As was stated by the provincial secrewe would be highly censurable. The cost of the fire escapes was $335. These fire escapes are used in nearly all of the asy.

Miramichi Advance,

The Logislature.

We were obliged, last week to defer the publication of the carefully prepared statement of Hon. P. G. Ryan, Chief Commissioner of Public Works, which we make room for this week. Mr. Ryan

Another year in the political histroy of the province and of the administration of its affairs has passed away, and I pre sume that at least a brief account of my stewardship respecting the management of the affairs of the department of public works during the passed year is expected of me. I shall not attempt to weary you with a detailed statement of the every day events, the fears and hopes and anxieties, the entreaties, the solicitations, the constant vigilance on our part, coupled in the mind's eye with the long list of items of necessary expenditure, and the amount standing opposite to each; the fear of adding all up together lest, perhaps, the sum | if the finances would admit that he should total might, before the end of the year, far exceed the comparatively small amount | the province. The amount paid out by which can be appropriated from the fixed the department last year, exclusive of revenue of the province towards the main- the sum paid on account of the new de tenance of different services which the partmental building, was $128.536. Of department is expected to provid for, all this amount $32,515 was paid for roads of which make the position which I hold and small, bridges, which latter we do not anything but comfortable and easy. It is class under the head of bridges. The sum of possible that even this brief allusion to $60,731 was paid out for bridges; $9,121 the anxiety and labor with the affairs of was paid out for what is called special owner of the real estate or personal promy department will be viewed by some expenditure. Hon. members know what perty, or real and personal property toas an overdrawn picture, and a plaintive is meant by that. Details will be found gether. The question may be asked why and mournful presentment of the case, when it is considered that the area comprising the field of labors is confined to one province of this great Dominion. But, Mr. Chairman, I wish it to be understood that I do not complain of the labor. do not dislike work, even hard work, according to my capacity to proform it. I could, without serious inconvenience to myself, get through with more than I do, but when I seek for a reason for the worry and anxiety to which I have just alluded, I find it in one particular phase of the whole question, and that is in the comparatively limited amount at my disposal. When I say the amount appropriated in order. for roads and bridges is small. I mean Yard Room and Stabling that it is small compared with what is expected and what always will be expect ed of any government which may be in power in this province; but at the same to greater extent had been done for which time. I think that the provision made by no charge was made, it having been perthe province for those services, in pro- formed by those employed about the inportion to its population and settled area, stitution and by some of the inmates who, will compare favorable with what is appro- although not able to make their own way priated by other provincial legislatures for | in the world, are capable of doing some a simular purpose, and when we compare our position in this respect with that of the people of the different states of the utilizing to some extent the labor of cerneighboring republic, where they voluntarily directly tax themselves for all the requirements for simular purposes, and for a host of local purposes which are provided for out of our provincial exchequer, then we, as a people, have reason to be

While I belive that the government of this province will always continue to deal other buildings had been found in a very as liberally with the people as the resources and revenue will permit of, and whilst I should like to have a much larger amount at my disposal, still the comparison which I have just made respecting our position as compared with the United States, if considered for a moment, would seem to strengthen the doctrine laid down by some writer of political | lieutenant governor, but, as the buildings economy that a lavish expenditure of public money for local purposes may not tend as much as some would believe to advance and foster material prosperity and hap. piness, because it prevents the people from becoming educated to a proper apprecia- $7,416. That was chiefly for works on tion of the great principles of self-reliance and perseverance which they claim, if not | because of the purchase of fire escapes for wholly the cause, have been at least powerful motors in the onward march of if a fire occurred at that institution and progress and of wealth and the position of the government had not provided every power to which that and other countries have so rapidly attained. I think it is my duty to make special reference to a matter of very great importance in connexion with the use, or rather the abuse, of bridges which have been built at a very great expense to the province over broad and rapid rivers, which are subject to a sudden rise of water, where large bodies of thick ice flow down very quietly to the sea, where large quantities of lumber are floated or driven to the mills. Such bridges require to be built with long spans, and it is painful to see people deliberately trotting their horses across these spans utterly indifferent to the consequences. It has been ascertained by careful calculation that a locomotive passing over a bridge at the rate of 10 to 15 miles an hour will not strain it much or wear it out so rapidly as horses trotting over it. It may be asked, why do you not enforce the law and prevent this? In answer to that I say such a burden should not be placed upon the department, because those bridges, when built, become the property of the public, and it seems unreasonable and absurd that we should, in addition to the cost of building these bridges, be obliged to pay a very considerable sum to men to prevent the public from destroying their own property. My object in bringing this matter before the house is that my words may reach the country, and I trust that in the future those who make a practice of trotting over the bridges may be more careful. Owing to the disastrous spring and winter freshets to which I referred last year, and to the last autumn freshet, all of which destroyed public works to the extent of between $60,000 and $70,000. the department is not in as good a financial position as I would wish it to be, as I was obliged to draw largely in advance of this year's appropriation, so that the utmost care will have to be exercised to make ends meet; and I must ask honorable members to be as moderate as possible in their demands and to confine them to cases of the most urgent necessity. As I stated last year many of the electors. Continuing, he said: We probridges that were built 10, 15 and 20 pose to allow every male person of the age years ago are now worn out and we are of 21 years-being a British subject not rebuilding them as rapidly as possible, otherwise incapacitated—to vote in any and I think we can fairly claim that election of members for the House of Asthese new structures are of the best and sembly, to retain his qualification on promost substantial character. Many of our readers have often asked 'What is Bright's Disease of the kidneys. about which we hear so much?" To answer their question we have secured the following explanatory article, written by a competent authority:

The symptoms of Bright's Disease (which is but an advanced form of Kidney Disease) differ in different individuals, but generally the patient presents a flabby, bloodless look, is drowsy and easily fatigued, has pain in the back, vomiting and febrile disturbance. The urine is reduced in quantrty, is often of dark, smoky or bloody color, and exhibits to chemical reaction the presence of a large amount of albumen, while under the microscope blood corpuscles and casts are found.

There are several forms of the malady. but their common prominent characteristic is the presence of albumen in the urine, and frequently also the co-existence of dropsy. These associated symptoms, house last year was $1,773. Sometimes there is degeneration of the tissues of the kidney into fat, thus impairing the excreting powers of the organ so that the urea, is not sufficently separated from the blood. The flow of the blood, when charged with vation for several years. I was not then the urea, is retarded through the minute vessels, congestion ensues, and exudation of the albumen and fibrin is the result. The disease is often accompanied by eruptions on the skin, as boils, etc., and is frequently associated with enlargement of
