"I do not suppose," said Ivison, speaking very slowly and distinctly, and looking straight into the other man's eyes, "that you knew exactly what you were doing; but I say again, that is no excuse for you. We have been friends long enough to warrant your taking sides with me in almost everything, and even to—even to lying for me if it were necessary;"

The other man shifted his position and wet his lips with his tongue. "You did not remember, did you." No. you are not ungrateful you are simply a fool. "I am going," he said, "because ! do not care to trust myself with you longer. If I did, I might 'forget,' and if I forgot, I would try to kill you. When you get your senses again, you will understand just what you have done for me. You have ruined my life and hers, for she loves me through it all and I am the man who made you. I am going South to-night, and it will probably be for a long time. My only wish is that, in the years to come-until you are dead you will think at least once a day that it was you who wrecked the lives of two people-who broke her heart and brought the old hell back pay for it all in the end.'

the Last One Hundred Years.

This medicine has completely solved the problem of the cure of indigestion, dyspepsia, and diseases of the general nervous system. It is also of the greatest value in the cure of all forms of failing health from whatever cause. It performs this by the great nervine tonic qualities which it possesses, and by its great curative powers upon the digestive organs, the stomach, the liver and the bowels. No remedy compares with this wonderfully valuable Nervine Tonic as a builder and strengthener of the life forces of the human body, and as a great renewer of a broken-down constitution. It is also of more real permanent value in the treatment and cure of diseases of the lungs than any consumption remedy ever used on this continent. It is a marvelous cure for nervousness of females of all ages. Ladies who are approaching the critical period known as change in life, should not fail to use this great Nervine Tonic, almost constantly, for the space of two or three years. It will carry them safely over the danger. This great strengthener and curative is of inestimable value to the aged and infirm, because its great energizing properties will give them a new hold on life. It will add ten or fifteen years to the lives of many of those who will use a half dozen bottles of the remedy each year.

NERVOUS DISEASES. As a cure for every class of Nervous Diseases, no remedy has been able to compare with the Nervine Tonic, which is very pleasant and harmless in all its effects upon the youngest child or the oldest and most delicate individual. Nine-tenths of all the ailments to which the human family is heir are dependent on nervous exhaustion and impaired digestion. When there is an insufficient supply of nerve food in the blood, a general state of debility of the brain, spinal marrow, and nerves is the: result. Starved nerves, like starved muscles, become strong when the right kind of food is supplied; and a thousand weaknesses and ailments disappear as the nerves recover. As the nervous system must supply all the power by which the vital forces of the body are carried on, it is the first to suffer for want of perfect nutrition. Ordinary food does not contain a sufficient quantity of the kind of nutriment necessary to repair the wear our present mode of living and labor imposes upon the nerves. For this reason it becomes necessary that a nerve food be supplied. This South American Nervine has been found by analysis to contain the essential elements out of which nerve tissue is formed. This accounts for its universal adaptability to the cure of all forms of nervous de-CRAWFORDSVILLE, IND., Aug. 20, '86. REBECCA WILKINSON, of Brownsvalley, Ind., To the Great South American Medicine Co.:
