

starting out the tenancy whom he has failed to inform. We will, of course, return the most our business here is quite finished. We shall, in the meantime, secure the means of preserving the Irish ranks unbroken until the general election, and we will not grudge Mr. Balfour what comfort he can derive from keeping us in jail for our success. One of our chief objects in America will be to explain the character of the struggles in Ireland and the system of coercion in force there. I believe Americans will be electrified when they hear the story of Tipperary. For the present, the question of a charitable fund are wholly separate. The danger of a famine abroad is unquestionably real and horrible. Nobody with less than Mr. Balfour's capacity for heartless jokes could deny or make light of it. The Irish party are watching the situation with the utmost solicitude. They have called for a bill suspending evictions for non-payment of rent on the ground that the distressed districts are in a state of famine, and with a large measure of public works and a liberal administration of the poor laws, would go far to avert any danger of general famine. The opinion of the Irish party is that any general American fund poured into Ireland at this time would possibly have the effect of confirming Mr. Balfour in his policy of leaving the relief of distress to private charity alone, and afterwards boasting that the distress was imaginary, while large sums of money were being poured into the pockets of the landlords through the prospect of American aims would encourage to extort rent from their famished and coercion-wrought tenants.

"Mr. Balfour's recent policy was struck in a speech in the House of Commons in which he was forced to confess that all his hopes for the success of coercion now lay in multiplying evictions on the one hand, and swallow up the evicted tenants' fund. In the execution of this policy, the government and the landlords have been engaged for the past few months in completely clearing the west estates of their population. The last batch of evictions complete the depopulation of the Posenby estate, which some contained over two thousand souls. In this way about fifteen hundred families, or about seven thousand persons, had been evicted for the special purpose of settling the evicted tenants' fund with the cost of feeding, housing and maintaining them. Mr. Balfour knew we meditated an appeal to America, and if we could be stopped he calculated that nothing could avert bankruptcy and breakdown among the tenants' combinations here our countrymen in America could realize the government's game. Hence the Tipperary arrests on the eve of our departure on a charge grounded upon stale newspaper articles and speeches ranging over a period of fifteen months. The evicted tenants' fund in Ireland is land purchased on the landlord's own terms. To effect this the tenants' combination had to be stamped out. The whole force of coercion during the past four years has been directed to inflicting vengeance upon them and utterly exterminating them. The Irish people, on the other hand, have made these men's cause their own cause. The latest and most signal proof of this is the case of New Tipperary, where the population of a whole town and of two neighboring estates was driven up the streets and farms to mass rather than let their rents be used by their landlord Mr. Smith Barry, in effecting the extermination of the poor Posenby tenancy.

"Both in England and Ireland it is recognized that the issue of the campaign will turn upon the struggle between coercion and combination upon these estates. One of our chief aims in America will be to explain the character of these struggles, the detestable system of coercion in Ireland and its universal and absolute failure in the face of the gallantry and self-sacrifice of the people. You may judge of the severity of the system when you read that twenty six members of parliament, mayors of five of the chief cities, almost every nationalist newspaper editor in the country, a score of the most beloved ecclesiastics and nearly five thousand others—men, women and children—have been imprisoned as common felons under Mr. Balfour's regime, fourteen persons shot dead by the police in various onslaughts, and 7,000 people evicted from these few estates alone, while in 700 parishes where the national league is nominally active the people are dragged day and night by police spies and liable to six months' imprisonment if they are caught attending a meeting. The failure of coercion and the detestable incidents connected with it are making a profound impression in Great Britain. Mr. Balfour is hoisted in the streets of the chief English cities, his land purchase scheme is fiercely unpopular, and every Tory electioneering agent avows that it continues to occupy his present position of various and absolutely abortive tyranny until the general election. Mr. Gladstone's return to power with a thundering majority is as certain as anything can be."

The statement closes with an appeal to the people of America for funds to ally the suffering resulting from the failure of the potato crop and to aid the evicted tenants and their scarcely less miserable fellows in their struggle against outrage and oppression.

An address of welcome, signed by Governor Hill, Mayor Grant and many prominent Irishmen in the city, was presented to the visitors this evening at a reception in the Hoffman House. Messrs. O'Brien and Sullivan were the chief speakers, and then there was a general handshaking. The plans of the Irish parliamentary members are as follows: They will remain here until Wednesday evening, when they will go to Philadelphia. On Thursday evening, they will address their first meeting in the Academy of Music there, at which Colonel McClellan will be present. Another meeting will be held in the same place on the night following, at which Colonel Deaver will be asked to preside. Two meetings will be addressed in Boston on Sunday, and the meeting in New York will be held on Monday evening. T. P. O'Connor will arrive on Wednesday in time for the Philadelphia meeting. A meeting will be held in Jersey City on Nov. 12, and one in Newark on the 14th. After this, the delegation will divide into pairs and address meetings throughout the country.

SKETCH OF THE VISITORS. T. D. Sullivan, the ballad writer of the home rule cause, was born in Bantry, County Cork, in 1827. His father was a man of some culture in the district, and his mother, a teacher, a woman of large gifts. T. D. Sullivan and his brother, A. M. Sullivan, had more to do in shaping the national sympathies of the present generation in Ireland than any other influence. They were the editors of the Dublin Nation after Gavin Duffy and the other 48 leaders left the country. Mr. Sullivan wrote "God Save Ireland," which has been adopted as the Irish national anthem, and it became so instantaneously popular that he heard it sung and chorused in a railway train every day after it was printed in the Nation. During the present agitation his ballads are alleged to have been more potent than any other influence. The ballads "Myself Valuation" and "Martyr Hynes' Divorce" and the "No Rent" manifesto and "The Plan of Campaign" in the records of the land war. Mr. Sullivan continued to act as editor of the Nation till about two years ago, when he disposed of his interest in the paper. He was elected to parliament in 1850 and has been twice Lord Mayor of Dublin. Conspicuous among the delegates is Mr. Timothy Harrington, who was born in the County Kerry in 1850. In early life he was a school teacher and then, with his brother Edward, started a bi-weekly paper at Limerick called the Kerry Sentinel. When the land league was started he became one of its organizers and has ever since then been connected with the executive office of the national party. He is now chief secretary of the Irish national league at the headquarters in Dublin. He has, of course, been several times arrested. During one of his terms in jail, in 1882, he was elected to parliament, and has occupied a seat there ever since.

Mr. T. P. Gill, who came in advance of the others, was born in Tipperary in 1833. His family are noted in that country as nationalists. He was educated in Trinity College, Dublin, and like so many others of his colleagues, is a journalist. He came to America in 1875, and remained nearly three years, during which time he paid a visit to St. John. At Mr. O'Brien's urgent request he returned to Ireland in 1885 and was elected to parliament for South Louth before he left New York. He has since been Mr. O'Brien's right hand man in the editorial management of the national organ, United Ireland. He is one of the youngest and most talented of the parliamentarians.

Thomas P. O'Connor, the celebrated Irish journalist and politician who is to accompany Messrs. Dillon, O'Brien, Harrington, Sullivan and Gill on their tour, will arrive in a few days. He was born in Galway and graduated with high honors there at the Queen's College. He drifted over to London soon after and worked his way up the journalistic ladder by sheer force of ability. His "Life of Daniel" is the standard record of the career and character of the Prime Minister. Mr. O'Connor, after being a leader writer on several of the London dailies, started a paper of his own, the Star, a radical organ, which has proved one of the best successes of recent English newspaper ventures. He has his interest in it not long since for $50,000. Mr. O'Connor came to America in the cause of home rule in 1879 and made a very successful tour in the United States, going as far west as San Francisco. He also won a wife, a well-known literary woman of Boston. They were married in London five years ago. Mr. O'Connor is president of the Irish national league of Great Britain, and to his executive skill has been due much of the astonishing change there among the liberal constituencies on the Irish question.

Miramichi and the North Shore, etc. BUTTER AND CHEESE.—See Messrs. Bostwick's advt. BUILDING AND WATER LOTS.—Sale of valuable real estate. See advt. THANKSGIVING SERVICE will be held in St. Luke's Church, Chatham, at eleven o'clock this (Thursday) forenoon.

SHOOTING ACCIDENT.—A few days ago a lad named Crawford, of Lower Derby, was accidentally shot by a son of Mr. Ericson, a neighbor. The shot took effect on the side of the face near the ear, and we learn there are but little hopes of his recovery.—Advocate.

THE PRESBYTERY of Miramichi will meet at St. Andrew's Hall, Chatham, on Tuesday, Nov. 11th, at 10 o'clock.

HOME AGAIN.—Messrs. Henry R. Ramerison and J. W. Y. Smith, of Dorchester, returned yesterday from a shooting expedition at Acadia. They bagged over one hundred birds.—Transcript.

RESTORING municipal election resulted in the return of McRae and Mowatt for Addington; Shaw and LeBlanc for Dalhousie; Kerr and McLean for Colborne; Hayes and Culligan for Durham.

BLACKVILLE MINE.—Mr. Gibson's mill at Blackville will close down in about a fortnight as the logs will be sawn by that time. A large crew was sent over from Marysville about a month since and they had been running the mill by night. A fine lot of deal has been manufactured and put out in good condition.—Gleaner.

FIRE NEAR DALHOUSIE.—A barn owned by Mrs. John Harquail, widow, situated a short distance from Dalhousie, was destroyed by fire on Wednesday evening of last week. The loss was about two hundred head of cattle, 20 tons of hay, a lot of castles, farming implements, etc. The cause of the fire is unknown.

ACCIDENTALLY SHOT HIS THURSDAY.—At Matosette near Bathurst, on Thursday of last week, Joseph Blanchard, son of Emmanuel Blanchard, was cleaning his gun, when it discharged and the full contents lodged in his mother who was standing near by. Medical assistance was obtained and it was, at last accounts, expected the mother might survive her serious wounds.

THANKSGIVING SERVICES.—To-day being Thanksgiving Day there will be Morning Prayer and Holy Communion with Sermon in St. Mary's Chapel at 11 o'clock. On Sunday next special services will be held at the usual hours for thanksgiving for the harvest, and the special offerings will be in aid of the Home Missions of the Diocesan Church Society.

AN OLD CLOCK.—Mr. Kirkpatrick, manager of the Enterprise foundry, Sackville, is the owner of a clock 110 years old, the works are of hard wood, and the case of solid mahogany, and stands 7 feet high. It had his date on the back, and of the month; also the months of the year. It is of good order and was purchased near Carleton for the present owner by the son of the Hon. Robert Young; and was found in an old French family. The person from whom it was bought is an old man, and it came to him from his grandfather.

NOT VERY COMICAL.—A somewhat comic but unpleasant experience befell two comedians attached to H. Price Webster's Boston Comedy Co. on Thursday. The company was billed to play at Richibucto that night, and two of the members being offered a place under the harbor to the bar, in a pilot boat, gladly availed themselves of it. On the return trip, the wind sprang up with a heavy sea. The pilot boat ran ashore on a reef and the comedians had to remain there all night without any food. The next morning they were rescued, but the play the night before had to go on without them.

NEWCASTLE for a couple of weeks when he will again start out for the purpose of holding meetings, visiting old and organizing new lodges and attending to the various duties belonging to the office of Grand Secretary.—Advocate.

PERSONAL.—Police Magistrate Niven of Newcastle is, we are glad to hear, slowly recovering from his recent illness. He is not yet able to be about, out of doors, but does some court and other business in his temporary office at his residence. A host of friends will be glad to see his familiar form on the street again.

Mr. Harry Shirreff, of the London, Ont., branch of the Bank of Montreal, who has a very large circle of friends in New Brunswick, has been making a vacation visit to his home in Chatham, and also doing some wild-goose shooting at Bay du Vin, where he had fair luck. It is now his way back to London, and to receive his mail, hearing with him, no doubt, many pleasant recollections of reunions with old friends here.

The Ill-Fated "Spy." The little P. E. I. schooner, Spy, has been quite a familiar object in the port of Chatham and her name has often appeared in our coastwise shipping list. It is probable, however, that we shall hear no more of her, as she has now been three weeks out from Alberton, bound for Chatham and has neither arrived here nor been heard of elsewhere since she rounded the North Cape on 17th ult. It was on that day that she left Alberton loaded with oats and having on board, as captain, Jas. Brennan of Tignish and George Barrett and Fred Hampton, of Alberton, as crew. These are, no doubt, drowned. Capt. Brennan was master of the owner, John Brennan of Alberton, who also owned the cargo of oats. Neither vessel nor cargo was insured.

Newcastle Curling Club. The annual meeting of this club was held on Monday evening, and a large attendance being present. The meeting was called to order by the Vice-President, W. C. Aulover. Reports of the Secretary-Treasurer were read and after the latter report had been examined by the Finance and Audit Committee the Treasurer showed the finances of the Club to be in a satisfactory condition. Three new members were proposed and accepted. The following were elected as officers: President—W. C. Aulover. Vice-President—W. M. McLellan. Chaplain—Rev. W. Attkin. Sec. & Treas.—E. L. Street. Representative Member—T. W. Crocker. Substitute Member—E. Leo Street. Committee of Management—T. W. Crocker, J. R. Lawlor, Jas. Brown.

The following were elected as skips for the ensuing year: Messrs. W. A. Park, J. R. Lawlor, John Ferguson, T. W. Crocker, E. Leo Street, Robert Ritchie, James Crocker, John Robinson, jr. A committee was appointed to see what repairs were needed to the roof of the rink and to meet with the directors of the Miramichi Skating and Curling Rink Co. as to the arrangements to be made for the ensuing season, and to report at an adjourned meeting of the Club to be held on Monday evening next.—Advocate.

What a Miramichi Railway Man Thinks. Mr. R. H. Oggon, locomotive engineer of the I. C. R., has returned from his trip to the United States, and is on duty again. Mr. Oggon was very much impressed with the United States and prefers "this Canada of ours" to any part of the neighboring Republic visited by him. He says that while the railway depots are away ahead of Canadian railway depots, the passenger cars are not nearly so good as the I. C. R. cars. He is also of the opinion that the I. C. R. has as good men if not better than the American roads, and he says "I would sooner railroad in Canada than in the states. The officials of the American roads are very obliging and courteous but no more so than our own. I would not advise any young man to go to the United States if he has any of a decent job here. Boston is full of young men begging money from strangers, and the streets are crowded with bums and loafers, something that is scarcely ever seen in a Canadian city or town. I met several old I. C. R. boys they all seem to be prospering, because our boys find it no trouble to get employment anywhere. Boston, Mr. Oggon thinks, must have an abundance of loafers and bums who live by soliciting alms from tourists. Mr. Oggon had the honor of being introduced to Governor Ames and was shown through that gentleman's great conservatory which is situated at North Easton, Mass., and has been written about so much by Canadian writers.—Pioneer.

"Give us Your Oil." A good story comes from a York parish contiguous to Northumberland, where the government is well entrenched in the regard of the people. A well-known opposition worker from Fredericton was on his way to a meeting to dispense the pious electioneering formulae furnished by St. John and other anti-government centers. Finding the work of making converts very difficult, he became desperate and parted with five, ten and twenty dollar inducements rapidly, some of the government supporters accepting his offers and "voting as they liked" afterwards. Early in the afternoon he found himself out of money. He was seen in a retired spot searching his pockets, and one elector, who had been keeping him well under his eye as his operations upon voters were being carried on, said that as he directed desperately for the bottom of an inside breast pocket he looked as if he would dislocate his back bone—"racking" were his efforts to find the "inducements" which he had no more. At last he braced himself up and, with a blurt of confession and air of the most cooling temperance, walked up to a Northernlander lumberman and politician and asked him for the loan of two or three hundred dollars. When asked what he wanted so much money for in such a place he explained that he had just closed with a fellow for one of the finest lots of hides he had struck this season. The Northernlander man, however, told him that he was after the same lot of hides himself, and that as they had good government money he would not sell to him. He then explained that he had just closed with a fellow for one of the finest lots of hides he had struck this season. The Northernlander man, however, told him that he was after the same lot of hides himself, and that as they had good government money he would not sell to him. He then explained that he had just closed with a fellow for one of the finest lots of hides he had struck this season.

The editor's attack on Mr. O'Connor and the Irish parliamentary party is equally offensive, far-fetched and spiteful. The crafty editor would rather have it that the Irish leaders should degrade their country by begging money to fill the "Irish pocket pot" to which he alludes in his letter, but the paper into the "potato pot" and the paper into the slough it is now in. His selfishness—"brutal utterances" and insubordination caused the shareholders to get clear of "The World," which is now fast blotting itself out of existence, as the editor is also doing. There will soon be nothing left except death. Yours very truly, AN IRISH CATHOLIC.

Children Cry for Pitcher's Castoria. (Our correspondent has reason, no doubt, to be indignant over the stupid and ill-considered paragraph quoted in his letter, but we have serious misgivings as to the policy of bestowing upon them the notice and respectable circulation they will secure by being reproduced in the ADVANCE. We publish our correspondent's letter because it comes from a representative man, who feels that he, as well as many others of his religion and nationality are insulted by the sheet referred to, but, in doing so, we depart from the practice of this and other respectable papers, which is not to dignify that publication by mentioning it. We may also say that the letter itself is somewhat objectionable.)

Canada with any amount of literature or political agitation. There's a patent medicine which is not a patent medicine—paradoxical as that may sound. It's a discovery! The golden discovery! It's the medicine for you—run-down, exhausted, nerve-wasted men and women; for you suffering from dizziness or scalp, fever, or lunge—it's chance with every one. A season away, because it aims to purify the fountain of life—the blood—upon which all such ailments depend. The medicine Dr. Pierce's Golden Medical Discovery. The makers of it have enough confidence in the concoction which is now so rapidly manifesting the effects of bad taste, bad temper, bad management, and ingratitude to friends. We confess that we have little sympathy for the men whose regard for the good name of the Miramichi abroad, and ideas of what a local paper ought to be in point of morals and respectability, were of such a quality that they imagined they were doing their duty in assisting to maintain such a sheet. However, everyone has his taste. Those who patronize it must be, to some extent, like it and share its peculiar characteristics.

MARRIED. An Derby, on October 11th, by the Rev. W. H. Huggell, Rev. Alfred W. Hamblin, and Rev. E. M. Johnson, of the same place.

DIED. At Kingston, Idaho, 10th Oct. 1890, of typhoid fever, James T. Owen, aged 28 years and three months, the son of Alexander and Elizabeth Dick, Black River, Northumberland.
