He had not attempted to really weigh the evidence, but had selected isolated passages. The hon. member's statement had been... to limit the enquiry was a most unfounded statement.

He believed that, but for that appointment the agitation would long since have died out. Although the board had acted with all possible promptness, it was not to be expected that the agitation would long since have died out.

entering the left breast, which caused instant death, as he lay only a few feet from the door of the canoe when found by Robert Thibault, who was to join him in the shooting party, but did not get to where the fellow was until about 9 o'clock, where he found a pool of blood and his clothes on fire about his breast. Thibault then went to Mr. W. S. Loggie's factory, which was about a mile away, and got assistance to take the body home. It was a terrible shock to the parents and family, and their grief was indescribable. The sad event ought to be a warning to boys against handling firearms, as there have been many cases of escapes in the past in this place from carelessness with guns.

Mr. John McDonald in Peril. Mr. John Trevors of Douglasfield, had been laid up since Tuesday last and it is supposed that it is in consequence of his having over-exerted himself in rescuing a neighbor, Mr. John McDonald, from a position of great peril on Monday. Mr. McDonald was engaged in opening a winter-cellar to get out some potatoes and turnips. After he had entered it through the top and was working his way amongst the contents Mr. McDonald's rescue from a position of peril, in which he had been in for some time, was owing to there having been a shifting of the contents of the cellar which nearly overwhelmed him. With the aid of a chain attached to each leg and much personal exertion Mr. McDonald was extricated and kindly assisted to his house by Mr. Trevors, the latter being laid up the next day, although at last accounts he was getting better.

Serious Illness of Hon. Peter Mitchell. Much melancholy was felt here on Monday last over the report that Hon. Peter Mitchell had been suddenly stricken with epilepsy at the Windsor Hotel Montreal and was not expected to recover, but it appears that although he was seriously ill it is hoped that he will recover. The Montreal Witness of Monday had this reference to the hon. gentleman's illness: "Mr. Peter Mitchell is ill. He has been confined to his bed at the Windsor Hotel since Thursday. Yesterday morning he called a doctor. Dr. Guerin was called and he in turn called Dr. Wilkins. Mr. Mitchell was taken to St. Joseph's Hospital. He regained consciousness at eleven yesterday forenoon and has been gaining ground since. He passed an easy night and at latest reports was apparently much better, although not yet out of danger."

Canada's Columbian victors. The Wm. World Co., publishers of the FARMER'S ADVOCATE, London, Ont., and Glasgow, Man., have just favored us with a copy of their magnificent handsome and life-like engraving, entitled "Canada's Columbian Victors." It contains the portraits of a large group of pure-bred Ayrshire cattle that won phenomenal honors at the World's Fair, Chicago, last summer. Canadian live stock breeders and dairymen especially will appreciate the commendable enterprise displayed by the FARMER'S ADVOCATE in thus giving the public such a permanent memento of the success of Canada in that prize ring. Out of 2,000 in prize, Canadian Ayrshires won $1,855,000. United States, $150,000. It is also highly creditable to Mr. F. Brien, who is, without doubt, the leading live stock artist in Canada. In the way of live stock portraiture we have seen nothing finer than this, shading and grouping being artistically done, and the individual characteristics faithfully brought out. We might mention that the cattle portrayed in this engraving were from the herds of Messrs. R. Reford, St. Annes, P. Q.; R. Robertson, Howick, P. Q.; Thomas Gray, Oakville, Ont.; W. M. & J. C. Smith, Fairview Plains, Ont.; D. Drummond, Petite Côte, P. Q.; Thos. Irving, "Logan's Farm," Montreal, P. Q.; Joseph Yull, Carleton Place, Ont.; William Stewart, Jr., Mont. Ont.

to his captain, and asked his permission to go and get his game. "And he was SHOT LIKE A GOOSE!" said the lieutenant. "Well, sir," said the lieutenant, "you saw that he didn't hit the geese, and perhaps they wouldn't have any luck with me." "Well, go ahead, if you can manage it." The lieutenant took a ramrod, tied his handkerchief to it, and held it up above his rifle. Then, rising up into view himself, he shouted "Give me my goose!" Presently a handkerchief on a ramrod appeared above the Russian trenches, and the French heard one of the Russian officers call out, "Agreed!" which indicated that the armistice was agreed to. The lieutenant then stepped boldly into the space between the armies, walked to the very foot of the Russian lines, picked up his wild goose, made a profound bow to his "enemies," and went back to his own entrenchments. During all this time NOT A SHOT WAS FIRED.

Soldiers Who died Singing. The story of the last stand of Major Wilson's little band, as communicated by a friend to the Hon. Maurice Gifford, says the London Court Journal, is peculiarly touching. As already known, they fought to the last, but the Matabele who saw them die tell us that they raised their death song, and that song, we may say, was the National Anthem. According to the Indians, those of them who could yet stand, got upon their feet and sang a strange battle song. Undoubtedly this was "God Save the Queen," but the native could only recognize it as like the music of the missionaries. All who were able to rise stood shoulder to shoulder, took off their hats and sang together, and so singing perished under the assegais.
