one in the Legislature, the Address in Reply to the Speech having passed both Houses without division, but not without criticism. Dr. Dow, as Chairman of Supply being in the chair in the Speaker's absence, could not move the address, and there was some speculation as to who would take his place. Meantime the business of the morning went SHAPING FOR THE SESSION. Mr. Willis gave notice of Resolution for an address praying that in addition to the "detailed statements of receipts and payments of the current year up the opening of the present session" full and particular statement of various works in progress or partially completed, on which payments have been made, and of all allowances for extras in or on account of the departments on any public works or services and a detailed account of the fundal and floating debts

The Debate on the Address. At twelve o'clock Mr. Swim rose in his place and said that at the request of the mover of the address he moved the der of the day. It is quite probable that Dr. Dow would have made a speech had he been in his place to move the address, but one was not expected from Mr. Swim, it being customary on such occasions for the mover of the Order of the Day to follow the course taken on MR. MARSHALL'S SPEECH. Robt. Marshall, Esq., the new member for St. John, being the seconder of the Address, had an opportunity to make a speech, and he availed himself of it. acquitting himself very well indeed. Of course there is little to be said on such occasions, unless some great measures are foreshadowed. The Speech this year being innocent of any such characteristic Mr. Marshall's remarks were with the proposed exhibition, for those an indication that the Government was brief and well chosen. The official Re port gives them correctly as follows:

said that he considered himself fortunate in ing that it met with the endorsement of a arge majority of the members of the House. He was sure it would be a matter of gratification to the House as well as a matter of equity to the people of the Province should he central Government meet the reasonable demands of this Government in r gard ference to any existing dispute to any to the special annuity of sixty three thousand ters yet unadjusted between the respective Governments, in such a liberal and generous spirit as might be calculated to promote the best interests of this Province and yet not militate against the interests of the untry at large. It was gratifying to him to know that the extended tour of His Honor through this his native Province had proved so agreeable to himself, and it was | The Government having been charged last still more gratifying to know that the warm | session by the hon. gentleman with legisfeeling of respect and regard felt for him lating too much-was now accused by him personally by the people is only exceeded | with being barren in measures, so he was try, her laws and institutions. Opposition in the House should exercise a stern criticism in all that relates to the financial aspect of the Province. It must, therefore, have been a pleasant surprise to them to learn that not alone the accounts for the financial year ending with October but statements of receipts and expenditures up to date are to be submitted forthwith general information. This new departure would tend to facilitate the business of the House and must of necessity lessen sessional expenses. The inauguration of a uniform system of local government for the Counties of the Province was a measure which all must admit to be surrounded by grave difficulties, yet in view of the progress in Ontario under municipal rule, it would seem the time had come when this Province might successfully grapple with this somewhat complicated subject. Several Counties having successfully adopted this system it gave promise of advantage under more general and extended working. Our General Sessions had in time past done good work, and the gentlemen composing them should have nothing but good words spoken in reference to them in view of the valuable time they have devoted to the public interests. Nevertheless it must be expected that a system more suitable to the requirements of the day should be established by law, and such a system, he felt assured, would be found in a well con-

money by way of loan to pay off its | ceived and comprehensive municipality act. I do not propose to give a report of the whole debate which followed and occupied most of the remainder of the stone, who is always endeavoring to day but as the remarks of the Provincia Secretary and Mr. Burns embraced the gist of the discussion, I shall give them solution at last session affirming the idea | quite fully and condense the others.

THE PROVINCIAL SECRETARY.

Hon. Mr. Fraser replied to Mr. Covert, his remarks being as follows :-The Provincial Secretary said it seemed lifficult to satisfy some hon. members. -Last year the leader of the Opposition found fault with the speech on the ground on slowly, as is usual in the earlier days | that it contained too much. Now it contained too little. Mr. Butler followed the Provincial Secretary, claiming that he could no longer support the Government in view of its slighting his County (Queens) in the matter of the Central Railway and neglecting to give a Queens representative a seat in the Executive. It was an insult, he said, to Queens County that a seat in the Government had not been offered to one of her members when vacancy occured at last election. He showed that while all the other counties in the province had been represented in the Executive from time to time, Queens had been slighted in that respect for nearly forty years, and while he had personally received every courtesy and consideration at the hands of the Government he felt that the course now taken by him was in accord with the wishes of his constituents. During Mr. Butler's remarks Mr.

Ryan of Albert said it had been stated that he had lately been offered a seat in the Executive, but Mr. Butler said such an offer had never been made to him. MR. BURNS OPENS UPON THE GOVERN-an utter failure. It was a large outlay without any compensating results, and the leader of the Opposition had the right to find fault with the absence of allusion to the matter in the speech, for it should show that the Province had derived some benefit in return for its outlay. It might gratify the House to know that two members of the Executive enjoyed a trip to Ottawa at the public expense nearly twelve months after they were authorized to make it, but he felt that the Province was not satisfied when it was led to believe from outside sources that nothing had come of The House and country would be glad to be assured that the Dominion Government had told the delegates that the special subsidy of $63,000 would be continued, but no such information, but rather the contrary was available. Had they been successful the fact would be readily stated. With considerable ingenuity on the part of the Government, the receipts have been made to meet expenses; but what will be the position of the Province when the subsidy is withdrawn? A might as well be stated plainly-it means the abolition of the bye road grant. Provincial Secretary and others-"Oh,

Mr. Burns said the bye-road grant was now within two thousand dollars of the amount of the subsidy, and he could perceive that in the scheme for incorporating all the counties there lurked the design of imposing upon each county the mainten-Province for some time, but it would at last be withdrawn and the people must be vince had not been met in reference to mean two things: either that the claims would be loaned. MR. WILLIS AND HIS POLICY.

After several paragraphs of the speech had passed Mr. Willis made quite a speech. He intimated that although the country was anxious to learn what ourse he would pursue in the House this session it was not his intention, just now, to divulge the secret. In this the hon, gentleman showed that his is still that strategic mind which developed itself in so marked a degree in the columns of the News during the Franco-German war, and has since proved & expansive power in grasping details of the widest range, scattered over the field of provincial, city and county politics and the mastery of the smaller organizations who are moulded to a common purpose through the medium of social orders.
