Cured by Cuticura.

If I had known of the CUTICURA REMEDIES twenty-eight years ago it would have saved me $200 00 (two hundred dollars) and an immense amount of suffering. My disease (psoriasis) com menced on my head in a spot not larger than cent. It spread rapidly all over my body and get under my nails. The scales would drop off of me all the time, and my suffering was endless and without relief. One thousand dollars would not tempt me to have this disease ever again. I am a poor man, but feel rich to be relieved of what some of the doctors said was leprosy, some ring-worm, psoriasis, etc. I took....and....Sarsaparillas over one year and a half, but no cure. cannot praise the CUTICURA REMEDIES too much They have made my skin as clear and free from scales as a baby's. All I used of them were three oxes of Cuticura, and three bettles of Cuticura boxes of Cuticura, and three bettles of Cuticura Resolvent, and two cakes of Cuticura Soap. If you had been here and said you would have cured me for $200 00, you would have had the money. I looked like the picture in your book of psoriasis (picture number two. "How to Cure Skin Diseases"), but now I am as clear as any person ever was. Through force of habit I rub my hands over my arms and legs to scratch once in a while, but to no purpose. I am all well. I scratched twenty-eight years, and it got to be a second nature to me. I thank you a thousand times.

The Atkinson Charges. Whatever may be the asperities growing out of political differences or disappointments, it will be admitted by every good citizen that the man who endeavors, maliciously without sufficient evidence, to grade the status of his country's rulers and assail their integrity is, himself, little better than a criminal and, if we mistake not this will be the feeling most people in this province will entertain for Mr. Atkinson of Carleton County, who allowed himself to be put forward as the accuser of Hon. Attorney General Blair in the charges which he formulated last week, as reported in the ADVANCE of 10th. We stated our opinion, when announcing charges, that the fact of Mr. Atkinson being put forward to make them indicated that the more able and respectable members of the opposition must have grave doubts as to their value. If they could be proved, Mr. Blair would not only be driven out of public life, but the existence of the Government, itself, would be involved. It will, therefore, be realised, that if Mr. Hanington, who leads | they sought to widen the enquiry so as the opposition, or Mr. Stockton, who is second in command on that side, had believed in the truth of the charges, one or the other of them would have formulated them and not left the job to a man of Mr. Atkinson's calibre and position in the house. It is well-known that Mr. Atkinson is the member of the opposition who is always ready for any work that is to be done, so long as it will give him notoriety. He has, too, for a good while, been the confidante of a gentleman in York, whose vindictive pursuit of the Attorney General is known to everybody familiar with the politics of that County, and Mr. Atkinson seems to court the doubtful distinction of allowing himself to be used as that person's foil in his attacks | Barry, an active worker In the York | general had mailed him, early in January, upon the gentleman he, evidently, envies, but to whose eminence in public life he can never hope to attain by the methods to which he has resorted for the past two years. the Atkinson stamp, but they watch the course of such men as Messrs. The public care little for people of General Blair's position in public life and endeavoring to fasten upon him the guilt of a charge such as that made by Atkinson, after it is apparent to the public that he is innocent, they cannot but share the odium of their degrading work. Mr. Blair were guilty of accepting money from Mr. Leary of New York for his election fund in return giving that gentleman the Government contract to build the St. John dock, it would be a disgrace to the province. Mr. Hanington, Phinney and others actively engaged in the investigation of this chargefor that is Mr. Atkinson's indict ment against Mr. Blair-must havebeen convinced by Alderman Kelly's testimony that there was not the least justification for it. Yet, they went on with the matter, seeming to grow the more rabid, if not indecent, as the accused premier's entire innocence became the more manifest, Mr. Hanington professed, at first, that he hoped the charges by a brother of W. B. Carvill the candiwere untrue and some of his followers did the same thing. The sincerity of these declarations may be estimated at their true value in the light of Mr. Hanington and Mr. Phinney's conduct before mittee, for no one who has followed the reports of the proceedings can escape the conviction that these gentlemen would prefer the disgrace of their province, which would follow

Every man who is loyal to the country and its institutions, and whose political prejudices do not outweigh his patriotism, will be glad to know that the evidence before the committee has not only failed to sustain the disgraceful charges of Mr Atkinson, but absolutely disproved them. Accompanying that feeling, however, will be one of disappointment that the opposition leaders failed in their duty, both as public men and gentlemen, in not washing their hands of the dirty job the moment that the proof of Mr. Blair's innothe city council had endorsed by a vote of cence was placed before them, Such conduct as theirs will go far to lower the standard of our polities and weaken the confidence of the people

> The gentlemen interested against pect it. Mr. Blair in the charges endeavored, in the first place, to defeat the motion made, at his request, for an immediate investigation. And, even when they could do no worse, they were not satisfied with having the enquiry confined to the issue placed before country and formulated by Mr. Atkinson, but attempted to get authority under which they might take evidence bearing on almost any matter, whether it related to the charges or not. the circumstances give color to suspicion that they did want an investigation. They have not attempted to explain why they witheld the charges until the business of the session was so far advanced as to warrant the expectation that the house would be prorogued within a week. There were, of course, no facts in their possession to warrant the charges made, yet the story of Mr. Blair's chief enemy, who got up "the information," was common property before the session opened—that is he told it to anybody who would listen to him, just the same as any other monomaniac would do. The plan was mittee, so that the usual time might elapse before it was appointed. Then to make its scope embrace the work what is generally known as a "smelling committee." This would enable them to prolong the trial of Mr. Blair far beyond a reasonable date for prorogation and also to influence the house and country against certain bills in troduced by Mr. Blair, They have, however, been forced to toe the mark-to court and tell all they know. That the result is an exposure of their venom against the man they envy, a refutation of their calumnies and a complete vindication of his absolute innocence of the charges formulated, is most satis-was spent in general election expenses, as the donors intended it should be, and as all election funds are. The following extracts from the proceedings before the committee will give an idea of the utter failure of the charge that Mr. Blair, either directly or indirectly, arranged to receive, or did receive money from Leary to

Alderman Kelly-Mr. Leary was once at my place, I think in December, and gain two or three weeks after the election. Gilbert R. Pugsley and R. C. Skinner were with him the second time On his first visit Mayor Lockhart introduced Leary to me. Ald. Nase was there and I think Ald. Chesley. The mayor brought Leary over to talk to me on the dock question. Leary wanted an additional subsidy and the committee pressed this on the government. I have Polynesian. always had confidence in Mr. Pugsley's work in the interest of the port of St John. I did not say in the presence of R C. Skinner or Ald. Connor that I would not support the government unless they gave the contract, neither did I hear Ald

Connor make any such remark. Mr. Pugsley objected to all this kind of Witness-I sent our firm's money up here for election purposes.

Mr. Hanington-Did you not send the money with instructions to Murphy not to deliver it till he heard from you? Witness-Yes. I instructed Murphy by telephone on Jan. 17th to deliver the package to Mr. Barry. I had been recouped before telling Murphy to pay the money to Barry. I did not tell Murphy I was recouped. I collected subscriptions enough to recoup me between the after noon of the 16th and 17th.

Mr. Hanington-Who subscribed the $1,500 ? Witness-$1,000 was subscribed date ; Ald. Connor subscribed about $300; Mr. Quinton $200 and other sums were subscribed of $20, etc. I also put up some myself. All this was for a general

To Mr. Hanington-I sent up $1,500 to Mr. Blair's partner to help to clect Mr. Blair and his ticket. The Leary contract had nothing to do with it. I arranged with the solicitor general and others to send the $1,500 to York county, but I was to be recouped. I did not tell my partner anything about it. He does not nterest himself in politics. I sent the money to Mr. Barry because I knew he would put it where it would do the most good. I did not know the attorney general and Mr. Barry were in partnership. I had heard of the firm, but did not know it well enough to swear to it. so manifest under the evidence, / I will swear that not one cent of the > Cross examined by Mr. Pugsley-The dry dock question had nothing to do with sending money to York or Westmorland, The dry dock did not enter into the matter at all. There was much feeling over the Ritchie appointment. I had been a Conservative and wanted a straight Conservative ticket, but when the Conservatives nominated Dr. Stockton and Dr. Alward I joined the government party. The Leary dock had nothing to do with it. Our friendship for Mr. Hanington was because of what the papers said of his attitude on the Ritchie appointment. I am an Irishman. I have been in public life in St. John II years and I defy any man to show that I ever went wrong in money matters. Mr. Leary accompanied our civic delegation on dock matters to Fredericton. There were two plans before the government and I urged them to give the contract to Mr. Leary, whom later when the $1,500 was paid to Mr, Barry at Fredericton. The reading of the letter was objected to by Mr. Hanington but was admitted. Mr. Kelly continued: I never knew of any arrangement, of any kind, with Mr. Blair, directly or indirectly, under which this subsidy was to be awarded to Leary in consideration of his contributing to the election fund.

To Mr. Mitchell-I supported the government solely on account of Ritchie's Re-examined by Mr. Hanington-I did not tell anyone it was a mistake to think that these funds were from Leary as they came from the Grand Trunk or Hickson. The contract read from the Globe was for $2,500 only. We only claimed they should give the dock the city agreed on as much as another company claimed. That was from $7,500 to $10,000. This was claimed right through by the delegation.

Mr. Kelly was examined by Mr. Phinney at some length as to when he first knew the dock contract was signed, his relations with Leary, and his cash advance to the York election in an emergency, and said: The solicitor general said they wanted it immediately. I collected $1,800. It went into the general fund. I sent none to other counties | outside of York. I got none of the money back we subscribed, and don't ex-To Mr. Hetherington-I never con-

With a frankness which no doubt had marked effect upon those who listened, he stated that when Solicitor General Pugsley, at Harvey, at his meeting on the 15th of January urged him to come to St. John and address a public meeting at the Institute he (Mr. Pugsley) stated that if it was any inducement he thought the friends of the government in St. John would contribute something, probably $1.000 towards helping them out in York and this was the first intimation he (Blair) had that any such contribution would made. Hon Mr. Mitchell-The hon memer is misrepresenting what took place. Mr. Hanington said the witnesses in the Adams case were kept waiting from day to day. What harm could be done in having this investigation commence this evening instead of now? It was not his fault that Mr. Murphy was not here at the present time. The speaker read rule 221, which states that no committee can sit while the house is in session without special eave from the house,

Mr. Stockton-That motion is cleary out of order. It cannot be made without two days notice.

Hon. Mr. Pugsley said Mr. Kelly, who was summoned as one of the witlesses, was here now. Mr. Kelly had explained to Mr. Hanington and himself that it was impossible for his partner, Mr. Murphy, and himself to be away from their business at the same ime. Mr. Murphy was out of town yesterday, only getting back to St John last night. Mr. Kelly had ar rived last night, and just as soon as h could get through with his testimony Mr. Murphy would come up. He (Pugsley) was acting as counsel for Mr. Blair in this matter. It would be recognized by members on both sides of the house that there should be no unnecessary delay in the progress of the investigation. reason why the motion should not prevail. There was nothing in the contention of the leader of the opposition that witnesses at the inquiry should be presented in a The session was far advanced and there were many local bills yet to be considered. The meetings of the select committee would be far from hole and corner meetings. They would at all times be Hon. Mr. Tweedie committed the open to members of the house. The pro the house was in session was made so that such local bills as were ready might be got through the house and that the committee might lose no time in entering upon its duties. The meetings of the committee were open to any member whose were also open to members of the press. Every particle of evidence could ported, so that the house and country would be fully informed of the proceedgate Dr. Atkinson's charges against ings of the committee. Already there were four witnesses ready to be examined

> Dr. Stockton said the journals show that the Adams investigation was held in the morning before the house opened and again in the evening after the house closed. What injustice would then be done the attorney-general to have this investigation proceed in the ordinary way? To have the sittings of the committee take place when the house is not in session will not preclude the giving of evidence calculated to exculpate the charges against the attorney general, or its publication generally in the press. The course now suggested looks like a determination on the part of someone to prevent a full inquiry. Hon, Mr. Blair-Do you make that Dr. Stockton-I say that it has that appearance. I find fault with the proposed proposition just the same as I did with the action of the attorney-general in amending Dr. Atkinson's resolution, which action practically made the attorney-general framer of his own indictment. This house should not be in session while the committee was meeting and every member of the house should be given a chance to attend the inquiry.

Mr. Stockton-That committee did not meet while the house was in session. Mr. Mitchell-I beg the hon. gentleman's pardon. I was called from the floors of the house while it was in session. Mr. Phinney said Dr. Atkinson had a

Dr. Atkinson said the government seemed anxious to force on this investigation at all hazards. The insinuation was that the tactics of the opposition was to cause unnecessary delay. He reputi ated that insinuation. The attorney gen eral had first chosen his own ground by restricting the investigation and he now proposed to say which witness shall be called first. The position taken by Mr. Blair and his supporters was one that could not commend itself to the fair play loving people of the province.

Dr. Alward said he had listened attentively to the debate, and had come to the conclusion that the business of the house should not be suspended in order to permit of the investigation in the evening. What harm could result from the delay until evening. He (Alward) had been asked to second the motion for an inquiry into the charges against Mr. Blair, but he had declined to do so, stating that he ever, in his case, did not seem to occur knew nothing about the charges. Legal men knew the importance of having evidence marshalled a certain way and knew why Mr. Haning ton wanted to have Mr. Murphy called as certain order. Now what were the facts? the first witness. The delay could only be one of three or four hours and would be in the best interest of the public. Hon Mr. Blair said he desired to make one or two observations. He did so because members opposite had taken occasion to repeat the statement that the position to have the committee sit while action of the government or himself was tended to limit the inquiry or burk the investigation. The government, nor no member of it, was open to that imputation. The charges made by the member for Carleton were made directly against himself. It was charged that there was duties would admit of his attending and a corrupt agreement between Mr Leary and himself. He read the charges as made by the member for Carleton. They had been made with the hope of impeaching him (Mr. Blair) and him alone. No other member of the government was in the mind of the party who had framed the charges Take out of the charges the references to himself (Mr. Blair) and there would be nothing left. The member for Kent thought to make light of the references of a portion of the press to the charge made against him. He would read a sample of these press notices. Here it was:-

"The fact remains and cannot be saccessfully disputed, that the contract was sold as charged in Dr. Atkinson's resoln.

"He (Blair) cannot re-establish his character in the eyes of the public, who know that the worst that has been said of him is true, and that he is the most corrupt politician this province has ever produced. And further: "There was of this province when such an act as that of which Mr. Blair is accused. and justly accused, would have been impossible when the province was governed by men who, whatever might have been their errors, were at least honest." These were the "mild criticisms" of a portion of the press in reference to these charges. Was there any reason then that he should desire the earliest and fullest investigation into the charges? The couduct of the opposition in objecting to an immediate investigation showed that they were running away from the charges made, and that they were afraid of the result.
