most tempting spreads that could be devised. It is needless to say that full justice was done to it. The cobweb as first prepared contained nearly 200 strings, and about 100 more were added in the evening. There was also a fancy sale at which many useful and pretty things were offered. The managers of the entertainment express themselves as being much indebted to number of the Marysville summer visitors to Loggieville for contributions to their supper table, the cobweb and sales table. They J H LAWLOR & Co. also express themselves as indebted to Mrs.

> Wm. Johnston, Mrs. Dunbar and Mrs. H. H. Pallen of Chatham for aid in arranging the cobweb, and they are further grateful to the generous friends whose patronage enabled them to net the handsome sum $150.82 for the Loggieville presbyterian church fund.

A very large congregation assembled in Mary's Church, Chatham, on Monday evening to witness the marriage of Mr Arthur E. Ruddock and Miss Isabel S. Forbes, youngest daughter of Capt.

Forbes of Upper Chatham. The bridesmaid was Miss Janie Cameron and Mr. E. N. Ruddock supported the groom. Suitable music was rendered by Miss Helena Goggin, organist of the church. The scene was quite a brilliant one and was enhanced by the Christmas decorations. The fair young bride was much admired and it is needless to say that the groom was pronounced in cant thing that the World and Herald

Friend, I conclude if the Liberal Herald confines itself to honesty, straightforward political truths and tactics, it will hereafter be compelled to issue a blank sheet upon politics for the edification of its intelligent Liberal readers. It sorprises me that an editor laying claim to the guidence of an electorate in the year 1896, should publish such a mixture of religious cant and depraved figures of speech from any correspondent, especially without his name in full. With the author's name no able pen would be needed to keep his memory fresh and green-in contempt-by all level headed men of both parties, wh desire to see the Dominion advance in the art of self government, so that political questions could be discussed in a gentlemanly and edifying manner and the real truth arrived at, with the least possible amount of friction and no ill will, whereby all may concele that a political opponent is not a fool, rascal or rogue, because he differs from us in his opinions.

Our "Friend" draws before the public the name of R. B. Abams, former postmaster of Chatham, coupled with the terms of lian and thief, imputing malicious political motives to the journal and editor who rendered the public good service checking the careless conduct of that postmaster, who, evidently, was a man too big denving labors as our Spiritual Director, | for his position, of which fact the public in general are well aware, but still I do not think there is a person in the community who believes R. B. Adams was a thief as that our present relationships as pastor and "Friend" states was the belief of half the people of Chatham. I, having had my share of inconvenience at the Chatham P. O. during the tenure of R. B. Adams, write of what I know and can prove the truth thereof; and then as now, place my name at the finish. If our friend knows of any public Hon, J. B. and Mrs. Snowball were agreeably surprised on Christmas eve by the wrong and he follows the same course, he will meet with the approbation of all honest arrival at their reaidence of an elegant onyx-topped stand and lamp, the gift of the people, but in handling such a serious subject in an indirect manner, as is done by him store and office staff, accompanied by a note expressing the donors' appreciation of Mr. neither fair nor gentlemanly. Snowball's uniform courtesy, good will Our friend evidently has a D. G. and a J.
