NELLY'S LOVER,

"I wish I could go to the seashore," said Nelly Green, softly. She sat like a little shadow in the moving gleams of the Madeira vines which Marian had twined back and forth over the tenement house window. "To the seashore!" said Aunt Penelope, at noon, you know. "But the seashore!" went on Nell, as if she had not heard the crabbed old woman's word. "The great, cool waves, full of green and violet light; the wet, crinkly sands; the sweet wind and the fringes of white foam! Oh, Marian, I know I should be better if I could go to Nelly Green had been the flower of all the family-the beauty, the youngest, the pet. But when Nelly fell sick and was obliged to give up school—when she continued to droop, day by day— Marian had listened wistfully to her sister's piteous words. She looked at Aunt Penelope.

"Aunt Pen," said she, "there's that money I have been saving for a buttonhole machine; it would just take us all to the seashore for a week. "And what's to become of the buttonhole machine?" said Aunt Pen. "We must do without it," said Marian "No dear, no!" said Nelly, looking up with a faint smile. "I am not yet selfish enough to allow such a sacrifice as Marian kissed her sister and said nothing. But the next evening when she came in from delivering her latest batch of work at the vest factory, she held up three slips of paper.

"Tickets for Long Branch!" said she. "Get ready, Nell and Aunt Penelope!

We are to go on Thursday for a week!"
"Goodness gracious me!" ejaculated Aunt Pen. "And me without a dresscap and not a yard of ruffling done-up!" "You can make up the dress cap to-night," said Marian, "and as for the ruffling, we must do without it, for he stopped here, startled by Nelly's little cry of pleased surprise. For there, looking out of the window where the bathing-suits were piled up for hire, was the tall stranger in the diamond studs and the Panama hat. "Oh," cried Nell, instinctively, "how glad I am to see you! But who would have expected to meet you here?" "Renting out bathing suits at fifty and twenty-five cents an hour," said the young man, with a mischievous sparkle in his dark eyes. Which shall I have the pleasure of selecting for you, ma'am?" to Miss Cynthia Culpepper. That young lady drew herself up.

"The nicest you have," said she.
"Marian," she added, afterward. You really ought to teach that silly little sister of yours some of the ways of the world! She's making as much of that young man as if he was a gentleman. And Miss Culpepper gave the dark-eyed offender the cut direct, when she met him strolling on the beach, when bath hours were over, and the sunset breeze came freshest. "Are you strong enough to walk up as far as yonder stranded sloop?" said he to "I think you would enjoy the sight. And, with my arm-" "I should like it so much," said Nelly.

But MissCynthia could not endure this. "Young man," said she, loftly, "I don't think your employer would like "My employer!"

"The gentleman that owns the bath-"But I have nothing to do with the bathing suits nor their owner," said the stranger with an amused look. "In-deed!" said Miss Culpepper with scorn. "Then may I ask what you were doing there this morning?" "Oh, certainly!" answered the stranger. "I found, when I got down to the bathing-grounds, that I had left the key of my room in the door; so I just stepped in for a moment while the man ran up to the hotel to get it for me.

On their homeward way, Nell whispered to Marian, with gleaming eyes and cheeks all rosy "Dear Marian, is it wrong to be engaged to him after only a week's ac-

"Who do you think he is--" demanded Cynthia Culpepper, bouncing into the room where the three sat at their vestmaking-"Mr. Newton, I mean?" "He is Mr. Newton," said Nelly.

THE GREAT SOUTH AMERICAN

Stomach PLiver Cure The Most Astonishing Medical Discovery of the Last One Hundred Years.

It is Pleasant to the Taste as the Sweetest Nectar. It is Safe and Harmless as the Purest Milk. This wonderful Nervine Tonic has only recently been introduced into this country by the proprietors and manufacturers of the Great South American Nervine Tonic, and yet its great value as a curative agent has long been known by a few of the most learned physicians, who have not brought its merits and value to the knowledge of the general public. This medicine has completely solved the problem of the cure of indigestion, dyspepsia, and diseases of the general nervous system. It is also of the greatest value in the cure of all forms of failing health from whatever cause. It performs this by the great nervine tonic qualities which it possesses, and by its great curative powers upon the digestive organs, the stomach, the liver and the bowels. No remedy compares with this wonderfully valuable Nervine Tonic as a builder and strengthener of the life forces of the human body, and as a great renewer of a broken-down constitution. It is also of more real permanent value in the treatment and cure of diseases of the lungs than any consumption remedy ever used on this continent. It is a marvelous cure for nervousness of females of all ages. Ladies who are approaching the critical period known as change in life, should not fail to use this great Nervine Tonic, almost constantly, for the space of two or three years. It will carry them safely over the danger. This great strengthener and curative is of inestimable value to the aged and infirm, because its great energizing properties will give them a new hold on life. It will add ten or fifteen years to the lives of many of those who will use a half dozen bottles of the remedy each year. IT IS A GREAT REMEDY FOR THE CURE OF NERVOUS DISEASES. As a cure for every class of Nervous Disesses, no remedy has been able to compare with the Nervine Tonic, which is very pleasant and harmless in all its effects upon the youngest child or the oldest and most delicate individual. Nine-tenths of all the ailments to which the human family is heir are dependent on nervous exhaustion and impaired digestion. When there is an insufficient supply of nerve food in the blood, a general state of debility of the brain, spinal marrow, and nerves is the result. Starved nerves, like starved muscles, become strong when the right kind of food is supplied; and a thousand weaknesses and ailments disappear as the nerves recover. As the nervous system must supply all the power by which the vital forces of the body are carried on, it is the first to suffer for want of perfect nutrition. Ordinary food does not contain a sufficient quantity of the kind of nutriment necessary to repair the wear our present mode of living and labor imposes upon the nerves. For this reason it becomes necessary that a nerve food be supplied. This South American Nervine has been found by analysis to contain the essential elements out of which nerve tissue is formed. This accounts for its universal adaptability to the cure of all forms of nervous de-CRAWFORDSVILLE, IND., Aug. 20, '86. REBECCA WILKINSON, of Brownsvalley, Ind.,

A SWORN CURE FOR ST. VITAS' DANCE OR CHOREA. Crawfordsville. Ind., June 22, 1887.

My daughter, eleven years old, was severely a ticted with St. Vitus' Dance or Chorea. We gave her three and one-half bottles of South American Nervine and she is completely restored. I believe it will cure every case of St. Vitus' Dance. I have kept it in my family for two years, and am sure it is the greatest remedy in the world for Indigestion and Dyspepsia, and for all forms of Nervous Disorders and Failing Health, from whatever cause.

CHAS. W. WRIGHT, Notary Publica INDIGESTION AND DYSPEPSIA. The Great South American Nervine Tonic Which we now offer you, is the only absolutely unfailing remedy ever discovered for the cure of Indigestion, Dyspepsia, and the vast train of symptoms and horrors which are the result of disease and debility of the human stomach. No person can afford to pass by this jewel of incalculable value who is affected by disease of the stomach, because the experience and testimony of many go to prove that this is the one and ONLY ONE great cure in the world for this universal destroyer. There is no case of unmalignant disease of the stomach which can resist the wonderful curative powers of the South American Nervine Tonic. HARRIET E. HALL, of Waynetown, Ind., says: | MRS. ELLA A. BRATTON, of New Ross, Indiana, HARRIET E. HALL, of Waynetown, Ind., says:

"I owe my life to the Great South American Nervine. I had been in bed for five months from the effects of an exhausted stomach, Indigestion, Nervous Prostration, and a general shattered condition of my whole system. Had given up all hopes of getting well. Had tried three doctors, with no relief. The first bottle of the Nervine Tonic improved me so much that I was able to walk about, and a few bottles cured me entirely.

MRS. ELLA A. BRATTON, of New Ross, Indiana, says: "I cannot express how much I owe to the Nervine Tonic. My system was completely shattered, appetite gone, was coughing and spitting up blood; am sure I was in the first stages of consumption, an inheritance handed down through several generations. I began taking the Nervine Tonic, and continued its use for about six months, and am entirely cured. It walk about, and a few bottles cured me entirely.
I believe it is the best medicine in the world. I can not recommend it too highly."
