FRAULEIN LACHS' concert at Masonic Hall, Chatham, on Friday evening attracted a fairly good sized audience, considering the unfavourable weather. Miss Lachs is a simger of superior culture, and the numbers in which she appeared repaid those who attended for going to the entertainment. The other parts of the concert were amateurish, the classic character of the selections, in most cases, emphasising this feature of the performance. The Cypress Club orchestra performed its part excellently and showed improvement upon even former satisfactory efforts.

A BEAR KILLS A CHILD:-At Colpoy's Bay, Ont., James Shackelton, a hotelkeeper had a tame bear, which was a specia attraction for hunters and tourists of that section. The bear was so tame -Shackelton's little 4-year-old son was in the habit of playing with it. On Friday last the animal became ferocious, and literally tore the child to pieces. The parents were almost crazed with grief. Shackelton was warned only a few days ago by a citizen that serious consequences might follow so careless a habit.

A BIG SUIT :- The case of Armstrong and others vs. the Canada Eastern Railway Co. was before Judge Archibald at Montreal on Wednesday of last week. The plaintiffs, a firm of London brokers, undertook to float the bonds of the Canada Eastern Railway Co. One hundred and ninety thousand pounds of bonds were placed on the London market, the issue price being 97, the company receiving 77. The Financial News, of London, attacked the scheme, with the result that the issue of bonds was not proceeded with. Messrs. Armstrong state that the cause of the discontinuance of the issue was the company's neglect to supply them with documents, and they now sue for $757,921.23.

A CLOSE CALL:-On Tuesday when the gale of that day was blowing its hardest, a raft which was being brought from the S. W. Boom to the Snowball mill by the steamer St. George became almost unmanageable. As it was swinging a contrary way and raft-captain Henry Clouston Was letting go a warp, another warp broke away, a heavy iron hook on the end of which. as it whizzed "home," striking Clouston on the right knee dislocating the joint. It was at first thought the leg was broken, but the injured man was taken to the Aberdeen hotel and examined by Dr. John S. Benson, who found that it was only dislocation. That was bad enough, as it | teachers, 16 visitors. will keep Mr. Clouston unfitted for work for some time, but he may congratulate himself that it was not worse, for had the hook struck a little higher or lower the leg would, probably, have been broken, while a blow from it upon the head would have, doubtless, closed the bold raft captain's vuseful career altogether

Admiral Sir Michael Culme Seymour is one of the most popular as well as most distinguished of Great Britain's naval officers. Accordingly every one was highly pleased at the Mediterranean fleet athletic sports held recently at Malta, when he won in fine style the veteran's handicap race for officers above thirty-five years of age. Commander Burney, of the 'Hawk,' ran a good second from scratch. The Admiral, who suceeded the lamented Tryon in the command of the Mediterranean squadron, joined the service as for back as 1849, and is tifty-eight years old -- quite a respectable age at which to win a foot race. He served with distinction in men at work repairing the track. The
