"They'll and Andy were going to do you sleep about ten minutes. I gave them nice easy ones, just enough to start on the rampage. If Bill could ately held back all this time. But let us get a mile away before they only wake up with one eye he would give me a dose. What did I do that for? Well it ain't like me to play sneak on partners, but you see Bill is a terror. You had to be put away according to his notion, and that lame devil, for my partners are down at the Crutchy, is worse than him. It was decided to bring you as far as that hollow tree and then crack you and stuff you down the hole or else shoot you and leave your gun as though it was an accident: We didn't want to do you up too near our house for when people found you they might prowl around and smell us. But I never laid anyone out yet and took a notion to you and made up my mind that between us we could handle them. I'll get away from here; anyhow, its getting too hot for us to make much of a haul any more."

While he was talking we had There was a report, a pain in my started off running, but by degrees fell into a walk as distance grew between us and the spot where the men lay. Mark left me when a mile from my hotel. I offered him money which he refused; I told him I was a wealthy man and would give him $500 and set him up in some small business if he would be honest. He refused, but as he turned away he laughingly said: "Never mind that money now but the adjoining room. A footstep had no business there at midnight. Besides myself there was only the housekeeper in the place and she was asleep long ago.

But somebody else was in the house now, sure enough, so I quickly dressed and stole down. There was a flickering light in the rooms, and my indignation swelled on observing that the fellow had lit one of my fine wax candles. Seeing that I was providing him with things to steal, why in thunder could he not bring his own light, or why could he not have looked about until he found a tallow been glad had death called me, so great was my suffering, a friend recommended Dr. Fowler's Extract of Wild Strawberry, which Miramichi Advance.

Beginning with the issue of November 6th, 1890, when the ADVANCE entered upon its Seventeenth Year of Publication!

The publisher made an important change in the terms on which the paper is furnished to Subscribers. These include

1st. Strict adherence to the system of cash in advance for all subscriptions.

2nd. The reduction of the price of the paper to

One Dollar a Year

It is to be particularly understood that all outstanding subscription accounts due after November 6th, 1890, are to be settled on the old terms, viz., $2 per year, the advertised credit rate.

I have made the foregoing changes in the business of the ADVANCE and ninety-one, and made between the said Anne Bateman of the Parish of Chatham aforesaid, widow, The first is because many patrons who have been given credit, said, photographer, of the other part; and which have abused the privilege to such an extent as to make said mortgage was duly recorded on the 25th day of February. the business of publishing the paper a non-paying one, and it is necessary, in my own interest and that of those who do pay, that I should no longer continue to furnish the AD JANCE to those non-paying subscribers. The second reason is, that I wish to meet the competition of the city weeklies, which are made up from the type of the dailies and, therefore, cost little for production in comparison with a local paper like the ADVANCE, the type of which must be set up especially lies on the south-west of White Rapid Brook, with Having now published the ADVANCE for nearly 19 years, and endeavored to make it a creditable representative of Miramichi and North Shore enterprise-a paper which may be taken into any household without fear that it has catered to sensationalism at the sacrifice of that cleanliness of matter, which is too often neglected by the press of the day-I have reason to hope the foregoing announcement will meet with general approval and be the means of largely increasing the circulation and influence of the paper.
