

THE HUMOR OF A QUAD

MR. AND MRS. BOWSER DISCUSS DOMESTIC ANIMALS.

The Arizona Kicker's Sweetest Title of All

The Grandest Compliment of His Life

The Editor Wins a Breach of Promise Suit.

When Mr. Bowser came up to luncheon the other day and saw a goat nibbling away at a piece of stovetop in the backyard he caught his breath and exclaimed: "Well, of all the silly things you ever did this is the worst! Got a goat, eh? Probably paid 10 or 12 dollars for him—and of all the mean and useless animals on the face of this earth a goat is the climax! If you are ever left a widow you'll run through every dollar in three months!"

"Mr. Bowser," calmly replied Mrs. Bowser as the goat left the stovetop to hunt for fishbones, "do you remember when you bought a horse for $300?"

"What of it?"

"Nothing, except that in about 10 days you sold him for about $100 and was tickled to death to get rid of him. You bought him for $300 and he was worth $100 when you sold him."

"I turned out that he was wind-broken, spavined, ramboned, nearsighted, vicious, 20 years old, and—"

"It didn't turn out anything of the sort! You got afraid to ride after him, and what would I do but sell him? And what has a horse to do with a goat? Of what silly senseless things a woman ever did this is the cap sheet! I'll bet a hundred dollars to a cent you paid as much as $15 for him!"

"And after the goat came a cow," quietly observed Mrs. Bowser. "I coaxed and argued, but you were bound to have a cow. You paid $40 for a red cow. She gave me a fine milk cow. The seller guaranteed that she would give 10 quarts of milk a day. In one week—"

"In one week, Mrs. Bowser, you drove me into parting with her! You were obstinate and determined. You used to go out and annoy and torment her till she was half crazy. I sold her for $20 to save her life, poor brute! Look at that goat chewing an oyster can! Of all the fool things in creation a goat takes the cake! I can get a goat for $3 apiece, but I suppose you paid $30 for this one."

"And after the cow a pig," continued Mrs. Bowser with a sigh of regret. "You paid $12 for a pig, pig, pig, and an expense of $5 for feed, and in four days you sold the pig for $2.50 and smashed the pig into kindling wood. You thought it would be homelike to have a pig. You figured out a profit of $9 in three months but—"

"But what?" shouted Mr. Bowser, at the top of his voice. "You were down on that pig from the hour that I got him. You used to go out and pour water over him! I found marks on him where you knocked him down with a crowbar! I sold him out of a feeling of pity, and you know it! Whatever you put into your head to pay $20 or $25 for a good-for-nothing, squint-eyed, sad-headed brute of a chicken!"

"Then came chickens, Mr. Bowser—$35 for chickens and $10 or $12 for a coop, to say nothing of poultry books and chicken food. You wanted to hear your own roosters crow in the morning. You wanted fresh eggs from your own coop. You were going to make enough profit on eggs in three months to pay for everything in ten days you—"

"Yes, in 10 days I had to sell what few hens remained alive for a quarter apiece, but why were they so cheap?"

"Who went out to that coop with a baseball bat and pounded those poor fowls into the earth? Who sneaked out and mixed Paris green with their food? Who jabbed 'em with the clothepeg? It's until the neighbors threatened to have her arrested! I lost money, but why? And what's that miserable old fellow of yours trying to do now, bucking agin' in the barn at that fashion? Of all the silly, idiotic things I ever heard of in my life this buying a goat and smashing the pig into kindling wood is the worst!"

"I've paid $2 for him you said he had brained him with a spade."

"And then you bought a dog," continued Mrs. Bowser with a sigh of remorse in her tones. "He was a setter. He sat and howled all night. Then came a patient fire escape, which escaped $80 out of my pocket. It was a good one, some microbe killer and almost killed the cook and had to pay her $50 damages. Then someone told you to sleep in a hammock, and you fell and broke your neck, and after that you started in to disinfect the house and set it on fire and caused us a loss of $900!"

"That was an awful dose for Mr. Bowser. He gulped and swallowed and turned pale, but he felt that the goat was the best of the situation. Just then, as if to favor him, the door opened and a beef bone stuck in his throat and he made a circus performance of the funniest kind."

"Behold your purchase, Mrs. Bowser! Isn't he funny? Why don't you laugh! Better send up word to the idiot asylum and have about a hundred of the inmates come down and enjoy it with you! I suppose your next purchase will be a baby rhinoceros or a five-legged giraffe! If I hadn't more sense than to—"

"At that moment a neighbor's boy called to get the goat, saying he was much obliged to Mrs. Bowser for keeping it an hour while he was making a pen. The girl also announced that luncheon was on, and further conversation was suddenly dropped. It was nearly eight before Mr. Bowser could figure up results with any satisfaction to his mind, and even as he chuckled a little he felt bound to caution himself.

"Mighty close shave that way! I made my mistake in jumping onto the goat too soon! Curious woman, Mrs. Bowser! She can remember every little thing clear back to the time I was born! I've got to hold the reins of government with a tight hand or she'll get the better of me some day!"

ALL ABOUT THE HOUSE.

WOMAN'S REALM AND ITS MANY AND VARIED INTERESTS.

Fine Living on Small Wages—What has Been Done by Mrs. Ewing, the Chautauque Cooking Teacher—Her Bills of Fare for One Week.

When I was in Boston in October, 1889, helping the Young Woman's Christian Association organize their school of domestic economy I met a woman who talks that a family of four persons, when the housework was done without hired help, could live on the fat of the land for $1.75 or $2 a week.

This statement seemed rather absurd to the average Bostonian, and the newspapers criticized it as being "supremely ridiculous." Such things might perhaps be done in the "wild and woolly West," but in Boston, never. In Iowa and Indiana, where I had experimented with where anything could be bought for a song, it might be possible, to live on that sum; but in Massachusetts where everything "costs," such a possibility was out of the question.

Now the fun of the joke was that at the very time the daily journals were giving an account in retarding assertion, I was right under their noses at the Y. W. C. A. Building—daily doing what they said couldn't be done.

Forty-eight years ago the learned Dr. Lardner asserted that a ship couldn't be constructed of sufficient capacity to carry enough coal to run it by steam across the Atlantic Ocean. Nevertheless, thousands of ships do every year now run across the Atlantic by steam.

And in spite of the disbelief of both the learned and the housekeepers, choice fare can be furnished for $1.50 a week even in Boston. When my work for the Young Woman's Christian Association closed I left Mrs. Hays, my assistant, in charge of the school. Mrs. Hays had been a special student with me two years at the Iowa Agricultural College and understood my method of giving bills of fare, and the cost of material under her management, which also includes cost of that used by her cooking classes. This is her statement:

"During November and December the food material, fuel and ice for our board averaged $1.89 each a week. Our family averaged 12, and I had five cooking lessons a week for the young ladies, five lessons for the training girls, and four lessons for the outside classes, two of the latter being for the young men, in which was included baked turkey, puffed paste, cake, etc."

"These are some of our bills of fare: November 4.—Breakfast: Apples, grapes, veal chops, baked potatoes, bread, butter, coffee.

"Dinner—Tomato soup, boiled leg of mutton, caper sauce, boiled potatoes, mashed potatoes, apple pie, cheese, bread, butter, coffee.

"Supper—Cold meat, macaroni cooked in cream, bread, butter, Sally-Lunn, tea, coffee.

"November 7.—Breakfast: Bananas, apple, broiled beefsteak, fried potatoes, cold toast, butter, coffee.

"Dinner—Ox tail soup, baked fish, boiled potatoes, cabbage salad, Italian cream, bread, butter, coffee.

"Supper—Honey grits with cream, cold boiled ham, bread, butter, cinnamon buns, cocoa, tea.

"November 9.—Breakfast: Grapes, apples, broiled beefsteak, broiled eggs, graham muffins, bread, butter, coffee.

"Dinner—Cream of celery soup, roast beef, sweet potatoes, broiled turkey, potatoes, baked soft apples, Washington pudding, coffee.

"Supper—Chicken salad, French rolls, cold lodger, butter, ginger cake, tea, coffee.

"The meals through November and December averaged fully as well as these and were about equally varied."

Mrs. Hays also informs me that in March, 1890, at her home in Minneapolis, she, her husband and little daughter lived on $3.90 a week, which included the cooking of the little girl at one-half, would be $1.36 each a week. These are a few of their bills of fare:

Monday—Breakfast: Oranges, poached eggs, toast, bread, butter, milk. Dinner—Soup, port wine, steak, potatoes, parsnips, chow chow, bread, butter, peach pudding.

Tuesday—Breakfast: Oranges, omelet, toast, bread, butter, milk. Dinner—Soup with cream, corn, onion salad, bread, butter, fruit pudding.

Wednesday—Breakfast: Apples and oranges, fried beef, potatoes, warm bread, butter, milk.

Dinner—Boiled fish, potatoes, tomatoes, bread, butter, milk pie.

Supper—Cold meat, apple sauce, bread, butter, milk.

For the balance of the week the bills of fare are equally varied and equally good. Don't you wish such food, with a little tea and coffee thrown in would be satisfactory to most people?

GENERAL BUSINESS. Chase and Sanborn's Coffee. The quality of the Coffee we sell under our trade mark is our best advertisement. This Seal is our trade mark, and guarantees perfection of quality, strength and flavor. BOSTON. MONTREAL. CHICAGO.

Miramichi Advance. Beginning with the issue of November 6th, 1892, when the ADVANCE entered upon its Nineteenth Year of Publication! The publisher continued the change in the terms on which the paper is furnished to subscribers. These include 1st. Strict adherence to the system of cash in advance for all subscriptions. 2nd. The reduction of the price of the paper to One Dollar a Year!

It is to be particularly understood that all outstanding subscription accounts due after November 10th, 1892, are to be settled on the old terms, viz., $2 per year, the advertised credit rate. I have made the foregoing changes in the business of the ADVANCE for two reasons. The first is because many patrons who have been given credit, have abused the privilege to such an extent as to make the business of publishing the paper a non-paying one, and it is necessary, in my own interest and that of those who do pay, that I should no longer continue to furnish the ADVANCE to those non-paying subscribers. The second reason is that I wish to meet the competition of the city weeklies, which are made up from the type of the dailies and, therefore, cost little for production in comparison with a local paper like the ADVANCE, the type of which must be set up especially for it.
