

doctrine in as much as Roman Catholics who have enjoyed the beauty, the consolation, the harmony of Christian doctrine and the light of divine faith...

The cold formalities and judicial observances of Calvinism, is not a very accurate description of Presbyterian worship, in which there is nothing but a prosaically Jewish prayer, reading, singing, preaching and prayer, be judicial. But there is a very great deal of what is characteristically Jewish in the R. C. worship...

EASTER WAS PARTLY A JEWISH FEAST and was called for many centuries, the Pasover. The Easter controversy was a debate among the churches as to whether they should keep what the Jews kept at the exact time when the Jews kept it...

Let us now contrast this doctrine with that of the Westminster Confession on this deeply interesting subject and I am most thankful that attention has been called to it, for the teaching of our confession in often the most mischievous manner...

OFF COLOR.—Having no defence of its peculiar method of dealing with the list of Crown Land Sales of 1883, the St. John Gazette quotes Mr. E. P. Williston's attempt to compare Mr. Smith with a certain dishonest negro. If, however, the Gazette were better informed in reference to Mr. Williston, it would know that the reputation of even some of our poor Indians has suffered through him, and that he is, himself, in almost every way, very much "off color."

of Patients admitted into the Hospital was 127, of which there were men, 53; women, 59; children over 7 years, 15.

Of those Patients there were 114 from New Brunswick; 4 from Nova Scotia; 5 from Prince Edward Island; 1 from Quebec; 1 from Newfoundland; 1 from United States; 1 from Belgium.

Classifying the total number from Northumberland County under the head "Parishes," we find:—35 from Chatham; 7 from Blackville; 11 from Nelson; 4 from Rogersville; 4 from Northesk; 1 from Dorby; 8 from Newcastle; 1 from Alnwick; 4 from Hardwicke; 6 from Glenelg.

MR. EDITOR: There is a slight error in your report of the skating at the Rink last week, which please correct in this week's Advance. You said Mr. D. W. Ward made a good start, but finding the company too fast, he retired early. Now, Mr. Ward is a good skater, gliding over the glossy surface as gracefully as any who patronize the rink, and has such reputation for speed that when Mr. McWilliams and others of his own age dropped out, he thought it would be unfair for him to continue against the mere youngsters who skated to a finish and obtained the medals.

How do you do. Its a very contented good natured firm which salutes you.

Contented because of a EVERYBODY. steadily growing business and good natured because it has always paid its way.

Well, we are in better trim to do business this year than we have ever before. For we are into our own new brick building 40x75 feet, which we built in Moncton last year, directly opposite the market.

At Woodstock we own and use a fine building on Main Street, next above the F. C. B. Church, in just the same way, to supply the upper St. John River trade, and have another building at Bath Station on the N. B. R. for local business on that side of the river.

With these facilities and buying in very large quantities at rock bottom prices, we believe we can out-sell everyone else in our line at lower prices, and intend to try and prove it to every buyer this season.
