

scends, the clang of a gong is heard, the guards cry, "all aboard" in French, and there is one last spasmodic effort on the part of the delinquents to gain some carriage.

feel satisfied, for not a trace of the pasha has he seen, which in itself is evidence that the Turk has fallen into the hands of the enemy.

to enter the carriage, when a hand is laid on his arm. Avis gives a gasp of alarm as she sees a tall Frenchman in citizen's garb thus prevent the American from entering-she believes her worst fears are about to be realized, and Doctor Jack will be dragged off to jail on some trumped up charge -anything in order to separate him from the rest.

she clutches the ledge of the window, and holds her breath to catch what is said, she hears in French :

"Correct-you have-"

Jack's hand the tall Frenchman strides away.

Jack enters the carriage-the train moves out of station, and presently they are sweeping through the outskirts of the great French capital. Although suspecting what the message is-Jack glances at it eagerly-the writing is French, but he reads it like a native. No name signed-he needs none :

day- he has changed his mind, and is paying a visit to underground Paris, which charms him so much he may desire to spend several days in exploring the mysteries described by Victor Hugo. Send your address-may warn

There are no secrets between the devoted quartette now-even Madame Sophie is interested in effecting the release of Aleck Morton, her favourite nephew, so Doctor Jack shows them the note, and they laugh over the lovely situation the Turk finds himself in this early spring morning. How he must fume and fret at the detention just at this time when time is of so much value to him. Perhaps a glimmer of the truth may creep into his brain, and if so his sate of mind will certainly be anything but improved by the consciousness that his crafty enemy has outwitted him again.

who has fallen back upon the cushions, and seems to be taking life easy -indeed, the little man has a way of doing this quite his own.

Achmed makes an obeisance as he ones in-his veneration for the Amin is great. As is his usual cuslizes that everything depends on him, it is brief and to the point. nd does not desire to divert his mind He left Paris on the night of the from the business on hand. She befourth." lieves he will succeed, but the posi-Jack calculates quickly, consults his tion is grave, and nothing must occur red-covered vade mecum, which gives to annoy him. the arrival and departure of trains. As for Larry, he is in for seeing the Unless the pasha is detained on the langer. sights, and without any loss of time way, he will arrive at Stamboul some proceeds to take them in, wandering time early on the second night, but about the crooked streets under the Jack has never known a train to be

"We shall take the most direct line now open-there has been an unfortunate series of accidents happening lately that temporarily closes several routes. To reach Vienna, and then Buda-Pesth, we must pass through Baden and other portions of Germany. Wait, I will try and mark our course on this guide-book map."

So Jack busies himself while Avis leans over his shoulder looking on and offering suggestions now and then. A very pretty picture Larry thinks as he watches them through his half closed eyes, and it would be a shame for any man to ever come between two who seem to be so mutually smitten-so he nobly resolves to give up his own chances in the affair, and let Jack have a clear field-a resolution that does him credit under the circumstances seeing that he has three times asked Avis to have him and on each occasion sent the New York girl off into a spasm of laughing for which she has always apologized, though declining to enter into any partnership arrangement with a cousin.

They are making good time, and beland. fore the day ends stop at a station on the border, where a customs official makes a pretense of searching their luggage, receives his tip, glances at their passports, and they are free to enter Germany.

It is long after darkness sets in that they cross the historic Rhine, and feel they are in the heart of the German empire. Now and then the gentlemen step out at the stations to stretch their limbs and smoke. The night passes away. Once there seems a long delay, and Jack fears lest this, the work before him, it is not out of the last method of reaching Vienna, may be closed to them, as there has been an accident ahead. In case it is a landslide, that may be hours and days being cleared up, he soon makes up his mind what they will do.

In Europe money will accomplish wonders, even as in our own country, and in the morning they may find a conveyance of some sort that will take them beyond the obstruction, where they can find a train.

Should this fail, one more course remains-to pass down through the St.

DUNLAP, COOKE & CO., eyes can see something even amid the able suburbs of the old city, where, of AMHERST. Turkish navy. if all goes well they should reach course, he will not find him. general gloom. All is silent around "When will he be back ?" Vienna some time before the sun goes AMHERST, N. S. them-the weird noises of the city have The detective force of Constantinople "With rare good luck, if the en N. S. down in the west. Breakfast is eaten been left behind, and in this region of is hardly equal to that of Paris-when gines do not break down, in a day o here, time being given the travellers. This firm carries one of the finest selections of Cloths including all the different makes suitable for royalty quietness reigns. so, but," with a shrug, "we alway: a man desires to hide himself in the Avis looks a little jaded, but she seems fine tra e Their cutters and staff of workmen employed are the best obtainable, and the clothing from his establishment has a superior tone and finish. All inspection of the samples will convince you that 0 former city he can easily do so, and allow for accident : in Stamboul." to stand the rack of travel upon a [To b. Continued.] Z it will only be by accident his where- Just so, and this sets Doctor Jac! Continental railway wonderfully well, 6 be prices are right. Jack thinks, as he helps her back into abouts may become known. back a peg or two in his calculations A a L HOMAN & PUDDINGTON So Jack believes himself secure. He He remembers the Quinnebaug, th the carriage. Again they are off, A over the Inn river, and along its purchases a red fez the first thing, and old style American man-of-war, the SHIP FOR SALE. ADMINISTRATOR'S CUMMISSION BROKERS AND bank, until finally another official ap- adopting this, renders himself less con- in port, and wonders if her captai pears. It is at Simbach, and they spicuous, for many of the Turks have dares to assist him, shakes his head MERCHANTS, are now on the border of Austrian come to wearing just such garments grinds his teeth together, and say 0 P 24 territory. Travellers in Europe grow as Frenchmen-they cannot quite go emphatically :--NOTICE. Spruce Lumber, Laths and Anthracite Coal accustomed to these things, but they the usually loud costume of the aver-"Before I could set the wheels g 0 Good Seed Potatoes are a terrible nuisance, and we never age English tourist, ing he would be here-no, I see ve + All persons having claims against the estate of 50 Barrels Goodridges Seed Potatoes realize what this business is like in It may be set down for granted that plainly this good arm alone stands L 129 BROAD STREET. William Copping late of Chatham, deceased, are required to file the same duly attested with the from one of best Farmers in the place the States until we have a yellow Jack has his hands full, but he is feel- tween Aleck and death." 4D COR. SOUTH STREET. NEW YORK. 17 fever epidemic like the one at Jackestate are required to make immediate pryment to Correspondence and Consignments Sollicited apply at DAMAS AND AL • ----MRS. WM. JOPPING. - a state and subsy towards it in some on 9 Chatham Sept. 1, 1896.

care of a man he has engaged, whose on time here, and he counts on havordinary business is that of a hamal, ing both nights entirely. or porter, but who nevertheless makes This is as much as he expected. The a good guide. work is before them, and they must

One can spend weeks in Stamboul sight seeing-the mosques, almost alof Achmed. That worthy is not in ways crowded, are a daily spectacleand he has to wait. At dusk he sees then there are other things upon the the armouter coming through the streets to attract attention, such as crowd. Already the smoking oil the bazaars, with their glass roofs, lamps have been lighted in many of where the Turkish tradesmen offer for the booths, giving the scene an adsale the strangest things one can imaditional weird aspect as the dark zine-where are crowded in their faces and many-coloured garments of stalls, elbow to elbow, men who carry the groups are seen under the yellow on every business known to the Orient. of these illuminating agents. and the display of goods is so varied. Jack cannot but notice these things ranging from the jeweler and seller of even while his mind is engrossed with henna, down to the maker of the nathe business in hand, for he is some-tional headgear, the fez, that one can thing of an artist in his way, and aleasily imagine himself in an enchanted ways grasps the picturesque Yes, Constantinople is a splendid lounging place, to pass away a month -new sights can be seen every day, tom, Jack proceeds to get the facts and one does not even grow weary of from him immediately. the old ones, Jack Evans has not come here for such a purpose, however-no man has a greater weight on his mind than he. Somehow he has reached the conclusion that his own fate depends upon his success in this game-that if he saves Aleck he wins his sister, and, indeed, remembering the desperate nature of the way to believe that he must rescue Aleck or lose his own life in the attempt. Having seen the ladies safe the house, Jack gives them a few di rections, and then sets out to make arrangements. Most tourists when visiting the Turkish capital lodge at Pera, on the outskirts, where the English and American people congregate, and where the consulates are generally located, but Jack, prefers to be in the city itself, where he can hear the away.

Turning back, soon pazar-it is less crowded now, but Achmed is there, waiting, ready to lead the daring American to the prison of his friend, no matter what the

They pass out, and once upon the street, Jack manages to disguise himself a little more, so that at first sight he may be taken for a Turk Under the guidance of the faithful Achmed they gradually leave the busy art behind, and enter upon anothe make haste. He hurries to the shop ortion of the city.

They are aiming for the suburbs he direction of the Sultan's palace hich is situated upon an elevation, hat the Grand Mogul of the Turiay from his flat roof under the she er of the canopy, lounge and look up n the fairest scene mortal eyes eve cheld-the wonderful city flashing i ie sun, the blue Bosphorus with it hite sails, and the shore of Asia be ond, whither some day the last of the urks will retreat when Russia ha er will.

The palace of Abdallah Pasha is r great distance from the gra. sidence of his Sultan, and thou attempting to rival " tter, it is a place of ne an pretensions-the building itself I marble, filled with costly or-

He learns that the Turk has been ins bought in Western capitals the palace of the pasha, bribed one ke Paris, and the grounds of spacious of the servitors, and even looked upon xtent, walled in, and filled with trees Aleck Morton in his prison. This he .nd shrubbery that charm the eye. describes to Jack as a dungeon be-Jack has been in it before-the meneath the ground, where Aleck has nory of that awful night can never been kept all these weeks and months. eave his mind, and more than once he His garments are in tatters, his face as thought what an outrage that so thin, but his Yankee spirit unbroken. fair a domain should be owned by such Twice he has attempted to escape, an ogre as the old Pasha, but such a and came near doing it, but the generally the case in this world, where vigilance of the guard prevented him. one does not have to be beautiful in There is a grating of iron covering an order to admire lovely creations. air hole that lets a ray of light into

Avoiding observation as much as the dark dungeon during the day time. possible, they approach the wall that Could Achmed lead him to it after marks the end of the Pasha's grounds. nightfall ? The faithful Turk pros This can be scaled by an energetic trates himself and declares it is im climber, though the average Turk possible. Jack asks more questions might be appalled at the prospect. makes an appointment, and hurries Jack has made preparations for just such an emergency, and this is where He hies himself to the home of th his former experience stands him in American minister-it is possible that well. On his person Achmed carries a beyond question. He now produces it, and by the time it is unwound from his waist, where he has carried it, there is a length of some twenty feet

> The stars are hidden by a canopy of clouds, and the darkness of the night favours their design, though sharp this gentleman may interfore and save th Dunlap Bros. & Co., DUNLAP COOKE & CO. rope-it is slender, but of a strength FH bells on St. Sophia call the Moslem Aleck, for no matter what his offence Gothard tunnel into Italy, reaching to prayer, or the loud voice of the has been, he is an American citizen, Venice on the Adriatic, and there tak-AMHERST, N. S. MERCHANT TAILORS, muezzin upon the minaret chanting and entitled to the protection of his ing a steamer for Constantinople. the adan at sunrise-memories that flag. Thus Jack lays his plans and goes never leave the mind in later years. Dunlap, McKim & Downs, to sleep-he is awakened by a jarring The fates are against him. He O He has another motive. If the Pasha revealed. -ANDfinds that the minister, together with motion, and finds they are on the move reaches Stamboul before the grand the British ambassador, has gone of again. Good ! only an hour or so has GENTLEMEN'S OUTFITTERS at finale of the game, he will look for his for a cruise on a new vessel that has WALLACE, N. S. been lost. enemy in Pera or Galata, the fashionjust been built for the antiquated Morning finds them at Munich, and

F

0 notic Q P ひ 0 0 2 2 1 -0 shortest Я A 4 O Ē or a will n ER and 0 2 E U er B prices 0 0 Φ C h のひ an honest 0 Φ

Y

1st-That from the peculiar construction of the glasses they Assist and PRESERVE the sight, rendering frequent changes unnecessary. 2nd-Fhat they confer a brilliancy and distinctness of vision, with an amount of EASE and COMFORT not hitherto enjoyed by, spectacle wearers. 3rd-That the material from which the Lenses are ground is manufactured especially for optic purposes, by DR. CHARLES BARDOU'S. improved patent method, and is PURE, HARD AND BRILLIANT and not liable to become scratched. 4th-That the frames in which they are set, whether in Gold, Silver or Steel, are of the finest quality and finish, and guaranteel perfect in every respect.

The long evenings are here and you will want a pair of good glass so come to the Medical Hall and be properly fitted or no charge.

J. D. B. F. MACKENZIE. Chatham N. B., Sept. 24, 1895.

F ASK FOR CI MONARCH 日 E Steel Wire Nails. THEY NEVER LET GO, 日 AND TAKE NO OTHERS. Orders filled at Factory Price, and a Freight Allowance made on lots of 10 kegs and upwards at one shipment. KERR & ROBERTSON. 田 SAINT JOHN, N. B. N. B.- IN STOCK AND FO ARRIVE 100 DOZEN K. & R. AXES. Established 1866. FH

W. S. LOGGIE Co, Ltd.