ORIGIN OF FAMILY NAMES.

Imman and Taverner formerly entertained travelers. Senner and Seymour are the descendants of tailors. Payne, Payne and the like are contractions of tailors.
Tyer, Tyerman and their kindreds were once landowners, so also were the Coffers and Coffers.
Foniler was the man who sold fowls; his name may be recognized in Powder, Pulter and Pulter.
Meyer was a general storekeeper, and his memory is embalmed in the Meyers, Marcers and Marcers.
Clark was the village penman and the father of a long line who spell their name in many ways.
Horne is an official name. Its original owner carried the king's horn when majesty was at the chase.
Starch and Stark were synonymous, which accounts for the abundance of the Starks, formerly manufacturers of or dealers in this article.
Heifer herds were year herds, hence the Yeatman, Hodges and Cowherd projects. Heifers and Cows were the men who tended the herds of cows.
Swain was formerly a man who kept logs, and his descendants are the Swaines, Swaynes, and perhaps also the Swains, Swinerts and Hogzarts.
Church, Churchman and Churcher had a father who lived by the church; Brooks, Brookler, Brookman, by the stream; Wells, Wellier, Wellman and Crossweller, by the town pump.
Tiller, Tillman, Mowyer, Dyker and Dyckerman, Hedger and Ditcher are all derived from agricultural employments; so also are Marler, Clayer, Chalkier, Akerman and many others.
Smith's former popularity is attested by Goldsmith, Arrowsmith, Hillier, Sperrin, Nesmith or Nailsmith, Bucksmith or Buckelsmith, Locksmith and many other compounds.
Clough was once a narrow valley or cleft between two hills, and to this word the Cliffs, Clives, Clieves, Cliffords, Cleavelands, Tunnycliffs, Sutcliffe, Radcliffe and Fairclough owe their names.
Hay was formerly a hedge, and the Hayes, Haghs, Haynes, Hawes, Lindsays, formerly Lindsay, Haywoods, Hayland, Hayles, Hawleys, Haworths and other families thus found a name.—St. Louis Globe-Democrat.

THE PROPER CAPER.

Mustard colored gloves, with black stitching, are fashionable in Paris and London. Riches of colored caper are used to head lace boucens on satin or watered silk dresses.
A new textile for ball toilets closely resembles rayon, except that it shines like satin and is manufactured in the most beautiful colors.
Fancy muffs made of velvet and other rich materials are elegant rivals of the plainer dress muffs of fur. A fur lining is now frequently put in.
Crepans are considerably less the rage than they were last season, French cashmere, camel's hair sacking in its varied qualities and effects, serge and vicogne being strong rivals.
Silk and wool mixtures will be largely used in the making of street and church coats for the spring. In its weaving the silk threads are thrown almost wholly on the surface of the goods, and a rich, lustrous effect produced.
Deep crepe does not much used as wings, fan bows, puffs on evening bonnets and hats and to drape entire crowns of small toques, with a spreading elevation of bow of velvet, in the case of hats, with a sparkling aigret clasp or other ornament in the center.—New York Post.

PULPIT AND PEW.

There are 1,280,728 negroes who are members of the Methodist church in this country. It is reported that a new church, called the American Methodist church, is about to be organized by some white and colored ministers in the south.
Bishop Tucker of Uganda ordained seven men to the ministry recently, two of whom are the greatest chiefs in the country and govern great provinces.
The Rev. Charles Houston opened a hall in Wolverson, Mich., recently, with a prayer in which he asked that none might be led away in their hours of amusement.
Sam Jones has been dropped as a member of the North Georgia conference. A pastor in the conference is worth only $1,000 a year. Sam is making a great deal more than that on the road.
The Rev. Mr. Wainwright, known to fame as the "merry minister," who never turned away a loving couple, is dead. In his life he made 14,000 people more or less happy, as he claimed that none of those whom he united ever returned to revile him.
PHILOSOPHICAL COGITATIONS.
Some people might as well be crazy; they have no sense.
Every one believes in friends until he has had occasion to try them.
It is said that a man either becomes a fool or a philosopher at 40.
The thoughts that disturb men most never enter a woman's head.
The trouble with bluffing is that some men are foolish enough to fight.
When a man has an ax to grind, he generally wants to use his neighbor's grindstone.
When people attempt the habits of angels, it is very easy for them to disgust ordinary mortals.
When a man realizes that he is not famous, he also reflects with a great deal of complacency that he is not dead yet.—Athenian Globe.

CROWN AND SCEPTER.

The Princess of Wales is in her fifth year. Marie Antoinette's chief delight was in weaving a small blush rosebud into the corners of her handkerchief.
Ex-King Milan of Serbia has again come to the end of his financial tether. Since his abdication he is alleged to have spent nearly $5,000,000.
The Duchess of York is still receiving her wedding presents, the latest being a gift from the ladies of Surrey, through the Countess Lovelace, of a double seated Hooper brougham.
Look Ya Ton, the king of Siam's eldest son, who has just succeeded to the throne in 1871, is about to enter as a student at the University of Oxford. He is 17 years old and a bright and intelligent lad.
Princess Marie of Roumania, wife of the crown prince, has an unusual collection of perfume bottles. In this she resembles her grandmother, the late empress of Russia, who had a collection of beautiful perfume bottles valued at $20,000.
There are three religions in the royal family of the prince Ferdinand in a Roman Catholic; his wife, the daughter of the Duke of Edinburgh, is a Protestant, and their newly born heir was baptized by the rite of the Lutheran church, which brought up in the national Roumanian church.

SNAP SHOTS.

Professor Fritch of Germany states that his apparatus for photographing objects in flight is the invention of a little Scotch boy named Vernon, 12 years old.
An Atlanta photographer has completed a series of flash-light photos of the Saltpeeter cave in Georgia. The pictures were finished in six days, whereas it required 30 days to make the same number of pictures of Mammoth cave.
If the dream of photographing in colors shall ever be realized, the application of photography to the matter of mercantile samples will be wider than ever. Fairly good work in colored photographic samples is already done.
In squeezing prints upon either ground glass or ferrotype plate there is often a tendency to stick sometimes they will not come off themselves when dry. By passing a thin blade, as of a penknife, carefully around the edges it will frequently start them and they will then easily peel off.

RAILWAY RUMBLES.

Seventy-one railroads went into receivers' hands last year.
The most improved airbrake now placed on locomotives are capable of controlling a train of 100 cars.
Oregon has the youngest railroad conductor in the world, John C. Barnum, aged 13, on the Rogue River Valley, a branch of the Southern Pacific.
The Pullman cars which were exhibited at the World's fair will be stored at Pullman, Ill., in a special building for exhibition. It is intended to put them in service only on special occasions.
The Indiana law compelling railroad companies to keep flags at all street crossings of two or more tracks has been declared unconstitutional and void by reason of a technical error in the statute that fails to require notice to be served on the railroad company.
EDUCATIONAL ECHOES.
The average salary of a Russian schoolmaster is $9 a month.
The number of university students compared with population is greatest in Spain and Belgium.
An article in the constitution of Massachusetts prohibits the appropriation of state money to sectarian schools.
Over $20,000,000 has been invested in Chicago's public schools. Their maintenance costs from $5,000,000 to $6,000,000 a year.
The Swedish Lutherans in America have over 1,100 students in their three colleges at Rock Island, Ill.; Lindsburg, Kan., and St. Peter, Minn.
The fellows of Balliol have chosen to go outside their own walls for a master and have elected Mr. Edward Caird, professor of moral philosophy in the University of Glasgow. WHIP AND SPUR.
Benton Boy, 2:30 1/4, is 17 hands high.
But few stallions will stand for over $300 next season.
Dixley, 2:08 1/4, is the fastest trotter owned in Michigan.
Gene Smith, 2:15 1/4, is used as a road horse at Newburg, N. Y.
Direct, 2:06 to the high wheel sulky, sulks pretty well yet.
In Japan and Corea horses are lashed by tying their fore feet.
C. J. Hamlin says that no man can afford to experiment at the present day.
Budd Doble says that the 1893 record will be beaten next season if only horses play.
The mare Lady T, died recently, was the dam, granddam and great-granddam of a 2:30 performer.
The old time queen of the turf, Flora Temple, 2:10, had seven foals by five different sires.
Fifty thousand rubles will be given in purses during the trotting meeting at Moscow this winter.

Dr. Sparks, 2:15 1/4, is now 6 years old. He has been campaigned every year from a yearling to his present age.
The Iowa mare Alice Ensign, 2:33, carried 20 ounces on each forward foot when she made her record.
Hedres, dam of Foxie, 2:38 1/4, and two others in the list produced three pairs of twins during a life.
The Spirit of the Hub thinks that when a class is mixed, trotters should have the benefit of five seconds over pacers.
According to the idea of one western turf journal, few meetings will be held over the mile tracks in the west next year.
The Youngstown (O.) association gave a day's racing in November and turned over the proceeds to the poor of the city. About $300 was realized.

Five Anarchists have been arrested in Rome charged with an attempt on the life of Premier Crispi.

A Wonderful Fish Producer.
This is the title given to Scott's Emulsion of Cod Liver Oil by many thousands who have taken it. Not only gives flesh and strength by virtue of its own nutritious properties, but creates an appetite for food. Use it and try your weight. Scott's Emulsion is perfectly palatable. Sold by all Druggists, at 50c. and $1.00.

A Conservative association has been formed in Vancouver, being the first on the Pacific coast.

ITCH, on human or animal, cured in 3 minutes by Woodford's Sanitary Lotion. Warranted. J. Fallon & Son.

The Knights of Pythias will erect a monument at Utica to the memory of Justice H. Rathbone, the founder of the order.

All American cattle entering Belgium are to be quarantined for 45 days by the recent order of the Government.
