Baby one Solid Rash

Ugly, Painful, blotched, malodorous No rest by day, or night. Doctores and all Remedies failed. Tried Cuticura. Effect Marvellous. Saved his life.

Cured by Cuticura.

Our oldest child, now six years of age, when an infant six months old was attacked with a violent, malignant skin disease. All ordinary remedies failing, we called our family physician, who attempted to cure it, but to great detriment of the child's health, until the lower portion of the face was almost entirely lost. The effect was simply marvellous. In three or four weeks a complete cure was effected, leaving the child's skin clear and healthy as though he had never been attacked. In my opinion, your valuable remedies saved his life, and to-day he is a strong, healthy child, perfectly well, and free from the disease having ever recurred. GEO. B. SMITH, Atty at Law and Ex-Prov. ATLY, New Brunswick.

Boy Covered with Scabs.

My boy, aged nine years, has been troubled all his life with a very bad humor, which appeared all over his body in small red scales, with a dry white scab on them. Last year he was worse than ever, being covered with scales from the top of his head to his feet, and continually growing worse, although he had been treated by two physicians. At last, however, I determined to try the CUTICURA, and very happily to say they did all that I could wish for them according to directions. The humor rapidly disappeared, leaving the skin fair and smooth, and performing a thorough cure. The CUTICURA BRUSHES are of great value. They are worth their weight in gold.

Miramichi NERAL.

CHATHAM, N. B., DECEMBER 25, 1889.

That Mr. Blair.

According to the Gleaner, Mr. Blair is the incarnation of all that is undesirable as a Government leader. He is both sweet and bitter, and, as everybody knows, that isn't a proper mixture for anybody to like. Then, he smiles on men, until he gets them within the clutches of his influence, when, suddenly, they find that his smile has been only the exemplification of his method of showing his teeth. The Gleaner says he is such an inscrutable mystery and tyrannical master with the other members of the Government, that he won't let them know when the elections are to come off, so that they are really not able to give anybody any satisfaction on the subject—particularly, we suppose, the Gleaner. Worse than this, the awful, in-crutable and tyrannical Blair, himself, when asked what the Government's intentions are in reference to the elections, merely smiles—or, rather, shows his teeth, as aforesaid—and says the matter has not been decided. But the most shocking phase of the matter is that all this mystery is designed by Mr. Blair to cheat the opposition, who, according to the Gleaner, represent the people, so that he may spring the elections suddenly upon the province and have the Government sustained before the electors wake up.

If all the Gleaner says is true, its readers ought to wonder how it learned positively, the other day, all about when the elections were to take place. Then, if Mr. Blair's colleagues are not in his confidence as to the time when the elections will be held, it ought to follow that they and their friends, as well as the Government's supporters, generally, are at as great a disadvantage as the opposition. If we thought the Gleaner would not be jealous of the ADVANCE having the correct tip in reference to Mr. Blair and the elections, we would inform it that its ideas concerning that gentleman's inscrutable qualities and characteristics are all moonshine. He is simply an able public man, the secret of whose power lies in the fact that very few of those about him are of similar calibre. As to the elections, he, himself, don't know when they will be held. A large number of government supporters object to being sent about their business, to either retire from local politics in disgust, or be put to the trouble of another election before the term for which their constituents elected them has expired; and he don't want to bring on a general election unless Mr. McLellan finally insists upon it, as the only means of holding St. John in its present relationship to the Government—as nearly as possible. It may be that a general election will take place before another session of the legislature. As a matter of strategy on the Government's part, in its own interests, that course would be an expedient one. The public interests, however, do not demand an election, and it would be right not to have one until next summer. The Gleaner may rest assured that Mr. Blair is not so bad as it paints him, but that he is really perplexed over the question as to whether he shall do what is right, or what is expedient.

Warning the Lumbermen.

Referring to the stocks of wood goods at Liverpool, the Timber Trades Journal says although the deliveries during the month of November were very valuable yet the imports overran them. "We think it our duty," continues the Journal, "to those amongst our subscribers abroad who are engaged in the lumbering business to advise caution if they wish to save themselves from trouble in the future." There is little doubt that a portion of the spruce deals, which went over on arrival, and were forwarded to Manchester, were not going into legitimate consumption, but they were going there to be stored on Liverpool merchants' account. It follows, then, that whatever the amount may be, whether large or small, it should form as much a portion of the Liverpool stock as if it were in the merchants' yards at the Canada dock. The case is the same at Fleetwood. No stock is affected by these circumstances so greatly as spruce deals, and it is upon the lumbermen, mill-owners and shippers of these goods that we specially urge our remarks." The Journal hopes that the operations in the woods during the coming logging season will be moderate as regards birch timber, as the stock of timber and planks together is not less than 296,000 cubic feet, or nearly two and a half times as great as that of last year, with more to arrive before the season closes. The stock of New Brunswick and Nova Scotia deals at Liverpool, Birkenhead and Garston, for the month ending December 1st, is placed at 20,136 standards, and the consumption 7,285 standards.

Kent County.

There is great activity in political circles in Kent County, and candidates are as thick "as leaves in Vallonbro's." Amongst the men who are said to be in the field are Messrs. J. D. Phinney and Hon. O. J. Leblanc, the present members of the county, while Messrs. John S. Goguen of St. Marys, Geo. V. McInerney of Richibouctou, Peter H. Legere of Dundas and August Legere of St. Johns, each, have their adherents. It is reported that Mr. Phinney—who, it will be remembered, seconded the Address at the opening of the Legislative session of 1888—and was, therefore, a pronounced supporter of the Government—is to run as an independent. He disapproved of the treatment his county received in connection with the proposed railway from Buctouche to Kingston, and because of that, together with the treatment the North Shore received in regard to stamptage, and some other matters in which he differed from the Government, he opposed them on the Prince William railway and some other bills. Mr. Leblanc, having, since the last session, been given a seat in the Government, is, it is reported, looking for another colleague, and Mr. McInerney is said to be his man. Many friends of Messrs. Phinney and McInerney will be sorry to see them opposed to each other under such circumstances, for Mr. Phinney has been an excellent representative. He should be the more valued for having stood by the interests of his county, even at the risk of breaking with his friends on the Government side and we, therefore, hope that Mr. McInerney will not oppose him. Kent has generally been represented by one English-speaking and one French-speaking member, and she will not, it is thought, in the next election, depart from the custom. To that end, the friends of the Messrs. Legere and Mr. Goguen are expected to meet, or communicate with each other, with a view to the retirement from the field of two of them, and it is probable that should Mr. McInerney decide to run with Mr. Leblanc, Mr. Goguen will join Mr. Phinney and form an independent ticket, and the election in Kent be contested by the four men only.

Chatham Misrepresented.

Whatever may be the bias of any newspaper in regard to certain communities and their authority therein, no good purpose can be served by such indirect attacks upon them as that of last week's Advocate upon Chatham. Not only was Chatham misrepresented but it was also intimated that it was doubtful whether the Municipal Council was prepared to do its duty in reference to the appointment of a Scott Act inspector, unless it was taken in hand by another organization. Now all this pretence of a belief in the Council's unwillingness to afford every facility for carrying out the law has nothing whatever to justify it, and we are quite sure that the Advocate knows the Council was prepared, last July, to appoint an inspector, provided those who had usually taken the initiative in such matters had come forward with a request to that effect. It may be fairly assumed that the Council will, in January, appoint an inspector, if it is requested to do so. We have no doubt that its members will be glad to have the names of as many good men for the office as the friends of the Scott Act can suggest, so that an efficient officer may be selected for the work, but as the Council is a self-respecting body, it will hardly help the matter to assume beforehand that it is either unaware of its duty, or unwilling to perform it.

GOOD JURY.

The verdict of a jury in Toronto, delivered the other day, deserves honorable mention. A man was tried for a terrible crime against a child, and the evidence was clear enough. The penalty in the discretion of the Judge is imprisonment anywhere from four years to life. The jury found this verdict: "Guilty, with a recommendation that the full penalty of the law be imposed." Put this down on the credit side of the jury account.

LEGAL TIME.

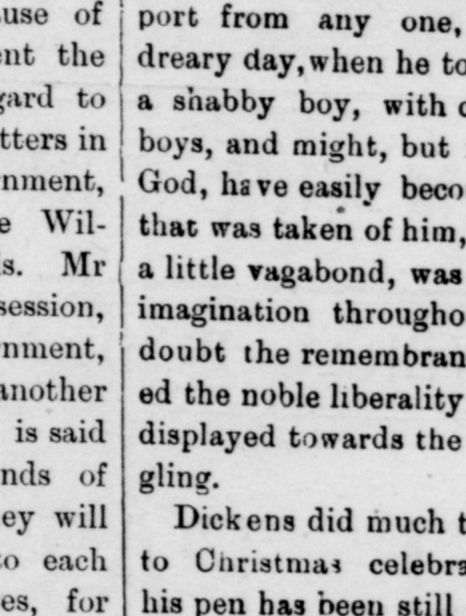

The Supreme Court of Georgia has made an interesting decision regarding legal time. A verdict in the Supreme Court of Cobb county was appealed to the Supreme Court on the ground that it was illegal in that it was delivered on Saturday midnight after sun time, though before midnight by the railroad standard time. The Supreme Court, Judge Simmons delivering the judgment in appeal, said that sun time, and not railroad time, is for the proper time for courts of law and for the performance of legal duties. But the verdict was not illegal because it was rendered on a Sunday. Where a case is heard and argument concluded and the jury has been charged and has retired to make up a verdict before midnight on Saturday, and no agreement is reached until Sunday, the reception of the verdict on Sunday is proper, said His Lordship.

TRUE CHARITY.

There are some cases in which all who practice Christian charity may enlist, and where denominational zeal is subordinated to a broad toleration for the purpose of pushing forward a reform for the common good. Such a movement is the society in England for the prevention of cruelty to children. Her Majesty the Queen, who is the head of the church of England, has communicated to Cardinal Manning, of the Roman Catholic church, who is a chief member of the society, her desire to be patron of the organization and contributed ten guineas to its funds, and a service was recently held, presided over by the Protestant Bishop of Shrewsbury and addressed by Rev. B. W. Wagh, a Methodist minister. The cause of the children secures the sympathy of many good people who differ widely on other subjects.
