

the steel rails he said he bought from another Charles, etc. He said Mr. Robinson would elicit vote for things like this at the bidding of the government, but it was such scandals that made him oppose the government. He wanted to purify the country and it was, therefore, necessary to turn the government out.

Mr. Mitchell next attacked Mr. Robinson because he had not made speeches and said he was a dumb man and that the only way by which the people knew he was there was by his votes. He next referred to Sir Charles Tupper and his family who, he said, had always lived on the country. Sir Charles was the prime minister of Canada and wanted to know the Conservative party charter and all the interests of the railway to the Canadian Pacific company. He was also promising to give $5,000,000 to $4,000,000 to the Hudson's Bay Railway to a resolution to help the Conservative party.

Mr. Mitchell, continuing to attack Mr. Robinson, said that he was a very good man, but he was not going to give up the International Railway to the C. P. R., without a struggle, and yet, what kind of a struggle would Mr. Robinson make against it. He was not going to refer to his past services in connection with Confederation and an International Railway, but if they elected him they would be returning a man who never fought to stand up for his country and province; and he believed he would be returned. He continued and characterized Mr. Robinson as "a wooden man," but enough in his way "to come-and-take-a-drink man" - a good sort of fellow but unfit to send to Ottawa.

Mr. Mitchell: Do you say he's going back? [Cries of "Yes and you know it" and "Charmers!"] Chairman Kerr, at last interposed himself, although he must admit that Mr. Mitchell had said something to the effect of having said, yet he hoped the audience would still hear him, and he would ask him to still hear him. Mr. Mitchell continued and said he wouldn't again refer to the drink business. After the last election he had advised the party in the County to take a young man, for he had found that the money to do for a county the more people are given in it, but no one could say he had ever attached to his name (laughter). He always voted as he thought right and he believed the voters would return him. It so he would continue his honest efforts of the past forty years to serve the people. If the County had not gone back on him in 1878 it would now have had the rail as Tabernacle and Redbank, of which Mr. Robinson talked and which he devoted eleven years ago. Robinson's party had voted forty-four dead men in Roger'sville at the last election, but they could not do again. Peter Mitchell was going to be returned and there would be no more public works or railways for the west unless Northumberland also got its share. He was now saying no more, as they wanted to hear Mr. Morrissey, so they thought Peter Mitchell had done his duty in the past and he would vote for him on 23rd [Applause].

MR. MORRISSEY said before beginning to discuss the political issues which are affecting the public mind, he thought it his duty, on account of certain statements that had been made in the course of the election, to say a few words to the public mind. He had no objection to the fact that Mr. Mitchell had said that he had been a Conservative, but he thought it his duty to say that he had never been a Conservative, and that he had never been a member of the Conservative party. He had never been a member of the Conservative party, and he had never been a member of the Conservative party. He had never been a member of the Conservative party, and he had never been a member of the Conservative party.

MR. MORRISSEY continued, saying that he had never been a member of the Conservative party, and he had never been a member of the Conservative party. He had never been a member of the Conservative party, and he had never been a member of the Conservative party. He had never been a member of the Conservative party, and he had never been a member of the Conservative party.

THE LITTLE ONES AT HOME. Are They Frail, Restless and Nervous? Paine's Celery Compound Will Make Them Bright and Happy as Larks. As a rule, parents are to blame if their children are puny, weak, nervous and irritable. The little ones may be well clothed and amply fed, and yet sadly neglected. It should be remembered that the children inherit many of the troubles that parents suffer from. Thousands of little ones suffer from weakened nerves - a legacy from father or mother. This nervous condition begets irritableness, bad temper, headache, indigestion, stomach troubles and impure blood. If your dear ones are afflicted with any of the troubles mentioned above, how can you expect them to be bright, happy and healthy? They need your best, most intelligent care, or they will grow up in disease and utter wretchedness. Give the children Paine's Celery Compound; it is the medicine that is particularly adapted for fortifying the nervous system, for building flesh, bone and muscle, and for producing pure, clean blood. Paine's Celery Compound is pleasant to take, it is entirely vegetable, and cannot harm the most delicate organism. It will banish every trace of sickness and disease in a very short time; it will give natural appetite, sweet sleep, and will make the little ones as happy as larks. A mighty chorus of gratitude has gone up all over the Dominion from glad fathers and mothers who have had their dear ones perfectly restored to health by Paine's Celery Compound. Mrs. Powell, of Palace Street, Montreal, writes: "I have used Paine's Celery Compound with most gratifying results at different times. I have found it an excellent preparation for my children. In the early part of the past summer my children seemed to be frail, nervous and restless, and had no appetite for their meals. Fully convinced from personal experience, of the great value of Paine's Celery Compound, I resolved to have my little ones use it. The results are so pleasing and satisfactory, that I am prompted to advise you, for the benefit of parents who are anxious regarding the condition of their dear ones who are frail or nervous."

MR. MORRISSEY continued, saying that he had never been a member of the Conservative party, and he had never been a member of the Conservative party. He had never been a member of the Conservative party, and he had never been a member of the Conservative party.

MR. MORRISSEY continued, saying that he had never been a member of the Conservative party, and he had never been a member of the Conservative party. He had never been a member of the Conservative party, and he had never been a member of the Conservative party.
