

TEMPERANCE TIDINGS.

The school board of St. Joseph, Mo., has voted to expel any boy who smokes cigarettes.

An exchange estimates that for every rich brewer, distiller or saloonkeeper in the land there are at least two hundred paupers.

The drink bill in most London hospitals is said to be much less than it used to be. So much for the influence of the Temperance hospital.

The Anti-Cigarette League of New York City now numbers 40,000 public school boys and has been established in all the ninety-five grammar schools of the city.

The foreman of the work on a tunnel near English, Ind., has forbidden the use of intoxicants or the telling of scandalous stories by his men while engaged in their dangerous work.

The Knights of Pythias of Elwood, Ill., have taken steps to expel all saloonkeepers from membership in accordance with a decree passed by the recent session of the supreme lodge.

There was deep sadness in the remark of a laborer's wife in Cleveland, O., to her pastor in regard to her husband: "I think we could put John through if it wasn't for Sunday."

Out of 7,382 ministers in the Congregational society of England and Wales upward of 25,190 are total abstainers. With few exceptions the ministers in Scotland and Ireland are also abstainers.

Mr. Murphy's temperance work at Lewiston, Me., has continued with marked success. More than three thousand persons signed the pledge, and it is said that nowhere in the country has Mr. Murphy accomplished so much in so short a time.

INTERESTING BITS.

Paris has a warehouse the floors of which are of thick glass.

In a pack of cards there are 635,018, 635,000 different white hands.

The wearing of corsets by men is not uncommon in the British metropolis.

The best briar wood for pipes comes from the borders of Italy and France.

The tallest people in the world are the Patagonians; the shortest are the Lapplanders.

Dyspeptics have found much relief by eating six apples a day—two after each meal.

Opals, when first taken from the mine, are so soft that they can be picked to pieces by the finger-nail.

The telegraph lines of the world aggregate 1,000,123 miles. America has more than half—548,892 miles.

It has been proved, in Boston, that cats convey diphtheria from house to house, by frequenting sickrooms.

In the last seventy years Russia has spent $1,770,000,000 in warfare, and 664,000 Russian soldiers have lost their lives.

Boston is to have a $3,000,000 hotel, with 2,850 rooms. The projectors state that it will be the largest in the world.

Eggs contain everything that is necessary to support human life, in the proper proportions, and in palatable form.

PRESS PROVERBS.

A bald head is soon shaven.

The ideal husband is still a bachelor.

The strongest influence is always exerted on a short range.

Affinity is the chief reliance of the divorce courts.

Justice is higher than law, in what it is retributive.

It is always difficult to draw the line between weakness and willingness.

The unmarried woman is always in danger of becoming a youthful prodigy.

A man may do good work in the world and still continue to say: "I done it."

Everything that goes out with the tide doesn't come back with it.

A woman is never too old to marry; but she is sometimes too old to be asked.

Even if a man could read his own obituary it isn't likely he would recognize it.

Two wrongs do not make a right, but they often produce about the same effect.

Too many people are in the habit of using the conscience of others instead of their own.—Chicago News.

BIRMINGHAM NOTES.

Whatever God will have us to do He will help us to do it.

To know some people is a standing invitation to be good.

The man who would walk with God can do it in a crooked path.

Comparing ourselves with somebody else won't make our sinning any safer.

The pleasures of sin are only pleasures for a season.

Some people pray that God will use them, but they want Him to do it in their way.

If you want God to warm others, ask Him to send fire from heaven into your own heart.

If we will make it the habit of our lives to look on the bright side, we will always have a bright side to look on.

A revival is as much the result of obedience to certain laws and conditions as the production of an electric light.

Religion pure and undefiled never makes a prayer for the good of men that it is not willing to take off its coat and help an avarice.

OUT-OF-THE-WAY PLACES.

Greece stands lowest in point of wealth of all the countries in Europe.

A Madagascarian correspondent tells of four hundred pineapples being brought and delivered for a school picnic there for $14.00 shillings.

In the Loo Choo islands, though there are neither vehicles nor public lighting, the inhabitants have letter boxes and telephones.

Habitual topers are to be photographed in New Zealand towns. Each saloon is to have a gallery of them, and the proprietors who supply liquor to them are to be fined.

In some parts of Japan at a wedding the bride, as a sign of her subjection, kneels and washes the feet of the bridegroom after he has trodden upon raw eggs.

A Parsee sacred fire, which is burning in a temple at Leigue, Persia, is known to have not been extinguished since the days of Rabbithore, who lived twelve centuries ago.

CURRENT SMILES.

After a man loses his hair he goes out in the world to find his uncle.—Galveston News.

It is fortunate for most of us that we do not appreciate how much we are struck.—Milwaukee Journal.

"What is the golden mean we hear about?" asked a young man of an older one. "It must be a miser," replied the latter.—Detroit Free Press.

PASSING PLEASANTIES.

New Man (after the exhausted clerk) has shown him everything in the store.—Well, I'll call again. I wasn't waiting anything to-day.—Chicago Tribune.

"Gimme a dime," pleaded the mendicant, "an' I'll be yer fer'n' 'rue 'eck an' tin." "Tlick and tin," mused Chollie. "Haw, I see. You mean by that crotch and cash. Dossid good joke, very."—Indianapolis.

"Are you going to be at the end of the road to see me come in?" asked young Flusterly of his best girl. "Well," said the best girl, with great caution, "I'm going to be at the end of the road."—Chicago Record.

"I'm used to all sorts of work," remarked the applicant for a job. "Well, take your pick," said the boss of the place, "or perhaps you would prefer a shovel."—Philadelphia Record.

"The next thing you know," said Uncle Allen Sparks, "there will be a demand for a woman's dition of the pocketbook, and then there's going to be trouble."—Chicago Tribune.

Prospective Tenant—I like the top floor best. Why doesn't the fire escape go lower than the third floor? Agent—It isn't necessary. The first three floors are empty.—Harper's Bazar.

Hastings (reading paper)—An impoverished nobleman has been captured and placed in custody in New York. Hubbs—Well, by George, I never thought those heilsees would go so far as that.—Chicago Tribune.

AS YOU LIKE IT.

First American Statesman (New York): "It's me that's thinkin' this do be th' night fur th' ward comin'."

Second American Statesman: "It will have ter be postponed. We can't git a quorum."

"An' why can't we?"

"Not enough of us is out of jail."—New York Weekly.

"What do all this stuff about woman suffrage mean?" little Dan Grogan asked, looking up at his paternal parent from the morning paper. "It means," said Mr. Grogan, "that pretty soon no man will be allowed to vote except the women."—Cincinnati Tribune.

Gipsy (telling and elderly coquette's fortune from the lines of her hand): "I am sorry to tell the young lady that she will pass through a serious illness in her twentieth year."

Lady: "Good gracious!" (Sighs and frowns the gipsy a dollar.)—Pittsburg Blatter.

The new proprietor was inspecting the premises.

"Who looks after these walks and flower beds?" he inquired.

"I do, sir," answered the man with the hoe.

"What is your name?"

"Bungardner."

"Well, that's what you are,"—Chicago Tribune.

"In all my career," said the eminent statesman, "I can say that I never done anything to be ashamed of."

"You mean," sneered the cynic, "that you have never done anything you were ashamed of?"—Indianapolis Journal.

HORTICULTURAL NOTES.

The best time to plant evergreens is just before the starting of the new growth.

Small trees may be planted in the young apple orchard, if you live where peaches grow.

It is not foolish to grow apples and store them and then let half of them rot for want of care? The loss of apples from neglect is very large.

Much fruit is lost because there is not sufficient care to put nothing but good fruit in the cellar. A stick in time, in such matters, saves nine surely.

Watch the cellar in which fruit is stored that it may not become too warm. Fruit requires a low temperature. Cool off the cellar by opening the windows.

We observe that some of our exchanges, though not denying the value of sun-dried apples, pool-pool the idea. It is the old disposition to carry the grain with a stone in one end of the bag for sale.

When grafting, mix together four parts resin, two parts beeswax and one part beef tallow. It must be softened when used, but need not be heated with heat applied with a stick. If the winds chill it too readily in the vessel, place a piece of glass over it.

ITEMS OF INTEREST.

It has been computed that in Great Britain there are 2,000,000 dog owners and 20,000 exhibitors and breeders of dogs.

Having saved up 600,000 crowns since 1890, the women of Norway are going to present their Government with a torpedo boat.

A fashionable designer in London is computed to make on an average between $50,000 and $20,000 a year.

There are ten "fruit schools" in France, where pupils are instructed practically how to cultivate and husband fruits.

China's Emperor gets up at four o'clock to study English and the Manchus before breakfast, which is at five. He makes up for it by going to bed at sundown.

The Ashcroft Coal Trust and other companies in South Africa have been analyzed recently and found to contain nine pennyweights of gold to the ton.

Two of Swedenborg's works, "Heaven and Hell" and "The Doctrine of Charity," have just been translated into Arabic by Prof. Salame. They are to be published in England, Egypt and India.

WISDOM OF THE FUNMAKERS.

Truth was stranger than fiction to Anaxagoras.

A side show attraction—A pretty profile.

Monumental marriages—A good many grave-stones.

Repairs—Second marriage.

In what month do women talk least? In February.

Many a man is expected to be the architect of his son-in-law's fortune.

Biobbs—Why do you call one of our relatives aunt and the other aunt? Biobbs—Well, the other has money.

Elderly Lodger—How did you sleep last night, Professor? Professor—Larkins, lying down, madame.—Who ling (W. Va.) Corner Stone.

GEMS OF THOUGHT.

Be not simply good—be good for something.

Faith is the root from which grow the fruits of Christian life.

Hiding a sin isn't a bit safer than handling a rattlesnake.—Ram's Horn.

It is only the truth we follow that has power to lead us straight to God.

He who sits at Christ's feet here shall sit on his throne hereafter.—Matthew Henry.

If a man is busy, and busy about his duty, what more does he require for time or eternity?—Kingsley.

Remember that religion in business is just as important as religion in the church.

It does a man good to believe something. It does others good to have him do something.—United Presbyterian.

What doth it profit a man if he gains every point in an argument and loses his best friend?—Young Men's Era.

Before giving advice we must have secured its acceptance, or rather have made it desired.—Amiel.

There is something wrong if we stop rejoicing in the Lord as soon as our sky begins to cloud with adversity.

When Paul said that godliness with contentment is great gain he was not making an apology for pious laziness.—Standard.

The minister who would awaken his people for their eternal good, must open the Bible wide enough to show them what is in it.

Understand well the force of the words: "A God, who sees thee, a moment which flows from thee, an eternity which awaits thee; a God, whom you serve; a moment of which you so little profit; an eternity, which you hazard so rashly."

TEMPERANCE NOTES.

London has 10,500 public houses.

The saloon wants "free raw material." That material is boys.

The incorrigible drunkard is not so much a freak as he is a crop.—John G. Woolley.

Death seems to be the only protection afforded the drunkard's child.—Stillwater Mirror.

New Hampshire legislature has passed a law forbidding the giving as well as the sale of tobacco to minors.

The legislature of California has passed a bill prohibiting the sale of liquor within two and a half miles of any soldier's home.

A notorious saloon in Buffalo, known as the "Gold Dollar," is to be turned into a temperance saloon, after the plan of Bishop Fallows' "home saloon" in Chicago.

It is said that Benjamin Franklin, while working as a printer among London beer-drinkers, was known as the "American Aquatic," because he drank only water.

In the little German principality of Waldeck a decree has been proclaimed that a license to marry will not be granted to any individual who is not in the habit of getting drunk.

A comparison of the consumption and profit of intoxicants in Great Britain, shows that during ten years the consumption has increased ten per cent., and the profit to the brewers and distillers forty per cent.

Grace Howe, a pretty eighteen-year-old girl, starved to death her father-prisoners in Jackson Jail by a well-developed attack of delirium tremens. Although a mere child, she has spent a large part of her life in jail.—The St. John's Herald.

WORKS OF NATURE

Species of snakes that are enemies of one another in captivity will come up into their winter sleep in the same hole.

Dew is not attracted by cold objects. Place a yellow board beside a red one and a black one; while the yellow one will be covered with dew, the other two will be perfectly dry.

The Arctic fox changes the hue of his coat to note the change of season. In summer his fur is dark blue; as the cold weather approaches, the shade changes until in winter it is snow-white.

Prof. C. Riley thinks he has discovered satisfactory evidence of telepathy among insects—that is to say, a sixth sense, by which they are able to communicate ideas from one to another at great distances.

The snipe has a nerve reaching down to the tip of its bill. It is the only bird that provides, and this contrivance illustrates the beneficence of nature in enabling the snipe to detect the presence of its food in mud and water where the creature's eye is of no use.

OLD WORLD EVENTS.

The real name of the noted whist critic, "Pembroke," is John Petch Hewley. He is sixty years of age and his parents were stern Puritans, who never allowed a pack of cards to enter their house.

The new Spanish premier, Senor Canovas, is said to be the homeliest man and the most successful orator in Madrid. The senator was the champion of the abolition of slavery in Spain and its dependencies.

According to a little book issued by Mrs. C. H. Spurgeon, who was distiller of last year 8,468 volumes of late husband's works together with some other theological works, making a total of 154,726 volumes distributed in nineteen years.

John Blonfield Burton, the English novelist, stands six feet four inches and looks more like a big life guard than a writer of romance. He has been widely and his first newspaper work was done in Baltimore. He married the daughter of a Philadelphian.

One consequence of the battle of the Yalu is the proposal made in Europe of establishing a naval Red Cross Society, whose vessels, painted in some distinctive color, shall accompany hostile fleets and pick up the crews of vessels sunk in action.

Sarah Bernhardt drew a large audience to a Paris civil court lately, where she was sued for not paying a horse doctor's bill. She said that she always destroyed receipts, but that she had paid this one, and, being asked if she would swear to it, she said "Je le jure," and won her case.

An ambulance cycle has been invented by a Berlin doctor. It is a litter resting on two wheels at one end, and attached to an ordinary tricycle at the other, and worked by two men. It would be useful in small towns, where a horse ambulance is too expensive, or in the country.

BRIEF BITS.

Life, like the water of the sea, freshens only when it ascends toward heaven.—Richter.

He who always prefaces his tale with laughter is seldom between impertinence and folly.—Lavater.

Without labor there would be no government, and no leading class, and nothing to preserve.—L. S. Grant.

Five things are requisite to a good officer—ability, clean hands, dispatch, patience and impartiality.—Penn.

When thought is too weak to be simply expressed, it is clear proof that it should be rejected.—Vanuvarques.

I know no manner of speaking so offensive as that of giving praise and closing it with a compliment.—Steale.

Abstinence is an eloquence in parting, when spinning out the time is but the weaving of new sorrow.—Suckling.

In the treatment of nervous cases, he is the best physician who is the most ingenious inspirer of hope.—Coleridge.

Nothing is more dangerous than an imprudent friend; better it is to have to deal with a prudent enemy.—La Fontaine.

The woman who is resolved to be respected can make herself to be so even against an army of soldiers.—Cervantes.

True bravery proposes a just end; measures the dangers, and meets the result with calmness and unyielding decision.—La None.

The first ingredient in conversation is truth; the next, good sense; the third, good humor; and the fourth, wit.—Sir W. Temple.

No man or woman chooses duties! No more than their birthplace or their father and mother.—George Eliot.

Money is only thus for a standard of value; it is only thus that it can measure its perishes; that which it cannot measure is immortal.—Bover.

Life is so fortified by many friends that to love and to be loved is the greatest happiness of existence.—Sydney Smith.

What a vast deal of time and ease that man gains who is not troubled with the spirit of superfluous curiosity to inquire into others.—Aunt.
