AN EXTRA POLICEMAN WANTED.

His Worship, referring to the proposal to appoint a Town marshal said it seemed him that such an official was not necessary Last year, it was understood that a thin policeman would be appointed for a part the year, at least, to do duty in the lower part of the Town, and he desired to impres upon the Council the urgent need of such an appointment, because of the rowdyism prevalent there. He had been applied to by residents of that district and asked to use his influence to secure police protection for them, as things had come to such a pa that people were prevented from sleeping at night in consequence of the noises made by unruly men and boys, while there was also similar rowdyism on Sundays. An engineer in this city organized by Mr. Angell has and street commissioner were wanted, but a third policeman was also required, to be should be read by every family in the engaged by the month and to do duty at night and on Sundays in the Hill district. THE FIRE ENGINEER MATTER Ald. Murdoch reported from the committee appointed for the purpose that they had made enquiries of Mr. J. M. Ruddock respecting the capabilities of Messrs. Calvin Craig and Hiram Maltby for taking charge of the Town steam fire engines. Mr. Rud-On Saturday, 1st inst. Thaddee, aged dock recommended Craig as a capable engineer and thought he would be fit for the duties required of him, after he had been made acquainted with the work peculiar to such machines. Any engineer, no matter how capable in a general way, would have to have experience with a steam fire engine, before he would be competent to take sole

He (Mr. Ruddock) be appointed, he would do anything in power to assist in working the engines otherwis; until the man in charge became acquainted with them.

The report was adopted. A NOMINATION.

Watt wasn't an engineer and that he knew very little about steam fire engines. If the engines were to be taken apart every week. what would be done if a fire took place when they were in that condition? A'd. Watt, -You have two engines!

Ald. McIntosh said that under Ald. Watt's proposition there would have to be two engineers. As to the engines of our steamboats they were overhauled only once a year, as everybody knew.

Ald. Coleman said it was well known that the fire engines had always been ready for work in the past, and when delays occurred it was not because of their not being in order, but in consequence of time lost in getting them out of the engine houses and in a position to get water. Ald. Watt was making exactions in this matter which were before unheard of.

Ald. Watt again contended that the engines should have the work he had stipulated done on them each week-that they should be taken down, polished up and generally overhauled. Ald McIntesh reminded Ald. Watt of the good work done at the late Newcastle fire by the Chatham hand engine, although it

Ald. Loggie said the question was whether the Council was ready to have an engineer Synod of Rupert's Land the archbishop appointed separately, or to merge that appointment with that of marshal and street commissioner in one person, and it might be well to dispose of that phase of the matter. He was for having one man to perform all the duties. Ald, Watt's remarks were a little extravagant, but there was, neverthe less, something in them, and it was right that full attention should be given to the duties, whoever was appointed. A commissioner of roads should be appointed, who might also be capable of looking after the steam fire

Mc-Intosh and Coleman-seconded by Ald. England, that the Council appoint Hiram Maltby to the position of Town marshal, steam fire engineer and commissioner of

MORE NOMINATIONS Ald. Loggie, seconded by Ald. Nicol, moved that William Lawlor be commissioner of roads at a salary of $100 a year and also inspector of public buildings at a salary of $100, that Mr. Masterson be policeman for six months at $200 for that period, and that Calvin Craig be appointed fire engineer at $200.

STILL ANOTHER NOMINATION Ald. Maher offered, in amendment, a motion that Wm. Lawlor's offer to be road commissioner and marshal at a salary of $600 be accepted, but this was ruled out, as not a fit person to be a policeman. Aid. Loggie said, in that case he would amend his motion, so that it would provide for the appointment of a policeman without naming the man, and he also with drew the part of it relating to the engineer. He said that if agreeable to the Council he would like each part of the resolution dealt with separately.

Mr. Lawlor and an extra policeman, was then put, and Messrs. Loggie, Nicol Watt and England voted for it, and Messrs McIntosh, Coleman, Murdoch and Maher

The Mayor said that as it provided for policeman as the people desired, he would decide the tie by voting yea. The motion for the appointment of Calvin Craig as engineer was then put and carried.

THE CIVIL SERVICE MATTER It was ordered that the Town Cierk write the Chamberlain of the City of John informing him that this Council does not entertain the proposition for it to be come a party to the proposed action in reference to civil service officials.

On motion of Ald. Loggie seconded by Ald. England, it was ordered that the Fire Committee be authorized to make a contract to have No 2 engine house moved to rear of its present site to make room for the new engine house.

read in a certain class of political papers that numbers of Canadian factories are closing because the new tariff is taking for. Not only so, but they do not their protection from them to such an extent that it will be impossible for them to continue in operation. And, tract to spend several thousand dollars yet, these same papers assert that there has practically been no attempt made by the Government to carry out the pledges of its leading men while in no authority whatever to erect a public opposition, that they would make a less building if it were not for the proprotective tariff than that of their visions in relation thereto, which are a part of Act of the Legislature which Hon. disrespectful to the honorable gentleman. I want to assure him that while he was addressing this committee with such heat a few moments ago I was following him with the utmost attention. I was submitting myself to him so that if it were possible for him to arouse a shade of feeling I might be made the subject of that feeling. I wanted the honorable gentlebound to confess to him, with all frankness, that the fuss and fury which he has exhibited to-night for the hundredth time has entirely failed of its purpose. I have a new member in this house, but I would have thought that the honorable member who has tilled a conspicuous place in the public eye, who has been connected no doubt for a long term of years with important events in the history of this country, would have been able to rise above this incessant and perpetual talk on the subject of dismissals.
