rates for the present. Mr. Roger Flanagan favored the idea of obtaining the best terms possible in view of for the fire only by the conjecture that some the lateness of the season and thought that outsider entered it from the yard and by a steamship service should be secured next either accident or design, set it on fire.

Mr. Jas. Nicol was in favor of our flour merchants being left to deal with the matter whether they belonged to the Board or not. Mr. Geo. Watt said that when Mr. Sutherland was here before he (Mr. Watt) thought he wanted to secure all the business for his own line, and he, therefore, thought the best way was to play one railway against the other.

President Loggie did not agree with this of Chatham, and after a proposition to include a horse race or two in the programme view. From what Mr. Schaffer of the I. C. avoid the necessity of our resorting to water carriage, for once an arrangement was made with the steamers for doing the business, it would not be fair to discontinue it, even although the railways might then reduce rates.

Mr. Smith's motion was then adopted. discussion on the desirability of having the railway brought into the town so as to save the long haul from the present station and place it on the deep water | four, good fishing was enjoyed. Two of the wharves followed.

The president and others said that the water terminus at the lower end of the town was not a deep water one in reality and that a more convenient and adequate one was required-a statement in which there was general agreement. It was understood that action would be taken at the next meeting of the Board to memoralise and the council adjourned.
