SOME DAY.

"Some day, somehow!" The hour is dead
When I looked into loving eyes;
And kissed the whispering lips that said
These words to me. And if the ties
Then made are broken; if the breast
Then warm with life, is pulseless now,
I still will think that God knows best,
And that we will meet some day, somehow!
Until that time I still will know
That whereso'er in Heavenly care
That pure and radiant soul may go,
My thoughts may follow. Everywhere
I'll hear that voice so low and sweet,
Just as I seem to hear it now;
I'll hear the fall of fairy feet,
I'll hear the words: "Some day, somehow!"
Upon the mantlepiece I see
The picture of a fair, sweet face,
And though the lips are sealed, to me
They speak with more than tender grace.
I question not the mystic spell;
But hark! how clear the accents now!
Tis not the language of farewell,
"Tis trusting love's "some day, somehow!"
And so I fondly hope 'twill be,
Not now, but some time; after life
Is finished and eternity
Dawns on the soul. The toil and strife of time once ended, then comes rest
Such as we do not dream of now;
And then will come to me the best
Of all, my love, some day, somehow!

'MANDY JANE PENSTOCK

One time when I was up in Pennsylvania Hemlock belt I was going from Overman's Hook to the Barley Run Cross Forks when I heard some one whistle off to one side of the road.

Looking in that direction I saw a man peering cautiously from behind a big hemlock tree. He motioned for me to stop, and I did.

"Say," said the man in a suppressed
voice, "kin ye see fur behind ye, down

The road was straight behind me for a mile, and I could see that far, I told "As nigh as ye kin make out, tha' hain't nothin' that looks like a tall woman in red calliker dress an' a green sunhonnet nowheres betwixt you an' as fur as ye kin see, is tha?" asked the man.
"No." said I, there isn't."
"Ye hain't color blind, be ye?"

"Then a woman in a red calliker dress an' a green sun bonnet wouldn't be li-able to look to you like one in a yaller dress and a blue sun bonnet, would

"Tha hain't no raisin' o' dust nowheres that looks as if it mowt be riz by a woman in a red calliker dress an' a green sun bonnet comin' this way pooty fast, is tha?" The road was entirely free from anything of that sort.

"Ye hain't noways nigh-sighted, be Quite the contrary. Then if tha was a raisin' o' dust setch as that, not more'n a hundred yards down the road, ye wouldn't be liable to take it fer a haystack a mile Entirely out of the question.

The man came out from behind the tree, and with a big sign of relief sat

"'Cause, ye see I'm a leetle anxious," he said, "fer, if ye'd seen a woman with a red calliker dress and a green sunbon-net comin, or a-raisin o' dust that looked as if it mowt be riz by a woman with a red calliker dress and a green sunbon-net. that'd a ben 'Mandy Jane Penstock, an I'd a had to take to the woods." "What's the matter with 'Mandy Jane?" I asked.

The man mopped his face with his sleeve and fanned himself with his hat and said: "Did ye ever have a heakerin' fer a girl that didn't seem to keer to hanker fer ye?"

Ididn't know that I ever had. "Jis' keep yer eye on the road, Cap," said the man, "an' if ye see any of them signs o' 'Mandy Jane jis whistle, will

I said I would. "Then I'll tell ye sumpin'. If ever ye take a shine to a gal an' she won't hanker, take a hoot owl's gizzard, dry it, an' grind it inter a powder. Then, unbeknownst to the gal, git some of it in her lemonade or sumpin' 'fore she drinks it, an' ye've jist as good as made four shillin' for the squire, for she can't never say 'No' agin when ye ast her if she'll be yourn. Tha' hain't no red an' green loomin' up yit twixt you an' the horizon, nor no shakin' o' dust that mowt have "Not yet."

"If ye'd ever know'd Sallie Magompers, over to the Hook, ye'd a hankered, I'll bet ye; I took to hankerin' fer Sallie more'n a year ago, but the didn't seem to be no use. Sallie's jest turning twenty, now, and mebbe she hain't a caution fer pootiness! Pictur's hain't nowheres 'longside o' her. But somehow she fit shy o' me. So one day I says to myself: 'All right, my lady! If it's got to be left to the hoot-owls,' I says, 'hoot owls it'll be 'an' I went a granin' 'hoot owls it'll be,' an' I went a gunnin' fer hoot owls. But hoot-owls hain't so durn thick in these here woods, an' I gunned, an' I gunned fer pooty nigh a year 'fore I draw'd bead on one, an' you bet I was more'n tickled when I tumbled

"One o' these days, when I hear that 'Mandy Jane Penstock has passed over Jurdan, I'm goin' back to the Hook an' jest as like as not thump the life outen Sam Brazee. Sam an' me worked on the same loggin' job. an' after I bagged the owl I says to him one day:

"'Sam,' I says, 'me an' you won't bunk in together much longer,' I says. " 'How's that?' says Sam. " 'I'm goin'ter marry Sallie Magom. pers next week,' I says.
"'No!' says Sam, 'Sallie's give in, has "'Not yit,' I says, 'but she's goin' ter.

I've powdered a hoot owl's gizzard,' I says. 'Jis shoot yer eye down the road agin, Cap. If tha's anything mussin' of it up that mowt put ye in mind o' the inklin' I've giv ye o' 'Mandy Jane, gimme the wink an' I'll scoot."

The road was still clear.
"Sam looked s'prised a little when I told him 'bout havin' the owl's gizzard love powder, an' pooty soon he says:
"'Well,' he says, 'I'm goin' ter take Sallie to the picnic to morrow, an' I soliloquized, "I reckon we'll have to s'pose that'll be the last time I kin gal- stand the racket somehow. But, by lavant her anywheres, 'cordin' to that,'

the lemonade, an' when Sallie was't lookin' I tumbled the owl's gizzard love powder inter her glass. Jane Penstock!' she says. 'Yonder's 'Mandy must have a treat, too! she says.

"So she calls 'Mandy Jane over, an' I orders a glass fer her. Now see what Sallie done. She hands the glass that had the owl's gizzard in it over to 'Mandy Jane herself, an' 'fore I could stop her, 'Mandy Jane had gulped it down, love powder an' all! You're sure ye hain,t color blind, Cap?" "Nor nigh-sighted?" "Not a bit."

"Ye don't see no more colors on the lan'scape, yet, than ye'd natur'ly 'spect orto be there, do ye?"

"An' the dust hain't actin' in a way that mowt fool ye into thinkin' it was only a hurricane a comin'? "It'll go hard with Sam Brazee if it

Hook ag'in! Soon as I see 'Mandy Jane gulp that lemonade an' owl's gizzard I give one cold shake an' started fer home to pack my trunk. This was only yisterday. When I came out ag'in there was 'Mandy Jane. "Asa,' says she 'arter all these years,' says she, 'an' to think that you'm to be the one,' says she. 'I'll be ready tomorrow,' says she, 'an' me an' you'll go to the squire's. To-morrow at half past nine!' says she. "Say, Cap! I tumbled back in the house an' slammed the door an' went nouse an slammed the door an' went upstairs an' hid under the bed. Early this mornin' I crawled out an' snuck outen the house an' jist laid myself out an' dug fer liberty. As I raised the hill I turned an' looked back. There was 'Mandy Jane comin' on my trail like the woods afire! She's comin' yit! She's only stopped fer wind. Has she hove in sight vit?" "Not yet."

"Then I'll take to the woods an' mebbe won't see no t'backer for a month, Cap, unless you gimme that plug o' your'n; and when 'Mandy Jane ketches up with ye if ye'll only jist tell But I hadn't time to wait to hear what I was to tell 'Mandy Jane and drove on toward Barley Run Cross Forks.—N. "Your bond," repeated the questioner.
"You know every man who is married in this state has to file a bond for the protection of the state." The bridegroom was rather dubious, but was finally persuaded that this was

About that time Nisby received a letter by special messenger and furitively conveyed, that seemed to put her in high good humor. She would explain nothing to anybody, but went about the house as chirripy and frisky as a squirrel in nutting time. Previously she had been rather moody and preoccupied.

"Can't see what's come over the girl," said her father. "If that John Henry said her father. "If that John Henry was about, I should say he was respons-

But, though Mr. Pudget had not been seen on Dancing Branch for, as some seen on Dancing Branch for, as some expressed it, "a month of Sundays," his absence was more than replaced to the captain's mind by an agent of the great Drydapper. By the time the latter had finished explaining and persuading, Capt. Twitchell had agreed to give up his big barn down in the Branch bottom for the purpose of furthering the professor's cloud-compelling operations.

"Mind you, though," stipulated the prudent captain, "if the rain don't come, that feller has got to pay me for the use of my barn."

the young man whose fancy lightly turns to thoughts of love. But when it comes to the actual ceremony there are a thousand and one terrors which surround and threaten to overcome him, Marriage in some states is easy; in others it is as difficult as obtaining a divorce.

A wellknown Philadelphian was about to be married to a beautiful young woman who lived in the state of Delaware. He had no idea that the marriage laws of that state were of an appalling nature. He had secured his license and thought that was all that was necessary.

"Have you filed your bond yet?" said someone to him the day before the wed-

"By morning look out for signs of rain. You had all better go to bed; but if you will hang around that barn it might be safer to bring your umbrellas. There is no knowing what may happen

And he withdrew, magnificent in his impenetrability. But, when relieved of the oppressiveness of the professor's presence, the captain's natural skepticism asserted itself for a moment.

bug," said he.
But later on, when they told him that half the population of Dancing Branch was squatting, sitting and standing around his barn, curiosity got the better

"Old woman," he said, "you keep an eye on Nisby here, and I'll just run down there and see what that fool is up So the captain disappeared, but did not return. Mrs. Twitchell, feeling likewise the itch of an unsatisfied desire, finally grew ungovernably restless. 'Dear suzz!" she complained. "What can be a-keepin' the captain so? In generally, he never stays out later than eight o'clock. Put on your bonnet and shawl, Nisby, and we'll jest step down there and fetch your paw back." The girl obeyed and the two hurried toward the bottom. On the way Nisby complained that her head was hurting her worse. She had invented a prudent headache previously. She was allowed to return on condition of her going immediately to bed. Sundry blue and red flashes through the cracks in the barn completely conquered the old lady. She determined to witness Drydapper's combat with nature if she sat up all

This medicine has completely solved the problem of the cure of indigestie 2 dyspepsia, and diseases of the general nervous system. It is also of the greatest value in the cure of all forms of failing health from whatever cause. It performs this by the great nervine tonic qualities which it possesses, and by its great curative powers upon the digestive organs, the stomach, the liver and the bowels. No remedy compares with this wonderfully valuable Nervine Tonic as a builder and strengthener of the life forces of the human body, and as a great renewer of a broken-down constitution. It is also of more real permanent value in the treatment and cure of diseases of the lungs than any consumption remedy ever used on this continent. It is a marvelous cure for nervousness of females of all ages. Ladies who are approaching the critical period known as change in life, should not fail to use this great Nervine Tonic, almost constantly, for the space of two or three years. It will carry them safely over the danger. This great strengthener and curetive is of inestimable value to the aged and infirm, because its great energizing properties will give them a new hold on life. It will add ten or fifteen years to the lives of many of those who will use a half dozen bottles of the remedy each year. IT IS A GREAT REMEDY FOR THE CURE OF

NERVOUS DISEASES. As a cure for every class of Nervous Diseases, no remedy has been able to compare with the Nervine Tonic, which is very pleasant and harmless in all its effects upon the youngest child or the oldest and mostdelicate individual. Nine-tenths of all the ailments to which the human family is heir are dependent on nervous exhaustion and impaired digestion. When there is an insufficient supply of nerve food in the blood, a: general state of debility of the brain, spinal marrow, and nerves is the result. Starved nerves, like starved muscles, become strong when the: right kind of food is supplied; and a thousand weaknesses and ailments disappear as the nerves recover. As the nervous system must supply alli the power by which the vital forces of the body are carried on, it is the first to suffer for want of perfect nutrition. Ordinary food does not contain a sufficient quantity of the kind of nutriment necessary to repair the wear our present mode of living and labor imposes upon the nerves. For this reason it becomes necessary that a nerve food be supplied. This South American Nervine has been found by analysis to contain the essential elements out of which nerve tissue is formed. This accounts for its universal adaptability to the cure of all forms of nervous de-CRAWFORDSVILLE. IND., Aug. 20, '86. | REDUCCA WILKINSON, C! J. A. Hardes, Ex-Treas. Montgomery Co. A SWORM CURE FOR ST. VITAS' DANCE OR CHOREA. CRAWFORDSVILLE, IND., June 22, 1887. My daughter, eleven years old, was severely a dicted with St. Vitus' Dance or Chorea. We gave her three and one-half bottles of South American Nervine and she is completely restored. I believe it will cure every case of St. Vitus' Dance. I have kept it in my family for two years, and am sure it is the greatest remedy in the world for Indigestion and Dyspepsia, and for all forms of Nervous Disorders and Failing Health, from whatever cause.
