Miramichi Advance.

GRATHAM, N. B., NOVEMBER 26, 1891. Miramichi Lumber Trade. The North Shore navigation season is ended, and Miramichi's trans-Atlantic lumber shipments for this year—the totals of which only we can give this week—have been less than in any previous year of our history, so far as we have any record. The figures are as follows:—

Vessels in the trade 113, of 79,412 tons. Deals, scantling, ends, Boards, etc., shipped, 72,082,950 s. f. Last season, we had 159 vessels, of 97,015 tons, and shipped 87,638,256 s. f. of deals, scantling, boards, etc., so that we have a decline of 15,555,306 s. f. from even the greatly reduced shipments of last year. It may be interesting, although it is very discouraging, to note that the decline in Miramichi's trans-Atlantic lumber trade is a continuous one. This season's falling off, of over fifteen millions, is not due to any accidental cause. The strong-est only are able to continue in the business. Last season's shipments were twenty-two millions s. f. less than those of 1889, although they were in excess of those of '88, but the downward course of the trade will be understood by taking the returns since 1880, which comprise the operations of twelve years. Miramichi shipped, during that period, a total, in round numbers, of 1,227,000,000 s. f. Of that quantity 744,000,000 s. f. were shipped in the years from 1880 to 1885 inclusive, and only 483,000,000 s. f. in the period from 1886 to 1891 inclusive. These figures speak for themselves, and they do not give much strength to friends of our protective tariff, or those who favor the present exorbitant rates of stumpage.

How is This? A statement showing the "broad and comprehensive" character of Hon. Mr. Mercier's political designs is made, to the effect that the extensive swindles already disclosed, and to be disclosed in connection with his government in last winter's Dominion campaign, are but shadows in comparison with what his scheme would have developed had it not been for the late Premier Macdonald's move in dissolving parliament, lest the disclosures of "Departmental corruption" might—with another session—have ruined the Liberal-Conservative's chances of success. Premier Mercier had planned a trip to France and Rome. He had everything arranged in France—as far as it was possible—for the negotiation of a $12,000,000 loan. In France—with full authority to effect the loan, and to influence it by means of the national and other advantages which he thought he saw in the success of Mr. Laurier in the elections to come off at the close of the parliamentary term—and in Rome, where high honors awaited him, he hoped to secure the money and prestige by which he would become the greatest and most potent factor not only in the downfall of Sir John Macdonald's Government, but in the establishing of the dominant influence of Quebec in Dominion affairs. His plans were marred by the sudden dissolution of parliament, just as he was about to leave Canada on his patriotic mission to France and his holy mission to Rome; but it will be remembered that he cancelled his engagements for passage over the Atlantic, and it was proclaimed all over the Dominion that Mercier had "his coat off" in the Dominion fight. Quebec money went forth into all the constituencies of the Dominion where it was believed it could be used in the glorious work of winning Canada for Quebec and for the long-cherished designs of its politicians. The liberal leaders outside of Quebec may not have understood the scheme, and Mr. Laurier may not have been taken fully into Mr. Mercier's confidence, but had the designs of the wily Mercier been successful, and the Dominion Government had been defeated in the elections, Mr. Laurier and his honest adherents in the provinces outside of Quebec would have found themselves either as puppets in the great Quebec manipulator's hands, or obliged to relinquish power. A large amount of money was raised for the Quebec constituencies, as well as for many in other provinces, not excepting New Brunswick and Nova Scotia—Northumberland being included in the "plan of campaign," although all the Mercierite ammunition that was fired in this direction, failed to reach the electors or to be spent as intended. What wonder is it, therefore, that the Pacard, Whelan and other scandals, involving hundreds of thousands, are being developed? Let us be thankful that if we did fail to secure Unrestricted Reciprocity, we are not yet under the dictatorship of Mr. Mercier, and let us also reflect on what might have happened, had the general election not taken place until Mr. Mercier had secured his $12,000,000 loan in France.

Scott Act Sustained. The vote of the electors of Charlotte County on a petition to repeal the Scott Act, was taken on Tuesday last week and resulted in the Act being sustained by a majority of two to one. It was a most decided victory for the friends of the Act.

HON. MR. LAURIER IN BOSTON. (Boston Herald, 15th.) The St. Jean Baptist-Society and the Club Lafayette, two important French organizations of this city, gave a banquet in Hotel Vendome last night in honor of Hon. Wilfrid Laurier, the leader of the Liberal party in Canada. Mr. Laurier arrived in Boston yesterday, accompanied by 200 Canadians, who came with him to attend the banquet.

Mr. Laurier's Speech. Hon. Mr. Laurier responded to the toast to Canada. He was received in a most enthusiastic manner, everybody rising to cheer. When quiet had been restored he spoke substantially as follows: In the first place, I must extend to you my most sincere thanks for the more than cordial reception which has greeted me from my countrymen on all sides. It is true I expected nothing less from those who are sitting at this board. They are born Canadians, and though, since they have become American citizens, they have sworn allegiance to the republic, I am quite satisfied that their new fellow-citizens will not think it incompatible with the duties of American citizenship that they should keep in their hearts an ever fresh and ever green memory of their native land, Canada (cries of "Bravo") and I am sure I am voicing the wish of their hearts when I say that their chief hope and wish is that between the country of their birth and the country of their adoption there should be ever-increasing peace, harmony and friendship.

Especially grateful am I on this occasion to see Canada honored as it is by the presence at this board of so many eminent sons of Massachusetts, and I cannot say how much I am gratified by the presence and the words of his excellency Governor Russell, the present occupant of the gubernatorial chair of Massachusetts—an office made illustrious before him by so many eminent men who have made Massachusetts known throughout the world as the champion of civilization, freedom and liberty. (Great cheers.) Mr. Laurier here read out to the memory of his hearers those STRUGGLES BETWEEN FRANCE AND ENGLAND on this continent which had ultimately given rise to the American republic and left a French colony which became the nucleus of the British possessions in America. Canada, he went on to say, is still a colony, and it is the destiny of colonies to become independent nations. But how and when is Canada to become an independent nation? This is a problem that does not at the present moment excite any concern among the people of Canada. The tie which binds a colony to the mother and always has a deep hold upon that colony. But you remember the example of this great republic itself. There was a time when the colonies had no conception of severing their relations with the mother country, and it was only the TRANNY OF ENGLAND which gradually forced them to throw off their allegiance to her. But time moves, England to day has granted to Canada and to all her colonies every right, principle and privilege which she once refused. In our own day has been realized the truth proclaimed by Charles James Fox in the last century, that the only method of conserving a British colony is to give them power to govern themselves.

So to-day the British government does not attempt to lay its hands on us or to force British goods into our ports. We are at this moment at liberty, and we have the right to tax British goods and British theory than as to how the paper referred to came to make its statement? Mr. A.—None, outside of a general rumor, and you see it is only a clipping from a paper. R.—Is there, so far as you know, any foundation in fact for the statement made in reference to your retirement from the representation of the County, even if there should be a dissolution? Mr. A.—Only in a general way. If my name were on the list of electors, I can see how it would be possible for me to be elected, and I am not at all sure that I cannot see any reasons, as I have already said—why Parliament should be dissolved. There can be no necessity for an answer to your inquiry; four or five years from now, it may make changes which none of us can foresee. I am not certain as to my future political life. My humble desire is, during the term of my representation of this County, to faithfully fulfill every public promise made, so that all my friends, even should they not select me again as their candidate, can at least remember my services in the County's interests.

Mr. A.—There is no such card to be played. As before stated, the government, in my opinion, is more than equal to the exigencies of a national calamity, and able to cleanse itself of all other political body sores which appeared during the last session, can look, with a more than contented trust, to the electorate, and when the Premier announces his new administration, I think it will end, and confidence will again be restored. R.—Is there any change whatever in your friendly relationships with the government? Mr. A.—I have had no intimation of any. I am satisfied with the treatment I have received as the representative of this County, from the hands of the government, and from each individual member thereof. I know of no reason why the government should not appreciate my political friends and associates. Wm. Murray, Esq., President of the Northumberland Liberal Association, assures us that the subject of a candidate for the next Dominion election has not, for a good while, been considered by that organization, and that the name of the gentleman mentioned by the Gleaner has not been either proposed or considered by it. Senator Snowball, who has been credited with favoring a certain gentleman, assures us that he has not given any personal reason to attribute any preference whatever to him. In fact, it is evident that there is no foundation whatever for the Gleaner's statements. It can save itself from the odium of having invented its alleged facts, only by giving the name or names of those on whose authority it stated them. It will hardly venture to do this, however, for even the Gleaner must fear the line somewhere in its preparatory work. People hereabouts are not so much surprised at the Gleaner's inventions as they are at the St. John Globe making itself a party to them.

Our Bridges.

A. G. Beckwith, Esq., Chief Engineer of the Provincial Public Works Department, was in town on Tuesday forenoon and went to Rogersville in the afternoon. He returned last night and went down river to Burnt Church and Negue yesterday. On Monday he examined the bridge over Burnt Land Brook, Biestown, for the repair of which he is to prepare plans and specifications. He is also, during his visit, to examine the bridges and sites at Reinsborough Falls, Richibouctou; Bay du Vin, Little Branch, Taylor Creek, the New Jersey, Burnt Church, Breux, Riviere des Caches, Tabusintac, Bartholomew River, Donald and others and will be accompanied, as much as possible, by the members for the County. There is so much bridge work to be done that delays are unavoidable. Persons in different parts of the County, who are interested in having certain bridges built or repaired, are, we think, satisfied that our representatives are accomplishing everything possible for them, considering that similar demands have to be met by the government in other parts of the province. There are a few, however, who either do not think of this, or, perhaps, interested in creating prejudice against the government, and they endeavor to make those whom they can influence believe that they or their friends could do very much better. These attempts however to gratify prejudice are, no doubt, understood and properly valued by the fair-minded majority of the people, who will know where to blame, and also where to give credit for what has been and is being done. We all desire these public works to be done at once, if possible, but knowing that it is impossible, we must only be reasonable and accept what can be done as satisfactory under the circumstances.

Those Political Rumors. We referred, last week, to statements made by the Fredericton Gleaner and the St. John Globe, respecting alleged political activities in Northumberland. The Gleaner's statement was as follows:— "The Conservatives of Northumberland are again preparing for a general election. The inner circle held a meeting last Thursday evening, at which it was announced that the names of the candidates for the next parliament might be expected any day. It was also stated that Mr. Adams would again contest the constituency, and that the party must find some other standard bearer, and that quickly. A lengthy discussion of the position of affairs followed, in which it was made clear to the circle that Mr. Adams could not be prevailed upon to accept the nomination. Mr. James Robinson, M. P., was then agreed upon as the candidate in the interests of the government, and the party proceeded to discuss the nomination. On the other hand, the liberals are active to the importance of getting a candidate in the field, and expect in short time to be able to find a standard bearer, Mr. John P. Burchill, M. P."

The Globe and Gleaner also intimated that the relationships between the Government and Mr. Adams were not now friendly. The ADVANCE said last week that while it was not in the confidence of either "the parties," the action alleged, could hardly have been taken without our hearing something of it, and we, therefore, assumed that the Gleaner was simply imposing upon the credulity of its readers. That paper, in its characteristic style and phrasing, asserts the truth of its former statements, declaring that the ADVANCE knows nothing of the political affairs of Northumberland, etc. We have always acted on the belief that a newspaper ought to be as correct as possible in the statements it makes, and should never publish what it knows to be untrue. The Gleaner, however, appears to take the position that it is justified in publishing any statement it may invent, so long as it thereby attracts attention to itself. It is like the western politician, who said he expected the public to recognize him as a "distinguished" man, which he failed to do; in that he hoped to see himself in the papers as "famous," but was disappointed; he next intimated to be "notorious," but couldn't manage it, when it became the height of his ambition to be "infamous," and he succeeded, but for only a short time, when he was notified by the regulators to leave the district.

What we said last week on the subject was, we find, entirely correct. We had, not then, made any enquiry, but have since done so. It may be assumed that Mr. Adams, M. P., would be a good authority to consult, so our reporter interviewed that gentleman. He is, at present, in poor health, and said he was glad to believe that political matters were practically quiet in the County. The ADVANCE was after more specific information however and got it as follows:— Reporter:—Is there any truth, Mr. Adams, in the report, published in a Fredericton newspaper, that the Conservatives of Northumberland are again preparing for a general election? Mr. A.—I am not answerable for the report published in the Fredericton newspaper, and may cautiously hint to you that the Conservatives of Northumberland are not preparing for a general election, inasmuch as they are quite content with parliament continuing for the legal term of five years. R.—Are you aware of any meeting of a party of "inner circle" of the Conservatives in Northumberland having been held on a recent Thursday or at any other time last week? Mr. A.—There was no such meeting. The conservative party are more than cautious. They are prudent in their deliberations and conduct. Such an act, if done as mentioned by you, that is, a meeting, would attempt to hold a meeting outside of the regular subscribers to the constitution which governs their organization, would encourage and deserve the most severe criticism and lead them to defeat.

Mr. A.—Are you aware of any announcement which would tend to lead to the dissolution of the conservative party here, that news of the dissolution of the Dominion parliament might be expected any day? Mr. A.—Really Mr. reporter, your question does not require any serious answer. The result of each division during the last session of parliament, when the policy of the country had to be determined, ought to satisfy all reasonable persons that there can be no legal or constitutional grounds why parliament should be dissolved. The records and proceedings prove unquestionably that the electorate had full confidence in the parliament of Canada. Mr. Abbott, the Premier and his associates are not to be considered imprudent men, and the delay in forming an administration can safely stand the people that he will provide a government that will securely and in the full legal term and, even in the event of a dissolution, will be handsomely sustained by the West-Canada, Fredericton, Chatham, Ontario, Quebec, New Brunswick and Nova Scotia.

Mr. A.—I never made such a statement at any meeting held by the conservatives in Northumberland, nor was anyone authorized to do so for me. Mr. A.—There was no one in October, I think, that attended in a responsible manner, for the purpose of presenting the interests and candidature of Mr. Morrison in the Municipal election. R.—Have you any knowledge, information
