Croix? Mr. Mitchell: Yes, I am speaking of my own County. I know that last year I sold stumpage for spruce at $3.50 and very poor spruce at that. Mr. Burns: Well, they have some peculiar opportunities for getting a pro-fitable market for lumber, even though they have to pay $3 or $3.50 for stumpage. So, we have to compete with the Southern part of the Province under circumstances such as I have stated. Mr. Blair: Is not the market controlled Mr. Burns: I was coming to the Baltic. If the demand regulates the price, the greater the reason why we should be put on the same footing as others in the matter of stumpage. Mr. Blair: Well, unless we made you a present of the land and paid you something for operating it, you could scarcely be put on equal footing with some of the places you have mentioned.

Mr. Burns: No, it does not follow that you should do that. If you place us on the same footing as Quebec; give us a rate of stumpage of 65c a thousand, then you would be dealing fairly by us, but you impose on us a tax of $1 25 a thou sand and then we have to compete with Quebec that only pays 65c. And as I have said we have to compete with Nova Scotia where no stumpage is paid at all, but where the lands are owned by private individuals. The point I want to make, in speaking of the north and comparing it with the south in the matter of the sale of short lumber, that point you must clearly see. We cannot utilize a lot of stuff that is now utilized by the mill-owner in St. John, because we cannot get it to market at the same rate and, therefore, one important source of profit which they have is denied to us.

Mr. Mitchell: Is it not a fact that N. B. lumber-N. B. deals-are worth more in the Eaglish market than Nova Scotia

Mr. Burns: No, it not a fact. The same specification of Nova Scotia deals will bring quite as much and sometimes more than New Brunswick deals. The principal manutac turers in Nova Scotia now ship direct to the English market, and I assert that for the same specification of Nova Scotia deals better prices as a rule are got than for those from St. John, because I think they are fully cleaner deals than the St. John deals. They give in some instances a better average length than what they

Nicholas River, and that the people of that district had completed their subscrip tion lists in support of ordinances, and had expressed their readiness to enter into union with Bass River under the pastorate of Rev. Wm. Cameron. Mr. Hamilton laid upon the table a guarantee for the payment of $375 annually as the share of the stipend falling to Nicholas River. The report was received and the thanks of the Presbytery tendered to Mr Hamilton. Consideration of Mr. Cameron's demission, already on the table, was then proceeded with. The following commissioners appeared: For Bass River congregation and session-Robert Murphy and John Miller; for Nicholas River-James Murray and John McMichael; for Weldford-Andrew Dunn; for Mill Branch-Thos. Irving and James Starrack. Commissioners were heard, when it was found that all parties were very desirous of continuing the services of Mr. Cameron. The general expression of good feeling was so very pronounced that Mr. Cameron, while willing to remain in the field, found it difficult to decide in favor of either sec tion as against the other, and asked the Presbytery to advise him. This the Pres bytery did not think it best to do, and in order to gain time for deliberate decision the further consideration of the matter was deferred till the afternoon. The clerk reported that the Home Mission Board had granted $200 in aid of the Douglastown and Nelson congregations and that Nelson had undertaken to pay $200 and Douglastown $250 with manse, provided the Rev. E. Roberts was appointed to the field for one year. The report was received and the Clerk received the thanks of Presbytery for his diligence in the matter. Rev. The Presbytery are pleased to find that in addition to the order the Board has also prescribed a suitable text book upon the subject to which it refers. The clerk was instructed to acknowledge receipt of the letter and express the Presbytery's grateful approval of the action of the Board in the matter.

The Winter Port.

CHATHAM, N. B., JAN. 8, 1889. To the Editor of the Advance:

SIR. - I notice in the St. John Telegraph of 5th inst. that the Board of Trade of that city is still advocating the harbor of St. John as the winter port for the Dominion, and for the Atlantic Mail steamers. I fully expected that this matter would have been settled before this and that St. John should have the preference before Portland, U. S., because I know the route to St. John is a much shorter one than that to Portland and I consider it a

In speaking to a gentleman from St John a few days ago I asked how was it that the meetings of the Board of Trade there were so poorly attended-how it was that the names of many influential men who at one time owned and others who now own so many fine shops were never seen amongst those present at its meetings. His answer was that politics was the cause, that some were, for political reasons, members of the Board and were governed more by politics than trade. In that case I would say, let them throw politics overboard, and go it, hand and hand, and never give in until St. John is the winter port for this great Dominion

Pat, the Barrel and the Bull.

(From the Lewiston (Me.) Journal.) "How did you come over. Pat?" asked bers, privileges and appurtenances to the same bethe Journal man of a well-known laborer in the yard of one of the Lewiston mills

"I left home," he began, after expressions of diffidence, "when I was a lad, and my cousin, says he to me, 'My boy, my boy, and begorry I was sad, indeed. I didn't ship nor pay my passage. I didn't register on the ship's books, for them days were afore the steamship times. I just stowed myself in the ship's hold, until one day the churnin' and the thumpin' got that loud that I was afraid, and I came aloft to the deck of the ship,"

After he got on deck, his narrative continues, the captain fell on him and gave him three lashings a day on his bare back, with unfailing regularity. This became so monotonous that one day he fell on his knees and pleaded for his life, and the captain had a big cask rolled up out of the ship's hold, and the head knocked in. a lot of food put into it, Patrick put into the cask, the head replaced, and, with only the bung hole open, the entire cask and contents rolled into the ses. For days he drifted on and on. "I had only the bung to look out of, and the great green waves all around me,"

"How did you get water ?" "All the water I had to drink was what washed through the bung-hole."

"And you like salt water?" "Sure, it's only a matter of taste." Atter Pat had drifted many days and had begun to grow fat from his inactivity, he one day felt the cask bumping on the shore, and pretty soon was washed up

high and dry

With a certain naivete, he says that he had by this time begun to be sort of frightened. I saw no signs of life until after several hours some cows and bulls came roaming over the seashore, where they had came down to drink. At this point it is better not to question the taste of cows for salt water. One of the bulls came smelling around the cask, and playfully leaned up against the bunghole to rest. Pat put out his hand and quietly grabbed the bull's tail. Then he pulled it through, and bracing his feet against the head of the cask, gave the tail a twist.

The bull awoke. He looked around. The cask had him. With a sport like the wrath of Jove he started, Whew! How he ran.
