The Engineer's Story.

An "Engineer's Story" in form regulation, I ain't going ter tell—I am not cruel hearted, This story, in kind, is the first since creation Upon its long journey o' mysteries started.

I loved Sallie Jenkins—a name that's not takin,
With people what hanker for poetry names—
'Twas the gal, not 'er name, sir, that first did awakin
Affection in me, an' enkindled love's flames.

We met, au' jes' as soon as her pirty eyes hit me, I felt my heart jump, like a feller in doze, I sez, "Thar's a gal what'll jes' 'zactly fit me, I'll hev 'er no matter what troubles oppose."

I found she was willin', but then 'er ole daddy
He took down his gun from the garret an' sed,
"If ever I 'tempted ter take her, he had me,—
He'd draw back the hammer. 'so I would go dead.'

Knowed he would do it, yes, 'cause the ole party
He'd won much renown for sich innocent capers,His appetite allers for figtin' wuz hearty,
'N much he had done I had read in the papers.

But fortune hit allers smiles out on two lovers
I rested fer things ter develop themselves.
Good luck in the cloud that affrights us oft hovers,
Success in calamity's house often dwells.

One evenin' at dusk, when the moon wuz up creepin',
My train near her home wuz a-chargin' with might:
Ahead, near the track, there was sumthin' a-leaping,
Then a form uv a woman grew quick on my sight! She seemed all unconscious uv what she wuz doin'; She heeded no whistle—stepped right on the track; Her form to the rails soon the wheels would be gluin' Unless by a miracle she wuz jerked back.

One chance in a thousand! Reversing the lever,
An' makin' a leap an' a grab at one time,
I landed her over the bank in a quiver
Of terror and gladness—that sweet gal o' mine!

Next day all the papers wuz full uv the story; "The brave engeneer" wuz the idol uv al!,
Her ole dad was on me—hiz eyes no more gory—
He hugged me, while tears from hiz whiskers did fall!

An' now for pure fact in this awful narration— Fer sinse we are married the public may scoff— That job wus put up at the sharp gal's dictation— When I leaped ter save, she wuz twenty steps off!

The Manufacture of Cutlery.

NEW INDUSTRY ESTABLISHED IN HALIFAX. -PROSPECTS OF A SUCCESSFUL FUTURE. Among the new industries recently established in Halifax is that of the Parkins cutlery company. It was not inaugurated with any flourish of trumpets or newspaper notoriety ; nevertheless, having the Canadian field practically all to itself, it ought to have a successful future. Nearly all the raw material entering into the manufacture of cutlery is produced in Nova Scotia; the principal article imported is high grade steel for the finest blades. The protection afforded by the tariff averages 25 per cent, so that all that is needed is the establishment of the industry by practical men, aided by sufficient capital, to supply the home market. A year ago R. S. Parkins, who had been engaged in the business in Sheffield, came to Halifax, and started the manufacture of knives in a building at the head of the Arm, near Fenerty's shovel works. Then he brought out several experienced workmen from Sheffield, and began to introduce his goods in the local market. His enterprise was favorably regarded by Halifax wholesale men, and he received orders from all the leading houses. The business has since extended to New Brunswick, P. E. Island, Quebec and even as far west as Ontario. The demand grows so steadily that Mr. Parkins finds it necessary to remove to larger quarters, and will establish himself in the city, and run his machinery by steam instead of water power. At present operations have been confined to the manufacture of the cheaper kind of pocket knives. A 25 cents jack knife is a simple contrivance, but its manufacturers give employment to several specialists. One man forges the blade; another man grinds and polishes it; a third saws the handle: a fourth cuts and drills the scales, fixes the spring and puts the various pieces together. Then the handle is ground and polished, the blade sharpened, etc. Most of this work is done by machinery; but each is a business in Cornhill; An Irish Mail-car Driver, and a itself; the man who forges the blades knows nothing about grinding or polishing, nor Wedding, Chambers'; Geographical Exdoes the grinder know how to hammer out the blade, Mr. Parkins, however, has a practical knowledge of all the branches. While on this point, it may be mentioned that among the machinery is a small improved boring machine, the invention and manufacture of Harry Hill, of the electrical department of the Halifax Gas Company. This machine does faster and better work than the one hitherto used, and is also an economiser of labor. The commoner kinds of blades are stamped; but the better qualities are forged. Of the latter, one man can forge about 18 dozen a day. The
