THE LIQUOR QUESTION is again discussed in this week's Advocate, which says Chatham is represented by two liquordealers. This is, of course, an assertion that the editor of the ADVANCE is a liquordealer. It is possible that the Advocate has been told this, still that does not justify the statement, any more than we would be justified in saying that P. G. W. P. Anslow is a drunkard because editer Anslow was reported a few years since as having got so tipsy in a licensed rum-shop in Bathurst that he missed the train,

Narrow Escape.

Five persons narrowly escaped drowning in the Miramichi last Thursday. through carelessness and inexperience in boat-sailing. The races of the Miramichi Yacht Club were being sailed and all the boats of the first class, save the Fedora, had beaten down from Newcastle and rounded the pilot schooner Princess Louise, which was the flag boat at the turning point. The Fedora is a schoonerrigged lapstrake craft about 25 feet long, was well balasted and had five hands on board, viz., the owner, Mr. J. L. Stewart, Messrs. Albert Patterson, P. A.

An extra puff of wind careened her over and seemed to catch all hands napping, for she took in water and as neither the staysail nor forward sheets were let go, nor Secretary, according to the Woodstock | the helm put down in time, she filled and sank, "all standing." Fortunately, she was out of the main channel, in about 18 feet of water, and those on board scrambled to windward, holding and climbing by the rigging until the hull took bottom. Mr. Stewart, being at the tiller, had only the reef-points and leach was devoted to routine work. The Miramichi Yacht Club's second race of the season took place last Thursday, over the course from Newcastle to Chatham and return. Commodore J. C. Miller's steamer Derby was judges' boat. There was a fair easterly wind. The two boats of the second class, Mr. Anderson's 'Squirrel" and Mr. Watt's "Mackerel" were started first, the prizes for them being the Call-Noonan cup. A short time after the "Kilbride," owned and sailed by Commodor J. C. Miller, the "Blondy" owned and sailed by Mr. W. R. W. C. T. U.

Tne eleventh annual session of th Maritime W. C. T. U., was held at Si Stephen, beginning on 4th inst., about fifty delegates being present. Indeed, it may be said to have begun on the preced ing evening when a reception was held in the Temperance Hall, and Mr. C. N Vroom, of Howard Division, delivered an address of welcome. The regular session was begun with devotional exercises by Mrs. Sampson of Fredericton, and an address from the president, Mrs. W. W. Turnbull. The remainder of the session Stephen, conducted the exercises. The work of the meeting was the revision of the constitution and bye-laws. The most important amendments were that county superintendents shall take the place of the divisional superintendents who now have charge of four counties: that two delegates instead of three be sent from each local union, and that the date of meeting be the third Wednesday instead

On Wednesday evening a public meetng was held in the Methodist church. Rev. R. Weddall offered prayers, Mrs. Turnbull read an eloquent address. Papers were read by Mrs. T. B. Smith of Windsor, and Mrs. Trenholm of Hantsport. A pleasing feature of the meeting was the presentation to the Maritime Union of a silken banner by Mrs. Todd, of St. Stephen.

On Thursday the constitution of local stated fee was all that could be collected. and therefore it would not be well to Commodore Robert Leggie being prevent- | make it small; while others would leave ed from taking his accustomed place, by the sum to be fixed by each local union. Mrs. Phillips, of Fredericton, presented the report of Scientific Temperance Instruction. The New Brunswick board of education had been induced to authorize text books on the subject. Social meetings for the students of the provincial normal school and the university had been held in the parlors of the Fredericton union and at these meetings 932 students had taken the total abstinence pledge.

Mrs. Trenholm, of Hantsport, superintendent of work among gailors, reported the work that had been done, and made a special appeal on behalf of Canso. There were at times hundreds of sailers in the streets of that town, and except the liquor shops there was no place open to them. Land had been bought for the purpose, but funds were needed to erect a Canso realised $40. The sum was for warded through Mrs. Trenholm. On Friday morning, after some routine work, the convention proceeded to the election of officers.

The ballot for nomination showed s large a majority for the re-election of Mr Turnbull as president that on motion the choice was made unanimous. Here the formalities of election met with a very pleasant and characteristic interruption, which could take place only in a gathering of women. Mrs. Turnbull was deeply affected, and murmured some words of self-depreciation. After a moment's silence an impulsive member exclaimed, 'Mrs. Turnbull, you are just lovely, and if you have any faults we love them. Immediately another delegate called for a 'handkerchief salute,' and for a few seconds the air was filled with fluttering bits of lawn and lace, as all present rose to their feet and sainted. The voting was then resumed, resulting in the re-election of all the other officers,

The corresponding secretary read a letter from Miss Willard, president of the World's W. C. T. U., urging that efforts be made to secure at least 200,000 signatures in Canada to the women's petition to the governments of the world, in favor of prohibition: Mrs. Conacher, of Campbelton, representing the union organized there about a year ago, stated that by the efforts of that union 525 names had been added to the petition. Miss Brown, of Chatham, then read a paper advocating the extension of the franchise to women. It was well read and well received.

In the discussion which followed, Mrs. Steadman, Mrs. McFarlane, Mrs. Philips, Mrs. Smith, Mrs. King, Miss Archibald, Mrs. Burpee, Miss Brown, Mrs. Todd, Mrs. Lawson and the president took part. The prevailing opinion seemed to be that the right of suffrage was sure to come, for the best men were beginning to wish to see the ballot in the hands of women; and that women, instead of trying to hasten its coming, should rather strive to learn what it involves and to be ready.

At the evening session, Mrs. Trenholm, of Hantsport, was appointed maritime organizer for the ensuing year. A resolution of sympathy with the work of the Dominion Prohibitory Alliance was passed, and also one of greeting to the Methodist Women's Missionary societies which meet next month in Truto and Fredericton. Miss Archibald was appointed to present this greeting at Truro. and Mrs. J. D. Chipman at Fredericton. After the customary resolutions thanks, the session was resolved into a devotional meeting, which closed with the singing of the farewell hymn, "God be with us till we meet again," While this was going on, a Y. The Witness Prize Competition.

The winners of the Montreal Witness 'Dominion Prize Competition" have just been announced. The competition, concerning which we notice some writers request that it should be made annual, or at least repeated, was a capital device for stimulating patriotism and native literature at the same time. Tales and sketches were asked for from all school children, illustrative of pioneer life in Canada. The Northern Messenger, a small paper published at the same office, was offered as a prize for the best tale in societies was discussed for some time, the section relating to dues payable to the Maritime Union claiming most of the morning session. The Maritime Union is obliged to pay into the funds of the Do minion Union five cents per head upon all affilliated members, three ceuts of which goes to the World's union. It was proposed to increase the dues from local unions in order to meet this tax. Many of the members protested against any in crease, feeling that all the money that could be raised was needed for local work. There was also much difference of orinion as to the wisdom of adopting a uniform membership fee for local unions; some holding that if a small fee were adopted ficiencies by voluntary subscription, while a large fee would tend to decrease their membership; others believing that the
