GENERAL NOTES AND NEWS

The failures reported for the past week number 41 for Canada, and for the corresponding week last year 22.

Attacked Three Times. HAVING been attacked for the third time with Inflammatory Rheumatism, which kept me in bed six weeks under medical care, without relief, I resolved to try Burdock Blood Bitters, and before I had finished the third bottle I was able to work again.

GEORGE ROBE, Garden Hill, Ont. Massou, the government candidate in Richelieu, has been elected by 293 majority.

A Pleading Discovery. I suffered with neuralgia and obtained no relief until advised to try Hayward's Yellow Oil. Since then I have found it to be an admirable remedy for neuralgia, sore throat and rheumatism.

Mrs F. CAMERON, 137 Richmond St. W., Toronto, Ont. Edward Murphy, aged 14, son of Thos. Murphy, Broad Cove, Digby county, was killed Friday by falling off a precipice while hunting sheep.

Life Was a Burden. UNTIL lately I suffered from headache, always preceded by constipation, making my life a burden. A friend advised Burdock's Blood Bitters. I took three bottles, and now feel myself a new man, and my headaches are things of the past.

A. R. JULIEN, Ottawa, Ont. Mr. A. B. Sheraton is issuing the Halifax carnival ball committee for the amount of his bill.

The Alert Watchman. WARNERS of approaching danger, a hacking cough warns us of coming consumption. Take time by the forelock and use Hayward's Pectoral Balm, the surest, safest and best cure for coughs, colds, asthma, hoarseness, bronchitis, and all throat and lung troubles.

A cable message received in New York from Port au Prince states that Hippolyte has been unanimously elected President of Hayti.

Almost Driven Insane. I HAD such distress in my stomach and head that I thought I would lose my reason, but on trying Burdock Blood Bitters I derived great benefit. I have used three bottles and am now as well as I ever was in my life. Thanks to your medicine."

MISS LIZZIE DOUGLAS, Redweller, Ont. A French sergeant has been sentenced to imprisonment for life for offering to sell a Label cartridge to Count von Moltke.

Take No Chances. BUT depend on solid facts. Nothing equals Hayward's Yellow Oil for burrs, scalds, frost bites, chilblains, neuralgia, croup, sore throat and aches and pains of every description. No matter where the pain or soreness is, or from what it arises, Hayward's Yellow Oil will give quick relief.

The Italian Government has ordered 50,000,000 cartridges to be made with smokeless powder.

Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil and Hypophosphites. Is sold all over the world. It is far superior to plain Cod Liver Oil, palatable and easily digested. Dr. Martin Miles, Stanton, Bury Beach, London, England, says: "I have prescribed Scott's Emulsion and taken it myself. It is palatable, efficient, and can be tolerated by almost anyone especially where cod liver oil itself cannot be borne. Sold by all Druggists, at 50c. and $1.00.

The Radical and Moderate Republicans in France maintain hostile attitudes.

A Russian gunboat has been sunk at Batoum and her crew drowned.

For Sale and To-Let. 10 Tons good Upland Hay—pressed and loose. 1 Truck 7 years old. 1 Horse Wagon. 1 Double Driving do. 1 Single do. 200 bbls. Potatoes.

at F. W. RUSSELL'S, BLACK BROOK

FOR SALE. THE Dwelling House and Shop situate on the South side of Water Street, in the Town of Chatham, formerly occupied by Mrs. Delaney. For particulars apply to

L. J. Tweedie, Barrister at Law, Chatham, 10th May, 1889.

For Sale or To-Let. THAT very desirable residence situate on Upper Water Street in the w. of Chatham, adjoining the property of Samuel Habert, Esq., being occupied by Mrs J. J. Linton. The House is fitted with all the modern improvements—heat by a furnace, and has a bath-room supplied with hot and cold water. There is a good garden and five acres of land under cultivation belonging to the property. The Dwelling House, Carriage House and Stables are all in good order. If the property is not sold before the First May, it will be rented for one or two years, or longer.

THE House known as "The MacFarlane Cottage" situate opposite the Bank of Montreal is offered for sale, or will be rented to a suitable tenant. For terms and particulars apply to

L. J. TWEEDEIE, Dated Chatham, 21st Jan'y, 1889

COLTS WANTED. Wanted, 4 Duke of Wellington Colts or Fillies not less than four months old. J. B. SNOWBALL

THE GEM OF THE ATLANTIC.

Beautiful View at Picton—Rough Northumberland Straits—The Emerald Isle of the Dominion—Interview with Governor Macdonald and Premier Sullivan.

He who has not stood upon the hill at Picton on a clear summer's day and overlooked city, bay and opposite shore, has missed one of the most pleasing views this planet affords.

The bay, its surface sparkling in the sunshine and dotted with sail-boats, extends to the right and almost to the center of the peninsula; away to the left it widens into Northumberland straits, while the opposite shore rises in some places abrupt and rocky, and in others slopes so gently to the water's edge that at high tide the emerald turf seems to hang over and into the salt surf.

All the commanding knolls on each side are crowned with pretty residences, over all is the deep blue sky, and their just warm enough to be deliciously balmy.

When, therefore, the easy gliding steamer moved out at 1 p. m. over a harbor surface smooth and glassy as that of an unruffled lake, the wind sprang dashed over the bow, and we formed a social party on the after deck for jokes, laughter and politics.

First it was Canada vs. the United States, then Indiana vs. Massachusetts, North vs. South and Democrat vs. Republican. Our spirits swelled high—there was unbounded hilarity—we even essayed a little melody—life on the ocean wave, sing heigho, aloft aloft and above, and all that sort of thing while every minute the waves mounted higher.

Need of Irrigation. Says Gen. John B. Bowman: "It is my opinion that irrigation will be the means of doubling the population of every western state and territory within the coming ten years. I further believe that in the east, where the rainfall is heavy, but uncertain, irrigation will ultimately be resorted to in order to insure greater regularity of crops. Four-tenths of the area of the United States, not including Alaska, require irrigation. This territory includes part of California, Texas, Nebraska, Oregon, all of Arizona, Colorado, New Mexico, Utah, Wyoming, Montana, and portions of Dakota and Washington."

That Green Cabbage Worm. Mr. Andrew S. Fuller finds that the green cabbage worm is discouraged by the following treatment: Two quarts of coal tar are put into an open vessel, which is set in the bottom of a barrel and the barrel is filled with water. In forty-eight hours the water is impregnated with the odor of the tar, although the tar is then sprinkled abundantly on the cabbages and the odor penetrates every portion of the head, killing or driving away the worms. As the water evaporates no stain nor odor remains on the cabbage. The same quantity of coal tar can be used to impregnate several successive barrels of water.

Shoe for Draught Horses. The shoe shown in the cut here presented is intended for draught horses. It has a wide toe, the outside toe, the outer side quarter and heel with wide in. To overcome this tendency the style of shoe shown was designed by Professor William Russell, author of "Scientific Horse Shoeing." He says that any ordinary shoe may be used, on which the toe piece at A may be welded, which should extend over the outside rim of the shoe, say from one-half inch to an inch. Stave up the outside heel of the shoe sufficiently to get a good broad covering for the narrowed in heel and quarter. Use the round fulling tool to swedge the shoe wide enough to obtain good bar pressure. Turn up heels, and weld a half inch of iron on the heel, and fit the shoe snug to the wall up to both sides of the frog.

The effect of the projecting toe piece is to brace or stay the weak part of the ankle and foot, and in two or three shooings the foot will become natural in its movements, and fairly returned to its normal state.

QUEER FINDS. Rhode Wilmor, of Shelbyville, Ind., caught a three pound black bass the other day and found in it a silver quarter.

A buried city in Honduras containing relics in profusion has been unearthed 250 miles from the mouth of the Patook river, among the Yucas Indians.

A large deer recently was found in the liver of a darning needle in the possession of a nobleman near Vienna. A Viennese microscopist, who examined the liver, found it to be sound save in the immediate proximity of the needle.

The latest marine internal machine is a floating battering ram, invented for America by a Scotchman, and operated by a captain only, who is lodged in an invulnerable turret. Such a contrivance as this is capable of sinking the largest ironclad with the greatest ease.

AMERICAN REVOLUTION. While that of Canada has increased about thirty fold, I conclude, therefore, that those fellows the Yankees call "Tories," and who called themselves "United Empire Loyalists" must have had some good stuff in them, for their descendants have made much of the best part of Canada what it is today. The best estimate puts the number of those exiles to Canada at 30,000.

New York. J. H. BRADLEE. BULBS for Flowering in the House. The oxalis furnishes an extremely pretty and popular plant for hanging baskets. It is ready to potted in September and protected from frost.

Of yellow flowering bulbs, a color now very popular, lachenalia Nelsoni is very desirable for winter blooming in the house. The flowers are each an inch or more in length, borne on spikes several inches long, continue in bloom for a long time.

The "Oriental Lily," or Chinese sacred narcissus, represents a new house plant which is quite "the thing" to grow, as a sort of curiosity, for it will flourish in dishes filled only with pebbles and water. It bears fragrant flowers of white and yellow.

CANADA IN THE CENTER. (From the Canadian Hand Book.) But why are an awful coldness come over the meeting and the ladies retire to state-rooms? Why do I feel the blood leave my face and an awful uncertainty strike me amidst? Only because the Neptunian matter has gripped me by the midriff, my Picton dinner must go into the straits, and that is why I do not sing heigho, aloft and above, as much as I did, brave boys.

There is no getting around the fact that it is simply terrific, though all who escape it laugh at the victims and the victims laugh at themselves after it is all over—"Nobody ever dies of seasickness," y'know." Never less it is indeed sickening while it lasts. I lay flat on my back on the deck where the wind struck me first—that's the shortest way out of it because the loose covers cannot flop up against the stomach—and after two hours' struggle the steamer rounded Point Prim lighthouse into smooth water, and soon we were on our anchor. We ran close to the shore, and despite our lingering sickness, all broke into exclamations at the lovely view:

O, the transporting, rapturous scene! That rises to the sight! Sweet fields arrayed in living green And rivers of delight.

A low line of hills, a mere ridge fringed with timber forest, the backbone of the island, and from it the land declines each way in slight plateaus and gentle slopes, just slope enough for good drainage, all checkerboard with green and grass plots, pea and potato patches, orchard, meadow and grove, the whole dotted with pretty white farm houses and interlaced by crystal streams. The tide was at its highest, and the mud flats and rocky shores were concealed, so it seemed that the rank grass grew and the thrifty cattle grazed even to the water's edge. And a day or two of rambling about the island only added to the charm of first impressions; the contrast between the rugged Cape Breton's and pastoral Prince Edward's as one sails by is more than maintained by the fertile interior.

Prince Edward's Island is indeed the gem of the North Atlantic. The smallest of the Canadian provinces, it is a little more than twice the size of the smallest of the United States, Rhode Island, and it has scarcely a roof of waste land. Earth, air and water combine to make it a gem; the soil, of mixed red sand and loam, can be fertilized by any degree and at trifling expense by the "mussel mud," of which every inlet contains a deposit; the summer climate is delightful and the winters are not very cold, while the ocean on all sides abounds in fish. Drought and destructive rains are alike unknown; in conversation with the farmers one hears complacent only of "solid fogs" and the sleet of early winter. The spring is delayed by the ice, which piles upon the northern coast and chokes Northumberland straits till it forms a natural barrier, so there is no growth till the season is so far advanced that frosts are not feared.

Walking among the farms I was often surprised at the rank growth of pea vines, like a low topped jungle, and was informed that "this island claims a superiority over all other places in that line; "and as to potatoes," said my informant, "lazy people can plant 'em with a board and dig 'em with their feet and get a fair crop, so the soil is so loose." The island also excels in live stock, and every farmer reminds you that a Prince Edward's Island horse (Black Pilot or Black Pirate, I forget which) took the highest premium in his class at Philadelphia in 1876.

One would say there could be no variations of climate in so small an area, but there are. The floating ice of early winter takes a turn westward from the mouth of the St. Lawrence and comes down heavy on the northern, the concave, side of the island. After piling up there it drifts into the straits, and they are often so well frozen over that iceboats cross to the mainland of New Brunswick. Navigation, therefore, closes in December, while the harbor of St. John's, but a few miles south, is open all winter, and for the same reason the southern prong of this island has a much milder climate than the northern.

From a rural journal I returned in time to the opinion of the gentleman "the palace" is a lovely grove in the suburbs of Charlotteville, on a knoll overlooking the bay, and all the surroundings are "quite English"—a "ledge" at the front gate, with a nice old woman in charge; a heavily shaded avenue, a broad hall with baronial appearance and a general air of solemn pomp. Lieut. Governor Macdonald is Scotch, and Gaelic is the spoken language, and he is a native of the island, and Premier Sullivan is Irish—both Catholics. Talking to Governor Macdonald's pleasant talk about the United States was a good "outside view" to me. It was a striking proof of the truth that we of the United States do not see ourselves as others, and very intelligent people, too, see us. Those things which we would say ought to interest our neighbors do not interest them at all, and the dangers they see confronting us are the dangers we seldom think of.

Governor Macdonald did not think it worth while to ask me about the "southern question" and the future of the negro, or "plutocracy," and tariff and trusts—not at all. But he was very sure there is too much of the old and the new in the United States, too much demagoguery and too little Bible reading; that the ballot is too free and that there is altogether too little condemnation of carnal secret societies. And though he is a perfect gentleman he conveyed very plainly his opinion that if we did not stop educating the head without equal culture of the moral nature, and conditioning such things as the Crown and the United States will ere long find themselves in a bad way. And this leads me to mention as worthy of note the large number of Irishmen who locate in Canada as a matter of course, and who are the Dominion government, intensely loyal, one may say; Premier Sullivan, for instance, with whom I had a brief chat. And the lamented Thomas D'Arcy McGee, who is regarded as a martyr to Canadian nationality. And, what is more to the purpose, the Irish of Canada are not the annexationists; they are perfectly content to remain British citizens, and to holding office, they are just as patriotic as the Irish in England.

The population of the United States has increased, possibly, twenty-two fold since the AMERICAN REVOLUTION. While that of Canada has increased about thirty fold, I conclude, therefore, that those fellows the Yankees call "Tories," and who called themselves "United Empire Loyalists" must have had some good stuff in them, for their descendants have made much of the best part of Canada what it is today. The best estimate puts the number of those exiles to Canada at 30,000.
