CHATHAM, N. B., OCTOBER 13, 1892.

Lord Tennyson.

Lord Tennyson, the Poet Laureate of England, and one of the sweetest singers the world has known, was the third-son of the late Rev. G. C. Tennyson, and born in 1809. The same year also saw the birth of Gladstone, Charles Darwin and Oliver Wendell Holmes. He was educated by his father—a man of powerful character and considerable attainments—and in due course was entered at Trinity College, Cambridge. In 1829, he gained the Chancellor's medal by a poem in blank verse entitled "Timbuctoo". This work which was one of rare promise, was cordially recognised by The Athenaeum, then lately established. In the following year a still more unmistakable earnest of high poetic acquirement appeared in a little volume entitled "Poems chiefly Lyrical." About the same time his brother, Charles, who was also endowed with high poetic powers, published a volume of sonnets and fugitive pieces. The two books were favorably reviewed in the Tatler, by Leigh Hunt, while the poems, chiefly lyrical, formed the subject of a paper contributed to the Englishman's Magazine by Arthur Hallam. From that time forward, the steady and rapid growth of Tennyson's fame may be traced. The English-speaking world, at that time, had grown weary of its then favorite poets, and was in a mood for something new, and Tennyson furnished it by giving to them "Morte d'Arthur," "Locksley Hall," "The May Queen," "The Two Voices," "as well as a number of other poems, which for power and variety disclosed the health and wealth of his mind and placed him in the first rank of English poets. But Tennyson's admirers from the start were the highly cultured. He was never a popular poet any more than Shakespeare would have been, had he not been interpreted by great actors and actresses who made his words and his characters intelligible and familiar to the mass of the people. Tennyson was like no other English poet who had preceded him, and yet he followed naturally enough such poetic predecessors as Scott, Byron, Coleridge, Wordsworth, Shelley and Keats. They led up to him. After the cultured public had fairly got a taste of him, it ceased to be critical towards him and yielded itself up to unmix admiration. It read his verses until they were incorporated with the general memory. It threw aside all other poets for a time and became Tennysonized through and through—a new star of the first magnitude had arisen in the firmament of English literature and all eyes were directed to it. From that time to the present Tennyson's poetic supremacy has been unquestioned throughout the domain of the English language, and although the Angel of Death has removed him from this sphere, he is still the supreme poet of that earth-en-circling domain for no successor fit to wield his sceptre in the realm of imagination has appeared to take his place. In "Idylls of the King" and the "Holy Grail" he was both wise and fortunate in the choice of the time, place and themes of these great poems; he had entered upon and fertilized virgin soil and it is questionable whether any one will conquer it from him. It has been said that in Don Quixote, "Cervantes smiled Spain's chivalry away," but Tennyson has done better by England. In his Idylls he has created a chivalry for her. He has peopled a remote place of her history with a great King and Court, with gallant knights and fair ladies, and has evoked not merely a commonplace class of arms and worship of beauty, but a world of character and passion, diversely and delicately drawn, of manifold life and maintained interest. Of his shorter poems none is more widely known than the "Charge of the Light Brigade," which, of itself, would make a reputation for the author.

Upon the death of Wordsworth in 1850 the office of Laureate became vacant, and as public opinion was strongly in favor of Tennyson's appointment, he was offered and accepted the position. Immediately after his installation into the office he issued an "Ode on the death of the Duke of Wellington" which is worthy of its subject. In this year also he was married to Emily, daughter of Henry Sellwood, Esq., and a niece of Sir John Franklin, by whom he had two sons, Hallam and Lionel. In December, 1883, Mr. Tennyson accepted a peerage as Baron Tennyson, of Aldworth, Sussex, and of Freshwater, Isle of Wight.

From the time of Edmund Spenser who was appointed Laureate in 1590 to Tennyson, the position has been filled by sixteen of England's greatest and brightest poets. But among them all there has been none more worthy to fill the post than his late occupant. Wherever the English language is read or spoken his influence has been recognized and felt, and we may truthfully say that the whole English speaking peoples of the world will sincerely mourn the loss of the sweet singer who, the other night, drifted down the stream of time and after crossing the bar of death entered upon the boundless ocean of eternity.

The Provincial Elections.—The Candidates.

The political sentiment throughout the Province still continues about the same as it was at our last issue. Although the Opposition leaders have exerted themselves to the utmost and used every means in their power to arouse the sympathies of the people in their favour, they have been anything but successful. In the southern part of the province the greatest charge that they have brought against the government is the measure of justice done to Northumberland and the other northern counties by the reduction of the stumpage, which, while it has benefited the lumbermen, and lumber merchants of this and the neighboring counties, they have been of no benefit to the other lumber interests of the province and robbed the revenue of a very large sum annually. This charge, of itself, should arouse the sympathies of the people of the northern counties in the government's favor, and caused them to elect men pledged to sustain it in the legislature.

It is a well-known fact that most of the lumber area of the province, from which our crown land revenue is derived is situated in the northern counties. This is owing to the greater portion of the southern crown lands having been granted as subsidies to various companies for the construction of railways in that quarter of the province. These railways, while they were of great benefit to all classes in their sections were of little service to the inhabitants of the northern counties. Our people did not complain of being unjustly treated, neither did they oppose the governments that passed these grants and charge them, as the opposition is now doing, with sacrificing the Crown Land revenue for the benefit of a favored section of the province. If the north had been treated in the past with the same justice as the south, we too would have had railways, for the building of which the greater portion of our Crown Lands—like those of the south—would have gone as subsidies. It is owing to the north not having claimed and received its railway rights that the great bulk of the Crown Lands of the province are those of the northern counties, and when the government made the statement in its pamphlet of the presentment of a delegation of the northern counties in regard to our lumber industry, they only dealt out justice to the northern counties and conceded to our lumbermen what they were justly entitled to.

It is not yet in the field. The election of the government candidates, Messrs. Thos. Hedderly and L. P. Ferris is a notable one and is known for a notably able and sound lawyer and a clear-headed and capable administrator. He was called to the Bar of Ontario in 1872, and was afterwards admitted to the Bar of Nova Scotia, in which province he practised until he was appointed his present position in 1888. He has been an Alderman in Halifax and was afterwards Recorder in that city, and the Governor of Dalhousie College, and has been lecturer in equity in the Law school of that university. His present salary is $4,000. The two other names which have been mentioned most prominently for the vacancy on the Supreme Court Bench which is taken by Mr. Sedgewick are those of Judge Palmer, of New Brunswick, and Chief Justice McDonald, of Nova Scotia, who is the father-in-law of Mr. C. H. Topper, Minister of Marine and Fisheries.

Canada Trade Returns.

In a recent issue, the Toronto Empire has the following interesting and highly satisfactory report of Canada's trade returns for the past nine months:— "The condition of trade and finance in the Dominion just now is wonderfully encouraging. Besides the immense increase in our exports, amounting in July and August to $4,169,541 over the corresponding months of 1891, the returns of mercantile failures in Canada for the past nine months show a marked diminution. The following figures speak for themselves:

WESTMINSTER. There is a strong ticket on the government side in Westminister. It is composed of Hon. A. D. Richard, late member of the legislative council, who has taken Mr. Pugsley's place as solicitor-general; A. E. Killam, ex-M. P., P. W. Woodbury Wells, a rising young lawyer and John W. Y. Smith, son of the late Sir Albert J. Smith of Dorchester. The Telegraph, which is dissatisfied with certain government appointments in St. John and is, therefore, not supporting Mr. Blair with its usual vigor concedes that "the government ticket in Westminister stands to win." The opposition ticket comprises Messrs. Powell, Melanson, Sumner and W. Wilberforce Wells. There are rumors that one of the opposition candidates will not go to the polls.

ALBERT. In Albert County, Dr. Lewis, who became tired of Dr. Stockton's leadership last session, and refrained from voting with the opposition, has come over to the side of the government and is running Hon. H. R. Emmerson, who is now Chief Commissioner of Public Works. We have not heard of any opposition being offered to these gentlemen in Albert. In any case, their election is sure.

ST. JOHN. In St. John city, the government candidates are Messrs. Arthur I. Truman, John L. Carleton, W. C. Rudman Allan and George A. Hetherington. The government candidates for the County are Messrs. A. T. Dunn and John McLeod. Against these are Dr. A. A. Stockton, leader of the opposition, Dr. Alward, A. C. Smith and Mr. Shaw, the late members for the city, and Messrs. McKeown and Ronke, late members for the County. The opposition have already conceded the gain of the two County seats to the government and there will be a battle royal in the city between the two parties. Dr. Stockton's men's chances were good in the city in the earlier days of the campaign, but the over the Skinner and other appointments, is again united, not that they yet approve of the government's action in reference to the appointments referred to, but because they realize that they must support either Mr. Blair or Mr. Stockton and when the issue is not to be avoided they have no difficulty in sinking their local grievances for the time, and standing by the ablest political leader of the maritime provinces.

KINGS. The government candidates for Kings are the Hon. A. S. White of Sussex, ex-Speaker, G. Hudson Flewelling of Clifton, late member of the legislative council, and G. G. Seovil of Springfield. These are unquestionably strong men, against whom no effective opposition can be organized. One noticeable feature of the meeting at which these gentlemen were nominated, was the manly stand taken by T. A. Peters, Esq., of Hampton, who was one of the promising candidates for nomination, but at once bowed to the choice made and said he would work heartily for the return of the ticket chosen, against whom it would be useless for any one to run.

Col. Dumville, ex-M. P. and some of his friends, were instrumental in getting up a semi-independent convention in Kings, which got beyond the Colonel's control and nominated Messrs. Kierstead, Fowler and Gilchrist, the latter being a physician. It was thought at first that these gentlemen would decline to run and the Moncton Times (opposition organ) said:—"It is not certain whether they will accept, as this proceeding was apart from the original idea of the convention and took the nominees by surprise." They have, however, been induced to take the field, although sure of defeat.

QUEENS. It was said that barrister L. A. Currie and Hon. Frank Woods, late legislative councillor, would be an opposition ticket in Queens County, but Mr. Currie has positively declined to run and Mr. Woods is not yet in the field. The election of the government candidates, Messrs. Thos. Hedderly and L. P. Smith, son of the late Sir Albert J. Smith of Dorchester. The Telegraph, which is dissatisfied with certain government appointments in St. John and is, therefore, not supporting Mr. Blair with its usual vigor concedes that "the government ticket in Westminister stands to win." The opposition ticket comprises Messrs. Powell, Melanson, Sumner and W. Wilberforce Wells. There are rumors that one of the opposition candidates will not go to the polls.

ALBERT. In Albert County, Dr. Lewis, who became tired of Dr. Stockton's leadership last session, and refrained from voting with the opposition, has come over to the side of the government and is running Hon. H. R. Emmerson, who is now Chief Commissioner of Public Works. We have not heard of any opposition being offered to these gentlemen in Albert. In any case, their election is sure.

ST. JOHN. In St. John city, the government candidates are Messrs. Arthur I. Truman, John L. Carleton, W. C. Rudman Allan and George A. Hetherington. The government candidates for the County are Messrs. A. T. Dunn and John McLeod. Against these are Dr. A. A. Stockton, leader of the opposition, Dr. Alward, A. C. Smith and Mr. Shaw, the late members for the city, and Messrs. McKeown and Ronke, late members for the County. The opposition have already conceded the gain of the two County seats to the government and there will be a battle royal in the city between the two parties. Dr. Stockton's men's chances were good in the city in the earlier days of the campaign, but the over the Skinner and other appointments, is again united, not that they yet approve of the government's action in reference to the appointments referred to, but because they realize that they must support either Mr. Blair or Mr. Stockton and when the issue is not to be avoided they have no difficulty in sinking their local grievances for the time, and standing by the ablest political leader of the maritime provinces.

KINGS. The government candidates for Kings are the Hon. A. S. White of Sussex, ex-Speaker, G. Hudson Flewelling of Clifton, late member of the legislative council, and G. G. Seovil of Springfield. These are unquestionably strong men, against whom no effective opposition can be organized. One noticeable feature of the meeting at which these gentlemen were nominated, was the manly stand taken by T. A. Peters, Esq., of Hampton, who was one of the promising candidates for nomination, but at once bowed to the choice made and said he would work heartily for the return of the ticket chosen, against whom it would be useless for any one to run.

Col. Dumville, ex-M. P. and some of his friends, were instrumental in getting up a semi-independent convention in Kings, which got beyond the Colonel's control and nominated Messrs. Kierstead, Fowler and Gilchrist, the latter being a physician. It was thought at first that these gentlemen would decline to run and the Moncton Times (opposition organ) said:—"It is not certain whether they will accept, as this proceeding was apart from the original idea of the convention and took the nominees by surprise." They have, however, been induced to take the field, although sure of defeat.

QUEENS. It was said that barrister L. A. Currie and Hon. Frank Woods, late legislative councillor, would be an opposition ticket in Queens County, but Mr. Currie has positively declined to run and Mr. Woods is not yet in the field. The election of the government candidates, Messrs. Thos. Hedderly and L. P. Ferris is a notable one and is known for a notably able and sound lawyer and a clear-headed and capable administrator. He was called to the Bar of Ontario in 1872, and was afterwards admitted to the Bar of Nova Scotia, in which province he practised until he was appointed his present position in 1888. He has been an Alderman in Halifax and was afterwards Recorder in that city, and the Governor of Dalhousie College, and has been lecturer in equity in the Law school of that university. His present salary is $4,000. The two other names which have been mentioned most prominently for the vacancy on the Supreme Court Bench which is taken by Mr. Sedgewick are those of Judge Palmer, of New Brunswick, and Chief Justice McDonald, of Nova Scotia, who is the father-in-law of Mr. C. H. Topper, Minister of Marine and Fisheries.

Canada Trade Returns.

In a recent issue, the Toronto Empire has the following interesting and highly satisfactory report of Canada's trade returns for the past nine months:— "The condition of trade and finance in the Dominion just now is wonderfully encouraging. Besides the immense increase in our exports, amounting in July and August to $4,169,541 over the corresponding months of 1891, the returns of mercantile failures in Canada for the past nine months show a marked diminution. The following figures speak for themselves:

WESTMINSTER. There is a strong ticket on the government side in Westminister. It is composed of Hon. A. D. Richard, late member of the legislative council, who has taken Mr. Pugsley's place as solicitor-general; A. E. Killam, ex-M. P., P. W. Woodbury Wells, a rising young lawyer and John W. Y. Smith, son of the late Sir Albert J. Smith of Dorchester. The Telegraph, which is dissatisfied with certain government appointments in St. John and is, therefore, not supporting Mr. Blair with its usual vigor concedes that "the government ticket in Westminister stands to win." The opposition ticket comprises Messrs. Powell, Melanson, Sumner and W. Wilberforce Wells. There are rumors that one of the opposition candidates will not go to the polls.
