and dieted as directed, and to the surprise public, I was able to get out by the 1st of May for a short walk or a drive. I still and now I feel as well in health as I ever did. No more trouble with dropsy, cramps, hiccoughing, or kidneys, and consider myalso disappeared. My body swelled so 1 could scarcely move about and my eyesight was affected so that I could hardly distinguish objects across the room. I had a distressing cough from the pressure of water on my lungs, and was in danger of suffocation whenever I attempted to lie down. My limbs were so swollen that I could not bend my joints or sit on a chair. The valves of my heart refused their office. At times circulation seemed entirely suspended so that I was incapable of moving a limb, and at others the increased action of my heart would cause such a pain in my head as words are inadequate to describe. Then again my stomach refused all nourishment and I was growing weaker every day. The physician who attended me said there was no hope; he could do no more for me and that a few days would see the end. At this stage I resorted to "Warner's Safe Cure" and "Warner's Safe Pills," and with most satisfactory results, although it was some two or three weeks after I commenced their use before much decided improvemert was manifested. My recovery then was very rapid. My weight from dropsical swelling was then 132 lbs. and is now reduced to 107, about my normal weight. An Interesting Special. One day last week people living along the line of the N. & W. Railway had their attention attracted by a hand-car running over the rails at a high rate of speed, propelled by two men, while another with a fair companion were apparently passengers journeying on some urgent and important mission. It was, no doubt, a special, and was evidently running regardless of right of track, to say nothing of the block system, and had a regularly authorised and fully equipped special been coming the other way the consequences might have been very serious. It seems that this hand-car special was a man-power arrangement in more respects than one, for the lady in the question seemed fearful of the risks she was running. The party had started from Upper Blackville and the recklessness with which they descended the grade towards Doaktown, indicated that they were in as big a hurry to get there as they had been to get out of the reach of paternal wrath at the journey's commencement. Arrived at Doaktown a stop was made and a call at Mr. Harvey Doak's resulted in a marriage license being taken on board, when the in fair eyes, whose owner declared they new kind of contempt, but people had Canada and his successors in that office, so

The way was clear, however, and pursuit almost out of the question, with the highway in its springtime impassibility and no railway special to be thought of. At Boiestown the license was produced before the clergyman and the two made one. At last advices "the parties of the first part" were enjoying their honeymoon. and it is quite likely that they will be did. The N. & W. Railway management, however, ought to look out for

The Chief Justice continued, stating to | stances Mr. Hawke that an attachment had been issued against him on two grounds. 1st for publishing an article in the Transcript of Nov. 5th criticising the judgement of the truth in a free country. the whole bench and 2nd for articles published in the Transcript of 11th and 12th Nov., making charges against the action of Judge Fraser in regard to election petitions. He (Hawke) had admitted writing or inspiring all of these articles. The now remained for him (Allen) to pass sen tence which the court thought proper. In regard to the first article in which the judgement of the full court was called an outrage, a farce, a judicial scandal, &c., it was a criticism of the bench in regard to continued to take "Warner's Safe Cure" | its judgement on a controverted election petition. It was such a judgement as the court thought correct and given in good self a sound man again. The catarrh in faith. He (Hawke) seemed to think he the head, of which I was badly affected, had the right to criticise the judgements of the court. He did not deny it, there is a limit. He could not have a license to say just what he pleased. What would a stranger think who came into the country and read the article complained of? He would think the court was not fit to exist, especially if such articles were allow-Hancellan ed to go unpunished. It passed the bounds of reasonable criticism. Judge Allen here said that he had ne glected to ask Hawke if he had anything to say why sentence should not be passed Mr. Hawke said he had, and addressing the bench said: He wrote the articles besay I have not suffered in the slightest lieving they were not contempt and not intended to be contempt and were justified in the public interest. He held that with all due deference to the court the trial was unfair. He did not mean that the cour had been unfair but that the procedure and manner of putting interrogatories as to intent was in violation of the mode of trial applied to the meanest criminal in the land, and their honors knew well, how in another mode of trial, if a witness pro ceeded to give evidence as to intent his evidence would be promptly ruled out. Further the manner of putting the interrogatories as to intent was too much like the star chamber and only needed the rack and thumb screw to compel the sired answers to questions. To make the resemblance complete it has been said that the questions as to intent were framed clergy present were: Bishop Medley, with a desire to help me, but they were certainly framed in no liberal spirit. One reason why he agreed with the suggestion of counsel that he should not answer interrogatoaies as to intent was because if he did so he would establish a precedent for other journalists who might follow, and that precedent would compel them answer as to intentions which would be very unfair and unjust to the defendants. The refusal to answer interrogatories as to intent was no admission of guilt, as the affidavit filed by him at the beginning of the proceedings showed that there was no intention to commit contempt. He stated this both on his word of honor and on oath, but in face of all this the court as interested party and the presecutors ruled the other way. The mistakes made by judges and officials in dealing with the machinery of this case show that they themselves did not understand it. Judge Palmer said yester lay that he (Hawke) was entitled to a great deal of credit for having taught the bench how to proceed in a matter of attachment against a journalist. The pro-

Consecration of Bishop Courtney.

HALIFAX, April 25. At an early hour this morning St. Luke's church was packed by the fortunate holders of tickets, who were desirous of seeing Bishop-elect Courtney consecrated. Morris street was filled with the crowd waiting to see the procession. Among the metropolitan; Coadjutor Bishop Kingdon; Bishop Nelley of Maine; the bishop of Ontario: the bishop of Quebec; Rev. Messrs. Phillips Brooke, Boston Mr. Storrs, Bos ton; G. W. Shinn, Newton, Mass; Mr Converse, Boston Highlands; Roland C. Smith, Burnley, Mass; Lewis K. Stone, Brookline, Mass; Dean Gray, Boston; C L. Hutchins, Medford Mass; J. A. Barrington, Wareham, Mass; H. Gray, Boston; Dr. Harris, Boston; W. W. Campbell. Boston; in addition to 76 of the clergy of the diocese who attended. At 10.15 the procession marched from St. Luke's school, the choir ahead followed by the lay representatives to the synod the deacons and clergy, the bishops bringing up the rear. As they entered the edifice the choir sang the fellowing proces-

The people should honor and obey the clergy in their office to enable the ministry to maintain its holy mission. It must be sustained by a spirit of submission. In all professions this spirit was recognized, and in the church it should be followed. After referring to the life of Bishop Binthat. After litany and another short prayer, the metropolitan, sitting in his chair, addressed Bishop Courtney in the words of the prayer book and the prescribed questions were read by the metropolitan.

Though this see is 101 years old this is the first bishop consecrated within it. After the consecration the clergy and 100 laymen repaired to Argyle Hall where luncheon was served. After luncheon the metropolitan introduced the bishop of Nova Scotia and proposed his health. He replied in a very neat speech and proposed the health of the guests, coupling with it the names of Dr. Brooks and the bishop of Maine, both of whom replied, the latter proposing the health of the bishops and clergy of the church in Canada, coupling with it the names of the bishop of Ontario and Canon Dumoulin. Both responded, the latter proposing the health of the Arch. deacon, Clergy and Laity of this diocese.

What Am I to do?

The symptoms of Billiousness are unhappily but too much known. They differ in different individuals to some extent. A Billious man is seldom a breakfast eater Too frequently, alas, he has an excellent appetite for liquids but none for solids of a morning. His tongue will hardly bear inspection at any time; if it is not white and furred, it is rough, at all events. The digestive system is wholly out of order and Diarrhæa or Constipation may be symptoms or the two may alternate. There are often Hemorrhoids or even loss of blood. There may be giddiness and often headache and acidity or flatulence and tenderness in the pit of the stomach. To correct all this if not effect a cure try Green's August Flower,
