The Notorious Thompson.

The case of Thompson vs. W. A. Mott, mayor of Campbellton, recently decided at the Circuit Court in Dalhousie was an action for the alleged malicious arrest of the plaintiff at Metapedia in June last on a warrant issued upon sworn information and the advice of defendant in Campbellton and backed | this Act, which shall be repuisite to obtain by a magistrate in Quebec, on a charge of obtaining money under false pretences from the Bank of Nova Scotia. The plaintiff claimed that the prosecution was instituted for the purpose of bringing him into this province, in order that he might be arrested on a civil process, and that the defendant had made himself an active participator in the prosecution.

The defence was that informtaion had been laid by F. W. Daniel, agent of the bank at Campbellton, and that what defendant did in the first instance was merely to give legal advice to Mr. Daniel while his participation in the arrest of plaintiff in this suit was done in aid of the constable and under his directions.

The judge directed the jury virtually to find for the plaintiff on the ground that the defendant had gone beyond the statement made by the bank agent to him, and had bimself stated to the magistrate that the makers of one of the notes in question was a minor, which statement was untrue, and that the representations alleged by the bank agent to have been made by the plaintiff did not apply to the particular notes in question, but were made up on the cceasion of previous discounts and were in no sense shown to be false in the knowledge of the plaintiff.

A verdict was given to the plaintiff fo $400.
