BARTIBOG can't be beaten for big bear and other stories, but they have started a new source of prevarication out there. Some tishermen came to town one day last week and being asked if they had been caught in the lightning storm, said no, but that the man who caught three bears in one steel trap at the same time was up at "The Jam" and was detained on his downward trip near his own meadow by the river being obstructed by hail stones that had apparently fallen an hour or two before. He brought some of them along in the boat that Kelly built, and put them in the ice house to preserve the next series of ten three lb. trout that are caught without spikes in them.

THE WORST YET ;- The Moncton Transappears to have kept a private espionapon Judge Fraser at Dorchester, as it publishes the fact that he was the guest of Hon. Judge Hanington on one evening and of Rev. J. Roy Campbell on another, during the sitting of the circuit court there, and it evidently seeks to convey the impression that there was some impropriety in the plaintiff and some of the lawyers in the libel suit against the editor of that paper being also guests of the same gentlemen at the same time. That may be considered legizmate journalism in Moncton, but it is, nesser a less, quite discreditable to the paper that indulges in it. It is natural that Mr. Hawke should feel sore over the libel suit going against him, but it is no excuse for the social barbarism referred to.
