Professor Wormwood's theatre, compris ing fifty trained animals, appeared in the Opera House last evening and the audience was appreciative throughout. The animals have very much improved since the last visit of Professor Wormwood, and almost an entire new program of tricks is presented. The animals are in many cases quaintly dressed both in the eighteenth and nineteenth century costumes. There is a real circus, not only with an exciting hippodrome, but also daring trapeze performances by trained monkeys. Professor Henry Daniels also appeared as a ventriloquist, singing among other songs Emmett's cuckoo song. A feature in the entertainment is the moving pictures thrown by the cinematograph. These pictures are certainly the best as a whole which have been presented in the city. Last night there were pictures of two railway scenes and a dozen or so others of a novel character. There was a view of the colonial contingent of the Queen's Diamond Jubilee procession marching along the streets of London; it was fine spectacle. The closing scene which excited the enthusiasm of the audience and its cheers, showed the royal portion of the Diamond Jubilee procession commencing with the Life Guards, followed by the royalties of Europe and of Great Britain, then a space was noticed in the procession and footmen leading eight cream colored horses mounted by out-riders appeared two by two, passing across the scene, followed by the carriage in which was seated Her Majesty, Queen Victoria. The enthusiasm of the immense crowd of spectators and th waving of their hats were clearly depicted.

Madame Harrison's Concert.

One of the best musical treats enjoyed on the Miramichi for a long time was last Friday evening's concert in Masonic Hall, Chatham, at which the principal attraction was Mme. Marie Harrison, who was assisted by Miss Jean Bruce, violinist, of Moncton and some of our best local singers and instru mentalists. The audience was one of the largest and best ever assembled in the hall. Twenty or thirty came from Blackville, a W. Fenton. large contingent from Millerton and R. Flett. equally large representations from Nelson, Douglastown, Loggieville, etc. A special trip was made by the Steamer "Nelson" to accommodate some of these, and the large numbers who came from Newcastle. The reserved section of the hall had to be enlarged to meet the advance demand for tickets, and Mme. Harrison was, no doubt, gratified over the manifestations of her popularity displayed on the occasion. The programme of the evening was as follows :-

MISS LINDA PALLEN. MME. MARIE HARRISON MISS JEAN BRUCE. "No tongue can tell," MISS QUEENIE McCoy.

-Intermission -PART 2. Airette from Mireille, MMS. MARIE HARRISON, MISS JEAN BRUCE. "Hone, Dearie, Home. Mrs. Pallen, MME. MARIE HARRISON.

Of the numbers rendered by our local people, it may be said that they were greatly appreciated and the encores accorded to each were suitable acknowledgment of their merits It was Miss Queenie McCoy's last appearance in Chatham, for some time at least, as she left by train with her parents for the west even before the concert was over. She sang "No Tongue can Tell, and her encore number, "Then You'll Remember Me" with even more than her usual sweetness. She was favored with a boquet. Mrs. Pallen was in fine voice, and although she endeavored to bow herself clear of an encore, the audience would not let her off, and she had to respond by repeating a verse of "Home Dearie Home." Mr. Miller's fine baritone voice was effectively displayed in his regular song and ensore, while Miss Edgar was fully up to her usual excellent standard. Little Linda Pallen executed her introductory piano

The many admirers of Madame Harrison's superb voice when she visited Miramichi on former occasions, expected to experience new sensations of pleasure on this occasion and they were not di-appointed. Its pheno menal range has not been made, of course by Mme. Mathile Marchesi, who has had Mme. Harrison for a pupil in Paris for some time, but that world-renowned teacher of singers has done marvels in directing its | ture. development, just as she did for Melba, Gerster, Eames, Calve and other famous vocal artists, and the audience of Friday evening had the privilege of hearing in Mme. Harrison a singer of natural gifts and artistic training who has few equals in the Dominion. Much of the success of the evening was fortunate as to have her piano accompaniments played by Mrs. Charles Sargent, to whom the scores were of course new only a few hours before she had to render them in public. The entirely satisfactory manner in which they were executed is very creditable to that lady as a pianist.

Rev. Mr. McCoy's Departure.

On Wednesday night, 6th inst., St. Andrew's Sunday School Hall was filled with the friends of the congregation to witness the presentation of the last addresses to Rev. Mr. McCoy. At 8 o'clock, the following, in behalf of the Sunday school mem-Lers., was read by Miss Bessie Watling: To the Rev. Joseph McCoy, Pastor and Superintendent. DEAR SIR: - With feelings of inexpressible regret, we have learned of your intended departure from our midst. We, as teachers and pupils, wish to express in some measure our high appreciation of your beneficent services in our congregation and Sabbath school. NAME OF EXHIBITOR. PREMIUMS. By your genial sympathy with our pleasures, and your kindly interest in our temporal well-being, you have won our hearts; and we feel that, during the years of your stay amongst us, there have grown up for you a deep respect, and a deeper affection, that can never be eradicated Your warm hand-clasp, and few simple words of exhortation to look for comfort to that throne whence alone comfort comes, have done much to lighten the burden of sorrow, and to give renewed hope of a happy reunion beyond; so that, most of all in those homes to which have come trouble and death, will your memory be forever revered. The younger of us you have baptized and received into the fold of the church. Many of the more mature, when in doubt and perplexity, you have directed to the Divine Guide; and, at the dawning of faith in the Saviour of men, you have presented His claim to obedience and service; so that from our Sabbath school have come up many earnest Christians to take the place of the older ones in coming years. We are deeply grateful that, amid your manifold duties as paster, you have during the past, assumed the responsibility of superintending our school. For, while the attendance may, from outside causes, have failen off a little, yet we believe that never within our remembrance, have we, as teachers worked so harmoniously together, nor, as pupils, had such a feeling of respect for our teachers, and of veneration for our superintendent. Your exposition of our Bible lessons has | wm. Searle. been so plain and simple, and withal so logical and conclusive, as to be suited to the varying intellects. Many beautiful Bible stories, Divine promises and exhortations, have been stored up in young minds from the word of God; and who would dare set a limit to their influence heavenward? While our grief at your departure is too deep for adequate expression, yet we unite in praying that the blessing of God may rest upon yourself and your family in your new field; and our good wishes, dear sir, will follow you wherever, in the providence of God, you may be called to carry on your

Chatham, N. B. Without waiting for the Rev. gentleman's reply, Mr. W. S. Loggie then read another address on behalf of the Kirk Session. It was as follows:-

To the Rev. Joseph McCoy, M. A., Pastor of St. Andrew's Church, Chatham, N. B. DEAR SIR AND BROTHER:-Learning of the proposed severance of your connection as our beloved pastor and moderator, we, the ruling elders of St. Andrew's Kirk Session. take this opportunity of expressing our high appreciation of your work as teacher and Your logical exposition of truth from the pulpit, has been listened to by us with plea-Your suggestions as to church rule and order have been ever loyal to our church standards, honorable and impartial in their bearing. We shall not soon forget our harmonious discussions of matters relating to the spiritual interests of this congregation.

The principles inculcated by you, will long be remembered by us. We pray that God's blessing may follow you in whatever corner of his vineyard you may be called. As you remove from this field may it be to one of enlarged asefulness, and may God's presence and blessing ever rest upon you and yours. Sincerely yours, S. Benson, M. D., A. Fraser, W. Carruthers. D. Stothart, G. Dickson,

W. S. Loggie,

In reply, Mr. McCoy said that they had once more taken him by surprise. He thanked them for their kindly expressions which were almost too flattering. They called forth by their kindness of heart rather than by his merit. The address would always be preserved as something sacred, representing, as it did. the heart love of the givers. He could not express his leve for the pupils of the Sabbath School. He had always found them attentive and respectful; and he would ever recall with pleasure the days spent with them. The teachers of the S. S. had been equally willing, earnest and painstaking. He reminded them that much of the success of the work depended on securing the attention and love of the pupils. This could be best done by keeping them interested, while leaving room for the joyousness of childhood. He hoped that everything Thos, Traer, would go smoothly under the direction of Mr. W. S. Loggie, the new superintendent, and that nothing but good would result from the changes in church and S. S. He hoped that all would remember that, though absent in body, he would be with them in spirit, in the way of thinking of them, and hoping and praying for their welfare. The Divine Spirit could be a real presence in the hearts of pupils and teach-

In reply to the address from the Session, Alex. Gordon, Mr. McCoy said: It had always been a pleasure to him to meet with the Session. There had been little or no friction. While moderator, it had been his good fortune to find the Session a unit. The congregation had been happy in their choice of additional members of the Session, and he hoped that his successor would be able, with their help, to successfully carry on the work. Great esponsibility rested upon them as a body and as individuals. It was their duty to get acquainted with possible new members of the congregation, to visit the different homes, and in every way to uphold the hands of the pastor. Presbyterians were accused of being too reserved. If this were true, it could also be said that they were noted for tenacity of affection towards their fellows, and church friendship that would last through time and eternity. Although ais utterance of thanks was imperfect, it was so because fulness of heart made speech difficult. The beautiful cane presented, he would regard as a "Wand of Office" or 'Shepherd's Crook," and its gold crown as crown of love on his heart. He would again thank them for their many tokens o kindness, and hope for God's blessing on all

The agricultural exhibition of Northumberland Socrety No. 9 on the Pallen farm, Chatham, last Thursday was the largest and best yet held in that Society's district. There were more exhibitors and more and better exhibits than ever before, showing increased interest in agriculture, and in the Society's work. The ADVANCE has for a long time been identified with the Society's work and its staff with the conducting of these exhibitions, and as two of its reporting members were engaged in the Secretary's office on the day of the Show and therefore not in a position to report the event in detail, we are indebted to the industry, in this respect, of Dr. Baxter for most of the following notes, which were originally supplied to another paper. We give first, however, the list of prizes awarded, their winners and amounts, which were as follows :-

It takes two blades in a pair of for the comfort of the inmates, and the sides | scissors to cut. Mr. R. A. The farmers will please take a note of this and remember that the poor fowl have to remain here all day, and should have a little room for exercise, and that they would feel better and look better for it.

Then one came to the barn set aside for roots, dairy produce, cloth, mats, textile fabrics., etc. This collection was really the finest feature in the whole exhibit. The barn was abundantly large and well furnished with tables. Here one found, outside, 3 or 4 collections of garden produce of all kinds, tastefully arranged on tables, improvised shelves, waggons, etc., some having as many as twenty-two varieties, in fact almost everything edible that one finds in first-class gardens. Then, entering the barn, one found on the left on the floor and on the tables cabbage, beets, mangelwurzels, carrots, parsnips, potatoes, snnflowers, etc. The cabbage were very large and solid, as fine as you meet anywhere; the beets were immense, in fact so large that the opinion was expressed that if they were cut open they would likely be found spongy or hol low within. The other vegetables were also of extra good quality, and all were carefully prepared, washed clean, etc., and 1 25 looked so fine that the remark was passed several times during the day that if they had been sent to St. John they would sin ply have swept the field. There was a very large number of samples of potatoes, early and late, and all of excellent quality, in fact a St. John gentleman, without asking the price, offered of his own accord $1.50 a barrel for some delivered at the station

On the right was an exhibit of harness, saddles, bridles, horse rugs, mats and waggons, fur robes, lap robes, bells, whips, and all the paraphernalis requisite in a well kept livery stable or gentleman's coach house. These were the property of our enterprising fellow townsman, Mr. Leggeatt, and, although there was no prize offered, 1 25 he reaped a rich harvest by sales of his articles on the grounds, and he well deserved it, for it was not only a very creditable exhibit, but also tastefully arranged.

The central table on this side showed the tact and talent of our farmers' wives, There were homespun cloths and blankets, woven on handlooms, mats made of rags and stair carpets; home knit mitts, socks, undershirts, drawers and so forth, of excellent material and workmanship.

On the side tables were samples of egg and butter, all first class, and many sam ples more than first class, so proving that either the ladies had profited very much by Prof. Robertson's lectures delivered last year, or that they did not require them at all and could give him points and beat him at his own trade. The cattle were exhibited in the large field at the back of the barn, but the field was altogether too large and the cattle too scattered, so that it took quite a long walk to inspect them. However, they showed more points of breeding than ever was apparent at any show here before. One could see across the field, all over the herd, a soupcon here of Ayrshire, there of Jersey. and in another place of Holstein, which were the favorite markings. The Government imported Ayrshires were sold at 3 o'clock, but one Ayrshire, the most expensive one too, got no bid and was left on the Society's hands, The Darham bull was not offered for sale, but was retained by the Society for their own use. In the smaller field at the house were the horses, swine, sheep, &c. This exhibit was a credit to the county and a marked imhis friend he decided to give the pills a provement on former exhibits in that line.

There was a covered shelter erected by our energetic and enthusiastic townsman Mr. R. A. Snowball, where refreshments, $9 50 cigars, beer, &c., were retailed, and a and thirsty public catered for. Mr. Leggeatt, and as far as one could judge satisfactorily so. The lunchers seemed to enjoy the meal very much. It was a long felt want, for on the occasion of the last exhibition many were almost famished. being there from 8 to 5 without a bite to

There are still some improvements that might be made, but on the whole the show was well worth seeing, and was patronized by a very large number of men from all parts of the country, and also by a large number of ladies, who seemed to take a deep interest in it. In another field a ploughing match was my present condition solely to there use. held, and Clark & Lounsbury, through their They had such a good effect in driving agent, Mr. G. They renew and smallest nut or bolt that breaks in his build up the blood, and strengthen the mowing machine to a reaper, binder or nerves thus driving disease from the system.

There is one point more that we would like to call the attention of our farmers to, and that is the absolute necessity of their rising to the occasion and raising more pure stock. They seem to think that grades are more hardy and stand better our cold winters and abuses in the way of cold barns, poor feed, etc. Now, we wish to impress upon their minds, in the first place, that they should never have cold barns. A barn where manure freezes is no place for a good cow, be she grade or thoroughbred, and poor feed is no food for a good cow, be she grade or pure breed, but give good feed and have a warm barn, and the thoroughbred will beat out of sight in her line, whatever that deal of care by the Executive Committee, may be, any grade that ever walked, and her progeny is much more valuable, for the purpose. IT HAD AFFLICTED HIM FOR UPWARDS OF TEN YEARS AND MANY REMEDIES WERE TRIED IN VAIN-DR. WILLIAMS' PINK PILLS EFFECT-ED HIS RELEASE. From the Freeman, Kingston, Ont.

Fifteen years ago Mr. Alexander O'Brien, the popular Princess street tailor, was one of the most athletic young men in Kiugston, both as a foot racer and otherwise. Eleven years ago he commenced business and shortly afterwards was stricken with rheumatism, which caused him much pain, loss of rest, and neglect of business. He states that he tried many doctors and many medicines, all to no avail. Over a year ago a friend advised him to try Dr. Williams Pink Pills, and though he had but little confidence in them, or advertised medicine of any description, at the urgent request of trial, and according to Mr. O'Brien it was a lucky venture. After the first box had been taken, customers noticed the change, and when three boxes had been finished the result was marvellous. His strength had returned, impoverished blood renewed, muscles developed, rheumatism almost disappeared, barring a slight stiffness in knee joints, which is gradually going, and in the last six months he has done more work in his tailoring establishment, than he had accomplished in the previous four years. A Freeman representative noticing the change in Mr. O'Brien's condition, asked him to what he attributed his apparent good health after such a long seige of illness. Without hesitation he replied, "Well, I have taken no medicine in the past year other than Dr. Williams' Pink Pills, therefore I attribute illness and she, too, is as loud in her praise was in my life.

safely be said that in most cases the change was new ideas would have greater advertising value. But a reaction has set in. The conclusion has been that educates its pupils best advertises itself best; that a device which may attract inexperienced boys and unthinking parents, may not commend itself to the class of people whose friendship and patron-age must be secured and retained as a basis of permanent prosperity. Those schools which adhered to the tried and approved methods, which gave ahead. Only a small proportion of the larger school as the character of the road they were travelling was discovered. When pretence will pass for performance, and when claptrap will be accepted in lieu of genuine educational advantages, then, perhaps, the public will take kindly to patente 1 systems of education, -Progress, Rochester, N.
