It was urged he said, that this Province received an additional debt allowance at the time the other provinces did that was true, but unfortunately obligations with which we entered union are also maturing and when they accrue we will have, say, $1,000,000 more of debt than we anticipated. It is true that we have since received an allowance in lieu of the Export Duty, but that was a special contract arrangement between the two Governments not connected at all with any other financial matter, being based on the provisions of the Washington Treaty. The unadjusted claims are. some $300,000 on account of Western Extension, $150,000 on account of Eastern Extension, some $40,000 as unadjusted interest balances, claims on account of Public Health and others of tween six and seven hundred thousand dollars, not counting the claim on account of St. Andrew's Railway stock, the merits of which form matter for legal decision and consideration as matter of policy, whether it should be paid or not for there are similar questions in the other provinces and payment in one case might involve payment in all and that being so New Brunswick would per haps be called upon to contribute fully

it was only very imperfectly made. There was still much work needed on it. When the potato crop failed in 1875 the people had no seed for last Spring. OTTAWA, Feb. 8. Parliament opened to-day with the usual ceremonies. The following is the speech from the throne:-

I am, etc.,

Honorable Gentlemen of the Senate: Gentlemen of the House of Commons: I am glad to be again enabled to summon you to meet for the despatch of business at the time which has been considered suited to the convenience of members. During the recess, I visited the Province of British Columbia, and had much satisfaction in becoming acquainted with the people of that interesting part of the Doninion, and with the climate and resources of their Province. The surveys of the Pacific Railway have been prosecuted with the utmost vigor, and at a larger cost during the past than in any previous year, but it has not been possible as yet to complete the location of the line, and I have, consequently been obliged to postpone the inviting of tenders for its construction on the terms indicated by the Act of 1874. A further correspondence on the subject at issue between my Government and British Columbia will be laid before you. During the recent suspension of the extradition arrangements with the United States, I took care that the importance to Canada of a speedy resumption of these arrangements should be represented to Her Majesty's Government, whose attention has been further invited to the expediency of largely extending the provisions of the existing Treaty. I am glad to be able to state that while the operation of the Treaty has been resumed, negotiations are in progress for a convention, more liberal and better suited to the circumstances of the

The great public works connected with the St. Lawrence navigation and the canals required to complete the system have been prosecuted with success during the past year. Nearly all the Works on the Welland and Lachine canals have been placed under contract on terms favorable to the country The active prosecution of these works during the last three years has necessarily in. creased the public debt, and, though expectations are entertained that the outlay all the works contemplated in the earlier

One of the immediate advantages of the completion of the railway was the delivery and reception of the British mails at Halifax after the closing of the St. Lawrence, and I am happy to say that up to the present time mails and passengers have been successfully carried over the line without any interruption. The exhibition of Canadian products, manufactures and works of art at the United States National Exhibition at Philadelphia was eminently successful, and proclaimed to the world that Canada has already taken a high place as a farming, manufacturing and mining country. It is gratifying to be able to state that the exenditure was kept within the estimate. It is but just that I should acknowledge that the success achieved by the enterprise of our people was largely aided by the energy and wisdom of the Commissioners who had charge of the arrangement.

I have considered it advisable, in the interest of the country, to make arrangements for exhibiting Canadian products at the exhibition to be held at Sydney, New South Wales, for which you will be asked make provision.

Notwithstanding the loss of revenue consequent chiefly on the diminution of our importations, the reductions effected during the current year have gone far to restore the equilibrium between income and expenditure, though great economy will be still needful to attain this object. I regret that I am still unable to announce any progress in obtaining a settle-ment of the fishery claims under the Washington Treaty, though my Government has made every effort to secure that result.
