MORE LIGHT—It would be well for our friends at the Electric Light station to observe that darkness comes on earlier now than it did a month ago, and that their patrons require light as soon as it becomes too dark indoors to see.

LEADS BROKEN—On Thursday last little Francis, daughter of J. R. Goggin, Esq., fell off a bench and broke her arm.

NEWCASTLE POST OFFICE CASE—The preliminary hearing in the case of John Fish, ex-postmaster of Newcastle, charged with opening registered letters and appropriating their contents, was practically closed on Thursday last.

R. B. S.—Mr. Thomas Flanagan, Chatham, has just received a new remedy, Halloway's Red Blood Syrup. This wonderful preparation for pale, weak, nervous persons or those run down by overwork, disease or other causes, cannot be excelled.

AN ATTRACTION TO BUYERS of family groceries, provisions, dry goods and general household supplies is offered by Mr. Roger Flanagan at his well known store on St. John Street, Chatham, in the form of silver knives and forks, silver spoons, silver cruet stands and boxes of tea.

PERSONAL—Hon. Provincial Secretary Tweedie has gone to Summerside, P. E. I., to take part in the opening of the exhibition there.

ON SATURDAY LAST T. E. Kenney, Esq., ex-M.P., President of the Merchants' Bank, Halifax, and Mr. W. R. Rachee, accountant of that institution, arrived here by a special Canada Eastern train.

BARREN IN WILLIAM—We might say to the Herald writer that if a "darning dogger" of a frasca is called for, and the "dogger" maker is invited as far as the Canada House corner, and the Doctor is to be lugged in, a step or two further would have the "consolation" of reading of a frasca in which policemen, the lookout and other accessories would figure and make them careful to lay bygone by-gones.

WELFARE OF MAN INCORPORATED the editor of the World is proud of remembering who it was that followed Hon. Edward Blake to Chatham on the occasion of his visit some fourteen years ago, and in the newspaper he corresponded with, misrepresented that gentleman, Mr. Snowball, who entertained him, and others who did him honor. In fact, the person referred to displayed such an adaptability for misrepresentation on that occasion that he was engaged by certain gentlemen in Chatham for the purpose of writing down the "World" as "deceitfully" assailed and misrepresented to him at that time. A newspaper plant was purchased for him and he entered upon his mission with the newly established organ, before which the followers of Mr. Blake on the Miramichi—including even the ADVANCE—were to be driven as by the breath of a pestilence. The organ was the "World" and the man who did the pestilence act was the innocent individual who, in that paper of Saturday last, said: "The World never knowingly misquoted. The World never misrepresented any public man." The poor fellow is, evidently, forgetting the identity of both his paper and himself, for we all know that it is his habit of snoring at and misrepresenting almost everybody and everything that has so strained the well known good nature of our people, who still, however, charitably tolerate him and his publication.

Royal Arch Masonry.

The annual meeting of Mount Lebanon Royal Arch Chapter No. 101 R. S. was held in Masonic Hall on Wednesday 29th ult. The advisability of severing their connection with the Supreme Grand Arch Chapter of Scotland and joining Grand Royal Arch Chapter of New Brunswick was discussed. Probably this will be consummated in the near future. The officers elected for the current year are:—J. W. B. P. McKenney, P. M.; J. D. H. Howard, P. J.; John Johnston, S. E.; J. S. Benson, S. N.; John Johnston, S. N.; Arthur Johnston, 1st Soj.; Alex. Robinson, 2nd Soj.; Robt. Murray, 3rd Soj.; James Anderson, Janitor.

It must be Stopped.

The yacht race last Thursday on the Miramichi was characterized by conduct on the part of those in charge of one of the boats which should not be overlooked by the Club. There has, for a good while, been considerable feeling between the owner of Oriana and Messrs. Leairg, owing we believe to the former gentleman frequently taking advantage of his position as a newspaper man to "blow our trumpet" at the sacrifice of the facts and to the prejudice of those interested in Leairg. On the other hand, Leairg and his crew have been very considerably dealt with by the Club, for she has never sailed any race strictly within the Club's rules, while Oriana has not been known to transgress any of these, her owner, who is also her sailing master, being mainly a book-keeper and, therefore, well acquainted with the rules of the Club.

The Cost of "Fun" in Fredericton.

Mr. Arthur Price, of Adams & Price, Fredericton, has a small instrument constructed to resemble a pocket kodak, but which, instead of taking photographs, shoots out, by means of a rubber bulb, great sprays of flour in the faces of those who accede to Mr. Price's request to "stand for their pictures." Mr. John Richards, assistant clerk of the House of Assembly, while in J. G. Walker's tailor's establishment on Friday last, was asked by Mr. Price to stand for his picture, and readily assented to the request. The joke's instrument performed its function without any hitch and Mr. Richards stood before Mr. Price and several spectators completely "floured," and much engaged. He proceeded at once to the police office and lodged a complaint against Price for assault. The case was heard in the police court on Monday morning, with the result that Price was fined $15 and $470 costs. He paid the fine.

William Wright makes another Escape.

On Wednesday night of last week, the notorious Wm. Wright, of Chatham, made his escape from the County jail, where he was serving a term of four months, to be followed by imprisonment in the Dorchester penitentiary for two years. He appears to be an incorrigible. It will be remembered that he made his escape from the steamer Nelson at Douglas Harbor in the early summer while handcuffed and on the way to jail in custody of policeman Rainsbottom. He went over the United States border, but had the hardihood to return a month or two to his home in Chatham. He acted the tough on the train coming to Chatham, and on his arrival, undertook to terrorize the lower part of the town, with the result that he was captured by the police, tried for his escape, and sentenced by the judge of the County Court to two years in Dorchester penitentiary, his term of imprisonment there to begin after he had served his former sentence in the County jail. At the latter institution he was allowed the liberty of the corridor, together with two other prisoners, named Keating and Doyle, the latter being confined for minor offences. On Tuesday morning Wright was missing and it was soon learned that he had made his escape by what seems to have been faulty work in the iron screen at the end of the corridor. The bars above the door had been put out to let the bars piping through and clamped to the top ends of the bars in their places. The clamps were kept together upon the bars with screw bolts, the nuts of which were either put on loosely, so that they could be removed by the prisoner's fingers, or by a wrench, although there does not seem to be any evidence of the latter being used.

The screw-bolts being removed, the bars were forced apart and the prisoner squeezed himself out into the vestibule, where only the street door, bolted on the inside, stood between him and liberty. He withdrew the bolt, taking it with him as a weapon, no doubt, and that is the last his custodians have seen of him.

His fellow-prisoners say that he did not assist him to escape. One thing is quite certain, they gave no alarm. Deputy Sheriff Irving, who was on duty across the river at the time of Wright's escape, appears to be making great efforts to recapture him, but he has not yet got out of the country and it will be difficult for him to do so, as officers and others on the different lines of travel are well informed in reference to his appearance and other particulars to enable them to identify and stop him.

Marquis-Morrison.

There was a large gathering of invited guests at the residence of Mr. Thos. Cabot, Shippegan, last Wednesday, to witness the marriage of Mr. Cabot's niece, Miss Nellie Morrison, to Mr. Geo. R. Marquis of Chatham. The ceremony was performed by Rev. Mr. Street of Bathurst. Miss Clara Simpson of Neguac was bridesmaid, and Mr. Alex. McEwen of Chatham best man. The bride looked very lovely in cream cashmere, with veil and orange blossoms, and the bridesmaid was charming in mauve. There were about seventy-five guests present, including Mr. and Mrs. Robert Murray, Jr., and Mrs. Wm. Johnston, Chatham; Mr. and Mrs. Philip Loggie, Loggieville; Miss Ida Simpson, Neguac; Mr. A. J. Davidson, Church Point; Mr. and Mrs. Philip Irwin and Miss Dwyer, Carleton Place; and Capt. P. E. Noel of Jersey. There was dancing, and a complimentary supper was served on Thursday the happy couple started to drive home, and some of their friends formed a band of honor to escort them. There were eleven carriages in line, and all went to Pokenouche. It was like the triumphal procession of a conquering hero, and caused considerable commotion along the Moose in New Brunswick.

The future of the moose, oldest and noblest of the game animals on this continent, is a matter that has interested a good many people. Mr. Braithwaite, who has lived among these animals all his life, says there is no danger of their diminution in New Brunswick. They shed their antlers before the snow comes deep in winter, and the sportsman who endeavors to carry away a hornless moose is always roughly dealt with by the magistrates down in the settlements. The only relentless enemy of the moose is the lumberman, who in the depth of winter can make good use of the meat. But in the region which is the subject of this article there is little lumber, and so there are few lumbermen. The degenerate Indians of the villages seldom trouble themselves to hunt, and the few moose killed by hunters are as nothing compared with the bears. Brain gets trapped by the bears. Brain gets trapped by the bears. There are no wolves in this wilderness, so the prospects for the moose are getting better instead of worse. And if there are thousands of moose, there are tens of thousands of caribou.—Frederick Inland in Scribner's.

O'Keefe-Corboll.

St. Peter's Church, Bathurst, was the scene of a charming event on Tuesday, 22nd Sept., when Mr. P. J. O'Keefe was united in marriage to Bridget, daughter of Mr. James Connell. The bride was handsomely attired in a dress of white cashmere, with lace trimmings. Miss Tessie Fox, cousin of the bride, was the bridesmaid and Mr. James Connell, Jr. was the groomsmen. Miss Fox was dressed in white also. After the ceremony, which was performed by Rev. Father Morrissey, the bridal party, on the invitation of Father Morrissey, repaired to his residence for breakfast; after which they drove to the home of the bride's father, where, after receiving the congratulations of a large number of friends, a sumptuous dinner was served, all doing justice to the plentiful spread. The afternoon was most enjoyably spent with music and other amusements. At 4.30 the happy couple left amid good wishes and showers of rice for "Maple Grove," their future home. The bride was the recipient of many handsome and useful presents.

A Welcome Home.

Any person would go away often if assured of such a welcome home as that tendered Mr. and Mrs. E. B. Eddy on their arrival here on Tuesday night from their tour in the old world. The reception was a gay affair in every particular. As the train steamed into the Hall station with Mr. and Mrs. Eddy on board, the Hull band struck up an appropriate air, and a lady cheer was given by the crowd as the welcomed couple made their appearance on the car platform. Nearly a thousand people had gathered.

The Meadow Brook Murders.

Moncton, N. B., Sept. 27.—The Dutchman inquest closed yesterday afternoon. Half a dozen witnesses were examined, the most important witness being Moses Steves, a retired farmer, who says he first saw Sullivan on Friday, the day following the fire, between 2 and 3 in the afternoon, sitting near Main street, crossing. He was pointed out to him as John Sullivan, whose name was associated with the tragedy. He next saw him at the Brunswick, buying a drink. He took from his inside pocket between two and three hundred dollars, all bills. The wad was as big as his wrist. Sullivan leafed the bills over until he got a dollar and paid for a drink, putting the change in his pocket. Witness was about five feet from him, and saw some five, ten and he thought, some twenties. He was so sure that he saw Sullivan brought to my recollection the tragedy.

12th Field Battery.

The (12th) Field Battery have been in camp for the past nine days, at the Fortaine place. On Wednesday, Thursday, Friday and Saturday drill was carried on, and good progress was made. On Sunday morning the Battery paraded to St. Andrew's church, where Rev. P. G. Snow preached. On Monday rain fell, and there was no drill. Major Rathesford of the Royal Canadian Artillery arrived in camp to-day and began an inspection in the afternoon. On Wednesday, the ranging, gun-laying and fuse boring takes place; on Thursday, kit and camp inspection and examination of officers by Major Rathesford. Camp will break up on Friday.

The Owl Critic.

It is amusing to note the pretence of erudition set up by a little local paper, which appears to imagine that it has a mission to correct every off-colour phrase it happens to note in other publications, just as it assumes it is the great Podunk Bay authority on yachting, and that the world looks to it for the correction of all and any errors of technicality in reports of nautical or yachting matters. The writer understands the usual exasperation manifested by "new people" to their recently acquired and unaccustomed clothes, jewelry and "company manners" are always good-natured over exhibitions of this nature, while many of the crowd, no doubt, feel like the bassoons who formed the audience of The Village Schoolmaster, of whom Goldsmith wrote: "That one small bell could call all his new crew."

Death of H. D. Frost.

Rockford, Illinois, Daily Register Gazette, Sept. 14.—After an illness of eight years, long years of great suffering and patient endurance, rest has come to Howard D. Frost. Death has been stealing closer from day to day until the end; the final transition was such a slight step as to be painless; from the sleep of earth he sank into that rest where mortal activities are laid aside. Five weeks ago a second stroke of paralysis laid him low and that time he has been unconscious. During the long years of his suffering the progress of his malady, creeping paralysis, was slow but steady. For the first three years he continued to attend to his duty at the watch factory, but for five years past has been helpless and confined to his home. There were few of the citizens of Rockford so highly respected as Mr. Frost. His life record was one of integrity and uprightness in dealing with all men; kind-hearted and sympathetic, no one ever sought his sympathy or aid in vain. Through the latter days of his life when the cloud of death was growing darker and enshrouding him with its pall, consolations were not denied him. Nothing that love's ministry could accomplish was neglected by his family. His wife's faithful watch at his bedside was tireless, her solicitude unceasing; friends remembered him and sought by all means in their power to make the hours seem shorter and add the sweetness of faithful friendship to counteract the bitterness of suffering.

Doaktown Notes.

Doaktown, N. B., Sept. 29th 1896. This has been a remarkably dry summer and, on the whole, unfruitful. Crops did not grow well owing to long continued dry spring and summer. Hay is about a two thirds crop; oats is about three quarters; potatoes about one half; garden crops very short; pasture suffered much from drought; insects were hard on everything, and the Horly ran the dairy business himself. Forest fires started and created much anxiety. Early in the spring a fire caught the train and ran to the mill on Mile Brook, destroying some valuable timber; after day out rain came; in fact that fire would have burned all summer, for there was no rain enough at any time to put it out entirely if men had not worked hard to keep it down. About the last August some parties picking blueberries carelessly made a fire north of Doaktown, about 3 miles; it had a large fire and went with considerable force; it was held in check. A strong southwest wind sprang up and the fire gained great headway. A road was plowed and dug around it. It was about four miles wide. Men were exhausted and new hands came to help. The Government were solicited by telegraph for aid. The Survey-General came and viewed the situation. At last, when all hope and strength were exhausted, rain came and the danger passed. A survey party was very active and energetic and went with much expense in helping, furnishing food and rallying forces to save the woods. Last Monday, 21st, the house and barn of Rev. Mr. King were entirely consumed; most of the effects were saved from the house; all in the barn was lost. Mr. King had been from home but 10 minutes with his horse and wagon when the fire broke out in the barn. Little could be done to save the building. The premises belonged to Robert Swin and were not insured. The Richards and Swin drive of logs passed here yesterday. Many teams are going to the woods and all who can swing an axe are employed. Messrs. H. and F. Swin's new mill is in full operation and does good work. The deals are loaded on the cars at the mill and many new improvements are introduced. Trade has been very fair through the summer. Storekeepers look satisfied and happy. Several services are being held by the united efforts of Presbyterians and Metho-

Wise Women Speak.

They Use Only the Diamond Dyes. Mrs. Thor, Miller, St. Helen's Out, says: "I have used your Diamond Dyes for many years and am delighted with them." Mrs. Ryan, Head Lake, Ont., says: "I have been pleased with Diamond Dyes; they give me complete satisfaction. I would not use any other after my experience with the 'Diamond Dyes'." Mrs. A. F. Steves, Meadown, N. B., says: "Diamond Dyes give lovely colors; they are easy to use and very reliable; I highly recommend them." Mrs. Charles Gagne, St. Chrysostome, P. Q., says: "Your Diamond Dyes are splendid and should be kept in every home."

An Insane Woman Strangles her Husband.

News has been received of a terrible tragedy in Rimouski. Last year the wife of a wealthy farmer there named Lepage became insane as the result of an attack of the grippe. Her insanity, however, assumed a religious form, and, being inoffensive, she was allowed her liberty. On a number of occasions she was seen going to the parish church with her little child, and placing the child before the altar as if to offer it up in sacrifice. A few days ago she was alone in the house with her husband, who was an occasional sufferer from epileptic fits. Suddenly she was seized with one of these fits and fell struggling to the floor. What exactly happened no one knows, but when the neighbors appeared on the scene they found the insane wife sitting on the husband's dead body singing, while with her hands, which she had evidently strangled him, she still clutched his throat. Measures have been taken to prevent the unfortunate woman from doing further harm.

A Level Headed Member of Parliament.

Mr. J. Ross Robertson is a conservative in politics and a newspaper man. He is, however, evidently not a partisan, as the following excellent remarks on Mr. Foster's attempt to secure Mr. Laurier for rushing on promised tariff changes show. Mr. Robertson says: "It occurs to me that in making that speech (Mr. Foster) may have forgotten the main contingency, and that the very speech he was making on behalf of certain classes might produce a feeling of distrust and unrest amongst these very classes. I do not credit the statement that the $400,000,000 of capital alleged to be invested in the industries of this country is in the state of tremor so graphically depicted in the verbal pyrotechnics of the hon. the ex-minister. As to his statement about capitalists being kept on a ragged edge for eight or nine months, with consequent loss of business, and his appeal concerning the area which the first minister is supposed to brandish in the day-time and to keep under his pillow in the night-time, I must say that such talk may be very good politics from a Conservative party standpoint, but I think in the interest of the country it is mighty bad policy. The statement that the doubt and unrest in the country is paralyzing business and clouding the public mind, but also the general welfare of the entire country. It is because I do not think it will take in the Dominion of Canada, certainly not in the province of Ontario. I regret exceedingly that I cannot see eye to eye with many of my hon. friends upon this side of the house; with them I am in general sympathy. In considering the question of this resolution it is my privilege to forget that I am a Conservative, representing a Conservative constituency, but that it is my duty to remember that that constituency has shown its independence and expects me to show mine. (Applause.) I know that in speaking as I do I reflect the views of the leading and prominent Conservatives of East Toronto, of the political machine which I buried beneath an avalanche of votes on the 23rd of June, but the men who compose the bone and sinew, the thinking men of the Conservative party, who have not only the interests of the party at heart but also the general welfare of the entire country. It is because my conclusions, after listening attentively to this debate, are fixed that I am thus frank, and do not hesitate in expressing my opinion. In this house I hope that my voice will always be heard on the side of right. My hand is free. Above my head I shall never hear the crack of the party whip. My responsibility is lodged not here, but in another place. To the electors of East Toronto I am responsible, and to them I shall render an account. (Loud applause.)"

Government Railway Finances.

The earnings and working expenses of the government railways last year were as follows:—International railway proper—Earnings $2,825,040 10; working expenses $3,012,827 62; loss $187,787 52. Prince Edward Island railway—Earnings $146,470 54; working expenses $225,138 56; loss $78,667 02. Against this was to be placed the Windsor branch, whose earnings had been $36,561 83; and working expenses $16,476 46; leaving a profit of $20,085 37 thus leaving a total loss on all lines of $113,764 16 for the year ended June 30th, 1896.

News and Notes.

The first snow of the season according to a Montreal Witness despatch, fell among the mountains to the north of Quebec on Wednesday morning of last week, which in some places ice a quarter of an inch thick was formed. Rev. T. Marshall has declined a fourth term at the Queen Square Methodist church, St. John, and a call has been extended to Rev. C. W. Weddell. Mr. Marshall has accepted a call to the St. Stephen Methodist church and will leave for there about June next. A Montreal despatch of Tuesday says:—Leproy in its worst form exists in Montreal, Lee Tung Chinaman who died of a mysterious illness yesterday has been found to have been victim of it. An inspection of all the Chinese boarding houses, lodging houses and stores has been ordered. $2000 was received at Bridgeport, Ct., on Wednesday last week, announcing the death of Emeritus Callias Ely, the husband of Mrs. P. T. Barram. Mrs. Callias was summoned from New York and was on the ocean when her husband died. The boy's death was due to a liver trouble from which he had suffered for years. The price of Manitoba flour has advanced 20 cents in the last two days, in sympathy with the advance in Chicago wheat and the higher prices being paid for wheat in the Manitoba country markets. Manitoba wheat has advanced 8 to 10 cents a bushel since the season opened, the farmers now getting 52 to 54 cents for No. 1 Manitoba hard wheat at country points. MONTREAL, Sept. 29.—The Canadian Pacific railway system is still demoralized; trains move very slowly on account of the strike. The company is going to serve all striking employees with notarial protests because they have left their situations without the notice provided for in their contracts. The operators claim the train despatchers are with them. A Gloucester, Mass., despatch of the 25th inst. says:—Capt. White of the steamer Iolande, from Block Island with 150 barrels of mackerel, reports an immense school of fish out there, but so close inshore that fishermen are unable to catch them. Shoremen drive down on the beach with dip nets and land the tens of thousands of fish to excellent quality and the fishermen expect to make large catches as soon as the fish move off shore, and the prospect for a good fall's work is favourable. The London Times Paris correspondent quotes a Constantinople despatch to the effect that the Turkish ambassador, Mr. Cambon, the French ambassador at Constantinople, has made serious representations to the sultan regarding the massacre of Armenians. The despatch expresses the belief that sultan has promised to constitute a commission to extend reforms throughout the Turkish empire. NEW YORK, Sept. 29.—The rumored strike among the telegraph operators on the Canadian Pacific Railway and the report that E. V. Kinier, the company's New York agent, is engaging men, brought a large number of operators to his office this morning. Among telegraph officials it is estimated that owing to the general disaffection and the unwillingness of these employees to change loyalties and business there are anywhere from three to five thousand first-class telegraphers idle in the United States at the present moment, to say nothing of the lower grades, who are hanging around country railway stations waiting for positions. The New York Times says: General Weyler, the commander of the Spanish forces in Cuba, will, according to the latest advices, be relieved of his command, and will be succeeded by Martinez Campos, his predecessor, who had been practically removed in disgrace because of his humane treatment of the rebels. Gen. Campos, it is said, has expressed his willingness to take command in Cuba, provided he be invested with full powers to act without waiting for orders from Canovas or Castelli or anyone else. He asked power to treat with the insurgents on the basis of giving them full autonomy or independence. It was these conditions that the Spanish Government hesitate, otherwise he would already have been in Cuba. However, the advices say that the General will be in Cuba at the end of November on such terms as he demands. It is probable that the swiftest vessel in the world is that which has been recently built in France. This extraordinary craft is the sea-going torpedo vessel constructed in Havre by the well-known house of Augustin Normand, the contract requiring that it should maintain a speed of from 29 to 30 knots for an hour under usual steam. As its trial up, it seems, this vessel, the Forlan, ran a distance of more than 31 knots in an hour, this being equivalent to 35 miles, probably the greatest distance ever covered by a sea-going vessel in 60 minutes, powerful engines being necessary, of course, to drive the vessel through the water at such a rapid rate. On this score, therefore, the statement is not surprising that, although the displacement of the craft is only about 150 tons, it carries engines of 3,250 horse power. A New Haven despatch of 24th ult. says:—Yale college boys delayed a big open air meeting addressed by William J. Bryan here to-day, and nearly caused it to break up in confusion. As it was Mr. Bryan gave up attempting to speak and retired in disgust. The movement of the students was presumably preconcerted. They were
