SOCIAL:—The social given at Black Brook on Tuesday evening in aid of the Temperance Hall, was a decided success. About twenty-five couples took part in the dance, which passed off nicely and broke up at an early hour. The fancy quilt, which was raffled during the evening, was a very fine one, it being the latest pattern—the Cleveland Tulip. It brought twenty-five dollars, and was drawn by H. H. Johnson of Black Brook. The committee in charge deserve the highest praise for the able and successful manner in which they managed the whole affair.

FIRES:—Saturday morning, at about two o'clock, fire was discovered in Mr. Joseph J. No's house, Upper Water street, Chatham, and before the engines could get to the spot it was blazing high and threatened to cause an extensive conflagration. It is a three-story brick building, and it is a fact that there were no fire escapes in the rear of the same. The steam fire engine three horses, and Mr. Snowball's steam fire engine, and the firemen, by well directed efforts, managed to make everything safe in a very short time. The Jimmo house was almost completely destroyed but, though that adjoining on the west, and occupied by Mr. Wm. Christie took fire occasionally, it was damaged to the extent of only about $100.

The factory at Rosebank owned by Mr. Abram Scott, was entirely consumed by fire early on Friday night last. Mr. Scott had just returned from Newcastle when the alarm was given, and the interior was a mass of flames. Nothing was saved, save a large quantity of shingles were stored in a shed adjoining the building and together with all his machinery were destroyed. The loss to Mr. Scott is a heavy one there being no insurance.

Wall Done. Sergt. Loggie!

Sergt. D. M. Loggie returned on Tuesday morning from Ottawa, where he has been competing in the matches of the Dominion Rifle Association at the Rideau Ranges. Mr. Loggie is a marksman of no ordinary merit, as his excellent record of the present season, at both the Provincial and Dominion competitions, shows. Although a Chatham man he is a member of the Newcastle Field Battery of Artillery, and it may, therefore, be said that the Miramichi generally has reason to be proud of him. At the provincial matches, held at Sussex a few weeks ago, he won the McPherson Cup, which carried with it a cash prize of $15. He won the bronze medal for second highest in the ordinary aggregate, and, in the grand aggregate, he took the Provincial medal and a money prize. Besides badges, cups and medals, he won $71 in cash at the Provincial competition. In the Ottawa matches he won quite a large number of money prizes, besides a badge in the Governor-General's match, tied for third place in the highest man on next year's Wimbledon team, the other having a technical advantage which rated him in first place and Sergt. Loggie in second. His money winnings alone at the Ottawa matches amounted to $92. When it is remembered that there were between four and five hundred men at the Ottawa competition, it will be realized that Sergt. Loggie is far above the average as a marksman. The corps to which he belongs is to be congratulated on having him on its roll, and many towns have publicly demonstrated their appreciation of one who have honored them abroad in far less meritorious ways than has Sergt. Loggie, the crack shot of New Brunswick, done credit to Chatham.

Kilam-Fairry.

The marriage of Mr. J. A. Killam of Moncton and Miss Annie F. Fairry of Chatham, took place on Saturday morning last at eleven o'clock, Rev. Canon Forsyth officiating. Although it was supposed that the wedding was to be a very quiet one—the invitations for the "at home" not being issued until Monday last—the church was filled by the numerous friends and well-wishers of the bride, who was a general favorite in the community. The groom was assisted by his brother, A. E. Killam, Esq., M. P. and Miss Florence Fairry, sister of the bride, was bridesmaid. Mr. B. Fairry of Newcastle, gave the bride away. The choir of the church sang a wedding hymn and chanted the 67th psalm, Master Fred Blair being organist. After the ceremony the bride and groom, who were joined by Canon Forsyth, had luncheon at the residence of the bride's mother, and then proceeded to the train, at one o'clock. They were received at the railway station by a large party of friends, who were laden with rice and slippers, with which, after congratulations, they were bombarded as the train moved off. The wedding train includes St. John, Boston, New York, Niagara, Montreal, etc.

Amongst the bridal presents were a splendid piece of the groom, a check for £100 from the bride's uncle in England, and numerous other articles, which formed a very valuable and attractive display. A noticeable feature was a silver ice-pitcher in a swinging-frame, the gift of eight of the late trustees of St. Andrew's Church, of which Miss Fairry was organist. Mr. Tweedie, M. P., in behalf of himself and Messrs. John McDonald, Wm. Wilson, Wm. Wyse, H. A. Muirhead, Jas. Nicol, A. J. Loggie and John Johnston, made the presentation on the evening preceding the wedding, accompanying the gift with a well-expressed assurance of the high regard in which the fair recipient was held by St. Andrew's. Miss Fairry made a reply that was equally happy. The newly-wedded pair are expected to return to Chatham for a short period on 21st and 22nd and out for their "at home" on 23rd and 24th.

Northumberland County S. S. Convention.

The Annual meeting of the Northumberland S. S. Convention was opened on Monday, the 9th inst., in the Hall of St. Andrew's Church, Chatham. The Rev. R. S. Crisp, President, occupied the chair. The meeting was opened by singing the Coronation hymn, after which a Scripture lesson was read by the president, and prayer was offered, at his request, by Rev. J. D. Murray and Mr. A. D. Smith. The President appointed Rev. N. McKay and Mr. A. D. Smith a committee to nominate officers for the ensuing year and the committee was given leave to retire and prepare a report. After an interval, during which the Convention was occupied in devotional exercises, the committee reported, recommending the appointment of H. S. Miller, Esq., as President, and Rev. R. S. Crisp, Mr. D. P. McLaughlin and Mr. James Henderson as members of the Executive Committee. On motion the report was received and H. S. Miller, Esq., was elected President. Mr. Miller thereupon took the chair, amid hearty applause.

Mr. A. D. Smith moved that Rev. N. McKay be continued Secretary. The motion, having been duly seconded was carried unanimously.

The gentlemen recommended by the committee together with Rev. J. D. Murray and Rev. T. H. Cuthbert were appointed to form, with the President and Secretary, the Executive committee. Vice-Presidents were appointed as follows:

J. L. Murray, Blissfield; Herbert McMillan, Ludlow; W. H. Grindley, Blackville; Rev. T. Allen, Derby; Rev. J. D. Murray, South Ek; Benj. Forsythe, North Ek; James Henderson, Newcastle; A. D. Smith, Chatham; Finlay McDonald, Glenelg; Henry Phillips, Hardwick; Rev. J. Robertson, Anwick; Rev. E. Kelly, St. John's; Rev. W. McLaughlin, Rogersville.

Mr. A. D. Smith and Rev. Neil McKay were appointed a committee on membership. The following were found to be in attendance:

Rev. J. D. Murray, Redbank; Rev. W. Aitken, Newcastle; Rev. T. H. Cuthbert, Chatham; Miss Isabella Edger, Miss Clara Loggie, Miss Ferguson, Miss Jennie Loggie, Mrs. Nichol, Mr. D. P. McLachlan, Miss McLachlan and Mr. A. D. Smith, St. Andrew's Church, Chatham; Miss Tweedie, H. S. Miller, Esq., Methodist Church, Chatham; James Henderson, McLaggan, St. James' Church, Newcastle; Mrs. Park, Miss Mitchell, Miss Murray, Indiantown, Newcastle; Mr. McCurdy, Miss Sheriff, Miss Firth, St. John's Church, Chatham.

The Convention then spent some time in devotional exercises, and then adjourned to meet in the same place at 8 p. m.

The Convention assembled at 8 p. m., and opened with praise and prayer. A much larger number of Sabbath School workers were present. Among the first arrivals was noticed Rev. J. Robertson and other S. School workers from Anwick.

The minutes of the previous session were read and approved.

The Secretary then presented the Statistical Report. Returns had come to hand from 20 Sabbath Schools in which are 101 teachers and 1407 pupils. Besides these there are known to be in operation ten schools, five of which belong to the Church of England.

On motion of Rev. R. S. Crisp, seconded in a stirring address by Rev. J. D. Murray, the report was received and the Secretary was directed to complete as far as practicable the Statistical table.

George Haddon, Esq., Dalhousie, President or the Provincial Association, then addressed the Convention in reference to the operations of the Provincial Association, and called upon the young people of Northumberland to give themselves more energetically to S. School work, pointing out that no work was nobler nor yielded richer reward.

At this stage Mr. S. J. Parsons, Secretary of the Provincial Association and Mrs. Crofts of New York, arrived, and received a very cordial welcome from the Convention.

At the invitation of the President Mrs. Crofts kindly greeted the Convention and asked to be excused from making a formal address till to-morrow, when she expressed her readiness to do all that might be required of her.

Mr. Parsons then delivered a highly instructive and interesting address, giving a graphic account of a voyage across the sea by delegates from the United States and Canada to attend the World's Convention last July in London. Some 300 delegates crossed the ocean in one steamer, and held conferences and prayer and praise meetings almost every day during the voyage. They arrived in Liverpool on Sabbath morning and were very cordially received and before the day was over members of the delegation had an opportunity of visiting many of the schools in the city. On Monday they proceeded to London and met many other delegates who had crossed by different routes. The presence in London of more than 400 persons who crossed the sea to attend a S. S. Convention, some of them having travelled 3000 miles, gave the deep impression of the importance of Sabbath School work.

It was agreed to hold two sessions on Tuesday at 3 and 5 p. m. and the Convention closed to meet in the same place at 3 p. m. on that day.

The Convention resumed on Tuesday at 3 p. m. A brief conference was held on the subject of school discipline and the best method of dealing with mischievous pupils. Mrs. Crofts then formed about a score of little children into a class and gave a model lesson. The subject was David, in the cave, sparing the life of Saul. Every member of the Convention was charmed with the lesson. The questioning was most effective and the black board illustrations simple and appropriate. The lesson lasted about half an hour. A most instructive and interesting conference followed upon the method of teaching exhibited, in which Mrs. Crofts, Mr. Parsons, Mr. Haddon and others took part. This conference lasted up to the hour of adjournment.

The Convention held its closing meeting on the same evening in St. Andrew's Church. Mrs. Crofts gave an address on the seven lights of teaching, illustration, imitation, imagination, questioning, system, repetition, enthusiasm. The address was illustrated on the black board and eminently fitted to help S. School or any other class of teachers.

Mr. Parsons then gave an excellent epitome of the proceedings of the "World's" S. School Convention held in London in July, and closed by a strong appeal to the S. S. workers of Northumberland to renew their efforts until up to the number and efficiency of the day schools.

The following resolutions, proposed by Rev. Neil McKay and seconded by Rev. R. S. Crisp were unanimously adopted: 1. That this Convention express its great pleasure at the visit of Mrs. Crofts and its sense of the great service which her very impressive addresses and apt illustrations have rendered to the cause of Sabbath Schools in this County and further, that we record our gratitude to Messrs. Haddon and Parsons, the President and Secretary of the Provincial S. S. Association for their presence and assistance at this Convention.

2. That in closing this Convention we record our gratitude to God for any degree of progress made in this County, and that we are resolved to return to our work with increased zeal for the spiritual welfare of our youth, and increased faith in the guidance and help of Almighty God.

The Convention then closed by singing the Doxology and the benediction by Rev. Jas. Robertson.

Mrs. Crofts held a meeting with the Christian workers in the Newcastle S. School Wednesday (yesterday) evening, and goes North to attend the Convention at Bathurst to-day. She will hold meeting at Charlott at 11 o'clock on Sabbath the 13th and at Dalhousie on the afternoon of the same day.

The Restigouche S. S. Convention will meet on Monday next in Campbellton.

A Pretty Wedding.

For some time many friends in Chatham, Fredericton and elsewhere have been looking forward, with much interest, to the marriage of Capt. Henry Montgomery Campbell, son of the late Geo. M. Campbell of the N. B. University and Miss Laura Winslow, eldest daughter of F. E. Winslow, Esq., of the Bank of Montreal here, which happy event was consummated on Tuesday morning, 10th, at 10.30 in St. Mary's Chapel. The day was a propitious one, for although the early morning was clouded, the sun shone forth at the hour fixed for the ceremony came, as if in response to the general wish for "bride's weather."

The church was decorated for the occasion with much taste, plants and natural flowers abounding and Messrs. C. A. C. Bruce and Rupert and Frank Blair acted as ushers. The seats nearest the chancel were occupied by the wedding guests and long before the time for the ceremony all the sittings were crowded and there was barely room for the choir and bridal processions to pass up the main aisle, owing to the number who were glad to get even standing space.

When the carriages containing the bride party approached the church the surprised choir sang—

"The voice that breathed o'er Eden" as they went in procession, up the aisle. Rev. Canon Forsyth, who was to perform the ceremony, having taken his place at the chancel steps, the groom, who was accompanied by Lieut. D. Sears, as groomsmen, entered the church and took the accustomed position, followed, a few minutes after, by the bride, who leaned on the arm of her father and was accompanied by her bridesmaids. These were her sisters, Misses E. and Constance Winslow and Miss Campbell, sister of the groom. The bride was arrayed in a costume of white faille silk, en train, and wore orange blossoms and a white bridal veil, and as the happy couple stood before the officiating clergyman their beaming faces were the subject of most favorable comment, the calm, modest and dignified demeanor of the bride enhancing her loveliness and commanding general admiration. The responses were given by both bride and groom in clear tones and, in this, as well as other respects, the ceremony passed off in a most satisfactory manner, the Gregorian chanting of the 67th psalm, by the choir, being well done, while the youthful organist, Freddie Blair, did admirable service all through, as well as in the harmonious ending of this part of the wedding celebration.

Immediately after the ceremony at the church the guests accompanied the newly-wedded pair to the residence of the bride's father, where the reception took place. The room was profusely decorated with flowers and drapery and the bride's presents, which were numerous and valuable were viewed, after which there was a superb luncheon and an exchange of the usual felicitations by several speakers. Chief Justice, Sir John Allen, commented the speech-making by saying that he felt he had the strongest grounds of any present to claim the privilege of proposing the health of the bride and groom and he would state his reasons for it. In the first place he had, for a great many years, been the intimate friend of Mr. Winslow, the father of the bride. In addition to that, Mr. Winslow's father and his (Sir John's) father had been intimate friends all their lives. Furthermore, Col. Winslow—the great-grandfather of the bride and his (Sir John's) great-grandfather—were most intimate friends through the American Revolutionary War and came to New Brunswick at the peace of 1783. On his grandfather's death in 1808 Col. Winslow—who was also a lawyer—succeeded him as judge of the Supreme Court.

On the other side of the house, he (Sir John) had been acquainted with the groom's mother from her infancy. He studied law for five years in the office of her father, the late hon. John Simcoe Saunders, and his father—the late Chief Justice Saunders—was the intimate friend of his (Sir John's) grandfather, both having served as officers in the Revolutionary War and both sat on the bench as Judges of the Supreme Court of the Province.

Chief Justice Judge Saunders having been appointed in 1790. In addition to that, in the year 1800, when the question of slavery was brought up in our supreme court, Judge Saunders and his (Sir John's) grandfather gave their opinion that slavery was unlawful in this province, while the two other Judges—there were only four of them—held the contrary, and although there was, therefore, no decision of the court, it was equally divided, the question of slavery was substantially settled, the illegality of slaveholding being popularly conceded and slavery put an end to in New Brunswick. Many of the persons who came from the American Colonies at that time had brought their slaves with them, but after the judges had divided on the question, as stated, these never attempted to exercise rights of ownership in them.

He might mention also an interesting fact, viz., that Judge Saunders—the groom's great-grandfather—after he was appointed a judge, was elected as a representative of Northumberland County in the Provincial Assembly—that of course being before the days of responsible Government.

Sir John claimed, after giving the foregoing bit of politico-personal history, that he had established his claim that he had the best right of any person present to propose the toast, and he did not think it was possible for anyone to present a better claim. He closed by a felicitous reference to the long-established family friendships which were cemented in the union of the present occasion.

Rev. Canon Forsyth, after claiming that the lawyer had, as usual, got the better of the person, whose privilege it usually was to give the toast so happily proposed by Sir John, said he must add something to what had already been so well said. He then proceeded to speak of the loss the Church and St. Mary's Guild here sustained in parting with the bride, whose duties in connection with both were always faithfully and efficiently performed. He congratulated the groom on his great good fortune in securing so estimable a wife and tenderly warned him of what dreadful things would happen to him at the hand of his Chatham friends should he fail to show his thorough appreciation of the prize which he was taking from the community.

Capt. Campbell made a brief and appropriate response in behalf of the bride and himself and concluded by proposing the health of the bridesmaids, due acknowledgment being made by Lieut. Sears. Mr. Winslow, father of the bride, next expressed the pleasure it gave him to know that everything connected with the event of the day had passed off so very satisfactorily and in the course of an excellent speech he expressed the especial pleasure it gave him to have his old friends Sir John Allen and Lady Allen with them, as well as to acknowledge his indebtedness to Messrs. Snowball, D. Ferguson and others for kindnesses which had largely contributed to the success of the celebration of the day. He made feeling reference to the loss the family sustained in parting with the bride, but had every hope and reason to believe that it was for her happiness.

Mr. Snowball made a very felicitous speech, which put everyone in excellent humor, and was followed by Judge Wilkinson who turned the Jessie Brown incident at Lucknow to account, after which everybody realised that train-time was approaching and that "the Campbells were going," which they did with three cheers from the guests who assembled in front of the house. Most of the guests accompanied the bride and groom to the station, where the usual farewell greetings were exchanged and the young couple went away amid showers of rice and daisy slippers.

Kent Items.

(From "The Review") The Presbytery of Miramichi meets at Welford on the 12th inst. for the purpose of ordaining and inducting Mr. Wm. McLeod into the charge of the Presbyterian congregation of that place.

We learn that C. Richardson, Q. C., is to be appointed Stipendiary Magistrate, vice T. W. Bliss, deceased. Also that John T. Cole is the successful candidate for the office of Parish Court Commissioner. Both appointments will no doubt give general satisfaction.

Bellonie Johnson, aged 19 years, son of John Johnson, was drowned in the North West River, on Thursday afternoon, he having gone in bathing but got beyond his depth. His younger brother, who was with him, gave the alarm, but before assistance could reach the spot, the unfortunate young man was beyond human aid. The water was only five feet deep where the deceased met his untimely end. Coroner Doherty held an inquest on the remains, when a verdict was returned according to the facts. We extend our sympathy to the respective members of the afflicted family in their sudden bereavement.

The scene, on Thursday last, at the inquest over the body of the young man Johnson, drowned in the North-West, should help to bring about a much needed reform, to wit: the division of each county into districts and the appointment of one Coroner for each district. There would then be no clashing of authority or of officials. Our coroners should remember the stinging rebuke administered by the Judge who twenty years ago tried a case, arising out of a wrangle between two coroners at Kingston, when he termed it "an unseemly scramble for dead bodies."

Fleas! Fleas! Itching Fleas. Symptoms—Moisture, intense itching and stinging; most at night; worse by scratching. It allowed to continue tumors form, which often bleed and ulcerate becoming very sore. SWAYNE'S OINTMENT stops the itching and bleeding, heals ulceration, and in most cases removes the tumors. At drug stores, or by mail, for 50 cents. Dr. Swayne & Co., Philadelphia.

Concerning The Fashions.

One of the striking features of the moment is the almost unmitigated flatness of the backs of some of the elegant imported costumes just received from both London and Paris. "As straight as a yard and a quarter of pump water," exclaimed a modest, upon beholding a number of typical French walking dresses just out of their packings. Skirts are decorated in magnificent style, with embroideries, borderings, passementerie and galloon, but the drapings, though marvellously deft, are very slight, even upon the most expensive evening gowns and the most elaborate costumes. Another noticeable matter is the color schemes, which are more than ever novel and unique.

Orange and copper-colored trimmings are in great vogue abroad, and a great deal of handsome ribbon is used in most capricious ways. The new sack ribbons are delicious works of art. Round and belted waists remain the favor in demand, notwithstanding the marked popularity of the redingote and polonaise.

The Grecian empire, Russian and diademe models are four distinct types in fashionable gowns for next season, but the variations are bewildering, extending from the regal Medici gown to the straight, full skirted dress of "a housemaid on duty." Although certain rules are complied with, there is practically no limit to the creation of luxurious gowns now ready for the coming brilliant season of the year.

Somebody remarked with a sigh that the reign of the diademe had been comparatively short but uncommonly fierce while it lasted, and that the love for huge buttons and broad lapels was well nigh over. A great mistake, indeed. The diademe has been laid aside during the summer season, while the gingham had its day, but when the leaves begin to turn and the autumn gowns are once more in the midst the button will be found to have increased in circumference, pocket flaps and revers will add nearly another inch in length and breadth, while a muslin stock and ruffled shirt will on occasions take the place of a heavier vest and high collar.

The extreme simplicity of style meddled on the diademe pattern will be popular during this coming fall season. Among the dress toilets is shown a round, full skirt of china crepe caught up on the left side with a clasp, silk cord or chateaus, while the bodice is round and pointed and severely simple. A charming evening gown made on this style has full skirts of white tulle, embroidered in large dots. An extra fulness in the back of the round skirt took the place of draperies, and on the left hip the tulle was caught in several plaits by a silver buckle. The diademe coat of old blue pea de soie was brodered along the short tails, broad revers, pocket flaps and deep cuffs by silver braid, and the full white silk mull vest that was gathered on about the throat in front was embroidered in outline by tiny silver daisies.

Mothers!

Castoria is recommended by physicians or children teething. It is a purely vegetable preparation, its ingredients are published around each bottle. It is pleasant to the taste and absolutely harmless. It relieves constipation, regulates the bowels, quiets pain, cures diarrhoea and wind colic, allays feverishness, destroys worms, and prevents convulsions, soothes the child and gives it refreshing and natural sleep. Castoria is the children's panacea—the mother's friend, 35 doses, 35 cents.

When Baby was sick, we gave her Castoria. When she became a Child, she cried for Castoria. When she became Miss, she clung to Castoria. When she had Children, she gave them Castoria.
