The Vigilant was closely pressing her, but was unable to get near enough to the to blanket her. The Britannia passed Kilereggan as 1.16.10; Vigilant at 1.16.45, and started for home at a tremendous rate of speed to complete the first round. The Britannia finished the first round at 1.35.38; Vigilant at 1.36.46.

Capt. Carter, being determined not to allow the Vigilant to get the weather berth. kept the American to leeward of him during the whole round, The Vigilant in the course of the first round put the Britannia about five times, but the latter never yielded

At the Ascog turn both boats fetched at a wonderful rate of speed, their starboard rails being wholly submerged. The shores were lined with people, whose numbers were greatly increased by the fact that to-day was the annual holiday at Greenock, and as the boats bowled along the crowds sent up cheer after cheer. The utmost was done on the Vigilant to reduce the Britannia's lead, but the latter pointed much better on the wind, which was stiffening from the

A couple of long boards took the boats to the Skelmorlie mark, which they rounded, the Britannia at 1.41.07 and the Vigilant at 2.42.27. A second from the last mark the Vigilant cut the Britannia out, took the lead and crossed the finish line over one minute two ninutes.

The Vigilant finished at 4,17.55; the Britannia at 4.18.55.

The enthusiasm over the victory of the Britannia was manifested by vociferous cheering, hat throwing, handerchief waving. whistle blowing and bands at the club house playing "God save the Prince of Wales."

the manner in which she was sailed Saturday showed that she is a faster boat than the Britannia. The Vigilant and Britannia started in the principal race of the regatta of the Royal morning. The Vigilant crossed the line at 10.30.10, the Britannia at 10.30.25. The course was the same as that sailed on Saturday, the distance fifty miles, and the prize contested for $375. The starting gun was fired at 10.30. The Vigilant got the better of the manœuvring and was the weather boat in crossing the line. The weather was gloomy and the wind moderate from the south. Immediately upon crossing the line the Vigilant housted her jib header. Reaching Dunoon a half-hour later the Vigilant had a good lead. The wind decreased as the boats rounded Skelmorlie mark, the Vigilant turning at 12.14.18, the Britannia at 12.16.24. Off Ascog at 1.50 the Vigilant lost the wind completely and the Britannia, catching a puff, passed her. The Britannia, rounded Ascog mark at | steam-power,

1.13:31, the Vigilant at 1.17,11. After rounding the mark the Vigilant got a fresh current of wind and overhauled the Britannia off toward the light. Inwellan was reached at two o'clock, the Britannia leading by three lengths.

The Vigilant passed the Britannia at 3.10 Both boats are now hung up on the wind. The yachts reached Kilereggan at 3.30. The Britannia finished at 5.34.05, Vigilant

The race ended with the first round The Britannia rounded Kilereggan mark at 4.29.15, the Vigilant at 4,45.10. The boats were scarcely moving,

The Britannia has been entered in the Royal Munster regatta July 22. The Vigilant has also entered this regatta and both boats are entered in the regatta of the Royal Cork yacht club, July 24 and 25.

Lord Dunraven has ordered through De signer Watson the construction of another yacht. It is understood she will be built upon lines almost identical with those of the Valkyrie.

Seaman Brown, of the crew of the Val kyrie, injured in the collison which sunk that boat on Thursday, died at seven o'clock this morning, The Satanita is still in the hands of her builders undergoing repairs.

Wallace Hopper Coming.

Mr. Wallace Hopper and his excellent ompany open an engagement in the Masonic Hall, one week, commencing Monday July 23. His opening play will be the laughable comedy "The Lightning Rod Agent," a play abounding in humorous situations from beginning to end.

Mr. Hopper is no stranger to Chatham theatre-goers, and he should be greeted with large houses during his stay, as he has always favored us with a first class

He has also added a special feature to his entertainments this season, viz: each night in addition to the regular performance he will give away, free of any additional charge, one hundred presents, consisting of gold watches, tea sets etc. This company should not be confounded with the ordinary gift show which depends wholly upon the gifts to draw patronage. The entertainment never amounts to anything in a show of this class. Mr. Hopper, on the contrary, gives his regular performance, and gives away the presents as an extra drawing attraction.
