Moose Slaughtered

On the Northwest Miramichi river, near Squire Neil Gordon's on 28th June, there was quite a scene of butchery. A moose had been discovered swimming and wading down the river about 5 p.m. and soon an ever-increasing number of persons were in pursuit of the animal. Some had guns, some, axes and some, sticks, while stones were also employed, until at last the poor animal was slaughtered as if it had been some ravenous beast, instead of one, the life of which is protected by law. Special Game Warden R. H. Armstrong heard of the butchery and lodged a complaint before Police Magistrate Niven of Newcastle against a lad named Keating and four men named, respectively, Jones (2) McLean and Scott. The matter came up for a hearing on 8th instant, and was adjourned until 15th, when one of the Joneses, Keating and McLean pleaded guilty and were each fined $50 and costs. His family hearing the noise of the mishap ran to his assistance. They found him partly buried under the load, and when he was extricated his collar bone was found to be broken and other injuries were sustained. He seemed, however, to have come through the mishap very well, all things considered, but he expressed the belief, nevertheless, that he would not recover. He seemed to be doing very well up to last Friday, 23rd, when he, quite suddenly, took an ill turn and passed away. The funeral took place on Sunday afternoon at 4 o'clock and it was very largely attended. The service at the house was conducted by Rev. Joseph McCoy, pastor of St. Andrew's Church, assisted by Rev.

Dr. Neil McKay, pastor of St. John's. The pall bearers were Messrs. D. Ferguson, Wm. Anderson, Wm. Johnston, E. A. Strang, John Wilson and Wm. McLean. Sold by J. D. B. F. Mackenzie. The interment was in the new cemetery,

St. John, July 23.-Ira Cornwall, secre tary of the St. John board of trade and Tourist association, mysteriously disappeared from the hotel of Geo. Watters, Westfield, Kings Co., at an early hour this morning He rode yesterday, accompanied by his son, on a bicycle from St. John to Westfield and during the night rose and enquired of Mr T. Lantalum, whose room he had to pass through to get from his own, the way to a closet and, being directed, went out. That was the last seen of him. Search was made for him, but without success. His cap remained where it had been hung the night before. The neighbors were interrogated and railway men questioned, but they had no knowledge of his movements. As Corawall's nerves had been quite unstrung of late it is feared he had been suddenly attacked and perhaps fallen into the river or wandered away in the woods. Cornwall years ago, was on the business staff of the Montreal Gazette.

Later advices bring the information that Mr. Cornwall's body was found in the river near where he disappeared.

The grand bazzar of St. Michael's procathedral congregation closed on Monday, after a very successful senson of five evenings. New Complications Down River.

We have a letter from Hardwick in reply to some "abuse" which our correspondent and shouted, 'Greetings to all at home in about him and the editor of the ADVANCE. On referring to the World we find there is a column letter in it signed, "A. G. Williston, President of the Hardwick Liberal Association," a name and title which have been so often paraded in the local press by their owner as to be as familiar as Pink Pills and Paine's Celery Compound.

We observe that Mr. Williston says the editor of the ADVANCE had him for his corre spondent for fifteen years. We have no recollection of Mr. Williston occupying any special position as a correspondent. He wrote many letters to the ADVANCE during its earlier days-as he has done for about every paper established here since he went to school and profited so little by it-some of which we published. When he got at what he considered his best, however, we had to shut down on him, for correspondents who refer to others as "base liars," "mean liars" etc., are always denied the privilege of our columns. Then, they usually gravitate to the congenial environment of the World office, which, as the residuary legatee of the Liberal Herald, seems to be glad to reopen its arms to Mr. Williston, who had deserted it when his party inveigled the publisher of the latter paper into the meshes

POUGHKEEPSIE, N. Y., July 24.-Two wandering Russians, a trained bear, a horse and five women bicycle riders in bloomers engaged in a mixup on the road near New Hamburg Dutchess County, yesterday. The Russians were leading the bear along the road, when John Wixon drove up with his horse. The bear became frightened at the horse and made a plunge, which broke the chain by which one of the Russians led him. Bruin took the middle of the road and frightened the horse, which started off on a gallop. The bear passed him and took a lead of about sixty yards. Bruin was slowly drawing away from his pursuers when a new enemy appeared immediately ahead in the shape of a party of seven bicycle riders. five of whom were women in bloomers.

Just as the bicyclists abandoned their machines and took to a stone wall the bear concluded that he, too, would leave the highway. He made a rush, and the owners of the bloomers ran shricking across the open and began to climb the trees on the estate of Mrs. J. Lenox Banks,
