The Great O'Donoghue. Knights and ladies pressed around them to offer greetings. The noble ladies brought Mary to a seat in their midst whilst the Knights besieged MacCarthy with questions about Sarsfield and the Irish in the service of foreign powers. The exciting scene was brought to a close by the assembled guests being summoned to supper. O'Donoghue had laid aside his armor and now appeared at the head of the table, attired in a costume similar to the others. Our travellers were seated at the left hand of the chieftain and were treated with marked courtesy. When the repast was finished the bards struck up hymns in praise of the chieftain and the ancient heroes of Ireland. The ladies were toasted in flowing goblets and then all retired for the night. Mary and her father were conducted to spacious sleeping apartments ad-joining each other and left to retire. As both were worn out it was not long before they were fast asleep and day-light was streaming in the windows before they awoke. They arose and ate sparingly of a breakfast which a servant brought into the father's room. Hardly had they finished when a knock was heard and the O'Donoghue entered the room.

'I bid you good morrow,' he said, 'and trust you have rested well.' 'Well, indeed, Sir Knight, and to thee we return thanks for thy generous hospital,' replied Mac-Carthy.

Seventeenth Year of Publication!

The publisher made an important change in the terms on which the paper isfurnished to Subscribers. These include

1st. Strict adherence to the system of cash in advance for all subscriptions.

2nd. The reduction of the price of the paper to

It is to be particularly understood that all outstanding subscription accounts due after November 6th, 1890, are to be settled on the old terms, viz., $2 per year, the advertised credit rate.

I have made the foregoing changes in the business of the ADVANCE The first is because many patrons who have been given credit, have abused the privilege to such an extent as to make the business of publishing the paper a non-paying one, and it is necessary, in my own interest and that of those who do pay, that I should no longer continue to furnish the AD JANCE to those non-paying subscribers. The second reason is, that I wish to meet the competition of the city weeklies, which are made up from the type of the dailies and, therefore, cost little for production in comparison with a local paper like the ADVANCE, the type of which must be set up especially for it.

Having now published the ADVANCE for nearly 19 years, and endeavored to make it a creditable representative of Miramichi and North Shore enterprise-a paper which may be taken into any household without fear that it has catered to sensationalism at the sacrifice of that cleanliness of matter, which is too often neglected by the press of the day-I have reason to hope the foregoing announcement will meet with Sanitary and Fire Arrangements Perfect, was general approval and be the means of largely increasing the circulation and influence of the paper.
