He also pleasantly referred to the fact that the reader of the address was a namesake of his, and concluded by thanking the pupils and teachers in behalf of himself and Mrs. Fraser.

Sutherland, also Miss Marion Fraser who read the address, and Miss Alberta E. Smythe who drew the motto and thistle. A most interesting recitation "Boys" Rights," was bravely given by Gordon Loggie, followed by the singing of "My own Canadian Home" by the whole school. Other recitations were "That brother of mine" by Jessie Stothart, which seemed a response to "Boys Rights," and was admirably rendered. "He swallowed the mustard" by Burton Loggie, was very amusing. The programme also embraced "The Butterfly Dude" by Jas. Dawson and "He and I," by Ethel Ullock. Recitations were also assigned to other pupils, but there was not time to hear them.

The scene in both of the rooms visited was a very interesting one and His Honor and Mrs. Fraser, as well as others of the party were much pleased with the reception. His Honor, with the permission of the trustees, announced a half holiday in honor of the occasion, while one of the gentlemen of the party, who is noted for his generosity

At No. 8 school, flags were flying outside and as the visiting party entered the building they were most agreeably surprised in witnessing a profuse display of flowers shrubs and plants which made the atmosphere redolent with their agreeable odors. Potted plants graced the windows and desks and stood on tables, and a large wire stand which occupied the North end of the 100m of the principal. Miss Mowatt, was so full of flowers and plants that it formed a pyramid higher than the visitors' heads. Behind this, on either side against the wall. was the word "Welcome" executed very tastefully in large letters on the blackboard -the work, no doubt of Miss Mowatt herself. As the party entered, the children sang "My Own Canadian Home" and as soon as His Honor and Mrs. Fraser had taken seats near the dais Miss Carrie Salter, daughter of W. Millet Salter, Esq.,-who himself was an old schoolmate of Lieutenant-Governor - came forward holding a large boquet of choice flowers, and said :-"May it please you Honor and Mrs. Fraser-These flowers, which I present in the name of the pupils, must soon fade, but the rememberance of the pleasure you give us to-day will remain fragrant in our hearts long after the relationship which now exists between us and our beloved teachers has been dissolved."

The little speaker then gracefully pre sented the boquet to Mrs. Fraser who suitably acknowledged it.

Addressing Miss Salter, the other pupils and the teachers the Lieut.-Governor said that both Mrs. Fraser and himself were highly pleased with their visit to the other schools, but this added very much to that pleasure: The song they had sung could

> Fraser, Lieutenant-Governor of New Brunswick :-

May it please Your Honor :--

On this, the occasion of your first visit to Chatham in the capacity of her Majesty's representative, we, the teachers and scholars of the Grammar school extend to you a most cordial welcome. We welcome you as the Lieutenant-Governor of our Province and our welcome is the warmer when we remember that the Lieutenant-Governor is a native of our own County.

Of all the distinguished men who have visited our County there are none for whom none to whom we could extend so hearty a welcome, for in welcoming and honoring you we feel that we are welcoming and honoring one of our own citizens, one, who, educated in our own schools, has by his ability and integrity raised himself to the highest posiion of honor in the Province.

Many are the addresses of welcome, and many are the evidences of regard and esteem which you have received since you have come among us and we now assure you that our welcome is also most sincere and that we appreciate highly the honor presence confers upon us.

We need not mention your long and spotless political career, your promotion to the Supreme Court bench, your appointment as Lieutenant-Governor; these things have become a part of Provincial history, and are a source of pride and inspiration to every boy and girl in your native County. As in the days of chivalry the page, at the beginning of his course, was inspired by the noble deeds of the valiant knight, so may the boys and girls of Northumberland County ever find inspiration in your career and strive to write their names also on the page of our country's history. And, now, we hope that your visit to our only one of many occasions on which the
