A STARVED MIND.

Why a Girl Shook Her Head When Dickens Was Mentioned.

It is a fact that the children who have had in abundance the old nursery fables, who have worn out numerous copies of Mother Goose, to whom Christmas and Birthdays mean new books, of rhyme and story, being let them by gradual steps to the realms of history, poetry, and romance, seldom go down before the malignancy of the "blood and thunder" so freely offered them.

It was her first step in the realm of enchantment, but it came too late. She had experienced the real; it was hard, bitter. The same girl a few years later awaited her turn at the library, and begged the attendant to choose for her. The lady hesitated, then extending a volume by Dickens, said: "Will you have this?"

She shook her head, saying: "I tried to read one of his, once. He writes of rags and poverty and hard times. Give me something livelier, please."—Lippincott's Magazine.

Are the Jews Returning to Palestine? In the Missionary Review of the World Rev. H. Jessup of Beirut, Syria, considers the subject of the number of Jews in Palestine. He answers the question, "No." The question, "Is it true that the Jews are flocking back to the land of their fathers by thousands and tens of thousands, and that soon they will take possession of Canaan, restore their kingdom and rebuild their temple?"

Dr. Jessup gives consular statistics to show that in 1891 there were in Palestine proper only 45,031 Jews. The Jews of Palestine are largely supported by the European rabbi fund, receiving house rent and weekly rations from the common fund, thus encouraged in habits of idleness. The Rothschild colonies are conducted on the same pauperizing system.

In 1893 Mr. Jessup visited two of the colonies, finding the first an unthrifty and forlorn affair, the colonists looking sickly and unwell. The second was a splendid agricultural site, but lies on the margin of the most pestilential marsh in Palestine. He says: "The whole impression made upon an observer with regard to these Jewish colonies is that they are forced, unnatural and of doubtful success. The pauperizing system which has made Jerusalem a great alms-house tends to demoralize the whole system of Palestine colonization. The entire scheme seems to be a kind of fad, which is being pursued with a special object, having none of the elements which make the old Phoenician colonies and the modern Anglo-Saxon colonies successful."

As to the future of the Jewish people, Dr. Jessup has this to say:—"The trend of Jewish migration at the present time is not toward the old land of Israel. There are about four times as many Jews now in New York City as there are in the whole of Palestine. Tens of thousands are going to the Argentine Republic in South America. They seem to be more and more turning from territorial attachments, and the great future of the Jewish race seems to be about to be wrought out in the free air of America."

The return of the Jews is to be a spiritual return to Christ, their Messiah and Lord. The marvelous prophecies of Ezekiel, 40 to 48, clothed in priestly language and figures which speak of a readjustment of the configuration of Palestine, of a temple a mile square, and a special sacred "oblation" or temple are a fitting prophecy, clearly referring in splendid imagery to the future glories of the Church of Jesus Christ, and the "waters" flowing from beneath the sanctuary pour to the life-giving streams of the Gospel dispensation, which are destined to vivify and bless mankind. A literal fulfillment of those extraordinary prophecies is manifestly physically impossible without the most stupendous miracle ever performed.

Merely a Woman's Faith. According to the Washington Star, young Mrs. Tucker said very sweetly:—"Charley, dear, it was kind and thoughtful of you and I appreciate it ever so much; but a man should never undertake to select anything for his wife to wear."

"What do you mean?" he asked, in surprise. "These buttons you brought home for me," and she held up a half-dozen red poker chips. "I found them on the mantelpiece in your room, and I know, of course, that you had brought them home for me."

"You can't use them, can you?" "No; but I appreciate your thoughtfulness, just the same. You got them at a bargain, didn't you?" "Um—yes."

"Well, you were cheated. I don't see how anybody who makes buttons could have been so silly as to forget to put in the holes that the thread goes through when you see them on."

Fit For Fat. "Oh, by the way, can you cook?" said young Mr. Spaulds to Miss Gargyle. "May I inquire if your query is prompted by a matrimonial inclination?" asked the young lady. "Why—er—well, yes," stammered the young man. "That being the case, I can answer you fully. Yes, I can cook terrapin, on a wafer-bread, duck, broach trout and venison, besides tenderloin steak and other delicacies. Can you provide them in their raw state?"—Reading Telegram.

MOTH ACCUSED OF MURDER. Singular Defense Advanced To Exculpate Recent Murder Mystery. Recent murder mysteries serve to recall that of Princess Caravella, a singularly lovely woman, who met with a violent death at Naples.

The princess had been entertaining a party of friends at dinner at the Caravella palace, and as she had promised to attend a ball toward midnight she went to her bedroom to lie down for a few minutes' rest to refresh herself for the dance.

At 11 o'clock her maid entered the room to awaken her, whereupon the princess asked her to return a little later, and twenty minutes afterward, when she returned, the girl found her mistress still lying on her bed with scarcely a muscle of the face changed, but stone dead, with the mark of a tiny bullet in the region of the heart.

The maid's shrieks quickly brought the prince and the whole household to the room, and within ten minutes the judicial and police authorities arrived. It was clear that no stranger had fired the shot, since the bedroom was situated
