CHATHAM CELEBRATES THE SIXTIETH ANNIVERSARY

OF THE REIGN OF Queen Victoria

Chatham in common with other centres throughout the British empire celebrated the sixtieth anniversary of Her Majesty Queen Victoria's accession to the throne, and we, therefore, devote a good deal of space this week to the dress engrossed.

The celebration on the Miramichi really began at sunrise on Tuesday morning, when Newcastle Field Battery fired a salute. This battery is now under command of Major Maltby and it is an interesting coincidence that his father, Thomas Maltby, fired a salute from the same spot nearly sixty years ago when news of the Queen's accession reached this side of the Atlantic. It was six o'clock when the battery fired the royal salute on Tuesday morning, and then the officers of the battery, accompanied by a small detachment, came to Chatham to take part in the MASSEY, HARRIS BICYCLE celebration with the other military representatives, and to act as an escort for the Mayor and other functionaries > in the procession. A large number of excursionists from up and down river had arrived by rail steamer and wagons and the streets were thronged with people.

The Chatham school children paraded at 9.30 a.m., forming opposite the public square on Wellington Screet and, headed by St. Michael's band, they marched up Wellington St. to S. John Street, down St. John to Water and thence via Water and Henderson Streets back to the Square, where they were drawn up and sang "My Own Canadian Home," after which the pupils of the advanced grades proceeded to the West end, where they joined the grand parade.

The Procession

was formed at ten o'clock a.m. around the square comprising the properties of Hon. Provincial Secretary Tweedie and others in the West end, under the direction o R. A. Lawlor, Esq., marshal who was assisted by Lt. Col. McCuiley and Mr. R. A. Snowball. The order was about as follows :-73rd battalion band (Douglastown band) led by

This being accomplished, Miss Mary Ryan came forward and read an address, which was beantifully engrossed white cardboard, and embellished with a border in gold and colors-the work of the ladies connected with the Convent schools. It read as follows :

It is but another manifestation of the same noble qualities which in your professional capacity have won for you the respect and affection of all, and which in the office of public trust and honor in which you have recently been placed, lead you to ever rank yourself on the side of whatever is uplifting and eunobling—the patron of whatever is for the progress and enlightment of our people! And for us, as children of Chatham, there is inspiration in the contemplation of such example. Like ourselves, you have spent the early part af your life and received the rudiments of your education on the banks of the Miramichi: the haunts of your child-hood and youth are ours. The best illumination was that of the Bishop's residence, and the Alms House was also very brilliant, Bunting was profusely displayed by the shipping in port, and from all the regular and many new flagstaffs. The yacht Oriana was also profusely decorated.

Lt. Col. Call had a huge bonfire lighted on the hill below The Rocks, Newcastle, and it appeared to considerable advantage to his sermon on the gospel of the day, said we should rejoice and thank God on this day in celebration for the long reign of our faithful Queen. Peace and prosperity have continued throughout the empire and Catholics have special cause for thanksgiving. We should elasp hands together with our fellow countrymen in honoring our Sovereign, especially in these days of socialism, when emperors, sovereigns, and even presidents are considered useless and but mere figure-heads. St. Paul in his epistle to the Romans says "Let every soul be subject to the higher powers; he that resisteth the power, resisteth the ordinance of God." Again, in the Jewish nation before Christ, the people were governed by prophets sent from God, who guided and taught them. But this did not satisfy them; they asked for a king or ruler which was granted them, but having their special rights and prerogatives. We should, Clark officiating. therefore, look to and pray in thanksgiving to the all-powerful Sovereign who has permitted this glorious reign, and whatever has been accomplished has been ordained pray that peace and prosperity may continue. Notwithstanding th heavy down-pour of rain a large congregation was present. Before the services commenced the hymn "All ye who seek a sure relief" was sung, and His Lordship the Bishop, with Father Joyner as deacon and Father Babinean as sub-deacon, headed by the altar boys with lighted tapers, entered the sanctuary. The altar was beautifully decorated with flowers and lighted tapers and the Rosary was recited by Father Joyner. Then followed a hymn to the Sacred Heart, Benediction of the Blessed Sacrament and the following music :-Lauda Sion.

Tantum Ergo,
Anthem. "Domine Salvam fac Reginam Victoriam."

Miss Agnes Beckwith presided at the organ during the day and the singing throughout was well rendered. At the close of the afternoon services the band played God Save the Queen. UBILEE SERVICES IN S. MARYS AND S. PAULS. Although the weather was very unfavourable the attendance at the Jubilee services in S. Paul's and S. Mary's on Sunday last were up to the average, the largest congregation being at S. Mary's at the 6.30 | the house of commons, to become a memo'clock service. S. Marys was very handsomely decorated with flags and flowers, and flags floated from the church tower and rectory. In the absence of Miss Goggin, Mr. Geo. Burchill, jr. of Nelson played the organ at St. Mary's with his usual ability. The special form of service compiled by the Bishop of Fredericton was used, being with the special psalms and hymns neatly printed in colors and distributed in the churches. At all the services the national anthem was sung in addition to the other appropriate hymns. The Rev. Canon Forsyth delivered sermons suitable to the occasion. ST. LUKE'S St. Luke's Methodist church was prettily decorated with flags for the Sunday services. The letters V. R. with 1837-1897 were on the wall each side of the choir and flags were crossed between the pillars around the church. The I. O. Foresters attended St. Luke's in a body and the pastor preached a jubilee sermon and also one appropriate to the order in the morning. In the evening the sermon was a particularly good one dealing more fully with the personal character of our most gracious Sovereign and the extension of her domain, and the progress made during her reign in arts and science. Appropriate music was rendered by the choir at both services.

ST. ANDREW'S CHURCH. The order of the service on Sabbath in St. Andrew's church was slightly altered, openng in the morning with the long meter doxology, and in the evening with "Holy, Holy, Holy, Lord God of Hosts" followed by the usual order. In the morning the text of the sermon was

She not only has performed her state duties faithfully, and with great profit to the empire and to the world; but even the humblest dut es of wife and mother she has discharged with scrupulous care. Her piety has been exhibited in no ostentatious manner, yet with good effect. Her regard for the Sabbath should be considered by the many careless ones throughout the land. The organ voluntiries, rendered by Miss Edgar were beautiful and appropriate: while the choir under her direction led the service of praise very efficiently. The anthems were very fine, that of the morning being "The March of the Christian Soldiers." and of the evening being "Blow ve the Trumpet." After the evening sermon the

May the civil power over which she presides continue to exert itself on the side of the true progress of humanity. There has always floated before the minds of men an ideal of civic perfection, shall we not venture the hope that it shall yet be adequately embodied, and this earth crown its true King not with thorns, but as Lord of all.

BY ACCLAMATION: Hon. C. H. LaBillois, the new Commissioner Agriculture in the Provincial Government, was returned for Restigouche by acclamation in Dalhousie, yesterday, [Telegraph.] Mr. Blair and His Enemies.

For several of its recent issues the Sun as been devoting itself to attacks on the minister of railways, whom it hates with an intensity only to be found among revenge which they are unable to gratify. The Sun's abuse of Mr. Blair began in February, 1883, when the Hanington-McLeod government was defeated in the house of assembly and compelled to resign, and it has been continued without interruption for 14 years, and in almost the same terms. There is no vile epithet which the imagination of the writers for the Sun could invent which it has not applied to Mr. Blair, and vet, strange to say, the Sun's attacks, so far from doing him any injury, have apparently been of immense service to him in recommending him to the favor and support of respectable people. For from the hour when the Sun, more than fourteen years ago. began its vindictive and malignant attacks on Mr. Blair he began to rise steadily in the estimation of the people of his native province. He appealed to the people at four general elections, and at each of them the majority for his government was increased. After being more than thirteen years premier of this province he went to the larger sphere of ber of the new Liberal cabinet and to serve New Brunswick as faithfully at Ottawa as he had done at Fredericton. There are some men and some newspapers whose abuse is the highest compliment that can be paid to the integrity and virtue of the man who is abused. It was said of Mr. Cleveland at the first convention which nominated him for th presidency, "We love him for enemies he has made." So the friends of Mr. Blair and all good men like him better because the Sun denounces him, and pours out the vials of its feeble wrath upon him. It is not often that the Sun, in its abuse of Mr. Blair condescends to give us a statement which can be met and answered. It prefers to deal in glittering generalities, lurid flights of declamation which cannot be dealt with by the ordinary methods of argument; it is safe system for those who have no regard for the verities, but it soon palls on the public taste, and if indulged in too often has the effect of destroying the reputation of the newspaper or the public men who resort to it. Yesterday, however, the Sun, departing from its usual custom proceeds to attack the minister of railways as follows:-Then the minister of railways exhibited another well known characteristic, that of utter dishonesty in statement and unlimited MIXED capacity for falsehood and false suggestion. His misrepresentation of the condition of affairs in the Intercolonial in regard to the number of employees was promptly exposed by Mr. Powell and Mr. Foster as well as | 10 40 ar } by Sir Charles Tupper. Mr. Blair professed to give a fair comparison between the number of employes in 1878 and 1895, causing the house to believe that he was fairly comparing the same extent of railway system. Sir Charles showed that he was comparing a system of 1,100 miles with one of 700, and a road with a certain traffic with one of more than double the business and double the revenue. It was a clear case of utter deception and dishonesty in argument which Sir Charles exposed. The readers of The Telegraph have already had an opportunity of reading the Hansard report of Mr. Blair's speech, and therefore they know that the statement from the Sun which we have quoted above is not true, Mr. Blair did not institute a comparison between 1878 and 1896, "causing the house to believe that he was fairly comparing the same extent of railway system." What Mr. Blair did was to compare the number of employes on the Intercolonial in 1880 with the number in 1881, and the number in 1895 with the number in 1896, on the eve of the general election. What Mr. Blair said, as reported in Hansard, was as inclined to think, more than 400-from the getting up in this house and charging peopublic service on the alleged ground of ple who have been trying faithfully to do economy. We know that the services go their duty in this regard with being cruel to on from year to year in the ordinary, regular | public employes and degrading the public way, the only changes occurring being those service. When your cake is heavy, soggy, indigestible, it's a pretty sure sign that you didn't shorten it & with COTTOLENE. When this great shortening is rightly used, the result will surely satisfy the most fastidious. Always remember that the quality of COTTOLENE makes a little of it go a long way. It's willful waste to use more than two-thirds as much as you would of lard or butter.
