THE DISMAL SWAMP. They made her a grave too cold and damp.

For a heart so warm and true.

And she's gone to the lake of the Disc Swamp, Where all night long by the fire-fly lamp,

And her fire-fly lamp I soon shall see, And her paddle I soon shall hear; Long and loving our life shall be, And I'll hide the maid in a cypress tree, When the footstep of death is near.

A way to the Dismal Swamp he speeds, His path was rugged and sore,
Through tangled juniper, beds of reed,
Through many a fen where the serpents feed
And man never trod before. And when on earth he sunk to sleep, if slumber his eyelids knew,
He lay where the deadly vine doth weep
lis venemous tear and nightly steep,
The fiesh with blistering dew.

And near him the she-wolf stirred the brake,
And the copper snake breathed in his ear,
Till he starting, cried, from his dream awake,
"Oh, when shall I see the dusky lake
And the white cance of my dear?"

He saw the lake, and a meteor bright,
Quick o'er its surface played;
"Welcome," he said, "my dear one's light,"
And the dim shore echoed for many a night,
The name of the death cold maid.

Till he hollowed a boat of birchen bark, Which carried him off from shore; For he followed by night the meteor spark; The wind was high and the clouds were dark, And the boat returned no more.

But off from the Indian hunter's camp,
This lover and maid so true
Are seen at the hour of midnight damp.
To cross the lake by the fire-fly lamp,
And paddle their white cance.

"If I could but prove all that I suspect," murmured he to himself as he crossed the little bridge that spanned a brawling rivulet. A hand fell on his shoulder at the same instant.

HOW MUCH SLEEP? A Discussion of Edison's That Two Hours

is Enough. The discussion aroused by Edison's theory that two hours' sleep is enough for any rational and healthy human being continues vigorously. Opinion is not all with the inventor, for the majority of people insist that eight or nine hours' sleep is necessary to perfect health. A few instances are recalled by persons who have gone into the subject deeply of men who have succeeded in getting along very well with four hours' sleep out of the twenty four, and isolated cases of extraordinary periods of wakefulness in cases of danger and great excitement are quoted. The walking matches which were held at one time in New York gradually resolved themselves into a question of how long a man could get along without sleep, and in one instance a walker went five days with an average of less than three and one half hours. sleep out of each twenty four how's.

Mr. Edison's theory is that the practice of sleeping eight or nine hours is a relic of barbarism, which became part of our "Good, seasonable weather," thought quire Merriford, as he came out to ook at the big thermometer that always hung, summer and winter, beside he porch door. "Halloo, Steele! Is numerous army of laborers who turn night into day, sleep fewer hours a day "Yes, squire, it is I," said Milford
Steele. "Is Josephine at home?"

"She's at home, but—the fact is—she's pretty considerably engaged just at present."

"That means, I suppose, that Leslie Willoughby is calling?"

"They find five hours' sleep enough. So do the men who have to go to market." do the men who have to go to market early, such as the purchasing agents of the Siene and Soane, crossing in its course the big cafes, restaurants, clubs and the divide between the channel and the College Students, during the summer vacation, grocery firms. These men rise at 3:1) or 4 o'clock in the morning although they seldom bed before 11:30. Occasionally they take a nap in the afternoon for an hour, but that does not upset Mr. Edison's theory in any way. Perhaps a more notable instance is the life followed by some of the owners, trainers, stablemen, and jockeys of the big racing stables. While the horses are in train ing during the season they are nearly always taken out for a trial in the early hours of the morning. The names of scores of men could be given who rise at 4:30 o'clock every morning during the racing season, repair to the stables, and who never get to bed unlil nearly the hour of midnight. Sailors sleep four hours, then have an eight hours' watch.

The Whistling Oyster. That the whistling mania should go as far as the oyster is not at all astonishing, for why should not a bivalve do what a woman does? It was an enterprising oyster who lived in a shell in the year 1840 and was exhibited in London. If we can believe the words of thousands who saw it, the thing somehow actually whistled. Douglas Jerrold, who saw it, surmised that the oyster had undoubtedly "been crossed in love and now whistled to keep up appearances, with an idea of showing that it didn't care."-London Answers.

It is Safe and Harmless as the Purest Milk. This wonderful Nervine Tonic has only recently been introduced into this country by the proprietors and manufacturers of the Great South American Nervine Tonic, and yet its great value as a curative agent has long been known by a few of the most learned physicians, who have not brought its merits and value to the knowledge of the general public. This medicine has completely solved the problem of the cure of indigestion, dyspepsia, and diseases of the general nervous system. It is also of the greatest value in the cure of all forms of failing health from whatever cause. It performs this by the great nervine tonic qualities. which it possesses, and by its great curative powers upon the digestive. organs, the stomach, the liver and the bowels. No remedy compares with this wonderfully valuable Nervine Tonic as a builder and strengthener of the life forces of the human body, and as a great renewer of a broken-down constitution. It is also of more real permanent value in the treatment and cure of diseases of the lungs than any consumption remedy ever used on this continent. It is a marvelous cure for nervousness of females of all ages. Ladies who are approaching the critical period known as change in life, should not fail to use this great Nervine Tonic, almost constantly, for the space of two or three years. It will carry them safely over the danger. NERVOUS DISEASES. As a cure for every class of Nervous Diseases, no remedy has been able to compare with the Nervine Tonic, which is very pleasant and harmless in all its effects upon the youngest child or the oldest and most deficate individual. Nine-tenths of all the ailments to which the human family is heir are dependent on nervous exhaustion and impaired digestion. When there is an insufficient supply of nerve food in the blood, a general state of debility of the brain, spinal marrew, and nerves is the result. Starved nerves, like starved muscles, become strong when the right kind of food is supplied; and a thousand weaknesses and ailments disappear as the nerves recover. As the nervous system must supply all the power by which the vital forces of the body are carried on, it is the first to suffer for want of perfect nutrition. Ordinary food does not contain a sufficient quantity of the kind of nutriment necessary to repair the wear our present mode of living and labor imposes upon the nerves. For this reason it becomes necessary that a nerve food be supplied. This South American Nervine has been found by analysis to contain the essential elements out of which nerve tissue is formed. This accounts for its universal adaptability to the cure of all forms of nervous de-CRAWFORDSTILLE, IND., Aug. 20, '86. REBECCA WILKINSON, of Brownsvalley, Ind.,

A SWORN CURE FOR ST. VITAS' DANCE OR CHOREA. My daughter, eleven years old, was severely a dicted with St. Vitus' Dance or Chorea. We gave her three and one-half bottles of South American Nervine and she is completely restored. I believe it will cure every case of St. Vitus' Dance. I have kept it in my family for two years, and am sure it is the greatest remedy in the world for Indigestion and Dyspepsia, and for all forms of Nervous Disorders and Failing Health, from whatever cause. Which we now offer you, is the only absolutely unfailing remedy ever discovered for the cure of Indigestion, Dyspepsia, and the vast train of symptoms and horrors which are the result of disease and debility the human stomach. No person can afford to pass by this jewel of incar culable value who is affected by disease of the stomach, because the experience and testimony of many go to prove that this is the one and ONLY ONE great cure in the world for this universal destroyer. There is no case of unmalignant disease of the stomach which can resist the wonderful curative powers of the South American Nervine Tonic. HARRIET E. HALL, of Waynetown, Ind., says: | Mrs. Ella A. Bratton, of New Ross, Indiana,

"I owe my life to the Great South American Nervine. I had been in bed for five months from the effects of an exhausted stomach, Indigestion, Nervous Prostration, and a general shattered condition of my whole system. Had given up all hopes of getting well. Had tried three doctors, with no relief. The first bottle of the Nervine Tonic improved me so much that I was able to walk about, and a few bottles cured me entirely.

MRS. ELLA A. BRATTON, of New Ross, Indians, says: "I cannot express how much I owe to the Nervine Tonic. My system was completely shattered, appetite gone, was coughing and spitting up blood; am sure I was in the first stages of consumption, an inheritance handed down through several generations. I began taking the Nervine Tonic, and continued its use for about six months, and am entirely cured. It walk about, and a few bottles cured me entirely.
I believe it is the best medicine in the world. I can not recommend it too highly."

the Nervine Tonic, and continued to discuss about six months, and am entirely cured. It is the grandest remedy for nerves, stomach and lungs I have ever seen." No remedy compares with South American Nervine as a cure for the Nerves. No remedy compares with South American Nervine as a wondrous cure for the Stomach. No remedy will at all compare with South American Nervine as a cure for all forms of failing health. It never fails to cure Indigestion and Dyspepsia. It never fails to cure Chorea or St. Vitus' Dance. Its powers to build up the whole system are wonderful in the extreme. It cures the old, the young, and the middle aged. It is a great friend to the aged and infirm. Do not neglect to use this precious boon; if you do you may reglect the only remedy which will restore you to health. South American
