WHY SHE WAS GLAD.

"I did not think you could be so foolish, Agnes. What! jealous of a mere child like Kate!" The speaker was a man between 35 and

40. Handsome he certainly was, kind hearted and generous all could testify who knew him. The person address ed was in the full maturity of womanhood, with a thoughtful and earnest look in her face that showed that she had felt and suffered beyond the majority of her sex. "Kate is not a child, but a woman, Arthur," she replied, "a very pretty woman, as no one knows better than you." Arthur Reeves looked sharply at his Agnes understood that look and said steadily: "I saw you beneath the elm last evening. I had heard many things before, but could not credit them. The evidence of my own senses I must believe."

"Go on," he said, with forced coolness. "I suppose I may as well take my lecture now as any time.' "I am not going to lecture you, Arthur, nor even reproach you. The time for that has passed. I simply wish to convince you that you have been mistaken in the feelings that you have professed to cherish for me-that we have both been mistak-"I love you, Agnes. You know that." "And yet I am not sufficient for you.

Your eyes, if not your lips, have said the same to Kate Norton as well as others." "This is the sheerest folly, Agnes! My feelings for Kate are as those I cherish for my little sister Ellen."

"If you think so you deceive yourself. And whether it be so or not it is evident that the feelings aroused in her heart are of a far different nature."

"You do Kate great injustice, Agnes; she is as innecent hearted as a child." "You must have a strange idea of the innocence of childhood. Kate Norton had little reputation to lose before she met you. She has less now. A girl that can openly boast that there is not a married lady of her acquaintance but what is jealous of her has as little principle as deli-

"I tell you again, Agnes, that I do not care for Kate. I have paid her some attention, it is true, but it is because I know she has few pleasures, and I wanted to make her stay as pleasant as possible." "And yet, when, after months of close confinement in the schoolroom, I sought a brief respite from many cares, the change of scene and air I so sorely needed, you did not think it necessary to devote yourself so assiduously to me, who, if half your assurances are to be believed, have a claim upon you more sacred than any other. You could even leave me alone for daysnot on account of business-but in pursuit of pleasures in which I had no share."

Arthur Reeves winced at these words. "You are jealous Agnes, and a jealous woman can never see things as they are." The two kad been walking along a wooded path. They had now reached the brow of a hill, from which diverged two paths-one leading to Agnes' home, the other to the village, whose glittering spires could be seen in the distance. "Our paths lie separate here, Arthur." "And our life paths as well? Is that what you wish to say, Agnes?" "Our life paths as well." No one knew all it cost her to utter those calmly spoken words—certainly not the man who, winning that loving heart, had held it so tightly. Motionless, with arms folded tightly across his chest, he watched her retreating form. Perhaps there was a faint hope in his heart that she would pause or turn her head, but Agnes was not the woman to

It was not that he did not know how rich was the treasure he had won; to be loved so entirely and exclusively would have been gratifying to any man, but he was one of those with whom a love once won has lost its charm. Arthur made no attempt to change a purpose that he well knew was unchangeable. He married a few months after, and no one prayed more fervently for his happiness than did she from whose life he had taken much of its bloom and brightness. Some years after, when what we have recorded was looked upon as a troubled dream, in taking up a paper her attention was arrested by the following paragraph: "Arthur Reeves, a well known merchant in ---, has eloped with a gay young widow. The guilty pair left for Europe on the last steamer. for her picnic, one fact troubled her. If there was one person whom Miss Kitty Melon disliked particularly, that person was Mr. William Waddilove. In fact, there was only one thing she hated worse, and that was his dog. On his side, Mr. Waddilove disliked his neighbors as heartily. If there was any thing he hated, it was a piano, and from morning to night the partition wall shook with incessant practicing. -

The two cottages commenced secret warfare. Miss Melon shrieked whenever she saw the dog-practiced at midnight because she knew Mr. Waddilove was always aroused by the dulcet strains and passed

No wonder Mrs. Tallman grew nervous as her picnic guests, among whom were to be the "two antipathies," began to assemble.

Foremost came Mr. Waddilove, with his dog and a gun. "Might see something I'd like to hit,

In a tea planter's bungalow in Assam three men sat smoking and talking. The oppressive heat of an Indian night made conversation something of a trouble, and in the intervals of silence each refreshed himself from the rapidly emptying glass which stood within easy reach. One was a man of 30, alert, active, with keen blue eyes, the type of the hardy Scot, who makes the best planter. The man upon his right hand was a planter also, but

The poor young man's nerves had given way. The doctor saw at once what had happened, and for the time he was mad. With two such patients Bryant had his hands full. Both were very near the fatal verge, but in the end it was the man that had been physically hurt who recovered. The one mentally injured sank lower every day, until a week after the tiger's leap he died, the victim of sheer fright.

As soon as he was fit for the journey Gordon went home, and after many months regained health and strength, though his left arm hung powerless. He carries a claw of the tiger always with him wherever he is, and sometimes looking at it he can see again the moonlit compound and feel the hidden horror of the brute's hot breath upon his face .-Exchange.

An Ingenious Clock. Wynn Molesworth has invented and constructed a very ingenious "celestial clock," which was exhibited at the first winter meeting of the Royal Astronomical society. The entire face of the clock rotates under a wire bar representing the equatorial horizon and is regulated to perform one revolution in 23 hours 56 minutes 4 seconds, this being the time in which the earth turns once upon its axis. The apparent annual motion of sun, moon and planets in the opposite direction is effected by movable pins, while the north and south polar stars, that do not rise or set for us, revolve simultaneously with the rest by a separate movement. Thus may be seen the entire heavens, with sun, moon, planets and constellations in their actual places, ever rising and setting as Stomach Liver Cure The Most Astonishing Medical Discovery of the Last One Hundred Years.

It is Pleasant to the Taste as the Sweetest Nectar. It is Safe and Harmless as the Purest Milk. This wonderful Nervine Tonic has only recently been introduced into this country by the proprietors and manufacturers of the Great South American Nervine Tonic, and yet its great value as a curative agent has long been known by a few of the most learned physicians, who have not brought its merits and value to the knowledge of the general public. This medicine has completely solved the problem of the cure of indigestion, dyspepsia, and diseases of the general nervous system. It is also of the greatest value in the cure of all forms of failing health from whatever cause. It performs this by the great nervine tonic qualities which it possesses, and by its great curative powers upon the digestive organs, the stomach, the liver and the bowels. No remedy compares with this wonderfully valuable Nervine Tonic as a builder and strengthener of the life forces of the human body, and as a great renewer of a broken-down constitution. It is also of more real permanent value in the treatment and cure of diseases of the lungs than any consumption remedy ever used on this continent. It is a marvelous cure for nervousness of females of all ages. Ladies who are approaching the critical period known as change in life, should not fail to use this great Nervine Tonic, almost constantly, for the space of two or three years. It will carry them safely over the danger. This great strengthener and curative is of inestimable value to the aged and infirm, because its great energizing properties will give them a new hold on life. It will add ten or fifteen years to the lives of many of those who will use a half dozen

NERVOUS DISEASES. As a cure for every class of Nervous Diseases, no remedy has been able to compare with the Nervine Tonic, which is very pleasant and harmless in all its effects upon the youngest child or the oldest and most delicate individual. Nine-tenths of all the ailments to which the human family is heir are dependent on nervous exhaustion and impaired digestion. When there is an insufficient supply of nerve food in the blood, a general state of debility of the brain, spinal marrow, and nerves is the result. Starved nerves, like starved muscles, become strong when the right kind of food is supplied; and a thousand weaknesses and ailments disappear as the nerves recover. As the nervous system must supply all the power by which the vital forces of the body are carried on, it is the first to suffer for want of perfect nutrition. Ordinary food does not contain a sufficient quantity of the kind of nutriment necessary to repair the wear our present mode of living and labor imposes upon the nerves. For this reason it becomes necessary that a nerve food be supplied. This South American Nervine has been found by analysis to contain the essential elements out of which nerve tissue is formed. This accounts for its universal adaptability to the cure of all forms of nervous de-CRAWFORDSVILLE, IND., Aug. 20, '86. | REBECCA WILKINSON, of Brownsvalley, Ind., To the Great South American Medicine Co.:

A SWORN CURE FOR ST. VITAS' DANCE OR CHOREA. CRAWFORDSVILLE, IND., June 22, 1887. My daughter, eleven years old, was severely a nicted with St. Vitus' Dance or Chorea. We gave her three and one-half bottles of South American Nervine and she is completely restored. I believe it will cure every case of St. Vitus' Dance. I have kept it in my family for two years, and am sure it is the greatest remedy in the world for Indigestion and Dyspepsia, and for all forms of Nervous Disorders and Failing Health, from whatever cause. State of Indiana, Montgomery County, \} ss:

Subscribed and sworn to before me this June 22, 1887. CHAS. W. WRIGHT, Notary Publica INDIGESTION AND DYSPEPSIA.

The Great South American Nervine Tonic Which we now offer you, is the only absolutely unfailing remedy ever discovered for the cure of Indigestion, Dyspepsia, and the vast train of symptoms and horrors which are the result of disease and debility of the human stomach. No person can afford to pass by this jewel of incalculable value who is affected by disease of the stomach, because the experience and testimony of many go to prove that this is the one and ONLY ONE great cure in the world for this universal destroyer. There is no case of unmalignant disease of the stomach which can resist the wonderful curative powers of the South American Nervine Tonic.

HARRIET E. HALL, of Waynetown, Ind., says: | Mrs. Ella A. Bratton, of New Ross, Indiana, I owe my life to the Great South American says: 'I cannot express how much I owe to the Nervine. I had been in bed for five months from the effects of an exhausted stomach, Indigestion, Nervous Prostration, and a general shattered condition of my whole averters. He shattered tered, appetite gone, was coughing and spitting condition of my whole system. Had given up all hopes of getting well. Had tried three doctors, with no relief. The first bottle of the Nerv-through several generations. I believe it is the best medicine in the world. I can not recommend it too highly."

the kervine folia, and am entirely cured. It is the grandest remedy for nerves, stomach and lungs I have ever seen."

No remedy compares with South American Nervine as a cure for the Nerves. No remedy compares with South American Nervine as a compare with South American Nervine as a cure for all forms of failing health. It never fails to cure Indigestion and Dyspepsia. It never fails to cure Chorea or St. Vitus' Dance. Its powers to build up the whole system are wonderful in the extreme. It cures the old, the young, and the middle aged. It is a great friend to the aged and infirm. Do not neglect to use this precious boon; if you do, you may neglect the only remedy which will restore you to health. South American Nervine is perfectly safe, and very pleasant to the taste. Delicate ladies, do not fail to use this great cure, because it will put the bloom of freshness and beauty upon your lips and in your cheeks, and quickly drive away your disabilities and weaknesses.
