PROROGATION.

OTTAWA, 9th June, 1894. - The welfth week of the session has been one partly of good hard work and partly of useless talk; on the whole so much material progress has been made that it is now generally admitted that prorogation will take place before the end of the month. Indeed, it is freely is 23rd inst., will probably see prorogation. There is a strong desire amongst the Ontario members on both sides of the House to get through be fore the local elections. Some of the members are away already and a great many more are anxious to go. If business could be closed up a week from next Thursday or Friday the Ontario members would then be to have three or four days in their own constituencies before polling. Even prorogation does not take place it most probable that the business will be so arranged during this week and next that when the Ontario members go home to vote it will be with the under-

BUSINESS TO BE DONE. The amount of business yet remain ing to be done is not believed to very large. The French Treaty and the Fast Line subsidy will take a day or perhaps two days each; but it is thought that these are the only questions which will involve much debate. It is now generally conceded that no attempt will be made, -at least this session-to re distribute Quebec. a very open question whether parliament has the power to re-distribute the Province until after the census of 1901 The British North America Act clearly states that a re-distribution of seats will take place after the census and it is more than probable parliament may make the re-distribution; in other words, the re-distribution of Quebec should have been made two sessions ago if to be made at all. Not having been done then it is now held that it cannot be done until 1902. There are quite a lot of government bilts that have to go through their final stage but none of them is of the nature to provoke much discussion. THE INSOLVENCY BILL has been introduced in the senate and will come up for consideration next Tuesday. There is not, however, the slightest possibility of its becoming law this year.

THE ESTIMATES

are now in a fairly advanced condition, and if the opposition continues its nonobstructive policy the whole of the main estimates could be disposed of in less than a week. The supplementaries, it is believed will be light. The revenue does not yet show any signs of recovery and Mr. Foster is quite determined that the expenditure shall be held down until the revenue increases. It is almost certain therefore that there will be very few new votes asked for this year. Taking all things into consideration it appears that if the House still wants to get away in two weeks there is no reason why it should not do

THE ELLIS CONTEMPT CASE.

Two days- Tuesday and Wednesdaywere taken up in discussing an amendment proposed by Mr. Davies to the motion to go into Committee of Ways & Means, with reference to the imprisonment of Mr. Ellis, editor of the St. John Globe, by the supreme court of New Davies' amendment is very lengthy, but ed the signature of E. The debate was participated in by a great number of members including Mr. Baird, the geutleman who benefitted most by the action of the returning officer. Mr. Baird created rather a sensation by asserting-and he was not successfully contridicted-that Mr. Ellis had never paid any costs in the suit at all. After his release from prison, a number of liberal papers passed round the hat, for the purpose of paying his costs. The response was not very liberal, only a few hundred dollars being collected. The amount was paid over to Mr. Ellis, and, according to the statement made by Mr. Baird, was quietly put by him in his pocket and the costs still remain unpaid. After two days debate the house divided on the amendment, which was lost by a vote of 66 to 110. The division was a straight party one, except that Mr. Duponte, Conservative, voted with the opposition and Messrs. McCarthy & O'Brien supported the government.

Mr. Corbould on Monday endeavoured to get a promise from the government of assistance to the sufferers by the British Columbia flood. Sir John Thompson while expressing sympathy said that he would wait until some fuller details could be obtained before pledging the government. It is now understood that advices recieved from the Lieut. Governor o British Columbia and the local govern ment state that the reports of the flood have grossly exagerated the amount of damage done, and that the local government will be quite able to give all the relief needed without asking help from outside.

The committee of privileges and elections had tried twice to take up the case of charges against Mr. Turcotte, but the witnesses have failed to appear. Or Thursday an order of the House was issued that J. B. Provest and O. E. La-Rose be summoned to appear at the bar of the House on Monday the 11th of June, and it is most probable that the committee will get to work next week. The whole of Friday was spent in concurrence on the Tariff resolutions, which were finally passed and a bill founded on them introduced and read for the first time. The second reading will take place week and it is understood that Mr. Foster will then make an mportant speech reviewing the tariff and answering the objections raised by the opposition during the time the items have been under consideration. Invitations have been issued to the formal opening of the Colonial conference which takes place in the Senate chamber on Thursday 21st inst. His Excellency the Governor-General will preside and after the formal opening, the visiting delegates will be entertained at luncheon in the Senate restaurant by the Canadian commissioners.

Mr. Charleton, M. P., who runs the tugboats on Sunday has succeeded in get ting a Sunday observance law thro' the House of Commons. The Senate will probably check it.

The Western Floods.

VANCOUVER, June 7th. - Men who retur ed last night from upper river point bring sad stories of devastation and destruction. Men may be seen at every station floating on rude rafts made out of the wrecks of farm buildings, in which they have their families and cattle. The Govern. ment steamers are rescuing these as rapidly as possible. One of the rafts was relieved of its burden by the steamer Gladys to-day. On the raft were man and wife and two children, one of them an infant, the other two and a half years old. The horses and cattle constantly threatened to overturn the raft, for they kept moving from side to side in their efforts to secure food. But there was none for the animals, and what little there was for the human beings was nearly exhausted when the rescue was made, The younger child may die of exposure.

Some idea of the horrors may be judged when it is stated that there are thousands of families similarly situated. A newspaper correspondent who returned this morning from a trip above Port Haney, on a rescue steamer, reports a terrible state of affairs in the upper river. Herds of half-starved cattle tied on rafts with no one to guide the ourney of the insecure craft were seen. Just above Haney some desperate rancher had been playing cards with fate and had bet his all to win or lose on the last card by sending his little stock adrift at the mercy of the tide. Two houses tied to swaying rafts glided by. Families were at the door with excited faces, but apparently safe, red handkerchief was furiously waved a short distance off and the steamer hands were soon lifting off the boat an exhausted starving farmer and his wife. The woman had fainted for want of food. A moment later the steamer was again hailed. A man from shore called out that he had seen a raft with two bodies on it. $25,000 which is deposited in cash with News has not reached the city yet and details of many tragedies will never reach at the Wharnock Railroad Station, which

We have nothing to say which will differ in any degree from the dismal reports we have written upon the state of our trade during the past few weeks. On every side we are met with the same statement that "there is nothing doing," and though we are by no means inclined to take every traveller's story for truth, vet we find confirmation of this in our personal observation as well as what we hear from the agents of the railways and other representatives of carrying and forwarding companies. The listless condition of our docks and wharves may be best illustrated by the fact that with the exception of one vessel landing a cargo of Nortutional rights of its members, as well as wegian flooring there is not a timber ship those of all others Presbyterians, as far as discharging in the Brocklebank or Canada
