FOR HIS DEAR SAKE.

Near the Parc Monceau is a pretty little house that seems to hide in a bush of clematis the home of a pretty widow of 22—the Countess of Viry. She had to which was given as its sole nourishment a lump of sugar in the morning and a sweet biscuit at night. His name was Nito. It was 4 o'clock. Louise was in her garden, flitting among the rose bushes like a butterfly, and stopping from time to time to breathe the perfume of a newly-blown flower. Nito playfully pursued his mistress with barks of pleasure, at times seizing with his teeth the ruffle of her blue muslin dress, and, propping himself upon his paws, pulled at it with all his strength. In the midst of their play M. Jacques de Beauchamp appeared. The little widow, perceiving him, hid herself behind a shrub. But Jacques ran to her and kissed her on the forehead. "Ah, M. de Beauchamp," she cried,

"that is not nice of you. Louise and Jacques agreed so well that they had planned to be married. Never-theless each of them had a defect. M. de Beauchamp was jealous, and the Countess of Viry was coquettish. "Louise," he said to her, "you will drive me to despair. You say that you love me, but how can I believe it when I see you smiling at every admirer! When I see you in society, so full of life and gayety, and hear your ringing laughter from the midst of a circle of ardent admirers, it is impossible for me to tell you the tortures and anguish I "What can I do, dear?" replied Louise. "I am gay, it is true, but is that a crime? And why should I be cold to those who approach me only to say pleasant things?" "You are coquette, and your laugh makes me despair, because if you laugh thus against my wish it must be only to show your teeth! You know very well how adorable you are when in laughing with a fixed purpose you throw back your head and show your pretty one tooth." "What are you demanding of me? It is barbarous! "Only a tooth; the smallest one in the front. And afterwards you may laugh as much as you please.

"But you will think I am ugly, and will not love me any more. "I swear to you there is no other way to assure my happiness, "Well-anything, Jacques, for your dear sake!"

The Countess rang the bell. John, her valet, took her orders, and came back a quarter of an hour later with a man carrying in his hand a leather case such as is used by dentists. "Who is that person?" asked M. de

The Countess answered: "It is M. James, the dentist." The little Countess entered her boudoir, followed by Nito, his tail between his legs, as if he understood that some thing serious was about to happen. Louise returned soon afterwards, ashamed and humbled, and gave to M. de Bauchamp a little tooth as white as milk, which he carried to his lips and ran away. Jacques had the tooth set in a medallion and carried it around his neck as a souvenir.

A Thrifty Frenchwoman. A lady and gentleman were dining together in a little French restaurant not long since, when the attention of the former was attracted to the figures woven in the tablecloth, which was of a fair quality of "Look at these figures," said she, calling the escort's attention to the cloth. "They seem to be a company of men dining. The pattern is repeated on your side. It seems very odd. Can you make it The gentleman pushed the plates aside and examined the pattern and was astonished, not to say a little shocked, to discover that the pattern represented the "Last Supper." Further investigation re vealed the presence at the four ends of the cloth of the monogram, "I. H. S." "Are you admiring my table linen?" asked the proprietress of the place, entering at that moment.

"Yes," remarked the gentleman, somewhat briefly. "I suppose they were made for a communion table, were they "Yes," replied the Frenchwoman, "but Properly Answered. Just as the door of the city clerk's office was due to be closed the other night two young ladies called and stated that they were looking for a marriage license. "This is not the place," explained the sober faced clerk. "The clerk of the court issues them at the court house, but you are too late to get down there before he goes home.'

"Isn't that provoking?" remarked one of the maidens, with a pout equally provoking. "They told us that this was the place to get lincenses. "It is. Dog licenses," the facetious clerk answered. SOUTH AMERICAN

Stomach PLiver Cure

It is Safe and Harmless as the Purest Milk. This wonderful Nervine Tonic has only recently been introduced into this country by the proprietors and manufacturers of the Great South American Nervine Tonic, and yet its great value as a curative agent has long been known by a few of the most learned physicians, who have not brought its merits and value to the knowledge of the general public. This medicine has completely solved the problem of the cure of indigestion, dyspepsia, and diseases of the general nervous system. It is also of the greatest value in the cure of all forms of failing health from whatever cause. It performs this by the great nervine tonic qualities which it possesses, and by its great curative powers upon the digestive organs, the stomach, the liver and the bowels. No remedy compares with this wonderfully valuable Nervine Tonic as a builder and strengthener of the life forces of the human body, and as a great renewer of a broken-down constitution. It is also of more real permanent value in the treatment and cure of diseases of the lungs than any consumption remedy ever used on this continent. It is a marvelous cure for nervousness of females of all ages. Ladies who are approaching the critical period known as change in life, should not fail to use this great Nervine Tonic, almost constantly, for the space of two or three years. It will carry them safely over the danger. This great strengthener and curative is of inestimable value to the aged and infirm, because its great energizing properties will give them a new hold on life. It will add ten or fifteen years to the lives of many of those who will use a half dozen bottles of the remedy each year.

NERVOUS DISEASES. As a cure for every class of Nervous Diseases, no remedy has been able to compare with the Nervine Tonic, which is very pleasant and harmless in all its effects upon the youngest child or the oldest and most delicate individual. Nine-tenths of all the ailments to which the human family is heir are dependent on nervous exhaustion and impaired digestion. When there is an insufficient supply of nerve food in the blood, a general state of debility of the brain, spinal marrow, and nerves is the result. Starved nerves, like starved muscles, become strong when the right kind of food is supplied; and a thousand weaknesses and ailments disappear as the nerves recover. As the nervous system must supply all the power by which the vital forces of the body are carried on, it is the first to suffer for want of perfect nutrition. Ordinary food does not contain a sufficient quantity of the kind of nutriment necessary to repair the wear our present mode of living and labor imposes upon the nerves. For this reason it becomes necessary that a nerve food be supplied. This South American Nervine has been found by analysis to contain the essential elements out of which nerve tissue is formed. This accounts for its universal adaptability to the cure of all forms of nervous de-

HARRIET E. HALL, of Waynetown, Ind., says:

"I owe my life to the Great South American Nervine. I had been in bed for five months from the effects of an exhausted stomach, Indigestion, Nervous Prostration, and a general shattered condition of my whole system. Had given up all hopes of getting well. Had tried three doctors, with no relief. The first bottle of the Nervine Tonic improved me so much that I was able to walk about, and a few bottles cured me entirely. I believe it is the best medicine in the world. I can not recommend it too highly."

MRS. ELLA A. BRATTON, of New Ross, Indiana, says: "I cannot express how much I owe to the Nervine Tonic. My system was completely shattered, appetite gone, was coughing and spitting up blood; am sure I was in the first stages of consumption, an inheritance handed down through several generations. I began taking the Nervine Tonic, and continued its use for about six months, and am entirely cured. It is the grandest remedy for nerves, stomach and lungs I have ever seen." lungs I have ever seen.' No remedy compares with South American Nervine as a cure for the Nerves. No remedy com-
