"I will return this louis before dinner, but as the sum may appear large to you I will facilitate your parting with it by saying that if I do not hand you back this money by 7 o'clock this evening you may consider yourself forever quit of me, and I authorize you to have me thrown out of the door by your employes if I should dare to show myself here again. I regret that I cannot reveal to you what I intended doing with your louis. I can only say that a tremendous stroke of business is involved:

my 'employees,' having learned by the marks on the buttons whence came the merchandise in which I dealt, bought a lot of ten. It was the beginning of unwelcome competition. I did not hesitate an instant, but went to the assignee of the bankrupt firm, stated to him that there remained unsold 3,000 pairs of trousers, that the 7,000 already sold (I had bought 5,000 in all) had overloaded the market, and that the price of 40 sous should break. I offered him, to terminate the sale at a single stroke, 5,000 "I will return this louis before dinner your louis. I can only say that a tre-mendous stroke of business is involved: you understand? tre-men-dous!"

The rascal made me laugh; I was disarmed. I lent him the twenty francs, and, upon my word, believe I would have invited him to dinner if he had not been so badly dressed. But, really, with such pantaloons! At 7 o'clock the usher announced, with a shade of respect:

"Monsieur Demare. "Faithful to my word," cried the borrower, "I bring you back the 'yellow boy,' and as I know you have work to do, I will withdraw, but not without having said, with all my heart: Thank you." "And your stroke of business, has it succeeded?" I demanded.
"Perfectly?"

And he showed me about fifty francs that remained to him after having re-"My compliments. You have been to

Two days afterwards, when he came to receive the pay for his article, he climbed the stairs to see me, and, as I shook his hand, I glanced mechanically at his pantaloons. He wore yet another pair, a third, equally new.

I would have liked to have demanded of him an explanation of this debauch of inexpressibles, but fearing that he would tell me some improbable tale, and mock at my surprise, I thought I would not give him that satisfaction, and kept

During the following days, each time when I happened to see Demare at the office or elsewhere, he sported a new pair of trousers. But it struck me as singular that he always wore the same jacket, which grew shabbier each day. Little by little the fellow made me contract the habit of noticing each man's pantaloons. During the next few days I vaguely regarded the trousers of my subordinates, and of the numerous humble employees to whom was furnished only the uniform coat. To my immense stupefaction I remarked that these men in moderate circumstances never wore the same pair of pantaloons twice; some of them even wore two new pairs a day. I was convinced that I was the prey to a special hallucination, and fearing that it would bring me into ridicule, I resolved to hide my malady with care. But I felt very certain that I was affected deeply. As the defile of trousers continued, I became melancholy, which I attributed to the progress of the mania which persecuted me They were of all colors and shapes. Some fitted well, others were a little too small or a trifle too large. I wondered at the enormous remarked the alteration in my health. One of the reporters brought me one day a very amusing item; a story of a pair of most people. Theoretically romantic, stolen trousers which had been recovered, and I threw the article in the wastebasket and discharged him. At last, at the moment when I was preparing for a long absence, having decided to make an extended tour and visit some country where my nightmare would not be able to pursue me—Scotland, for example, or Central Africa— the doorkeeper—he wore yet another new pair of trousers that day—ushered Demare into my office without even an-nouncing him, and with the most pronouncing him, and with the most profound deference. I assured myself with my first glance that my compatriot's pantaloons were of a new pattern—that was to be expected—but I perceived a sudden aggravation in my disease. Demare appeared to have a new coat. If coats were beginning to get mixed up in it now it was time for me to pick out a comfortable spot for burial a comfortable spot for burial.

THE GREAT SOUTH AMERICAN

AND

Stomach Liver Cure

The Most Astonishing Medical Discovery of the Last One Hundred Years. It is Pleasant to the Taste as the Sweetest Nectar. It is Safe and Harmless as the Purest Milk.

This wonderful Nervine Tonic has only recently been introduced into this country by the proprietors and manufacturers of the Great South American Nervine Tonic, and yet its great value as a curative agent has long been known by a few of the most learned physicians. who have not brought its merits and value to the knowledge of the general public. This medicine has completely solved the problem of the cure of indigestion, dyspepsia, and diseases of the general nervous system. It is also of the greatest value in the cure of all forms of failing health from whatever cause. It performs this by the great nervine tonic qualities which it possesses, and by its great curative powers upon the digestive organs, the stomach, the liver and the bowels. No remedy compares with this wonderfully valuable Nervine Tonic as a builder and strengthener of the life forces of the human body, and as a great renewer of a broken-down constitution. It is also of more real permanent value in the treatment and cure of diseases of the lungs than any consumption remedy ever used on this continent. It is a marvelous cure for nervousness of females of all ages. Ladies who are approaching the critical period known as change in life, should not fail to use this great Nervine Tonic, almost constantly, for the space of two or three years. It will carry them safely over the danger. This great strengthener and curative is of inestimable value to the aged and infirm, because its great energizing properties will give them a new hold on life. It will add ten or fifteen years to the lives of many of those who will use a half dozen bottles of the remedy each year. IT IS A GREAT REMEDY FOR THE CURE OF

NERVOUS DISEASES. As a cure for every class of Nervous Diseases, no remedy has been able to compare with the Nervine Tonic, which is very pleasant and harmless in all its effects upon the youngest child or the oldest and most delicate individual. Nine-tenths of all the ailments to which the human family is heir are dependent on nervous exhaustion and impaired digestion. When there is an insufficient supply of nerve food in the blood, a general state of debility of the brain, spinal marrow, and nerves is the result. Starved nerves, like starved muscles, become strong when the right kind of food is supplied; and a thousand weaknesses and ailments disappear as the nerves recover. As the nervous system must supply all the power by which the vital forces of the body are carried on, it is the first to suffer for want of perfect nutrition. Ordinary food does not contain a sufficient quantity of the kind of nutriment necessary to repair the wear our present mode of living and labor imposes upon the nerves. For this reason it becomes necessary that a nerve food be supplied. This South American Nervine has been found by analysis to contain the essential elements out of which nerve tissue is formed. This accounts for its universal adaptability to the cure of all forms of nervous de-CRAWFORDSTILLE. IND., Aug. 20, '86. REBECCA WILKINSON, C! Brownsvalley, Ind., To the Great South American Medicine Co.:

INDIGESTION AND DYSPEPSIA. The Great South American Nervine Tonic Which we now offer you, is the only absolutely unfailing remedy ever discovered for the cure of Indigestion, Dyspepsia, and the vast train of symptoms and horrors which are the result of disease and debility of culable value who is affected by disease of the stomach, because the experience and testimony of many go to prove that this is the one and ONLY ONE great cure in the world for this universal destroyer. There is no case of unmalignant disease of the stomach which can resist the wonderful curative powers of the South American Nervine Tonic. HARRIET E. HALL, of Waynetown, Ind., says: | Mrs. Ella A. Bratton, of New Ross, Indiana, "I owe my life to the Great South American Nervine. I had been in bed for five months from the effects of an exhausted stomach, Indigestion, Nervous Prostration, and a general shattered condition of my whole system. Had given up all hopes of getting well. Had tried three doctors, with no relief. The first bottle of the Nervine Tonic, and continued its use for the Nervine Tonic, and continued its use for the Nervine Tonic, and continued its use for ine Tonic improved me so much that I was able to walk about, and a few bottles cured me entirely. I believe it is the best medicine in the world. I can not recommend it too highly."

the Nervine Tonic, and continued its use for about six months, and am entirely cured. It is the grandest remedy for nerves, stomach and lungs I have ever seen." No remedy compares with South American Nervine as a cure for the Nerves. No remedy compares with South American Nervine as a wondrous cure for the Stomach. No remedy will at all compare with South American Nervine as a cure for all forms of failing health. It never fails to cure Indigestion and Dyspepsia. It never fails to cure Chorea or St. Vitus' Dance. Its powers to build up the whole system are wonderful in the extreme. It cures the old, the young, and the middle aged. It is a great friend to the aged and infirm. Do not neglect to use this precious boon; if you do, you may neglect the only remedy which will restore you to health. South American Nervine is perfectly safe, and very pleasant to the taste. Delicate ladies, do not fail to use this great cure, because it will put the bloom of freshness and beauty upon your lips and in your cheeks, and quickly drive away your disabilities and weaknesses.
