another column is caused by an in justice that ought to be discontinued at once. It is the outcome of what is believed to be an illegal assumption of authority by the government, which prohibits that which it has only power to regulate. In taking from freeholders their right of fishery, the Dominion government is pursuing a policy similar to that adopted in 1868, when it deprived riparian proprietors of their fishery rights, and leased them to outsiders, misusing the powers vested in overseers and wardens, and the machinery of the courts to sustain Americans. them in their usurpations. We have before stated and still believe that the absolute prohibition of salmon-tishing in the non-tidal waters of the Mira michi, in places where it has been carried on for generations, under regulations, is not justified by law, and that if the matter were carried before the higher courts, the Dominion government would be forced to recede from its position in the matter. It would be worth while for the riparian proprietors to combine and contribute a fund for the purpose of making a test case in the supreme court, especially those who hold under the old crown grants which specially conveyed fishing rights. The editor of the ADVANCE will cheerfully assist freeholders of either the Southwest or Northwest Miramichi in the matter gratis, for this encroachment by the Dominion government upon the rights of the people which have been confirmed by the usage of generations, ought not to be relinquished without a struggle.

HON. MR. FOSTER :- It was expected that the Hon. Mr. Foster would take run down to New Brunswick this week shake off the lumbago which has bothered him of late, but that pressure of public business will not allow him to take his much needed rest for a while yet.

Good Luck to Him.

Hon. Mr. Mitchell, who is making his old constituency a convalescing visit, is still with us. He does not talk so much as he did, on the occasion of his last visit, about the magical effect upon the country of the publication of his letter against the late Sir John A. Macdonald, but seems to be in fairly good health. He says he is going to consult the people of the County to find out whether they want him to again represent them at Ottawa or not, and that if he finds they do, he will be the display of partisan banners in the object to the principle but has not been "in the field" as a candidate at the next | Capitol grounds, and Coxey and Browne | able, so far, to see its way clearly to adopting | house and called to some of the nearest election. He also says that he wonders whether the people of the County think he intends-after more than forty years in politics-to die a defeated man? He seems to think that the answer of the County to this conundrum will be that it will elect him, so that he may not die with the fortunes of war against him, for the fourth or fifth time. Whether the honorable gentleman intends "to visit all parts of the County and consult his friends," or not is prolematical. He has frequently done so by spending a week or two in Newcastle and Chatham, as he seems to be doing now, and finishing up for the other eleven parishes by the usual "interview" published in the Montreal Star, or some other widelycirculated weekly. All the same, we are glad to see him, and hope-now that he seems to have really retired from active politics-that he will live long to visit us and enjoy the hospitality of the County he so well represented for the first twenty years of his political life. The Right Spirit.

Of the United States frigate, Chicago's visit to London last week, the press of that centre of the World says:-

The Right Hon. George T. Goschen, chancellor of the exchequer under Lord Salisbury's administration, and several minor Conservatives supported the motion, after which a division was taken with the result that it was rejected by a vote of 161 to 121, a majority of 40 for the government. The announcement greeted with prolonged Liberal cheers. Later, two other conservative instructions to the budget committee were ruled out of order and the house went into committee of the whole, amid renewed Liber-

Lord Rosebery said he wished from the bottom of his heart to thank the Irish party in parliament for coming forward to the assistance of the government in a critical division. The Liberals, he said, would not soon forget their action.

The Coxey Movement.

Coxey, who organized a lot of tramps and other idle people under the name of Commonwealers and marched to Washington at their head, seems to have had an experience befitting his undertaking. Washington correspondent says :-

"Coxey, Brown and Jones were sentenced, by Judge Miller, in the Washington Police Court, this afternoon, to twenty days in jail for violating the statute of the United States prohibiting were fined $50 each, additional, for trespassing on the grass, the alternative being another ten days in jail, Jones was acquitted on this last charge.

Browne and Jones, with handcuffs on their wrists, were placed in the 'Black definite reply,-and the motion was ac-Maria,' with a dozen white and negro workhouse prisoners, who were not handcuffed, as companions, and the van immediately conveyed them to jail.

Coxey did not relish free transportation on such a basis, and when he was told that he was to be taken to the district prison, he asked to be allowed to go in a carriage, but his request was not granted, and he and his companions were com elled to ride the same as other prisoners.

The Nicholson Estate Case.

The Globe of Monday last says: hearing of the Nicholson will case will commenced before Judge Tuck on Wednesday, the 20th day of June. This morning when the case was called a host of barristers were present. Mr. Hazen, for the heirs. opened the proceedings by asking that the hearing be proceeded with. Mr. McLeod. who represented Major Grant, wanted an adjournment for three weeks until Mr. Simon Jones, one of the trustees, gets back from England. Nearly an hour was spent in discussing whether or not an adjournment would be had, and one was finally arranged for. Messrs. McLeod and Palmer argued that it was unfair to go on until Mr. Jones got home. They also raised legal objections, first that there had not been sufficient notice and secondly that Mr. Henderson, solicitor for Mrs. Outram, a beneficiary under the will, had not been notified at all. Messrs. Hazen and Pugsley were ready to go on despite the first objection, but the second one was more serious though they finally agreed to take the risk of it. Then Mr. McLeod met their demand to go on, with a personal pledge that if the case was adjourned until the return of Mr. Jones, who is to sail from England on Thursday, he would promise there would be no further delays or objections of any kind or sort. Delays have been so numerous that both Mr. Hazen and Mr. Pugsley were loth to give way and they made Mr. McLeod state his offer very explicitly and then got permission to consult with their clients who were present. As a result of their consultation the adjournment was arranged until June 20, Mr. Henderson agreeing to stand by Messrs. McLeod and Palmer in their promise not to raise any objections. The assuarance was also given that all matters to have been considered to-day in connection with the estate could then come up without further notice. Judge Tuck on his part promised, if necessary, to come down from Fredericton to hear the case. While the matter was under discussion, the position of Mr. Jones was incidentally talked over. It was stated he had resigned and then withdrawn his resignation. Mr. Skinner argued that he had a perfect right to withdraw the resignation at any time before action was taken on it. There is some doubt about this in the minds of the other lawyers. During the discussion it came out that if one or more of the trustees were removed the surviving trustee trustees would have the right to appoint the new ones, subject to the approval of two of the heirs. It was also stated that Mr. Jones had forbidden the bank to pay any checks of the estate unless they bore his signature, and that during his absence Mr.

Behind him came Fritz Mass. another of the keepers. They were armed with double-pronged forks. them coming. He pulled his claws with a body and turned on his assailants.

But there is no fear in Willie Judge. His rosy cheeks had only a little more color as he darted upon the beast and jabbed the steel in its hide. Mass was opposite him doing valiant duty, while Mehrmann, despite the loss of blood, came to his feet in an instant and fiercely assaulted. the lion. Thrice around the ring, growling and baring his teeth, rushed Nero before the angry keeper, and at last he fled into the farthest corner of his cage. Willie Judge deliberately, followed him and removed his collar. Then every man on the stage entered the cage and with the utmost delight administered to Nero a united thrashing which he will ever remember. Meanwhile Mehrmann's coat and shirts, drenched with blood and full of long rents, were removed. Dr. Lewis and Dr. Thornton, hastily summoned, were at his side, and after his wounds had been bound up he went home. The lion's claws had been plunged into his left arm, the breast over his heart, hi abdomen and also in his hip. The flesh has been ripped up, making cuts far more ugly than if made by the teeth, and giving violent

Mehrmann is well cut up, but will be all right unless blood poisoning results, as it is very apt to do. He will appear as usual nowever, in order to maintain his control over the animals, but the heavy work will be done by his assistants. Notwithstanding the fact that the audience were perfectly protected, many of them left the theatre. After the lion had been vanquished, those who did not go remained cheering and excepting to see further trouble. They did
