A BRIEF NAP.

"Peter!"

No answer. "Peter!" "M--m-m. Hullo, is that you, moth er? What's up?"

You'll have to drive the milk cart, an Jack can go with you for company." "All right. What time is it, mother?" "Half past 2. You an Jack can eat the breakfast I laid out for father in the kitchen. You don't mind goin?" "Not a bit." Half an hour afterward the milkman's sons were driving through the deserted streets, with the milk cans playing a monotonous tune in the back of the wagon.

Jack soon fell asleep, and Peter had hard work not to follow his example. City streets are still as the grave at 3 o'clock in the morning. He wished Jack were awake. They might have been able to talk, and he could have kept off the drowsiness that was gradually overpowering him. He sat up straight in an uncomfortable position, so that he might not lose control of himself, but gradually his muscles relaxed, his body sank on one side, till he leaned against the side of the wagon and his head dropped on his shoulder. Meanwhile Old John trotted lazily on. It was the first time he had been driven by a sleeping charioteer.

"Hark! What was that?" Peter awoke with a start. Old John had stopped under some trees close by a fence. How long the wagon had stood there he had no idea. It was very dark, but Peter could see by the nearest lamppost that they were on Macon street. On the other side of the trees there was a sound of low voices. This must have awakened him. Broad awake, he listened. "Have you got it unlocked?" said one of the voices.

"Yes," said another voice. 'Then I'll light out. There's no use my hangin round here." "Well, just give me a boost first. The won't be round for an hour or more." Then there was the sound of a window opening, and a moment later the hurried steps of a man walking down the street. Peter shook his brother. "Jack, wake up and listen! Don't make the least noisenot the slightest. Now, are you awake? Whisper." "Ye-es," said Jack, and in the desired whisper. "What's up?" "Well-now listen. Take off your boots in the cart here, jump down quiet and run for your life to the police station on Pomfret street. Tell 'em there's a burglar in Judge Sherman's house; that there's no one in the house, and that they must send up a gang o' men." Jack siipped off his boots, stepped down, and was off like an arrow. Peter then took off his own shoes, stepped down, stole round to the front gate, in through the yard that surrounded the house and up a grass bank to the window where he had heard the men talking. It was open. He pulled himself up by the sill and climbed in.

He stood still for a moment, in doubt what to do. Suddenly he heard a footfall almost directly overhead, soft but distinct. Peter stepped out into the front hall. It "That was a poor job o' yours leavin that window open," he said, with a show of bravery, to gain time. "You rat!" said the other. "I'll make you sorry you ever saw that window."

POOR TOM.

She is discovered leaning over a basket "Foor Tom!" she begins; "he is the most uncertain man I ever knew. Why, it is almost one whole long year since I met him, and he has not proposed yet. It does seem improbable, I'll admit," surveying her fair image in the glass. "Opportunities! Why, he has had plenty of them. We first met at Mrs. Lane's tea, second at Mrs. Brown's ball. Oh, he had just the grandest chance there! We were in the conservatory alone for fully half an hour. The music wailed softly through the air; the fragrant flowers, the tender ripple of the fountain, and I-well, my mirror encouraged me very much on my appearance. I wore a perfect dream of a gown, pink chiffon and silver. It was real "Yet he is generous-flowers, bonbons, books, uctes, adores mamma, dotes on papa, and Willie, my small brother, he

Nervine Tonic. NERVOUS DISEASES.

As a cure for every class of Nervous Diseases, no remedy has been able to compare with the Nervine Tonic, which is very pleasant and harmless in all its effects upon the youngest child or the oldest and most tion. When there is an insufficient supply of nerve food in the blood, a general state of debility of the brain, spinal marrow, and nerves is the result. Starved nerves, like starved muscles, become strong when the right kind of food is supplied; and a thousand weaknesses and ailments disappear as the nerves recover. As the nervous system must supply all the power by which the vital forces of the body are carried on, it is the first to suffer for want of perfect nutrition. Ordinary food does not contain a sufficient quantity of the kind of nutriment necessary to repair the wear our present mode of living and labor imposes upon the nerves. For this reason it becomes necessary that a nerve food be supplied.
This South American Nervine has been found by analysis to contain the essential elements out of which nerve tissue is formed. This accounts for its universal adaptability to the cure of all forms of nervous de-

A SWORN CURE FOR ST. VITAS' DANCE OR CHOREA. CRAWFORDSVILLE, IND., June 22, 1887.
My daughter, eleven years old, was severely a dicted with St. Vitus' Dance or Chorea. We gave her three and one-half bottles of South American Nervine and she is completely restored. I believe it will cure every case of St. Vitus' Dance. I have kept it in my family for two years, and am sure it is the greatest remedy in the world for Indigestion and Dyspepsia, and for all forms of Nervous Disorders and Failing Health, from whatever cause.

CHAS. W. WRIGHT, Notary Public, INDIGESTION AND DYSPEPSIA. The Great South American Nervine Tonic

Which we now offer you, is the only absolutely unfailing remedy ever discovered for the cure of Indigestion, Dyspepsia, and the vast train of symptoms and horrors which are the result of disease and debility of the human stomach. No person can afford to pass by this jewel of incal-culable value who is affected by disease of the stomach, because the experience and testimony of many go to prove that this is the one and ONLY ONE great cure in the world for this universal destroyer. There is no case of unmalignant disease of the stomach which can resist the wonderful curative powers of the South American Nervine Tonic.

HARRIET E. HALL, of Waynetown, Ind., says:
"I owe my life to the Great South American Nervine. I had been in bed for five months from the effects of an exhausted stomach. Indigestion.

MRS. ELLA A. Bratton, of New Ross, Indiana, says: "I cannot express how much I owe to the Nervine Tonic. My system was completely shat-Nervous Prostration, and a general shattered tered, appetite gone, was coughing and spitting condition of my whole system. Had given up all hopes of getting well. Had tried three doctors, with no relief. The first bottle of the Nervine Tonic improved me so much that I was able to walk about, and a few bottles cured me entirely. I believe it is the best medicine in the world. I can not recommend it too highly."

Teled, appetite gone, was coughing and spitting up blood; am sure I was in the first stages of consumption, an inheritance handed down through several generations. I began taking the Nervine Tonic, and continued its use for about six menths, and am entirely cured. It is the grandest remedy for nerves, stomach and lungs I have ever seen."

No remedy compares with South American Nervine as a cure for the Nerves. No remedy compares with South American Nervine as a wondrous cure for the Stomach. No remedy will at all compare with South American Nervine as a cure for all forms of falling health. It never fails to cure Indigestion and Dyspepsia. It never fails to cure Chorea or St. Vitus' Dance. Its powers to build up the whole system are wonderful in the extreme. It cures the old, the young, and the middle aged. It is a great friend to the aged and infirm. Do not neglect to use this precious boon; if you do, you may neglect the only remedy which will restore you to health. South American Nervine is perfectly safe, and very pleasant to the taste. Delicate ladies, do not fail to use this great cure, because it will put the bloom of freshness and heauty upon your line and in your sheeks. great cure, because it will put the bloom of freshness and beauty upon your lips and in your cheeks, and quickly drive away your disabilities and weaknesses. general public. This medicine has completely solved the problem of the cure of indigestion, dyspepsia, and diseases of the general nervous system. It is also of the greatest value in the cure of all forms of failing health from whatever cause. It performs this by the great nervine tonic qualities which it possesses, and by its great curative powers upon the digestive organs, the stomach, the liver and the bowels. No remedy compares with this wonderfully valuable Nervine Tonic as a builder and strengthener of the life forces of the human body, and as a great renewer of a broken-down constitution. It is also of more real permanent value in the treatment and cure of diseases of the lungs than any consumption remedy ever used on this continent. It is a marvelous cure for nervousness of females of all ages. Ladies who are approaching the critical period known as change in life, should not fail to use this great Nervine Tonic, almost constantly, for the space of two or three years. It will carry them safely over the danger. This great strengthener and curative is of inestimable value to the aged and infirm, because its great energizing properties will give them a new hold on life. It will add ten
